It should be noted that non-sanction detections which contribute to the overall detection rates have fallen in recent years reflecting a significant shift by many police forces away from recording detections where no further action is taken. For this reason overall detection rates over time are not fully comparable.

The detection rate is a ratio of crime detected in a period to crimes recorded in a period. It is not based on tracking whether individual crimes recorded in a period have eventually been detected.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what discussions representatives of his Department have had with representatives of Essex Police Authority since May 2008; what issues were discussed; and if he will make a statement. [305833]

Mr. Hanson: Although the Home Office engages actively with all forces and authorities, especially in the development of the recent Policing White Paper, no central record is kept of discussions that have taken place between the Home Office and individual police authorities.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when representatives of his Department last visited Essex Police Authority area; what issues were discussed; and if he will make a statement. [305834]

Mr. Hanson: The Home Office does not keep central records of visits made by officials.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will request the Chief Constable of Essex Police to compile a report on the (a) number and (b) location of reported anti-Semitic incidents in Essex since December 2008; and if he will make a statement. [306094]

Mr. Hanson: This information is not held centrally, and we do not require police forces or authorities to hold statistics on these specific incidents. The statistics may be available directly from Essex police.

Stop and Search: Children

Mr. Holloway: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many children have been stopped and searched in each year since 2001; and how many of these procedures have taken place under Section 44 of the Terrorism Act 2000. [305355]

Mr. Hanson [holding answer 8 December 2009]: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Data on stop and search procedures reported to the Home Office do not include the age of persons searched.

Stop and Search: Young People

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many young people under the age of 18 have been stopped and searched in each police force area under Section 44 of the Terrorism Act 2000 in each year since 2000; and how many have subsequently been (a) arrested (i) under that Act and (ii) for another reason and (b) prosecuted (i) under that Act and (ii) for another reason, in each such area. [305998]

Mr. Hanson: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Data on stop and search procedures reported to the Home Office do not include the age of persons searched. Additionally, the data collected do not include the number of persons who were subsequently proceeded against at court.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Afghanistan: Politics and Government

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent reports the Prime Minister has received on levels of corruption in the Afghanistan government. [304147]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Corruption is endemic throughout society and state. Pervasive corruption within government and the security forces undermines the legitimacy of the government and corrodes consent. Nearly one fifth of the Afghan population believe corruption is the country's biggest problem (after insecurity, unemployment and poor economy) and Afghanistan ranks second to last on Transparency International's Corruption Perception Index (before Somalia). President Karzai made a commitment to tackling corruption in his inauguration speech. We expect him to demonstrate this commitment by creating independent institutions that can prevent, detect and take action against corrupt practices in government. We will continue to offer a Multi-Agency Task Force of experts from across the Government to support the Afghan Government to tackle corruption.

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Prime Minister's Statement of 30 November 2009, Official Report, columns 831-6, on Afghanistan and Pakistan, what steps have been agreed with the government of Afghanistan to ensure that all provinces and districts in Afghanistan have a governor appointed on merit, free from corruption and with clearly defined roles, skills and resources. [304878]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: I have been asked to reply.

President Karzai set out his commitments in his inauguration speech of 19 November 2009. We welcome the emphasis placed on the need for governors to have integrity and professionalism, and look forward to the announcement of appointments over the next nine months.

We also welcome the Afghan Government's intention to reform sub-national governance. The reforms proposed will address various issues, including the definition of roles and responsibilities and the provision of training and resources. Once the reform proposals are agreed, the UK and its international partners will work with the Afghan Government to ensure that there are clear, time-bound targets for delivery.

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Prime Minister's Statement of 30 November 2009, Official Report, columns 831-36W, on Afghanistan and Pakistan, what criteria will be used to determine whether an appointee for provincial or district governorship in Afghanistan is free from corruption; what body will be charged with making that assessment; and what agreement has been made with the government of Afghanistan in respect of consultation on such appointments. [304930]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: In his inauguration speech of 19 November 2009, President Karzai made clear his commitment to political reform and tackling corruption, including the appointment of clean and competent Ministers and Governors. The Afghan-led framework which ensures appointments are corruption-free centres on an asset registration process. This process is currently managed by the High Office of Oversight. UK support to the High Office of Oversight has thus far enabled it to register the assets of 50 per cent. of Cabinet Ministers and over 1,200 public officials. We have pressed the Afghan Government to establish strong and independent anti-corruption institutions that can report to the Afghan Parliament and public. The new institutions will have the responsibility to crack down on corruption cases.

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Prime Minister's Statement of 30 November 2009, Official Report, columns 831-6W, on Afghanistan and Pakistan, what benchmarks the Government has set for the government of Afghanistan; what plans he has to review those benchmarks; and by what mechanisms progress against these benchmarks will be measured. [304931]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister clearly laid out the benchmarks in his statement to the House on 30 November 2009. We regularly discuss progress and challenges with the Afghan Government and international partners and we will continue to do so regarding the benchmarks the Prime Minister has described.

Other benchmarks had been previously agreed between the international community and the Afghan Government in the 2006 London Compact and are kept under review by the Joint Coordination and Monitoring Board (JCMB), comprising of senior Afghan and international officials.

The London Conference will be a further opportunity to review progress against the Prime Minister's benchmarks and the areas of work President Karzai highlighted in his inauguration speech, as well as an opportunity to set out international support to help the new Afghan Government deliver.

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Prime Minister's Statement of 30 November 2009, Official Report, columns 831-6, on Afghanistan and Pakistan, what mechanisms will be used to monitor the record of the Afghan government on corruption; how often reports on such monitoring work will be made; and what plans he has to inform Parliament of the outcomes of such monitoring work. [304932]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We have pressed the Afghan Government to establish strong and independent anti-corruption institutions that can report to the Afghan Parliament and public. President Karzai committed to tackle corruption in his inauguration speech. We will follow closely the delivery of this commitment. Priorities should be an anti-corruption commission that reports annually to the Afghan public and Parliament, and an independent accountability board to oversee the commission with both Afghan and international membership.

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Prime Minister's Statement of 30 November 2009, Official Report, columns 831-6, on Afghanistan and Pakistan, whether he plans to assess the merits of reviewing the mandate of the United Nations in Afghanistan as part of the Government's policy on stronger civilian leadership in Afghanistan; and if he will make a statement. [304934]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The UN Assistance Mission in Afghanistan (UNAMA) plays an essential and central role in coordinating civilian efforts in Afghanistan. We would like to see this role further reinforced and developed. Last week, the US and UK, together with many of our international security assistance force (ISAF) partners, announced a substantial uplift in the number of troops to be deployed in Afghanistan. It is important that the increasing growth, pace and effectiveness of ISAF's military efforts in Afghanistan are matched by similar improvements in the civil effort. We are working with the Government of Afghanistan, key international institutions such as the UN and NATO, and our international partners to ensure that this becomes a reality.

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Prime Minister's Statement of 30 November 2009, Official Report, columns 831-6, on Afghanistan and Pakistan, whether the benchmarks for Afghanistan to meet have been agreed with the (a) US administration and (b) government of Afghanistan. [304935]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We are in close and regular contact with the Government of Afghanistan, US and our other international security assistance force allies about progress in Afghanistan, including how we best measure that progress and prioritise our collective effort. The London Conference on Afghanistan, set for 28 January 2010, offers a further opportunity to discuss progress and will be part of a sequence of events to help to reinvigorate delivery in the priority areas of security, development and governance.

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what objectives he has set for the 2010 London Conference on Afghanistan; and if he will make a statement. [304936]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: On 28 November 2009, my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister announced that we would host an international conference on Afghanistan in London. The one-day event, to be held on 28 January 2010, will be opened by the Prime Minister and President Karzai and chaired by the Foreign Secretary.

The main focus of the conference will be to deliver and coordinate support for the ambitious agenda set out in President Karzai's inauguration speech: increasing Afghan leadership on security issues; improving governance and reducing corruption; reintegration and reconciliation; improving economic and social development; and building closer regional relationships.

Afghanistan: Reconstruction

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs with reference to the answer of 14 July 2009, Official Report, columns 327-30W, on departmental contracts, what services were provided by Crown Agents under its contract for life support services in Afghanistan; and if he will make a statement. [305470]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Crown Agents has been contracted by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office to provide life support to our embassy in Kabul since April 2008. The service includes the provision of catering, laundry services, cleaning and waste removal.

Bangladesh

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his Bangladeshi counterpart on the potential effect of sea level rises in the country. [305921]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Environmental specialists studying the effects of climate change in Bangladesh believe that as many as 30 million Bangladeshis could be affected by a one metre rise in sea level. When my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary met Bangladesh Foreign Minister Dipu Moni at the Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting in Port of Spain on 28 November 2009, they discussed the importance to Bangladesh of a robust deal on climate change. This included calling for a fair, equitable and global deal at Copenhagen, particularly on adaptation and mitigation, and sufficient, predictable and additional international finance. We will continue to work closely with the Bangladesh Government and civil society to secure an equitable deal at Copenhagen this week.

Bangladesh: Internally Displaced Persons

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what estimate his Department has made of the number of people in coastal zones of Bangladesh who may be displaced as a result of changes to the sea level in the next 10 years; and if he will make a statement. [305289]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Environmental specialists studying the effects of climate change in Bangladesh believe that as many as 30 million Bangladeshis could be affected by a one metre rise in sea level; a likely scenario within the next 100 years. The Government consider this estimation credible. While a sea level rise of 10 cm over the next 10 years is unlikely to provoke large-scale migration from coastal areas, increased levels of salinity in fresh water will cause considerable health and agricultural problems. Adaptation to this new environment will be crucial.

The Government remain the largest bilateral donor to Bangladesh. We led in the formation of the Multi-donor Trust Fund, a substantial fund for climate change adaptation projects, to which we have assigned £75 million over five years.

We continue to work closely with the Bangladesh Government and civil society to secure an equitable deal at Copenhagen for Bangladesh, and suitable amounts of climate finance for large-scale adaptation to the effects of climate change.

British Council: Stratagem

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what payments the British Council has made to Stratagem in the last 12 months; for what purpose; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305163]

Chris Bryant: The British Council has made the following payments to Stratagem in the last 12 months:

To support the delivery of a conference in Northern Ireland in September/October 2008, which brought together 100 young North Americans and Europeans—£1,470. (This covers the VAT, paid for separately to the £6,950 cost of the contract.)

Annual e-mail subscription service, which provides political updates and analysis on local political developments in Northern Ireland—£813.75.

Facilitation of Living Together International Congress in Poland in March 2009, the British Council's project on intercultural dialogue in South East Europe and the UK—£1,032.54.

I will send under separate cover copies of the contracts for your information. At this time there are no plans to place copies of these contracts in the Library of the House. The e-mail subscription service is one of Stratagem's standard off-the-shelf products to which the British Council takes out a subscription and there is no separate contract.

British Overseas Territories: Cenotaph

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent representations the Government has received from representatives of Overseas Territories on the laying of wreaths at the Cenotaph on their behalf. [304408]

Chris Bryant: We have received representations from some representatives of the overseas territories to lay wreaths at the Cenotaph on Remembrance Sunday. We have no plans at present to change the existing arrangements.

Departmental Publicity

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much his Department has spent on (a) Ministerial photoshoots and (b) production of videos in which Ministers appear in the last three years for which figures are available. [305517]

Chris Bryant: A Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) press officer is trained to take photographs so we do not need to employ external contractors for this work. The exception is that a photographer was hired in 2007, at a cost of £150 + VAT, to take shots of the new ministerial team. We are currently seeking to meet more of our video requirements in-house in order to save costs. The FCO had a public diplomacy contract with British Satellite News for 15 years which included filming some ministerial statements and engagements. This contract was terminated in September 2009 and it is not possible to disaggregate the cost of production of videos in which Ministers appear.

Departmental Recruitment

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many applicants for jobs in his Department have had their applications rejected on national security grounds in each year since 2001. [305473]

Chris Bryant: Since autumn 2008, the Foreign and Commonwealth Office has rejected six applicants for employment on national security grounds, as the applicants failed to secure developed vetting (DV) clearance. The Foreign and Commonwealth Office does not hold statistics for the period prior to this date.

EU Institutions: Fines

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much was levied in fines against the UK by EU institutions in the first six months of 2009. [306060]

Chris Bryant: The United Kingdom has never incurred a financial penalty for failure to comply with a European Court of Justice judgment under Article 228 (ex Article 171) of the Treaty Establishing the European Community.

Iran: Nuclear Power

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he has made recent representations to his Malaysian counterpart on Malaysia's policy on Iran's nuclear programme; and if he will make a statement. [306143]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: My officials lobbied the Malaysian Government in advance of the recent International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) Board of Governors meeting to make clear the importance of sending a strong signal to Iran. In the event, Malaysia cast its vote against a resolution censuring Iran for its nuclear programme on 27 November 2009. Since the vote, the Malaysian Government have made a public statement saying that their vote against the resolution was not in line with government procedures and that their Permanent Representative to the IAEA has been recalled to Kuala Lumpur for consultations. My officials have spoken to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and have sent a Note Verbale recording our disappointment with the vote, but welcoming the subsequent public statement.

Middle East: Armed Conflict

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent representations he has made to the Israeli Government on its compliance with United Nations Security Council resolution (a) 478 of 1980, on Jerusalem and (b) 1860 of 2009, on Gaza. [304880]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We fully agree with the provisions of UN Security Council Resolution 478, and do not recognise as valid under international law the Israeli "basic law" proclaiming a change in the character and status of Jerusalem. We have consistently made clear that we do not accept actions by Israel that seek to alter the status of Jerusalem and the Government's view that Israel does not have sovereignty over East Jerusalem, which remains occupied territory.

We have made frequent representations to the Israeli Government on the key aspects of UN Security Council Resolution 1860 including the need for the sustained and regular flow of goods and people through the Gaza crossings and renewed efforts towards achieving a comprehensive peace.

Middle East: Overseas Aid

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of damage during Operation Cast Lead to properties constructed with public funding provided (a) directly by the UK and (b) by the EU. [304908]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We have not made such an assessment and there would be significant obstacles to doing so accurately. Much UK and EU funding is donated in the form of contributions towards projects carried out by the UN Relief and Works Agency and the Palestinian Authority. However over 100 schools, three hospitals and five health clinics need full reconstruction or major repair. We continue to press the Israeli Government to allow the materials required for reconstruction into Gaza.

Moldova: Politics and Government

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what his latest assessment is of the political situation in Moldova; and if he will make a statement. [306054]

Chris Bryant: On Monday 7 December 2009 the Moldovan Parliament failed for the second time to elect the President, when Marian Lupu (Chairman of the Democratic Party) failed to reach the minimum qualifying threshold following the opposition Communist party's boycott of the vote. This means that the Parliamentary Speaker Mihai Ghimpu (Chairman of the Liberal party) will remain Acting President.

Parliament will need to be dissolved. However, this can only occur once within a 12 month period. It was last dissolved in June 2009. As a result, dissolution will only be possible after mid-June 2010 causing elections to be held around October 2010.

With elections now firmly on the horizon, the Alliance will need to remain united in order to advance much needed economic and institutional reforms. When I met the Moldovan Deputy Foreign Minister, Natalia Gherman, in November 2009, I underlined the UK's continued support for Moldova's democratic and economic development and its European integration.

Sri Lanka: Politics and Government

Susan Kramer: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps he is taking to encourage the government of Sri Lanka to (a) release all those in internment camps and (b) establish a political settlement which takes into account the needs of the Tamil people. [305048]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary discussed both these issues with Sri Lankan Foreign Minister Bogollogama on 27 November 2009.

We take every available opportunity to urge the Sri Lankan Government to ensure the early and safe return to their home areas of all internally displaced persons (IDPs). In recent weeks there has been some progress on returns; unconfirmed UN figures of 7 December 2009 estimate that over 150,000 IDPs had been returned to their home areas. The announcement that IDPs would be granted freedom of movement as of 1 December 2009 is a positive step. Some IDPs have already left, and we believe the opening of the camps and granting real freedom of movement will enable the thousands still living in the camps to start to rebuild their lives. It is now imperative that humanitarian agencies are given full access to the IDPs so that they can provide them with the help they need both in the camps and in their places of return.

We have also regularly made clear our view that Sri Lanka has a unique opportunity—and duty—to work for genuine political reconciliation. We have urged the Government to resolve the underlying causes of the conflict through an inclusive political process which addresses the legitimate grievances and aspirations of all communities—Sinhalese, Tamils and Muslims.

WOMEN AND EQUALITY

Christmas

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many Christmas trees were purchased by the Government Equalities Office in each year since its establishment; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of. [305641]

Michael Jabez Foster: Since it's creation on 12 October 2007, the Government Equalities Office has not purchased any Christmas trees.

Dalits: Discrimination

Jeremy Corbyn: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what research the Government Equalities Office is undertaking on the level of discrimination by caste and descent against Dalit peoples resident in the UK. [305189]

Michael Jabez Foster: The Department is aware of the scoping study published last month by the Anti-Caste Discrimination Alliance and asked the Equality and Human Rights Commission to consider one of the study's recommendations for the Equality and Human Rights Commission to conduct further research.

Departmental Operating Costs

Sammy Wilson: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality for what reasons year-on-year the running costs of the Government Equalities Office have increased since its inception. [305308]

Michael Jabez Foster: The Government Equalities Office was established as a Government Department in October 2007. Staff and administration resources transferred from the Department for Communities and Local Government and the Department for Work and Pensions to form the GEO. These transfers were based upon the resources transferring and not the resources required for the establishment of a new Department with extra responsibilities.

The build up of staff and resources reflects:

(a) the cost of establishment of the Department (for example press and private offices, a correspondence team, finance and human resources teams) and

(b) extra resources allocated to the delivery of an Equality Bill and work on the Equality agenda including the Minister for Women's Priorities.

Departmental Security

Mr. Heald: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many security passes her Department has issued to contractors providing consultancy services in the last 12 months. [303958]

Michael Jabez Foster: Over the past 12 months the Government Equalities Office has not issued any security passes to consultants.

TREASURY

Agricultural Products: Israel

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many consignments of agricultural produce imported from Israel and checked by HM Revenue and Customs were identified as originating in Israeli settlements in the occupied Palestinian territories in the last 12 months; and how many of those consignments were originally represented as originating in Israel. [305255]

Mr. Timms: A total of six consignments have been identified as originating in an Israeli settlement. All of them were claiming Israeli preferential origin.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many consignments of agricultural produce imported from Israel and Israeli settlements in the occupied Palestinian territories were checked by HM Revenue and Customs to verify their place of origin in the last 12 months; and how many of such consignments were of (a) avocados, (b) herbs, (c) dates, (d) peppers and (e) tahini or halva. [305256]

Mr. Timms: Since July 2008 HM Revenue and Customs has undertaken 49 physical examinations of fresh produce, including avocado pears, dates and herbs, imported under the EU-Israel Agreement. 10 examinations were undertaken in respect of avocados. No investigations were undertaken in respect of consignments of pepper and tahini or halva. Separate figures are not available for the number of examinations in respect of dates and herbs. Two labelling irregularities were identified for herbs.

Child Tax Credit: Grandparents

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what recent estimate he has made of the number of grandparents eligible to claim child tax credits for grandchildren in their care; and what proportion of this group receive such credits. [305319]

Mr. Timms: The information requested is not available as the survey used to estimate eligibility does not provide large enough sample sizes to accurately estimate the number of grandparents eligible to claim child tax credits for grandchildren in their care, and HMRC data does not record the nature of the relationship between the child and the child tax credit recipient where the claimant is not their parent.

Child Trust Fund

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much has been allocated to child trust funds in each year since 2003; and how much such funding he plans to allocate in each of the next two years. [305332]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: Information in relation to the allocated costs of Government contributions to child trust fund accounts, including forecasted costs to 2012-13, is contained in table 9 of the 2009 Statistical Report which can be viewed on HM Revenue and Customs' website:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/ctf/statistical-report-2009.pdf

For years prior to 2007-08 the allocated costs were set at £240 million per full year.

Cosmetics: Israel

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many consignments of cosmetics were imported from (a) Israel and (b) Israeli settlements in the occupied Palestinian territories in each of the last three years. [305257]

Mr. Timms: The term cosmetics covers a diverse range of products. Therefore the figures provided cover the most likely imports of interest—beauty and skin preparations, including skincare products and aftershave and bath preparations, deodorants and similar products.

Israel

| | Consignments |
|---|---|
| Beauty and skin care preparations | |
| 2007 | 246 |
| [illegible] | 290 |
| 2009 | 170 |
| Aftershave and bath preparations, deodorants and similar products | |
| 2007 | 41 |
| 2009 | 47 |

Checks have not revealed any imports of the above products from Palestine. The Occupied Palestinian Territories do not have their own country of origin code. Consequently, importers can only declare Israel or Palestine as the country of origin on the Customs import declaration.

Council Tax: Bexley

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of the number of properties which have been revalued for council tax purposes in the London borough of Bexley in each of the last three years for which figures are available; and how many such revaluations resulted in a change of council tax banding. [illegible]

Ian Pearson: In the last three years, the changes to council tax bands for Bexley, including increases and reductions, as a result of day-to-day work undertaken by the VOA in maintaining valuation lists, are as follows:

Number of properties in list as at 1 April 2006—93,778

Number of changes (including percentage) between 1 April 2006 and 31 March 2007

|---|---|
| Number deleted | 119 |
| Deleted as a percentage of total bands | 0.13 |
| Number increased | 103 |

Number of changes (including percentage) between 1 April 2006 and 31 March 2007

| | Number/percentage |
|---|---|
| Increased as a percentage of total bands | 0.11 |
| New dwellings | 291 |
| New as a percentage of total bands | 0.31 |
| Number decreased | 149 |
| Decreased as a percentage of total bands | 0.16 |

Number of properties in list as at 1 April 2007—93,950

Number of changes (including percentage) between 1 April 2007 and 31 March 2008

|---|---|
| Number deleted | 77 |
| Deleted as a percentage of total bands | 0.08 |
| Number increased | 176 |

| Number decreased | 220 |
| Decreased as a percentage of total bands | 0.23 |

Number of properties in list as at 1 April 2008—94,277

Number of changes (including percentage) between 1 April 2008 and by 31 March 2009

|---|---|
| Number deleted | 389 |
| Deleted as a percentage of total bands | 0.41 |
| Number increased | 54 |
| Increased as a percentage of total bands | 0.06 |
| New dwellings | 735 |
| New as a percentage of total bands | 0.78 |
| Number decreased | 178 |
| Decreased as a percentage of total bands | 0.19 |

Departmental Security

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many security passes his Department has issued to contractors providing consultancy services in the last 12 months. [illegible]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: Departmental systems record all such passes issued, but do not separately identify information in the format requested, which could therefore be provided only at disproportionate cost. All persons working in HM Treasury buildings are required to have a minimum level of security clearance before they are issued with a building security pass. This includes permanent passes, day passes and visitors' passes.

Equitable Life Ex-gratia Payment Scheme Review

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Chan[illegible] of the Exchequer what level of remuneration is being provided to Sir John Chadwick for undertaking work in order to provide advice on an ex-gratia payment scheme; and how much (a) time Sir John spent on such work and (b) he was paid (i) between 17 July 2009 and 18 August 2009 and (ii) since 1 November 2009. [301508]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: Sir John Chadwick is paid at the rate of £250 per hour for the performance of his services, excluding VAT. This is substantially less than judges of Sir John's standing would charge commercially.

Sir John has been contracted to oversee and lead the work of his Office, to time scales broadly equivalent to two days a week. This is being kept under review.

EU External Trade: Israel

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether Mitzpe Shalem is considered to be in Israel for the purposes of the EU-Israel Trade Agreement. [305264]

Mr. Timms: Mitzpe Shalem where Mitzpe is spelt with a letter 't' does not appear on the current list of Settlements locations which was transmitted by the European Commission to member states' customs authorities in September 2009. However, the settlement at Mizpe Shalem where Mizpe is spelt without a 't' is on the list.

Excise Duties: Alcoholic Drinks

Paul Rowen: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what plans he has to amend the rate of alcohol duty consequent on the return of the rate of value added tax to 17.5 per cent.; and if he will make a statement. [301663]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The 2008 pre-Budget report announced that the increases made to alcohol duties will be maintained when the standard rate of VAT is returned to 17.5 per cent. in January 2010 to help fiscal consolidation. The 2009 pre-Budget confirmed this announcement.

Imports

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what guidance HM Revenue and Customs has issued to ensure that goods or produce imported to the UK is designated according to place of production rather than location of company headquarters. [305174]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs publishes guidance across a wide range of customs matters. This includes advising UK importers of the need to check that goods imported under the EU-Israel agreement actually originate in the state of Israel. The guidance includes Customs information papers which are published on the HMRC website.

Imports: Israel

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer by what means HM Revenue and Customs ensures that the labelling of produce in mixed consignments of imports containing produce from both Israel and from Israeli settlements in the occupied Palestinian territories for the purposes of customs duties is consistent with that used for supermarket tracking systems. [305194]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs undertakes the physical examination of goods imported under the EU-Israel Agreement at the time of importation to establish whether the place of production shown on packaging is the same as that in the accompanying proof of preferential origin. Such checks would only involve reference to a supermarket tracking system, where the supermarket concerned is shown as the importer on the Customs import declaration.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer by what mechanism HM Revenue and Customs ensures that produce identified by supermarket tracking systems as originating in Israeli settlements on the occupied Palestinian territories does not benefit from the trade preference under the EU-Israel Trade Agreement. [305254]

Mr. Timms: When carrying out verification checks, HM Revenue and Customs only has access to the supporting documents, systems and records which relate directly to the import declaration. This may not include access to the supermarket tracking system as checks reveal that, in most cases, a supermarket is not the actual importer of the goods.

Non-Domestic Rates: Valuation

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what factors the Valuation Office Agency takes into account when making rating assessments for petrol filling stations; and if he will make a statement. [305980]

Ian Pearson: The Valuation Office Agency adopts the rental comparative method of valuation when valuing petrol filling stations for rating purposes. Valuations reflect the four main elements of a petrol filling station: the petrol sales forecourt, the forecourt shop, the car wash facilities and other sources of income from non-forecourt buildings such as workshops and showrooms and the like. The factors considered when making such a valuation include the fair maintainable throughputs and turnovers, which are derived from factors such as the location, layout of the site, and number of pumps.

Royal Bank of Scotland

Lorely Burt: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what steps he intends to take following the National Audit Office's conclusion that net lending to business by the Royal Bank of Scotland (RBS) will not meet the legally binding targets agreed between RBS and the Government in negotiating the Asset Protection Scheme. [306057]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The lending commitments are legally binding on the banks and include sanctions such as restricting access to the Credit Guarantee Scheme. If the banks fail to meet their commitments and cannot satisfactorily demonstrate that this is due to insufficient demand for lending, the Government will impose these sanctions.

Welfare Tax Credits

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) how many cases were handled by the Tax Credit Office in each year since 1997; [305315]

(2) what percentage of cases handled by the HM Revenue and Customs were handled by the Tax Credit Office in each year since 1997. [305316]

Mr. Timms: The Tax Credit Office (TCO) was set up by the former Inland Revenue in October 1999.

Detailed information about the administration of tax credits for all years can be found in the Department's reports, trust statements and the Comptroller and Auditor General's standard reports which are all available on the HMRC website at:

www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/personal-tax-credits/menu.htm

Welfare Tax Credits: Complaints

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) how many complaints from members of the public the Tax Credit Office received in each year since 1997; [305317]

(2) what percentage of complaints received by HM Revenue and Customs concerned the Tax Credit Office in each year since 1997. [305318]

Mr. Timms: Information about the number of complaints handled by the different HMRC business areas, including tax credits, is broken down in the annexes of the departmental reports available at:

www.hmrc.gov.uk/about/reports.htm

Complaints to the Tax Credit Office are about 40 per cent. lower in the current year then for the same period last year.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Fire Prevention

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what representations on measures to improve fire safety his Department has received from coroners in each of the last three years. [304157]

Mr. Malik: The Department has received three representations on measures to improve fire safety from coroners in the last three years. These representations were made under Rule 43 of the Coroners Rules 1984 and as amended by the Coroners (Amendment) Rules 2008.

The representations received were from:

8 March 2007 Mr. E Thomas, Coroner for Hertfordshire, after the inquests into the death of Michael Miller; Jeffrey Wornham and Natalie Close

1 July 2009 Dr. E Carlyon, Coroner for Cornwall, after the inquests into the death of Joan Harper, Peter Harper and Monica Hughes

14 July 2009 Mr. C Dorries, Coroner for South Yorkshire, after the inquest into the death of Margaret Wilson

Fire Services

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what plans he has to transfer Fire and Rescue Service operational command and control arrangements to regional level in England. [305419]

Mr. Malik: The responsibility for operational command and control will remain, as is now, with local Fire and Rescue Services.

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what duties are performed by fire brigade control rooms; and if he will make a statement. [305420]

Mr. Malik: The primary duties of the fire brigade control rooms are operations such as call handling and mobilising resources. They may also provide other duties but this is for individual Fire and Rescue Services to determine.

Fire Services: Emergency Calls

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many (a) genuine and (b) bogus fire emergency calls have been received in Leeds North West in each year since 2006. [305770]

Mr. Malik: This information is held centrally only to Fire Authority level. The numbers of malicious false alarm calls and other emergency calls to West Yorkshire Fire and Rescue Service are shown in the following table.

Total emergency calls and malicious false alarms calls to West Yorkshire Fire and Rescue Service 2006-07 to 2008-09

|---|---|---|---|
| Malicious false alarms calls | 3,903 | 2,395 | 2,149 |
| Other emergency calls | 88,458 | 82,000 | 76,163 |
| Total emergency calls | 92,361 | 84,395 | 78,312 |

Fire Services: Finance

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate he has made of the cost to date of the FiReControl project in the (a) South West, (b) South East, (c) East of England, (d) West Midlands, (e) East Midlands, (f) Yorkshire and the Humber, (g) North West and (h) North East regions. [303722]

Mr. Malik: Estimated costs to date of the FiReControl Project in each of the regions are set out in the following table:

| Region | Total by region (£) |
|---|---|
| (a) South West | 13,300,000 |
| (b) South East | 9,300,000 |
| (c) East of England | 6,400,000 |
| (d) West Midlands | 9,700,000 |
| (e) East Midlands | 11,600,000 |
| (f) Yorkshire and the Humber | 5,200,000 |
| (g) North West | 7,400,000 |
| (h) North East | 10,300,000 |
| Total | 73,200,000 |

This includes costs associated with the Regional Control Centre buildings up to end of November 2009. It also includes funding provided to Fire and Rescue Authorities and local authority controlled companies for local and regional implementation activity up to the end of financial year 2009-10.

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what funding his Department has allocated for the purposes of meeting new burden costs associated with the implementation of regional fire control centres since 2002; and for what activities such funding has been allocated. [305401]

Mr. Malik [holding answer 9 December 2009]: We are committed to meeting all the upfront costs of implementing the regional control centre network. A total of £68,753,000 has been provided to fire and rescue authorities for implementation of regional control centres. This funding has been allocated in recognition of the costs of all local and regional implementation activities including project management and coordination, transition activities such as data capture and migration and preparation for new ways of working. This includes funding to cover regional control centre staffing and accommodation.

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the cost to the public purse was of the report by Mott McDonald on the (a) Future of Fire Service Control Rooms and Communications in England and Wales, April 2000 and (b) Future of Fire and Rescue Service Control Rooms in England and Wales 2003; what the cost, including value added tax has been of all consultants' fees in respect of the FiReControl project; what his most recent estimate is of his Department's total expenditure on such fees in respect of that project; and when he expects all contracts for consultancy services in respect of that project to have ended. [305402]

Mr. Malik [holding answer 9 December 2009]: The Department does not hold individual figures for the reports referred to at (a) and (b).

Estimated fees reflecting support provided in a range of specialist areas such as procurement, contract management, building services and system development, up to end of October 2009 is £43 million. Current estimates of remaining fees up to the end of 2012 are around £6.2 million. Specialist support is expected to be needed up to various different points in the project and some until the end of the project.

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much has been spent on bonuses paid to officials of his Department who have worked on the FireControl Project team in each of the last three years for which figures are available. [305403]

Mr. Malik [holding answer 9 December 2009]: Bonuses paid to officials who have worked on the FiReControl Project team in the last three years are

These payments have been made in line with the department's pay and reward policy.

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much funding his Department allocated to each fire authority in each region for the purposes of meeting (a) new burdens and (b) other costs in respect of the FiReControl Project in each year since 2002. [305404]

Mr. Malik [holding answer 9 December 2009]: All local and regional costs associated with the implementation of FiReControl are met under the New Burdens principle. No funding was provided prior to financial year 2005-06. The following table indicates funding provided to meet local costs:

Fire Services: Manpower

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many staff have been recruited to the regional fire control centre in (a) the South West, (b) the South East, (c) the East of England, (d) the East Midlands, (e) the West Midlands, (f) Yorkshire and the Humber, (g) the North West and (h) the North East. [303909]

Mr. Malik: The Department provides funding for each Local Authority Control Company (LACC) for three defined staff roles: Regional Control Centre Director (RCCD), Senior Operations Manager (SOM) and Service Support Manager (SSM). There are eight RCCDs in post, seven SOMs and seven SSMs (or their equivalents). The Department also provides funding for LACCs to procure professional advice and it is at the discretion of the LACCs how this is spent.

Fire Services: Operating Costs

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the cost has been of establishing and operating each regional fire control room to date; and what the estimated monthly cost of operating each regional fire control room is expected to be over the next 12 months. [305843]

Mr. Malik: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave him on 31 March 2009, Official Report, columns 1040-41W, and the answer given to my hon. Friend the Member for Hayes and Harlington (John McDonnell) today (PQ 305843).

Housing: Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many housing project developments have been approved in areas of outstanding natural beauty (a) in the first instance by local council planning authorities and (b) on appeal in each of the last three years; how many houses were involved in each project; and if he will make a statement. [306155]

Mr. Ian Austin: Information is not held centrally on local authority planning permissions for housing in areas of outstanding beauty. The Planning Inspectorate does hold information on appeals but details of whether or not they were in areas of outstanding natural beauty could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Housing: Fire Prevention

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will review the fire safety provisions and regulations relating to (a) multi-storey hostel, (b) student and (c) key worker housing for the purpose of making further fire safety provisions; and if he will require the owners of such accommodation to conduct their own fire safety checks. [[illegible]]

Mr. Malik [holding answer 9 December 2009]: The Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005 came into effect in October 2006. In March 2009, my Department published an initial evaluation of the effectiveness of the order which indicated the legislation was bedding in well. We therefore have no plans, at present, to review it.

The Fire Safety order places the responsibility for fire safety in all non-domestic premises, including hostels and halls of residence, in England and Wales, with a 'responsible person' for the premises—usually the employer, owner or occupier. It requires the responsible person for the premises to carry out a fire safety risk assessment and to put in place appropriate fire safety measures to adequately protect lives in the event of a fire.

In other types of multi-occupied residential premises, including blocks of flats and houses in multiple occupation, the order applies to the common parts of the premises, rather than the individual domestic units themselves. In these premises, the 'responsible person' is likely to be the landlord.

Housing: Rural Areas

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many homes in rural areas have been demolished in each year since 1997. [306013]

Mr. Ian Austin: The information requested is not held centrally.

Non-domestic Rates: Sports

Hugh Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many local authorities are planning to (a) remove and (b) reduce from 2009-10 levels the discretionary rate relief available to sports clubs in 2010-11. [305792]

Barbara Follett: Discretionary rate relief is solely a matter for the local authority. Communities and Local Government does not collect data on local authorities' plans with regard to rate relief.

Ordnance Survey

Mr. Arbuthnot: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what discussions his Department has had with the independent mapping sector on the effect on that sector of its proposals for Ordnance Survey in drafting its consultation on Re-mapping the future for Ordnance Survey. [305126]

Mr. Ian Austin: In developing policy proposals for Ordnance Survey, officials in Shareholder Executive have had a number of meetings and conversations with individuals, companies and organisations from the private sector geographic information market. The purpose of these was to understand better the external environment in which Ordnance Survey operates. Independent consultants working for Shareholder Executive have also had similar meetings. The purpose of the forthcoming consultation is to hear further feedback on the policy proposals from all interested parties.

Mr. Arbuthnot: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what account he takes in his formulation of policy on the mapping sector of the effect on the independent mapping sector of his Department's support for the activities of Ordnance Survey. [305127]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Government recognise that Ordnance Survey operates in a commercial marketplace and any change must be implemented carefully to reflect this. The purpose of the forthcoming consultation is to hear further feedback on the policy proposals from all interested parties, including the independent mapping sector.

Ordnance Survey: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what payments Ordnance Survey has made to Mandate Communications/AS Biss in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of each of the contracts under which such payments have been made. [302216]

Mr. Ian Austin: Mandate Communications provides Ordnance Survey with consultancy and advice on Corporate Communications and Public Affairs.

Payments made by Ordnance Survey to Mandate Communications for these services for the 12 months up to the 31 October 2009 total £ 53,900 inclusive of VAT.

I am unable to place a copy of Ordnance Survey's contract with Mandate Communications in the Library of the House due to its content being commercially confidential.

Right to Buy Scheme: Rural Areas

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many right to buy sales there were in rural areas in each year since 1997; what the average discount available to buyers was; and what the average discount was as a percentage of the value of such property. [306012]

John Healey: The following table shows the number of local authority right to buy homes sold in rural areas, the average discount and market value of these sales, and the discount as a proportion of the average market value, in each year since 1997-98:

Local authority right to buy sales in rural areas

| | Number | Average discount (£) | Average market value (£) | Discount as a percentage of value |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1997-98 | 12,820 | | | |
| 1998-99 | 11,420 | 21,000 | 43,000 | 49 |
| 1999-2000 | 15,250 | 22,000 | 47,000 | 47 |
| 2000-01 | 12,840 | 22,000 | 49,000 | 45 |
| 2001-02 | 12,450 | 22,000 | 50,000 | 43 |
| 2002-03 | 14,590 | 23,000 | 57,000 | 41 |
| 2003-04 | 13,950 | 23,000 | 60,000 | 37 |
| 2004-05 | 8,990 | 22,000 | 63,000 | 35 |
| 2005-06 | 5,190 | 24,000 | 77,000 | 32 |
| 2006-07 | 3,280 | 25,000 | 88,000 | 29 |
| 2007-08 | 2,000 | 26,000 | 98,000 | 27 |
| 2008-09 | 420 | 27,000 | 101,000 | 26 |

These figures reflect the sales of local authority properties through the right to buy scheme in the 178 local authorities defined as rural by the Defra rural definition (2004).

The figures are from quarterly P1B returns from local authorities to CLG. Number of sales and financial data from 2005-06 onwards include imputation for a small number of missing returns. Prior to this, the figures on average discounts, average market values, and discount as a percentage of market value in rural areas are based on the reported figures, and do not include imputation for missing returns. Financial details on right to buy sales are not available prior to 1998-99.

Right to buy and preserved right to buy sales can also be made by registered social landlords (RSLs). Data on RSL RTB sales are collected by the Tenant Services Authority (TSA), but these figures are not available by the spatial level required to provide estimates of RTB sales in rural areas. Typically LA sales make up around 80 per cent. of total RTB sales in England.

CABINET OFFICE

Cinemas: Closures

Mr. Moss: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many cinemas have closed in (a) England and (b) North East Cambridgeshire since 1 January 2008. [303714]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question concerning what estimate has been made of the number of cinemas which have closed in (a) England and (b) North East Cambridgeshire since 1 January 2008 (303714).

ONS does not have any statistics on the number of cinemas. Annual statistics on business births, deaths and survival are available from the ONS release on Business Demography at www.statistics.gov.uk. The table below contains the latest statistics available on business deaths of cinema businesses for England and the constituency of North East Cambridgeshire. All counts are based on enterprises and not local units (i.e. sites). Where a local unit closes but the enterprise continues to trade at other sites, a death will not be recorded in this data.

| | | England | North East Cambridgeshire |
|---|---|---|---|

Death

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what the average age of mortality was (a) in 1996 and (b) on the latest date for which figures are available. [304530]

Ms Butler: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking what the average age of mortality was (a) in 1996 and (b) at the latest date for which figures are available. (304530)

The average (mean) age at death in England and Wales was (a) 75 years in 1996 and (b) 77 years in 2008 (the latest year available).[1,2]

[1] Figures for England and Wales include deaths of non-residents.

[2] Figures are based on deaths registered in each calendar year.

Departmental Energy

Grant Shapps: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office (1) what the energy (a) rating and (b) band of each building occupied by her Department and its agency was in each of the last three years; [302939]

(2) what the (a) energy rating and (b) energy band of each building occupied by her Department and its agencies was in each year for which figures are available. [305969]

Angela E. Smith: OGC publish central Government Departments' Display Energy Certificate (DEC) operational ratings on a building by building level twice a year. The most recent data, published on 31 July 2009, contains DEC data up to and including 28 February. Data relating to the month ending 30 September will be published on 18 December. More information on this can be found on the appropriate website www.ogc.gov.uk/sustainability_programme_progress

The table OGC is publishing will also include DEC reference numbers for each building, which can be used to view each building's advisory report on the following website:

https://www.ndepcregister.com/home.html

The answer is also included in the tables:

2007-08

| Building | Rating | Score |

| 9 Whitehall | E | 118 |

| Downing Street | E | 101 |
| Central Office of Information | G | 223 |

There are a number of factors that account for the increase in DEC ratings to the Cabinet Office buildings. The most significant factor being that currently many staff are working longer hours and at weekends. The increased intensity of use is not considered when evaluating DECs.

The Cabinet Office central London estate has applied and been accepted for a grant of £681,000.00 from the Department of Energy and Climate Change (DECC) Low Carbon Technology Scheme to undertake a number of carbon saving initiatives.

Drinking Water

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what the policy is of (a) her Department, (b) its agency and (c) its non-departmental public bodies on the provision of bottled water for official meetings. [305235]

Angela E. Smith: The policy for the Cabinet Office is to use tap water for official meetings.

Employment Schemes

Mrs. May: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office (1) how many people are participating in each Government-supported training scheme and employment programme classified as employment for the purpose of the monthly labour market statistics; [304383]

(2) what schemes are classified as Government-supported training and employment programmes for the purpose of the monthly labour market statistics. [304384]

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Questions asking how many people are participating in each Government-supported training scheme and employment programme classified as employment for the purpose of the monthly labour market statistics and what schemes are classified as Government-supported training scheme and employment programmes for the purpose of the monthly labour market statistics. (304383, 304384)

The estimate of the total number of people in employment who are participating in Government-supported training schemes and employment programmes are derived from the Labour Force Survey (LFS).

The current Government Supported training schemes and employment programmes specifically identified by the LFS comprise: Work-based Learning for Young People (those aged 16-25 in Great Britain); Work-based Learning for Adults/Training for Work (Great Britain only); Job Skills and Worktrack (Northern Ireland only); and Entry to Employment.

Some variants of the New Deal: working for the Voluntary Sector or an Environmental Task Force; Basic Employment Training (BET) and Education and Training Opportunities (ETO) are also included.

Estimates of the numbers participating in each scheme and programme are considered too unreliable for practical purposes due to the small sample sizes involved and therefore cannot be provided. However, the latest total figure published in the monthly Labour Market Statistical Bulletin for the period July to September 2009 is 107,000.

Food Strategy Task Force

Lynne Featherstone: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what the names are of each member of her Department's Food Strategy Task Force group on (a) vision and strategy, (b) joint research strategy, (c) healthier food mark, (d) integrated consumer advice, (e) global foods market and (f) food communications and campaigns; in which Government department or agency each group member works; and if she will make a statement. [304267]

Angela E. Smith: The Food Strategy Task Force was established by the Cabinet Office in July 2008, to oversee the delivery of activities identified in the Food Matters cross-Governmental strategy on food. It was comprised of civil servants from Cabinet Office, the Department for the Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills, the Department for Health, the Chief Scientific Adviser, the Department for International Development, the Treasury, the Food Standards Agency, the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform, the Department for Energy and Climate Change, and the Devolved Administrations. Progress of this work was set out in the "Food Matters One Year On" report which was published in August 2009. Copies have been placed in the Libraries of the House. Following completion of most of the agreed actions, the Food Strategy Task Force was wound up and responsibility for ongoing cross-Governmental co-ordination of food policy was transferred to the Department for the Environment, Food and [illegible] Affairs.

Some of the sub-committees established to support the Food Strategy Task Force continue to meet, where their work is not yet concluded. They have a wide-ranging membership from across Whitehall and outside. The exact officials who attend each meeting are not necessarily constant; rather Departments and organisations are represented by the official they feel most appropriate. Departments and organisations represented across these groups include those listed, representatives from local administrations and services and representatives from various research councils, among others.

Lone Parents: Employment

Andrew Stunell: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many lone parents were in work in (a) 1998 and (b) 2005; and how many lone parents were in work in each local authority area in the North West on the most recent date for which figures are available. [304677]

Ms Butler: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question on how many lone parents were in work in (a) 1998 and (b) 2005; and how many lone parents were in work in each local authority area in the North West on the most recent date for which figures are available. (304677)

The information requested is given in the tables attached. The figures in table 1 are the number of lone parents in employment in the UK. These estimates come from the Labour Force Survey (LFS) household datasets and are available for the three month period ending in June of each year requested.

Information at local authority level comes from the Annual Population Survey (APS) household datasets. Table 2 shows the number of lone parents and confidence intervals for each local authority within the North West for January to December 2008.

As with any sample survey, estimates from the LFS and APS are subject to a margin of uncertainty as different samples give different results. The confidence intervals provided in table 2 give an indication as to the accuracy of the estimates, and how much they could vary if taken from a different sample. These estimates are such that there is 95 per cent certainty that from all samples possible they will lie within the lower and upper bounds.

Retail Trade: Closures

Mr. Moss: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many high street shops have closed in (a) England and (b) North East Cambridgeshire since 1 January 2008. [303715]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question concerning what estimate has been made of the number of high street shops which have closed in (a) England and (b) North East Cambridgeshire since 1 January 2008 (303715).

ONS does not have statistics on the number of high street shops. Annual statistics on business births, deaths and survival are available from the ONS release on Business Demography at www.statistics.gov.uk. The table below contains the latest statistics available on business deaths of retail businesses for England and the constituency of North East Cambridgeshire. All counts are based on enterprises and not local units (i.e. sites). Where a local unit closes but the enterprise continues to trade at other sites, a death will not be recorded in this data.

Third Sector: Finance

Tom Levitt: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much the Office of the Third Sector originally allocated in its budget to provide grants and funding for the voluntary and community sector for the 2009-10 financial year; how much of this has so far been allocated; and how much remains for the rest of the financial year. [301962]

Angela E. Smith: The Office of the Third Sector (OTS) grant allocations for 2009-10 are set out in the Cabinet Office Main Estimates and updated in the Winter Supplementary and Spring Supplementary Estimates. Expenditure on grants for the third sector will be set out in the Cabinet Office Annual Report and Accounts, expected to be published before the summer recess.

All OTS funds are allocated to programmes set out in 'The future role of the third sector in social and economic regeneration: final report' and for 2009-10 only in, 'Real Help for Communities: Volunteers, Charities and Social Enterprises'.

Unemployment: Graduates

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many and what proportion of graduates were unemployed six months after obtaining their degree in each year since 1997. [304164]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question asking how many and what proportion of graduates were unemployed six months after obtaining their degree in each year since 1997. (304164)

Estimates for unemployment are derived from the Labour Force Survey (LFS). The economic status of graduates six months after obtaining their degree is not recorded in the LFS. However, estimates for unemployed graduates who have gained a degree in the last twelve months are available on an annual basis from quarter 2 2005.

The information provided in the attached table shows the unemployment level of those who gained a degree in the last twelve months, the proportion who are unemployed and their unemployment rate. The unemployment rate is the number of graduates who are unemployed divided by the number of graduates who are economically active (in employment or unemployed), in accordance with the International Labour Organization (ILO) convention.

As with any sample survey, estimates from the LFS are subject to a margin of uncertainty.

The figures in the table are derived from the LFS microdata which are weighted using the official population estimates published in autumn 2007. Consequently the estimates from Q3 2006 are not entirely consistent with the figures published in the monthly Labour Market Statistics First Release, which are weighted using more up-to-date population estimates.

Unemployment level, rate and proportion of people who had gained a degree or equivalent in the previous 12 months, Quarter 2 each year, 2005-09, United Kingdom, not seasonally adjusted

| | | Thousand and per cent | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | Level[1] | Rate | Proportion[2] |
| 2005 | 23,752 | 5.8 | 4.8 |
| 2006 | 42,207 | 8.6 | 7.4 |
| 2007 | 33,097 | 6.3 | 5.5 |
| 2008 | 38,615 | 7.1 | 6.1 |
| 2009 | 65,360 | 11.4 | 9.4 |

[1] Coefficients of Variation have been calculated for the latest period as an indication of the quality of the estimates, as described below:

Guide to Quality:

The Coefficient of Variation (CV) indicates the quality of an estimate, the smaller the CV value the higher the quality. The true value is likely to lie within +/- twice the CV — for example, for an estimate of 200 with a CV of 5 per cent, we would expect the population total to be within the range 180-220

Key Coefficient of Variation (CV) (%) Statistical Robustness

* $0 \le CV < 5$ Estimates are considered precise

 $5 \le CV < 10$ Estimates are considered reasonably precise

 $10 \le CV < 20$ Estimates are considered acceptable

* $CV \ge 20$ Estimates are considered too unreliable for practical purposes

[2] The number of people who are unemployed divided by the total population.

Notes:

1. The number of people who are unemployed divided by the number of people who are economically active.
2. It should be noted that the above estimates exclude people in most types of communal establishment (e.g. hotels, boarding houses, hostels mobile home sites, etc.).

Unemployment: Young People

Damian Green: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what the (a) numerical and (b) percentage change in youth unemployment in Ashford constituency was in the most recent 12 months for which figures are available. [304922]

Ms Butler: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question asking what the (a) numerical and (b) percentage change in youth unemployment in Ashford Constituency was in the most recent 12 months for which figures are available (304922).

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles unemployment statistics for local areas from the Annual Population Survey following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions. However, estimates of unemployment for the requested age range and area are not available.

As an alternative, in Table 1 we have provided the numerical change and the percentage change in the number of persons aged 18 to 24 claiming Jobseeker's Allowance in the Ashford constituency, for the most recent 12 month period for which figures are available.

National and local area estimates for many labour market statistics, including employment, unemployment and claimant count are available on the NOMIS website at:

BUSINESS, INNOVATION AND SKILLS

Apprentices: Finance

Mr. Benyon: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills if he will issue a letter of intent to repay capped funds withheld by the Learning and Skills Council to the training providers of apprenticeships for those aged 19 years or more. [304263]

Kevin Brennan: We have no plans to issue any such letters. Funding of Apprenticeships is the responsibility of the Learning and Skills Council (LSC). The LSC contracts with FE colleges and training organisations to deliver training places funded up to a maximum contract value. In March 2009, providers were advised in writing by the LSC not to exceed or to further exceed Apprenticeship contract values for adults. Recruitment of new apprentices could continue up to maximum contract values and the LSC has committed to funding the training of apprentices who had already started on their programme.

The LSC has a clear responsibility to manage its finances within agreed budgets and made it clear to providers that any further commitments above their agreed maximum contract values would not be funded. However the LSC has sought to ensure, through performance management actions, that funding is moved to the highest performing providers. Where possible, for 19-24 provision this has resulted in increases to agreed contract levels, but as demand has been so high for those aged over 25 the LSC has had to continue to take actions to manage demand to remain within the overall funding limits it has available.

Business: Closures

Mr. Moss: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many small and medium-sized businesses have closed in (a) England and (b) North East Cambridgeshire since 1 January 2008. [304578]

Christmas

Mr. Vaizey: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how much his Department has budgeted for Christmas trees in 2009. [305720]

Mr. McFadden: This Department has spent £1,144 in 2009 on the purchase and installation of decorated Christmas trees for the reception areas in three of its buildings in central London and Sheffield.

Cybercrime

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills if he will take steps to require utility companies which operate within his Department's remit to put in place resilience measures sufficient to prevent cyber-attacks rendering their services temporarily ineffective. [303801]

Ian Lucas: BIS leads on policy for critical infrastructure in the communications sector, which encompasses the postal and telecommunications sectors.

BIS maintains close working links with the telecoms sector on resilience, primarily through the EC-RRG (Electronic Communications Resilience and Response Group) which is industry-led but with Government and regulator representation. The aim of this group is to enhance the resilience of UK telecommunications systems to all types of hazard or threat, including cyber attacks. Part of the work of this group is to carry out exercises responding to emergencies, in order to ensure any recovery can take place as soon as possible. Additionally, CPNI (the Centre for the Protection of National Infrastructure) facilitates the Network Security Information Exchange, a forum for telecoms industry providers to share information and good practice specific to digital security.

The Digital Economy Bill also proposes measures to enhance investment in telecoms infrastructure and overall resilience (as part of a report on the overall health of the telecoms system in the UK). These measures will involve sharing information on resilience matters with Ofcom, who will then provide a report to the Secretary of State on the ability of the UK telecoms system to withstand shocks.

BIS also works closely with Royal Mail on resilience issues and ensures that the company liaises with the appropriate Government agencies (including CPNI) for advice on proportionate measures to protect postal operations from threats and hazards, including risks associated with cyber attacks, and to maintain business continuity.

Departmental Assets

Dr. Cable: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what assets of his Department are planned to be sold in each year from 2009-10 to 2013-14; what the (a) description and (b) book value of each such asset is; what the expected revenue from each such sale is; and if he will make a statement. [300194]

Mr. McFadden: The Government have stated their intention to realise £16 billion in asset disposals over the period 2011-14 and will publish further details of opportunities to commercialise business assets and property in the coming weeks.

The Department for Business, Innovation and Skills (BIS) currently has planned asset disposals of £9 million in 2009-10 and £21 million 2010-11.

Departmental Cost Effectiveness

Dr. Cable: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what efficiency savings projects (a) his Department and (b) its agencies put in place under the Operational Efficiency Programme; on what date each such project was initiated; how much each such project was expected to contribute to departmental savings; how much had been saved through each such project on the latest date for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [300934]

Mr. McFadden: BIS has a significant Value for Money Programme (VfM) for CSR07, with a challenging three year set of targets of £732 million (2008-09), £1,113 million (2009-10) and £2,090 million (2010-11).

Most of the savings are due to be delivered by BIS partner organisations and examples include:

> the further education sector savings of £29 million for 2008-09 through the modernisation of the further education estate and more efficient procurement.
> Research Council savings of £168 million for 2008-09 include a reduction in the proportion of expenditure on administration, increasing the efficiency of Research Council institutes, growing co-funding of research and post graduate training and re-prioritising expenditure.

The target for 2008-09 has been exceeded, and we are forecasting the same for 2009-10. Further details of the VfM programme are contained in the BIS autumn performance report, published on 8 December:

> http://www.berr.gov.uk/aboutus/corporate/performance/service-standards/page24986.html

BIS has a change management programme to drive out the further efficiency savings and improvements in service levels required over the coming years. This programme covers all the strands in the Operational Efficiency, Public Value and Service Transformation Programmes. The focus is on improving workforce planning, sharing common delivery platforms and channels, and making better use of existing infrastructure. This will contribute to the government-wide £9 billion which will be delivered in the next spending period.

I have approached the chief executives of the Department's agencies and they will response to the hon. Member directly.

Letter from Stephen Speed, dated 9 December 2009:

The Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills has asked me to reply to your question, what efficiency savings projects (a) his Department and (b) its agencies put in place, under the Operational Efficiency Programme; on what date each such project was initiated; how much each such project was expected to contribute to departmental savings; how much had been saved through each such project on the latest date for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement.

The answer is nil return from The Insolvency Service.

Letter from Sean Dennehey, dated 27 November 2009:

I am responding in respect of the Intellectual Property Office to your Parliamentary Question tabled 18 November 2009, to the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills.

The Intellectual Property Office is a Trading Fund and as such any savings it makes do not contribute to the Department's budgets. Accordingly, no formal projects under the Operational Efficiency Programme have been launched. The Office is, however, continually looking to improve its efficiency and has just launched two Value for Money Reviews which will identify further savings.

Letter from Sarah Glasspool, dated 30 November 2009:

I am responding in respect of the National Measurement Office to your Parliamentary Question tabled 18 November 2009, to the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills.

The National Measurement Office has not been asked to put in place any project under the Operational Efficiency Programme due to the small size of the Agency.

The Agency has however made a number of efficiency savings for the Department in recent years, not least as a result of the transfer of the National Measurement Unit to the Agency on the 1 April 2009. The transfer increased the staff of the Agency, but resulted in the reduction in back office posts overall. It also enabled other Agency back office resources and accommodation to be used for a larger range of services.

Letter from Gareth Jones, dated 9 December 2009:

I am replying on behalf of Companies House to your Parliamentary Question tabled 18 November 2009, UIN 300934, to the Minister of State for Business, Innovation and Skills.

As a trading fund Companies House activities are funded from the fees parliament sets for its services and is not directly part of the CSR funding process. Companies House is committed to improving efficiency and has had a public target for efficiency improvement for many years. Our current target is to achieve a 15% reduction in operating costs per company from 2008/9 to 2010/11. In 2008/9 we achieved an 8.4% reduction through a range of activities including increasing the channel shift from paper transactions to electronic, increasing process efficiency, better procurement and cost control.

Departmental Legal Costs

Pete Wishart: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what expenditure his Department and its agencies have incurred on external legal advice and representation in each year since his Department was established; and for what purposes such services have been commissioned. [300581]

Mr. McFadden: The Department for Business, Innovation and Skills (BIS) was created by Machinery of Government changes in June. From 1 June to 23 November, BIS spent £2.6 million on external legal advice and representation. The information about the purposes for which the legal services have been commissioned is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Chief executives of BIS agencies and NDPBs will respond directly to the hon. Member.

I have approached the chief executives of the Department's agencies and they will response to you directly.

Letter from Sean Dennehey, dated 24 November 2009:

(3) how many estate agents have registered with the Office of Fair Trading under the provisions of the Money Laundering Regulations 2007; and what steps are available to the Office for use against estate agents who fail to register. [302794]

Kevin Brennan [holding answer 30 November 2009]: The Office of Fair Trading has estimated that 9,600 estate agency firms (with 14,400 branches) will be active in the estate agency market at the close of the six month registration period (January 2010) and be required to register with the OFT.

Kevin Brennan: The Learning and Skills Council makes decisions about the payment of performance pay and bonuses. Geoff Russell, the council's acting chief executive, will write to the hon. Member for Havant with further information.

Letter from Geoff Russell, dated 8 December 2009:

In response to your parliamentary question regarding, how much has been spent on (a) performance-related pay and (b) bonuses for Learning and Skills Council staff in each year since 1998-99.

Please see below:

a) Performance Related Pay:

The LSC does not link base salary to performance, other than to withhold elements of the pay review from individuals who fail to meet the required standards. Salary increases are dependant on individual position within the relevant pay band and subject to Treasury guidance on pay remit.

b) Bonuses:

The LSC has made bonus payments since 2003. The figures below consist of the staff bonus scheme and the executive scheme for the most senior roles.

Any bonus payments for the staff scheme are made subject to organisational performance that is measured at the Corporate level. Any bonus payments for the executive scheme are directly linked to a range of measures that span Corporate, Group/Regional and Individual performance. For example, in the year ended 31 March 2009, the main bonus driver was that corporate and regional goals to deliver PSA targets were met or exceeded, despite the uncertainties created from the machinery of government changes. More on these achievements can be found in our annual report. This can be obtained at http://www.lsc.gov.uk/aboutus/annualreport/annual report0809/

All bonuses are subject to affordability.

| Bonus payment year | Number of employees who received a bonus | Total payments (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2003 | 4,536 | 3,986,434 |
| 2004 | 3,795 | 3,340,821 |

| 2009 | 3,106 | 4,868,463 |

Mr. Lammy [holding answer 8 December 2009]: I welcome the work Sir David Melville and the Deloittes team have undertaken to review the situation at London Metropolitan University, and the lessons we need to learn about how that situation arose. I shall be studying the reports carefully. I look to the University and HEFCE similarly to consider Sir David's findings and the implications for the actions they now need to take. It is imperative that the University and HEFCE act with all due urgency to resolve the problems that have been identified, putting the interests of the students and the proper stewardship of public funds at the forefront of their concerns.

The information is available on the Student Loans Company website and includes information, under "application status", on "applications currently being processed" and "further information required from student/sponsors".

I am advised that SLC is still receiving around 1,500 new applications each week.

[304838]

Mr. Lammy: The Department has not had any discussions with the Privy Council or Universities UK on the use of the term 'university' in relation to university technical colleges. I have, however, been engaged in discussions with GuildHE over the use of term 'university' in a number of different ventures and been in correspondence with them over the new university technical college proposal.

JUSTICE

Antisocial Behaviour: Fixed Penalties

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) with reference to the answer of 9 November 2009, Official Report, columns 137-8W, on penalty notices for disorder, on what date the consultation on publishing information on reoffending will (a) open and (b) close; [305198]

Claire Ward: The Ministry of Justice is currently finalising its consultation on plans to publish a range of reoffending related analyses that are not currently published. The consultation will be issued as soon as possible.

Due to concerns over the alleged inconsistent use of PNDs by the police the Justice Secretary has recently announced a review of the use of out-of-court disposals. The review will examine evidence on the use and enforcement of out-of-court disposals including PNDs and will report back to Parliament in due course.

The information for agencies can be gathered only at a disproportionate cost. All four MoJ agencies (National Offender Management Service; HM Courts Service; Tribunals Service and Office of the Public Guardian) have regionalised structures. Each individual building orders its own trees and decorations.

Criminal Injuries Compensation Authority

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether the Criminal Injuries Compensation Authority takes account of budgetary constraints in determining the level of awards it wishes to make. [304273]

Mr. Straw: The levels of the awards the Criminal Injuries Compensation Authority (CICA) makes are set out in the Criminal Injuries Compensation Scheme 2008. Accordingly, CICA must make awards based on these tariff levels, where the relevant criteria are met.

Crown Dependencies

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice on what date the Ministry of Justice issued advice to Government departments to (a) always consult his Department's Crown Dependencies Branch before making any statements on answers to parliamentary questions about Crown Dependencies and (b) where a UK policy initiative requires consultation with Crown Dependencies, to allow sufficient time for their governments to make consultation effective; on what date and in what manner he received notification from the Department of Health prior to its decisions to abrogate the reciprocal NHS arrangements with (i) Guernsey and Jersey with effect from 1 April 2009 and (ii) the Isle of Man from 1 April 2010; and if he will make a statement. [305811]

Mr. Wills: Advice on consultation with the Ministry of Justice regarding the Crown Dependencies was circulated to all Departments in June 2006 and has been available on departmental websites since that time. It is currently being updated and will be re-circulated to all Departments in the new year. Officials in the Department of Health and the Ministry of Justice liaised on the UK Government's decision to withdraw from bilateral health agreements with the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man from February 2008.

Due to improvements made in respect of domestic violence identification from 2006, no complete or comparable data are available for earlier periods.

Driving Offences

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many drivers convicted of driving without insurance in each police authority area in each year since 1997 had previous convictions for the same offence. [304286]

[1] Each offender is counted only once in each police force in each year.

[2] The numbers of convictions for driving without insurance recorded by Avon and Somerset in the data held by the Ministry of Justice are very low for the years 2000-03 and should be treated with caution.

Andrew Stunell: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people in each police authority area were disqualified from driving as a result of drink-driving offences in each of the last 10 years. [304690]

[1] It is known that for some police force areas, the reporting of court proceedings, in particular those relating to summary motoring offences, may be less than complete.

[2] Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

[3] Figures given are not as originally published within the Home Office Statistical Bulletin "Motoring Offences and Breath Test Statistics, England & Wales, 2004", which was released on 30 March 2006. The figures originally released in the above named publication were, due to a processing error, incorrect.

[1] Includes offences of causing death by dangerous driving and causing death by careless driving when under the influence of drink or drugs. A separate offence of causing death by careless or inconsiderate driving came into effect in 2008.

[2] The statistics relate to persons for whom these offences were the principal offences for which they were dealt with. When a defendant has been found guilty of two or more offences the principal offence is the offence for which the heaviest penalty is imposed. Where the same disposal is imposed for two or more offences, the offence selected is the offence for which the statutory maximum penalty is the most severe.

Drugs: Sussex

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people have been found guilty of offences of drug (a) possession and (b) dealing in (i) Sussex and (ii) Lewes constituency in each year since 1997. [304276]

Mr. Straw: The number of persons found guilty at all courts in the Sussex police force area for offences of possession, and supplying or offering to supply, a controlled drug, from 1997 to 2007 (latest available) can be viewed in the following table.

Data are not available at parliamentary constituency level.

Data for 2008 are planned for publication on 28 January 2010.

Elections: Armed Forces

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what arrangements have been made to enable members of the armed forces to participate in the 2010 general election through (a) campaign contact by candidates (i) in person and (ii) through literature and (b) voting in (A) the UK, (B) other European Union member states and (C) overseas beyond the EU; and if he will make a statement. [306053]

Mr. Wills: With respect to campaign contact by candidates, the Queen's Regulations prohibit all forms of political activity, including political meetings and speeches, in service establishments. Canvassers may visit at the discretion of the commanding officer, but no material issued by or on behalf of a political party may be distributed in service institutions. There is good internet access in service establishments, including those overseas, and personnel may access campaign information in this way. They may also access television election broadcasts. Campaign literature may be sent to those electors who have a UK address on the electoral register.

The Government are committed to supporting electoral participation by service personnel and their families. Service personnel may vote in person, by post or by proxy. The declaration period for service voters is to be extended from three years to five as soon as parliamentary time allows, which will increase convenience for these voters. However, service voters face unique challenges in exercising their vote. I recently met armed forces families' representatives and MPs to discuss service voting and a range of suggestions were made to further assist service personnel and their families. I have also set up a working group to consider possible improvements to the current system for this election and to identify a more comprehensive solution to be taken forward in the next Parliament.

Fines

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice with reference to the answer of 8 June 2009, Official Report, columns 768-70W, on fines, for what reason the publication of data for 2008 on penalty notices for disorder will not take place before the end of January 2010; and if he will make a statement. [305066]

Claire Ward: 'Criminal Statistics, England and Wales' is an annual national statistic publication covering a range of pre-court disposals (including penalty notices for disorder), court proceedings and outcomes. The publication is normally scheduled for late autumn of the following year to which it refers. The length of time from end of the year to publication is due to the extensive validation checks that are carried out to ensure where possible individual data are consistent with both legislation and the actual outcome at court. This requires direct liaison with court staff to confirm the accuracy of these data.

The Ministry of Justice had pre-announced, in line with the Code of Practice for Official Statistics, that the publication covering data for the calendar year of 2008 would be released in November 2009. Since announcing this date, data quality issues were encountered. To allow sufficient time to resolve these issues the publication was delayed. An update on the delay of this publication was released on the Ministry of Justice website on 9 October 2009.

The publication of Criminal Statistics is planned for publication on 28 January 2010.

Freedom of Information: Network Rail

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice for what reason Network Rail was not made subject to the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 as a result of his recent review of the scope of the Act. [305620]

Mr. Straw: On 16 July 2009, the Government published their response to the consultation on extending the scope of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA) to cover additional bodies by way of a section 5 order. The Government response proposed an initial, focused section 5 order and noted their intention to consult Academies, ACPO, Financial Ombudsman Service and UCAS on their possible inclusion in such an order.

The Government made clear that this was an initial step and further consideration would be given to how other bodies, for example, Network Rail might also be brought within the scope of the freedom of information regime. In certain cases, it may be more appropriate to use primary legislation rather than a section 5 order.

Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many applications were received for the position of (a) chairperson and (b) board member of the Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority; how many applicants were shortlisted; and when he expects further appointments of board members to be made. [301058]

Mr. Straw: As set out in the Parliamentary Standards Act 2009, the appointment of members to the Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority (IPSA) is a matter for Mr. Speaker, the Speaker's Committee for the IPSA and the House itself.

Information Commissioner's Office: Secondment

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many and what proportion of people working in the Information Commissioner's Office are secondees from (a) his Department, (b) the Cabinet Office and (c) other Government Departments. [305725]

The ICO is supported by four secondees from Government Departments. Within work group six in the ICO, there is currently one secondee from the Ministry of Justice and no secondees from the Cabinet Office.

Judiciary: Criminal Records

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many and what proportion of members of the judiciary have a criminal record; and how many members of the judiciary have been dismissed for committing a criminal offence in each of the last 10 years. [305785]

Mr. Straw: No record is kept of the number or proportion of the judiciary who have a criminal record.

The judicial appointment process requires candidates to be of good character. Applicants are required to declare their criminal records, which are checked with the Criminal Records Bureau and Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, and for serving judges being recommended to a different post, with the Office for Judicial Complaints. All but the most minor convictions will normally disqualify someone from being appointed.

Post appointment, judicial office holders are required to report any criminal caution or charge to their senior judge and keep him or her informed of the progress and outcome of the case.

Information regarding the number of judiciary who have been dismissed for committing a criminal offence has only been collated centrally from 2004. The information is as follows:

2004: Two magistrates

2005: Six magistrates

2006-07: Three magistrates

2007-08: Two magistrates

2008-09: Two magistrates and one district judge.

Barking and Dagenham

The LSC and the relevant local authorities also plan to establish the following community legal advice networks during the course of 2010, subject to successful tenders:

East Riding of Yorkshire

West Sussex.

Members Expenses

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the cost has been of establishing the Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority (IPSA) including preparation of the report by the Committee on Standards in Public Life on hon. Members' expenses and allowances and the appointments to the IPSA board made to date. [301057]

Mr. Straw: The new estimate [HC18] laid before Parliament on the 24 November 2009 states that Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority's (IPSA) budget for financial year 2009-10 is £6.571 million. This includes various set-up costs such as procuring and fitting a new building but also includes salaries both for staff members of IPSA as well as the IPSA programme team.

The report of the Committee for Standards in Public Life records that the cost of its inquiry was £393,000. This is entirely separate to costs involved in the establishment of IPSA.

Prisons: Strikes

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what contingency plans his Department has for the eventuality of a strike by prison officers in England and Wales. [305783]

Maria Eagle: All prisons are required to have contingency plans in place to deal with refusal to work by prison officers. The National Offender Management Service has a command structure in place to deal with a range of scenarios including strike action.

Where the same disposal is imposed for two or more offences, the offence selected is the offence for which the statutory maximum penalty is the most severe.

[3] Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Claire Ward: The Court Proceedings Database held by the Ministry of Justice contains information on defendants proceeded against, found guilty and sentenced for criminal offences in England and Wales on a persons basis. These data include information on the age of the defendant, their gender, the police force area and court where proceedings took place as well as the specific offence and statute for the offence. Other than where specified in a statute statistical information held does not identify the employment status of a victim of an offence.

Solicitors Regulation Authority: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what payments the Solicitors Regulation Authority has made to Lexington in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305424]

Bridget Prentice: The Solicitors Regulation Authority is the independent regulatory arm of the Law Society of England and Wales. It receives no public funding, and is paid for by the solicitors' profession, including through practising fees. I have asked the SRA if this information is available, and they have agreed to respond in writing directly to the hon. Member.

Victims Advisory Panel

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what remuneration the chair of the Victims Advisory Panel receives; [304308]

(2) how many people worked for the Victims Advisory Panel in each of the last three years; [304309]

Mr. Straw: This Victims Advisory Panel is currently chaired by senior officials in the Office of Criminal Justice Reform. There is no additional remuneration for this role.

The Victims Advisory Panel recruited in July 2006 originally consisted of nine volunteers. Two more volunteer panel members were recruited in 2007 to replace one member who resigned, bringing the total panel members to 10.

The current Victims Advisory Panel's tenure concluded in July 2009. Four panel members have agreed to extend their membership and continue their work until February 2010 when we expect to appoint the Victims' Commissioner.

The Government spent the following amounts supporting the Victims Advisory Panel:

£19,116 in 2007-08

Young Offenders: Training

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether offenders under the age of 24 years who are directed to participate in a training course may do so (a) in addition to a community sentence or rehabilitation and (b) instead of a community sentence or rehabilitation. [305323]

Claire Ward: Young adult offenders aged 18 to 24 may, depending on the circumstances of the offence and offender, be sentenced to a community order. The community order is available to courts on conviction under the Criminal Justice Act 2003 and may include a programme requirement, an activity requirement or an attendance centre requirement, among others. The purposes of sentencing set out in the Act include the reform and rehabilitation of offenders.

A programme requirement requires the offender to participate in a particular accredited programme at times and places specified in the order. Under an activity requirement offenders may be required to take part in activities at places and times specified in the order. An attendance centre requirement means that the offender must attend an attendance centre at the times specified and engage in occupation or receive instruction as required. Some of these programmes, activities, etc. could be described as training courses.

A court may impose an ancillary order in addition to or instead of a community order. Some such orders for example, a parenting order, may include elements of training. Programme, activity and attendance centre requirements may also be imposed on 18 to 24-year-olds as part of a suspended sentence order.

The information requested on departmental passes issued to contractors providing consultancy services in the last 12 months is not held centrally on the Department's access control systems.

Some information in records held locally by security liaison officers within the Department and its Agencies could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

The Department's access control policies are in line with the HMG Security Policy Framework Mandatory Requirements 56, 57 and 58, and provide the appropriate security standards for controlling and monitoring access to the Government Estate. This includes enabling visitors, including non-staff employed by a Department, to enter facilities and go about their business safely and in a controlled way.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how much the Office of Rail Regulation has spent on hotel accommodation for its officials in each of the last five years. [illegible]

Chris Mole: Spending on hotel accommodation for its officials at the independent Office of Rail Regulation (ORR) in each of the last five years is set out in the following table.

Hotel accommodation

| | 2008-09 | 2007-08[1] | 2006-07[2] | 2005-06 | 2004-05 (£) |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| UK | 98,885.47 | 106,337.53 | 164,522.15 | 3,938.80 | 7,794.43 |
| Overseas | 19,122.48 | n/a | n/a | n/a | n/a |

[1] Hotel accommodation spend was not split between UK and Overseas on ORR's financial ledger prior to 2008-09.

[2] The merger of Her Majesty's Railway Inspectorate (HMRI) with ORR in 2006-07 explains the increase in spend between 2005-06 and 2006-07. In a typical year pre-merger HMRI spent approximately £90,000 on hotel accommodation.

Lorries: Licensing

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport for each year from 1997 to date, how many operating licences for road hauliers have been extant; and how many vehicles were registered under such licences in each year. [illegible]

[[illegible]]

Chris Mole: The chief executive of the Highways Agency is planning to visit the site of the Managed Motorway works on the M6 at Walsall before Christmas 2009. He wrote to my hon. Friend on 10 December to advise him of a date.

Piracy

Dr. Fox: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what information his Department holds on the number of pirate attacks that have been recorded in each region of the world in each year since 2006. [305775]

Paul Clark: The number of ships that have reported piracy incidents to the International Maritime Bureau in each of the last four years are as follows:

| | Number of attacks | UK registered |

Public Transport: Public Expenditure

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how much direct Government funding has been allocated to public transport schemes in (a) Merseyside, (b) Manchester and (c) West Yorkshire since 2006. [[illegible]]

Mr. Khan: The Department for Transport (DFT) allocates integrated transport block (IT Block) funding to local transport authorities for smaller transport schemes costing less than £5 million. This funding is not ring-fenced and local authorities have discretion to spend their allocations in line with their priorities, including public transport schemes. Local transport authorities can apply for additional funding for specific major projects. The Government also provide rural bus subsidy grant which helps local authorities to support rural bus services in England.

The Department has provided the following funding for the support of public transport schemes in Merseyside, Manchester and West Yorkshire. The figures are £ millions.

|---|---|---|---|---|
| | IT Block | Major schemes | Bus subsidy | Total |
| 2008-09 | 58.55 | 0 | 0.14 | 58.69 |
| 2007-08 | 56.50 | 0 | 0.14 | 56.64 |
| 2006-07 | 33.02 | 0 | 0.14 | 33.16 |

(b) Manchester

| | | | | £ million |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | IT Block | Major schemes | Bus subsidy | Total |
| 2008-09 | 45.71 | 95.60 | 0.32 | 141.63 |
| 2007-08 | 46.38 | 40.10 | 0.31 | 86.79 |
| 2006-07 | 39.91 | 13.60 | 0.30 | 53.81 |

(c) West Yorkshire

| | | | | £ million |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | IT Block | Major schemes | Bus subsidy | Total |
| 2008-09 | 29.45 | 0.50 | 1.10 | 31.05 |
| 2007-08 | 27.96 | 0.70 | 1.07 | 29.73 |
| 2006-07 | 28.49 | 6.30 | 1.04 | 35.83 |

In addition, the Government subsidise bus services in England through the Department's Bus Service Operators Grant (BSOG). BSOG is paid directly to operators of local bus services and funding figures are unavailable by geographic region.

Revenue expenditure on transport is generally supported through the Department for Communities and Local Government's formula grant.

DFT funding for rail projects is not available on the basis of local authority boundaries.

Railway Stations: Repairs and Maintenance

Mark Hunter: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport (1) what assessment his Department has made of the proportion of financial support for station improvements identified for priority improvement by the Station Champions that will come from (a) local authorities, (b) industry and (c) central Government; [306280]

(2) what assessment his Department has made of the proportion of financial support for station improvements at Stockport Railway Station which will come from (a) local authorities, (b) rail industry and (c) central Government; [306281]

(3) whether station improvements on the 10 major interchange stations identified for priority improvement by the Station Champions would go ahead without financial support from local government and industry; [306282]

(4) what assessment his Department has made of the ability of (a) local authorities and (b) local industry to provide financial support for station improvements at railway stations as part of the new £50 million fund; [306286]

(5) by what date he expects to announce the amount of funding from the new £50 million fund to be distributed for station improvements at Stockport railway station. [306340]

Chris Mole: The Department for Transport has agreed with Network Rail that they will make up to £50 million available in the near future to tackle improvements at the 10 key stations, including Stockport, identified in the Station Champions' report as being in most need of improvement.

We are challenging the industry and local government to raise part of the money required for each of these stations themselves to help us maximise the impact of the £50 million. At this stage it is not possible to anticipate the proportion of funding that will come from Network Rail, industry and local government either at Stockport or at any of the other priority stations. However, we are expecting third party funding to be a key feature of those schemes that are taken forward. We realise that seeking additional funding in the current economic climate may be difficult, but this is crucial in maximising the benefit of the schemes.

We are keen for improvements at these stations to begin as soon as possible, and anticipate that the £50 million will be used as part of a rolling programme before 2014. Announcements will be made as improvement packages at individual stations are agreed.

Railways

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport for what reason the target of 25 new light rail schemes by 2010 was abandoned; and how many such schemes he is now progressing. [305617]

Mr. Khan [holding answer 10 December 2009]: The 10 Year Plan published in July 2000 set out indicative figures for the number of light rail schemes that might be delivered by 2010. This was neither a target nor a commitment for the Government.

Since 2000 the following schemes have been completed in England:

| Scheme name | Date of opening |
|---|---|
| Croydon Tramlink | May 2000 |
| Manchester Metrolink—Extension to Eccles | July 2000 |
| Tyne and Wear Metro Extension to Sunderland | March 2002 |
| Nottingham Express Transit Line 1 | March 2004 |
| Docklands Light Railway—Extension to London City airport | December 2005 |
| Docklands Light Railway—Extension to Woolwich Arsenal | January 2009 |

In addition, we have granted final funding approval to extend the Manchester Metrolink to Oldham, Rochdale and Chorlton and a scheme to refurbish the Blackpool and Fleetwood tram system. These schemes are currently under construction.

We also announced in July 2009, Conditional Approval for two extensions for the Nottingham Express Transit which are currently in procurement.

The Department is currently considering further proposals to extend the Manchester Metrolink system to East Didsbury and Ashton; an extension of Midland Metro Line One in Birmingham to the city centre and a proposal to fund a capital renewal programme on the Tyne and Wear Metro system.

Road Traffic Control

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what assessment his Department has made of the effect on traffic volume of the introduction of speed bumps in residential roads of less than 200 metres in length. [306015]

Mr. Khan: The Department for Transport has commissioned various research projects into the effectiveness of road humps. These considered the effect on traffic flow but did not include the length of the road as a factor. While results for the different types of hump varied, the research found an average flow reduction of 20 per cent. can be expected through the traffic calmed area after the installation of road humps.

Roads: Accidents

Jeff Ennis: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport (1) how many accidents involving vehicles in the other motor vehicle category have been recorded by his Department in each of the last five years; [306491]

(2) pursuant to the answer of 26 November 2009, Official Report, column 264W, on "Invalid Vehicles: Accidents", which types of vehicle his Department includes in the other motor vehicle category. [306492]

Paul Clark: The number of reported personal injury road accidents involving vehicles in the "other motor vehicles" category in each of the last five years is shown in the table:

Reported personal injury road accidents involving 'other motor vehicles': Great Britain, 2004-08

|---|---|
| 2004 | 3,788 |
| 2005 | 2,078 |
| 2006 | 1,970 |
| 2007 | 2,971 |
| 2008 | 3,238 |

Other motor vehicles are types of motor vehicle that do not fall into any of the main categories recorded by the police. Examples include ambulances, fire engines, motor caravans, motorised wheel chairs and quad bikes. Details of what vehicles are included in the main categories, together with further examples of other motor vehicles, can be found on pages 44 and 45 of the 'Instructions for the Completion of Road Accident Reports', which is on the Department's website at the following link:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/statistics/datatablespublications/accidents/casualtiesgbar/s20instructionsforthecom5094.pdf

Roads: Construction

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many new (a) bypasses and (b) major local road schemes he plans to construct by 2015. [305619]

Mr. Khan [holding answer 10 December 2009]: 62 bypasses (on both the strategic highway and local road network) and 39 local major road schemes (costing over £5 million) have been completed since 2000. A further four bypass and 14 local major road schemes are currently under construction in England.

Regions in England have allocated funding within their Regional Funding Allocations programme for approximately 14 bypasses and 57 local major road schemes to be taken forward to construction by 2015.

A scheme's inclusion within the Regional Funding Allocation programme does not necessarily mean the funding has been approved. Schemes will only proceed once they have successfully completed the Department's funding approval processes and secured any necessary legal powers.

Speed Limits: Cameras

Mrs. Gillan: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many speed cameras were deployed in each local authority area in Wales in each year since 1997; and how much revenue there was from fines in each area in each such year. [306631]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport only holds information about the number of speed camera sites operating within the National Safety Camera Programme which started in 2001 and ended on 31 March 2007. Separate information for each local authority in Wales is not held. The number of camera sites operating each year in Wales from 2001 to 2007 is outlined in Table 1. Details of fine revenue collected is outlined in Table 2.

Table 1: Fixed and mobile speed camera sites in Wales by partnership area and year

| | 2001 | 2002 | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Mid and South Wales | 74 | 266 | 327 | 353 | 354 | 355 | 355 |
| North Wales | 27 | 28 | 66 | 72 | 73 | 73 | 73 |

[1] This figure refers to the number of fixed penalty tickets issued and paid. From 1 April to 31 October 2000 the fixed penalty was £40.00, this was increased to £60.00 on 1 November 2000.

Transport: Planning

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport if he will make it his policy to ensure that any planning application for a major transport matter will continue to be subject to the public inquiry system that has hitherto operated until such time as the relevant national planning statement has been agreed by Parliament. [306875]

Mr. Khan: The Government intend that the Infrastructure Planning Commission (IPC) established under the Planning Act 2008 will deal with applications for nationally significant transport projects, as defined by that Act, with effect from 1 March 2010, with the aim of delivering decisions in a more timely, efficient and predictable way. As part of the process of examining such applications, the IPC will consider evidence from interested parties and will where it considers appropriate hold open hearings at which oral evidence can be given. Until the relevant National Policy Statement has been designated, the final decisions on such applications will be taken by the relevant Secretary of State, on the basis of the IPC's recommendation.

Underground Railways: Tyne and Wear

John McDonnell: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport whether his agreement is required before the Tyne and Wear Metro concession is awarded. [306515]

Mr. Khan: Nexus, the Tyne and Wear Passenger Transport Executive, as the procuring authority, do not require the agreement of the Secretary of State to award a contract for the concession for the operation of the Tyne and Wear Metro. Nexus are, however, seeking the Department's commitment to provide funding support towards the operating costs of the Metro before they award such a contract.

OLYMPICS

Tessa Jowell: The Olympic Delivery Authority (ODA) has a programme of active engagement across central, regional, devolved, and local government.

To assist this process it has used the services of Mandate Communications, jointly with the London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games (LOCOG), to provide research, administrative and event management support. This contract was competitively tendered. Over the last 12 months the ODA spend with Mandate was £51,634.82 excluding VAT.

It is not possible to provide a copy of the contract as it is a joint contract with LOCOG, which is a private company.

Friend the Member for Welwyn Hatfield of 3 February 2009, Official Report, column 976W, on departmental public relations, which public relations consultancy was hired; for what purpose; and what consideration was given to undertaking the activity using Government press officers. [305168]

Tessa Jowell: No decision has been made to close any section of the River Thames for the duration of the rowing events at Dorney Lake, Windsor during either the Olympic Games or the Paralympic Games in 2012.

The London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games (LOCOG) is responsible for staging the event and is keen to keep the river open. Should it become necessary to close any part of the river, all interested parties will be consulted and economic effects evaluated.

Reliable data prior to 1999 are not available. It is not currently possible to provide information on non-Welsh residents treated as out-patients at Welsh trusts. In the time available it has not proved possible to separate out the number of English residents treated as in-patients at Welsh Trusts but I will write to the hon. ## ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Birds: East of England

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will publish the report commissioned from the Farm and Wildlife Advisory Group by Natural England into the effect of the proposal to re-introduce sea eagles to East Anglia. [306017]

Huw Irranca-Davies: There are no plans to publish the Suffolk Farming and Wildlife Advisory Group (FWAG) report in isolation, but the proposed management package will be made publicly available, as part of the consultation that will be undertaken before any decision to proceed with the reintroduction is made. The consultation is planned to occur before March 2010. Although the development of the management options is not yet complete, Natural England will make available a copy of the, as yet unfinished, FWAG report to interested parties on request, and I will ensure the hon. Member receives a copy.

Commission for Rural Communities: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what public relations companies the Commission for Rural Communities has hired in the last three years; at what cost; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract between the Commission and each such company. [305296]

Dan Norris: The following figures set out the Commission for Rural Communities' (CRC) spend on public relations companies over the last three years, 1 April 2007 to 31 October 2009.

| | Total (£) |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 1,697.58 |
| 2008-09 | 45,935.65 |
| 2009-10 | 26,938.44 |
| Grand total | 74,571.67 |

CRC has contracted with the following bodies:

Pam Beddard PR (south west)

Navigator PR (north east, north west and Yorkshire and the Humber)

Kendalls (east of England)

Aura PR (east Midlands)

Rhian French Communications (south east)

Danks Cockburn Public Relations (west Midlands)

The increase in 2008-09 was largely due to the preparation and publication during that year of the CRC's "State of the Countryside" report. The CRC has used public relations companies to support activities relating to the gathering of evidence and the launching and dissemination of reports, research and guidance, particularly at a regional level.

Due to commercial sensitivity and constraints CRC will not be placing copies of the contracts in the Library.

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what public affairs companies the Commission for Rural Communities has engaged in the last three years; at what cost and for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contracts under which such payments were made. [305753]

Dan Norris: The Commission for Rural Communities (CRC) contracted one public affairs company, Connect Public Affairs, to provide events management and communications support in respect of the CRC's activities at the 2007 and 2008 party conferences. The cost was as follows:

| | Total (£) |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 11,889.88 |
| 2008-09 | 25,329.83 |
| 2009-10 | 0 |
| Grand total | 37,219.71 |

Due to commercial sensitivity and constraints CRC will not be placing these contracts in the Library.

Common Land: Property Development

Tom Levitt: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what changes he plans to propose to guidelines on town and village greens to prevent their application to land which already has planning permission for development. [305743]

Huw Irranca-Davies: DEFRA recently received the final report of research into the registration of new town or village greens: "Study of registered town and village greens and the attitudes towards applications". A summary of the research, together with the final report, is available on the DEFRA website.

The findings of the research, as well as feedback from local authorities and others, lead me to conclude that there is sufficient evidence to justify a review of the existing system, with a view to exploring possible changes. Therefore, DEFRA plans to consult in spring 2010 on whether there is a need for reform of the registration system, and the options for reform that exist.

Departmental ICT

Mr. Goodwill: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the rules of his Department and its agencies are on the use of work computers for personal communication. [306705]

Dan Norris: Personal computers, email and other DEFRA IT facilities are provided primarily for work related purposes. A reasonable level of personal use of the work email account is permitted providing that:

the sending or receipt of personal email messages does not interfere with work commitments;

the email messages do not constitute any misuse of email, e.g. downloading or forwarding chain mail, or material of a pornographic, sexist, racist or derogatory nature;

staff do not use the departmental email system for any kind of private business or to raise money for themselves or anyone else. To use email in connection with fund-raising activities for a recognised charity, staff must first consult about the propriety aspects; the email messages could not adversely affect DEFRA's reputation.

DEFRA agencies have similar rules in place for the use of work computers for personal communication.

Departmental Pay

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much was claimed in reimbursable expenses by press officers in his Department in each of the last three financial years. [303770]

Dan Norris: During the 2009-10 financial year (from April to November 2009), £11,703.61 was claimed in reimbursable expenses by press officers within the Department. This figure includes all cash reimbursed expenses and those claimed on corporate credit cards for travel and subsistence. It would incur disproportionate cost to identify other minor expenses on corporate credit cards.

We are unable to provide figures for 2006-08 due to disproportionate costs.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what payments the National Forest has made to Cavendish Communications and Cavendish Public Affairs in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305426]

Huw Irranca-Davies: In the last 12 months the National Forest Company has made payments amounting to £16,997.80 to Cavendish Place Communications for advice on communication with cross-parliamentary audiences, necessary for the delivery of the National Forest Delivery Plan 2009-14. There is no contract in place with Cavendish Public Affairs.

Due to commercial sensitivity and constraints, the National Forest Company will not be placing copies of contracts in the Library.

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what payments the Waste and Resources Action Programme has made to Fishburn Hedges in the last 12 months; for what purpose; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305427]

Dan Norris: Following a competitive tender, the Waste and Resources Action Programme (WRAP) contracted Fishburn Hedges to develop and deliver communications support across five separate areas of work. This has included three highly successful nationwide consumer campaigns:

Recycle Now, which has delivered a step change in recycling by UK households resulting in more than two thirds of households recycling as a way of life.

Love Food Hate Waste, which has highlighted the problem of food waste and helped cut around 160,000 tonnes of food waste, and saved consumers more than £400 million a year, preventing 725,000 tonnes of greenhouse gases being emitted.

Home Composting Campaign, which has contributed to selling over two million compost bins in England and Scotland which are estimated to divert over 260,000 tonnes of organic waste each year.

In addition, Fishburn Hedges provided support to pilot campaigns in 12 local authority areas to encourage the recycling of small waste electrical products, funded by the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills, as well as helping a WRAP programme promoting recycling to schools and their pupils.

All the communications material generated for these campaigns is made freely available to local authorities, allowing them to reduce their costs.

WRAP also used Fishburn Hedges to advise on how to raise awareness among senior local authority officers and elected members of the support on waste prevention and recycling services it offers.

In the last 12 months (from 9 December 2008 to 8 December 2009) Fishburn Hedges was paid a total of £959,000 for this work.

Fishburn Hedges was contracted by WRAP. The terms of the contract are subject to commercial confidentiality.

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what payments British Waterways has made to (a) Four Communications, (b) Cavendish Communications and (c) Atherton Associates in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of each contract under which such payments were made. [305436]

Huw Irranca-Davies: British Waterways has advised that payments made in the 12 months since 1 November 2008 (excluding VAT) to Four Communications, Cavendish Place Communications and Atherton Associates are as follows:

(a) Four Communications £39,805.53 for public affairs support for British Waterways London. The contract was not renewed.

(b) Cavendish Place Communication £61,627.57 for public affairs support. This is a rolling contract.

(c) Atherton Associates None.

Due to commercial sensitivity and constraints, British Waterways will not be placing copies of contracts in the Library.

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what payments the Commission for Rural Communities has made to Connect Public Affairs in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305437]

Dan Norris: DEFRA sponsors the Commission for Rural Communities (CRC)—a non-departmental public body which acts as an independent rural adviser, advocate and watchdog, with a particular focus on social disadvantage and economic underperformance. The CRC is tasked to advise and challenge the Government and delivery bodies at all levels to improve performance and embed best practice. The functions of the CRC are specified in the Natural Environment and Rural Communities (NERC) Act 2006.

During the last 12 months, the CRC has paid Connect Public Affairs £25,329.83 for events management and communications support relating to the CRC's activities in raising awareness of the needs of rural people, in line with the NERC Act, at all three major 2008 party conferences. The CRC adhered to Cabinet Office "NDPBs: Attendance at Party Conferences" guidance in relation to these events. No contracts have been entered into and no payments made during the current financial year.

Due to commercial sensitivity and constraints, I am unable to place a copy of the contract between the CRC and Connect Public Affairs in the Library.

Flood Control

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what decisions have been made on amending emergency regulations to increase the minimum amount of water to be provided in an emergency in accordance with recommendation 40 of the Pitt Report. [305072]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Sir Michael Pitt's report on learning the lessons from the 2007 floods included the recommendation that DEFRA should amend emergency regulations to increase the minimum amount of water to be provided in an emergency, in order to reflect reasonable needs during a longer-term loss of mains supply.

The Government's response, published on 17 December, supported changes in response to this, and supported all Sir Michael's recommendations.

Discussions have taken place with the water sector, the Drinking Water Inspectorate, the Health Protection Agency, the Consumer Council for Water, Ofwat and the Welsh Assembly Government. We expect to provide updated guidance to water companies on the minimum amount of water to be provided in an emergency before the new year.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what recent estimate he has made of the number of homes at risk of (a) coastal and (b) inland flooding in each region. [305228]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The following table shows the number of homes at risk of river and tidal flooding in each Environment Agency region.

| | Residential | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| EA Water Management region | Tidal | River | Both | Total |
| Anglian | 179 | 109 | 9 | 297 |
| Midlands | 22 | 175 | 5 | 201 |
| North East | 148 | 111 | 5 | 264 |
| North West | 41 | 127 | 2 | 169 |
| South West | 50 | 64 | 27 | 140 |
| Southern | 113 | 38 | 5 | 156 |
| Thames | 299 | 187 | 5 | 492 |
| Wales | 54 | 81 | 24 | 158 |
| Total | 906 | 892 | 81 | 1,879 |

Note: Figures are shown in thousands of properties.

The Environment Agency's "Flooding in England" report published in June 2009 estimated that, in addition to the above, a further 2.8 million homes and businesses in England are at risk of surface water flooding. This was an estimate to assess the scale of the risk and was not broken down by region.

Fly Tipping: Bexley

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of incidents of fly-tipping in the London Borough of Bexley in each of the last three years. [306896]

Dan Norris: The number of incidents of fly-tipping cleared by local authorities is reported each year to DEFRA's Flycapture database and published on DEFRA's website.

The number of incidents of fly-tipping on public land reported as having been dealt with by the London borough of Bexley in each of the last three years is shown in the following table. There is currently no estimate of the number of fly-tipping incidents occurring on private land as these are the responsibility of the landowner to clear.

| | Total number of incidents |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 1,185 |
| 2007-08 | 1,086 |
| 2006-07 | 581 |

Food Supply

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much funding his Department allocated to research on food sustainability in each year since 2001; and how much such funding it has allocated in 2009 to date. [302477]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Between 2001 and 2009, DEFRA has invested in a wide range of research activities associated with food sustainability (including animal health and welfare). Total spend (in millions) allocated since 2001 is shown in the following table. The table also shows the funding of related food and farming R and D by the Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council where figures are available.

£ million

| | DEFRA R and D spend on food sustainability[1] | BBSRC funding for related food and farming R and D |
|---|---|---|
| 2001-02 | 82 | — |
| 2002-03 | 81 | 132 |
| 2003-04 | 75 | 129 |
| 2004-05 | 79 | 138 |
| 2005-06 | 78 | 150 |
| 2006-07 | 74 | 171 |
| 2007-08 | 70 | 185 |
| 2008-09 | 65 | 189 |
| 2009-10 (provisional) | 65 | |
| Total of main sponsors for farming and food | 669 | 1,094 |

[1] These figures are taken from the DEFRA Science Information System database.

Forests: Disease Control

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what recent steps he has taken to reduce the spread of pests and diseases of woodland trees. [305626]

Dan Norris [holding answer 10 December 2009]: The Forestry Commission, through its Forest Research Agency, is carrying out research into a number of pests and diseases of trees including, more recently, increased investigation into Acute Oak Decline. It is also continuing collaborative research into a better understanding of the diseases caused by Phytophthora ramorum and P. kernoviae as part of the five-year programme announced by my right hon. Friend the Member for Liverpool, Wavertree (Jane Kennedy) on 3 March 2009.

The Forestry Commission has also recently set up a Biosecurity Programme Board with representation from key partners in the forest industry sector. The board will advise the Forestry Commissioners on how best to deliver a programme of protecting trees and woodlands against pests and diseases. This will be set out in a new Plant Health Strategy the Commission is helping to develop which it intends to publish in 2010.

Hydrofluorocarbons

Clive Efford: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what recent assessment he has made of the amount of hydrofluorocarbon emissions which would be saved by (a) reducing the use of hydrofluorocarbons through reducing leakage and improving energy efficiency and (b) the introduction of a widespread ban; and if he will make a statement. [305884]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The impact assessment (IA) for the Fluorinated Greenhouse Gases Regulations 2009 published in February, considered the impacts of the action taken to regulate hydrofluorocarbons (HFCs) through the EC F Gas Regulation and 10 associated Commission Regulations. The principal objective of these measures is to contain, prevent and thereby reduce emissions of HFCs. The IA considered both the "direct" savings relating to reductions in HFC emissions and also the "indirect" savings resulting from reduced energy consumption. A copy of the IA is available on the DEFRA website at:

www.defra.gov.uk/environment/quality/air/fgas/documents/impact-assessment.pdf

The introduction of a widespread ban on HFC use would lead to significant global reductions in HFC emissions that would otherwise not occur. However, the timing and scale of reductions would depend on how such a ban was implemented.

Hydrofluorocarbons: Government Departments

Clive Efford: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what recent assessment he has made of progress by departments in reducing the use of hydrofluorocarbons on their estate; and if he will make a statement. [305882]

Dan Norris: The Government's view is that the use of hydrofluorocarbons (HFCs) with high global warming potential is not sustainable in the long term. The Government's "Buy Sustainable: Quick Wins" procurement standards state that HFCs should only be used where other safe, technically feasible, cost-effective and more environmentally acceptable alternatives do not exist. All central Government Departments are required to comply with these procurement standards. Support for delivery and compliance with "Quick Wins" by central Government Departments is overseen by the Centre of Expertise in Sustainable Procurement in the Office of Government Commerce.

Data are not collected centrally on HFC use or emissions but the Government are currently reviewing the targets for the sustainable operations on the Government estate, and are considering expanding the scope of the climate change targets to include the six key greenhouse gases, including HFCs, in departmental carbon budget allocations for estate and operations from 2012 onwards.

Metals: Waste Disposal

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will bring forward proposals to extend the end of waste criteria for the purposes of including recycled metal. [306334]

Dan Norris: The point at which scrap metal is recycled and ceases to be waste has been set by the European Court of Justice (ECJ) in cases C-444/00 (Mayer Parry) and C-457/02 (Niselli). The practical effect of these judgments is that scrap metal does not cease to be waste until it is reprocessed into products such as ingots, sheets or coils of steel. It is not legally feasible for DEFRA to adopt criteria which purport to set the end-of-waste point for scrap metal at a point earlier than that set by the ECJ. However, the European Commission has announced its intention to bring forward EU-wide end-of-waste criteria for ferrous, aluminium and copper scrap metal using the powers available to the Commission under article 6 of the revised Waste Framework Directive (2008/98/EC). UK officials have participated in the working groups established by the Commission to develop the technical aspects of proposals for ferrous and aluminium scrap.

Natural Environment and Rural Communities Act 2006

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will list all guidance issued to Natural England under section 16 of the Natural Environment and Rural Communities Act 2006, giving the date when each was published. [306016]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Section 16 of the Natural Environment and Rural Communities Act 2006 gives the Secretary of State power to give directions to Natural England. No directions have been issued to Natural England under this section of the Act.

Organic Farming

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much has been paid to farmers migrants under the Organic Farming Scheme since 2003. [304589]

Jim Fitzpatrick: We do not hold information as to whether any payments made under the organic farming scheme were made to migrant farmers.

Origin Marking: Israel

Rob Marris: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs for what reason guidance to retailers on the voluntary labelling of products from Israeli settlements in the West Bank no longer appears on his Department's website. [304732]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The earlier guidance on labelling goods from the West Bank was felt to be in need of revision because it did not offer assistance in the specific matter of distinguishing those goods which were of Israeli settlement origin from those which were from Palestinian producers. As I explained in the debate on 2 December 2009, Official Report, column 106WH, the Government hope to be able to make an announcement shortly on this matter.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs with reference to the contribution of the Minister of State of 2 December 2009, Official Report, column 106WH, if he will make it his policy to include in the guidance on the voluntary labelling of produce imported from Golan the description "Made in Occupied Syrian Land". [305253]

Jim Fitzpatrick: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs tabled a written ministerial statement on 10 December 2009 concerning technical advice on the labelling of produce from the Occupied Palestinian Territories (OPTs). That advice has been issued in response to consumer and retailer concern about a lack of clarity on whether such produce comes from Israeli settlements or Palestinian producers. The situation in Israeli occupied Golan is quite different: we are not aware that there is such confusion between different producers, and we have not received representations from consumers or retailers. Therefore, the Government have not addressed the issue of produce imported from the Israeli occupied Golan in the technical advice to which I have referred.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what progress his Department has made on developing guidance on the labelling of food products sold in England which are produced in Israeli settlements in the West Bank; and if he will make a statement. [305714]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 10 December 2009]: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs tabled a written ministerial statement on 10 December 2009 concerning technical advice on the labelling of produce from the occupied Palestinian territories. That advice has been issued in response to consumer and retailer concern about a lack of clarity on whether such produce comes from Israeli settlements or Palestinian producers.

Rural Development Programme

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much was spent by Natural England on administering the Regional Development Programme for England (RDPE) on behalf of his Department in the last 12 months; and whether any of the costs within Natural England's Annual report are attributable to the RDPE. [306018]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Natural England was allocated £13,600,000 in 2008-09 to cover its direct costs associated with delivering the Rural Development Programme for England under the common agricultural policy. In addition to this, £22,400,000 was allocated to Natural England to cover the costs of DEFRA's Genesis IT system which is the IT system to manage and administer the Rural Development Programme for England. This running cost includes depreciation, cost of capital and third party support.

These costs are all given in Natural England's annual report.

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much matched funding and other Treasury funding has been committed to the Rural Development Programme for England (RDPE); and what the (a) consequences to date and (b) estimated consequences are of the change in the exchange rate of the euro to sterling on (i) amount of sterling to be funded from UK sources and (ii) the total amounts available for each Axis 1, 2 and 3 of the RDPE. [306019]

Dan Norris: The total planned budget for the Rural Development Programme for England (RDPE) 2007-13, as announced on 29 March 2007, is £3.9 billion.

A higher than planned euro value has contributed to an underspend of the European budget allocated to the programme to date. Under EU regulations, unspent European budget may be rolled forward to be spent in later years and therefore remains as part of the total programme budget. For the remainder of the programme we plan to take advantage of the higher sterling value of the EU budget to contribute to savings in the Exchequer funded element. This will contribute to achieving the saving of £92 million in 2012-13 announced in the pre-Budget report[1] to be delivered from efficiencies in Environmental Protection and RDPE. This saving can be achieved within the total of £3.9 billion planned for the programme.

Scientists

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs on how many occasions he has met (a) the Government chief scientific adviser and (b) his Department's chief scientific adviser in the course of his official duties in the last 12 months. [303961]

Dan Norris [holding answer 7 December 2009]: The Secretary of State has had no formal meeting with the Government's chief scientific adviser in the past 12 months, but has had the opportunity to meet him at various committees and events they have both attended. The Secretary of State meets DEFRA's chief scientific adviser regularly.

Waste and Resources Action Programme: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs with reference to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Meriden (Mrs. Spelman) of 13 July 2009, Official Report, column 15W, on Waste and Resources Action Programme, if he will undertake an investigation into the appropriateness of the Waste and Resources Action Programme hiring Chelgate public affairs to lobby hon. Members and noble Lords. [305831]

Dan Norris: Chelgate was contracted by WRAP for a period of six months to organise a series of meetings with parliamentarians from all three major parties, where WRAP explained its role and functions. No lobbying took place at any time.

Waste Disposal: EU Law

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what representations he has received on the Environmental Permitting (England and Wales) (Amendment) (No. 2) Regulations 2009; for what reasons he does not plan to review the regulations before 2013; and if he will make a statement. [305010]

Dan Norris: We received extensive responses to two public consultations on the review of exemptions, the second being on the draft Environmental Permitting (England and Wales) (Amendment) (No.2) Regulations 2009, which is due to come into force on 6 April 2010 but will not, subject to transitional provisions, be fully implemented until October 2013.

We are committed to introducing a system to regularly review and amend exempt waste operations in the future. We have suggested that the first review should be conducted in 2013, to coincide with the end of the transitional period for existing operations to have re-registered or applied for an environmental permit.

This will provide the opportunity to draw on operational experience to assess how well the revised exemptions are working. However, DEFRA would consider specific amendments to the exemptions if it becomes necessary to do so.

We are currently consulting publicly on draft Government guidance to accompany the Regulations. Chapter 14 of the draft guidance sets out proposed criteria and considerations for future reviews.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what methodology his Department used to estimate the costs for policy option three as referred to in the Explanatory Memorandum to the Environmental Permitting (England and Wales) (Amendment) (No. 2) Regulations 2009. [305011]

Dan Norris: An explanation of the methodology used to estimate the costs for policy option three is provided in chapters six and seven of the impact assessment which accompanies the Explanatory Memorandum to the Environmental Permitting (England and Wales) (Amendment) (No. 2) Regulations 2009.

These chapters explain the risk based approach adopted during the development of the revised exemptions and give an overview of the types of administrative and direct costs incurred under each option.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of metals recycling businesses which will experience a net financial (a) benefit and (b) cost as a result of implementation of the Environmental Permitting (England and Wales) (Amendment) (No. 2) Regulations 2009. [305012]

Dan Norris: Based on the available information, we believe that around half of the metal recycling operations (c460) operating under the current chargeable paragraph 45 exemption from environmental permitting would continue to do so if the proposed tonnages applied.

Under the revised regime those operations which remain exempt or could register for an exemption for the first time would no longer be subject to either the initial registration fee (currently £724) or annual re-renewal fee of £272. The remainder will incur additional costs associated with applying for an environmental permit which are likely to exceed the current registration fee.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when he plans to issue guidance on individual exemptions that arise as a result of the Environmental Permitting (England and Wales) (Amendment) (No. 2) Regulations 2009. [305013]

Dan Norris: DEFRA is currently consulting on guidance to accompany the amendments being made by the 2009 regulations and is expecting to publish a final version in early 2010.

Water: EU Law

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what proportion of rivers he expects to meet the criteria for the classification of good ecological status under the European water framework directive by 2015. [306883]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The proportion of rivers expected to meet the criteria for the classification of good ecological status under the European water framework directive in England by 2015 is 29 per cent. This is as a result of measures implemented through the first set of River Basin Management Plans, to be published this month.

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what steps his Department is taking to ensure that it meets the requirements of the European water framework directive by the deadlines set in the implementation timetable for that directive. [306884]

Huw Irranca-Davies: To date, we have met all the requirements of the European water framework directive as set out in the implementation timetable. The next key deadline is the publication of the River Basin Management Plans which we intend to publish on or before 22 December 2009, as required by the directive.

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether the final river basin management plans will include mechanisms relating to diffuse pollution. [306885]

Huw Irranca-Davies: There are a number of mechanisms within the river basin management plans relating to diffuse pollution from agricultural sources, and non-agricultural sources. Non-agricultural sources can include run-off from transport, on-street activities such as car washing, industrial estates, forestry and leisure industries and discharges from contaminated land and disused mines. Examples of the mechanisms include the England Catchment Sensitive Farming Delivery Initiative which provides advice to reduce diffuse water pollution from agriculture and the pesticides statutory code of practice.

There are also a significant number of investigations contained within the plans which will enable a greater understanding of the sources and causes of diffuse pollution and will provide the evidence base to require further action.

In addition we will continue to demonstrate our commitment and bring forward significant work including Water Protection Zones, sustainable drainage systems, and deal with misconnections into the surface water sewer network.

Full details of mechanisms for diffuse pollution will be published on the Environment Agency's website at:

www.environment-agency.gov.uk

on 22 December 2009, in Annex F "Mechanisms for action".

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many rivers he expects to be subject to a reduction of abstraction pressure during the first round of implementation of river basin management plans. [306886]

Huw Irranca-Davies: During the first round of river basin management plans, action will be taken at 26 sites which will protect habitats directive sites.

Through developing the river basin management plans we have identified areas where we need to undertake further investigations to increase our certainty on the causal links between abstraction pressure and the achievement of ecological status. The Environment Agency will investigate approximately 300 sites where the abstraction pressure is greatest to improve its understanding, and where appropriate propose further action to tackle the problems during the first cycle.

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether he plans to produce implementation plans under the EU Water Framework Directive for steps to be taken at local level in respect of that Directive. [306887]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Environment Agency is the competent authority in respect of the water framework directive, and it has the responsibility for engagement and developing plans at the local level.

In some places there will be added value from adopting more detailed catchment plans to help deliver River Basin Management Plan objectives during the planning cycles and it supports the pilot project on the River Kennett to produce an implementation plan.

The Environment Agency will share the knowledge gained through this pilot with other River Basin Liaison Panels, to help identify other catchments that could benefit from a similar approach.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Northern Ireland Legal Services Commission: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what payments the Northern Ireland Legal Services Commission has made to Grayling Political Strategy in the last 12 months; for what purposes such payments were made; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305251]

Bridget Prentice: I have been asked to reply.

The Northern Ireland Legal Services Commission has not made any payments to Grayling Political Strategy in the last three years.

Administration of Justice

Mr. Bone: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what recent prog[illegible] has been made on devolution of responsibility for criminal justice and policing in Northern Ireland; and if he will make a statement. [306277]

In addition the First and deputy First Ministers have written to Assembly members as part of a process to identify the new Justice Minister.

Young People: Driving Offences

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many school pupils in Northern Ireland were convicted of (a) a motoring offence that resulted in a fatality and (b) careless driving in each of the last two years. [305016]

Paul Goggins: The information is not available in the format requested as it is not possible to determine from conviction data the number of offenders convicted of motoring offences causing death and offences related to careless driving, who were school pupils. It is only possible to give the number of persons aged 18 and under (at date of offence), of whom school pupils may be a subset, convicted for these offences. Figures for these are documented in the following table.

Data cover the calendar years 2005 and 2006 (the latest year for which figures are available) and are collated on the principal offence rule; so only the most serious offence with which an offender is charged is included.

Number aged 18 and under[1] convicted of motoring offences causing death and careless driving/driving without due care and attention 2005-06

| | Motoring offences causing death | Careless driving/driving without due care and attention[2, 3, 4] |
|---|---|---|
| 2006 | 2 | 144 |

[1] Based on the age at date of offence.
[2] 2005 figure includes three convictions for the offence 'driving without reasonable consideration for others' and one for 'causing grievous bodily injury' by driving carelessly with excess alcohol'.
[3] 2006 figure includes one conviction for the offence 'driving without reasonable consideration for others'.
[4] Excludes careless driving offences causing death and dangerous driving offences.

Bookmakers: Licensing

Mr. Caborn: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport if he will instruct the Gambling Commission to undertake a study of the effect on betting exchanges of persons operating as unlicensed bookmakers. [305285]

Copyright: Music

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport if he will place in the Library a copy of each item of correspondence between Ministers in his Department and (a) the Federation Against Copyright Theft and (b) the British recorded music industry in the last 12 months. [306023]

Mr. Simon: The information is as follows:

(a) There has been no correspondence between Ministers in this Department and the Federation Against Copyright Theft in the last 12 months.

(b) Copies of eight pieces of correspondence between Ministers in this Department and the British Recorded Music Industry (which we understand to mean the British Phonographic Industries) will be placed in the Library of the House. These do not include correspondence relating to the development of policy which it would be inappropriate to place in the public domain at this time.

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many meetings (a) Ministers and (b) officials have held with representatives from (i) the Federation Against Copyright Theft, (ii) the British recorded music industry and (iii) the Open Rights Group in the last 12 months. [R] [306111][1]

Mr. Simon: Ministers have met with representatives from the British recorded music industry (which we understand to mean the British phonographic industries) on six occasions in the last 12 months. Officials were present at two of those meetings. Ministers also met representatives from the Featured Artists Coalition on one occasion. In addition, officials met bilaterally with representatives of the BRMI on three occasions, and were involved in several wider meetings.

Neither Ministers nor officials in my Department have met representatives from the Federation Against Copyright Theft or the Open Rights Group in the last 12 months. However, I had informal discussions with the Open Rights Group at the C&binet Conference held on 26-28 October.

Departmental Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what redesigns of websites operated by (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have been carried out since 27 June 2007; what the cost to the public purse was of each redesign; and when each redesign was conducted. ### Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what payments the National Lottery Commission has made to Hill and Knowton in each of the last 12 months for which figures are available; for what purpose; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contracts under which such payments have been made. [305142]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The National Lottery Commission has advised that during 2009 they made one payment of £1,500.37 to Hill and Knowlton, on 12 March.

No further payments have been made and the commission has no ongoing contract with Hill and Knowlton. All payments made to Hill and Knowlton were in respect of media relations support, strategic communications advice, planning and stakeholder engagement support, primarily for the delivery of the Third Licence Competition. The contract was awarded to Hill and Knowlton after a full competitive tender process.

All contracts are commercially confidential and because of this it would be inappropriate to place a copy in the Library of the House.

Departmental Publicity

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much his Department has spent on (a) Ministerial photoshoots and (b) production of videos in which Ministers appear in the last three years for which figures are available. [305513]

Mr. Simon: The Department has spent the following amounts on ministerial (a) photo shoots and (b) video productions during the last two complete financial years:

| 2008-09 | 1,188.23 | 920.00 |

These figures are exclusive of VAT. Expenditure for 2006-07 is unavailable, due to the way costs were broken down during this period.

Additionally, photography and video content, produced as a part of larger projects, cannot be categorised.

Departmental Training

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many overseas training courses were attended by his Department's civil servants in the latest period for which figures are available; how many civil servants attended each course; and what the total cost to the public purse was of each course. ## Departmental Travel

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside his Department's building attended by civil servants in his Department there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307521]

Mr. Simon: Details of away days and conferences are not centrally recorded, and the information could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

The Department's accounting system does not record expenditure on away days separately from other staff training and development costs and to identify and summarise these costs for the period would incur disproportionate cost.

The expenditure on conferences within the Department's administration costs for financial years 2005-06 to 2008-09 is set out in the table.

| Financial year | £ |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 92,150 |
| 2007-08 | 158,190 |
| 2006-07 | 231,220 |
| 2005-06 | 170,280 |

These figures include conference running costs, room hire, hospitality, accommodation and travel costs of conference speakers.

An analysis of costs by each conference could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/parliamentary-clerk-guide.aspx

In the response to the Procedure Committee report on written parliamentary questions, the Government accepted the Committee's recommendation that Departments be required to provide the Procedure Committee with sessional statistics in a standard format on the time taken to respond to written parliamentary questions, accompanied by an explanatory memorandum setting out any factors affecting their performance. This will be taken forward as soon as possible.

[1] Includes figures for named day parliamentary questions tabled to the Minister for the Olympics.

Gambling Commission: Birmingham

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much the Gambling Commission paid in staff travel costs in respect of commuting between London and Birmingham in the last 12 months for which figures are available. [305122]

Mr. Sutcliffe: In the 12 months up to 30 November 2009, the Gambling Commission paid £17,897.52 in staff travel costs in respect of commuting. This figure is in respect of staff on detached duty for commuting between London and Birmingham.

Government Art Collection

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many items from the Government Art Collection have been loaned to public galleries in each of the past 10 years; and how many items from the collection are located in (a) departmental offices, (b) ministerial residences, (c) offices of non-departmental public bodies, (d) public galleries, (e) diplomatic missions overseas, (f) storage and (g) other locations. [306698]

Margaret Hodge: The Government Art Collection lent the following number of works of art to public galleries in the last 10 years, both for temporary exhibitions and on a long-term loan basis:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2000-01 | 49 |
| 2001-02 | 45 |
| 2002-03 | 45 |
| 2003-04 | 50 |
| 2004-05 | 44 |
| 2005-06 | 35 |
| 2006-07 | 62 |
| 2007-08 | 96 |
| 2009 to date | 79 |

(a)-(g) I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my hon. Friend the Member for Stevenage (Barbara Follett) to the hon. Member for South-West Surrey (Mr. Hunt) on 15 May 2009, Official Report, columns 1045-47W. The Government Art Collection is unable to produce further figures in the time given.

Government: Assets

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport whether he plans to take steps to prevent (a) playing fields, (b) other sports facilities and (c) libraries being disposed of in the Government's proposed sale of public assets. [304486]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Government's proposed sale of public assets did not include plans to dispose of playing fields, sports facilities and libraries, which are primarily matters for local authorities. Any asset sales would be based on proposals by individual local authorities as central Government do not determine what assets they may wish to sell.

On the subject of playing fields, I would like to outline current protections. Since 1998, any proposed sale of school playing fields by a local authority has required permission from the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families. Additionally, local authorities are required to consult Sport England where planning applications affect land used as a playing field in the preceding five years. In April this year these protections were strengthened further by reducing the size of land in question from 0.4 hectares to 0.2 hectares.

Licensing Laws

Mr. Arbuthnot: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many applications for licences to sell alcohol by a person who had previously held a licence were refused in each of the last three years because he or she had served alcohol to a person who was inebriated. [305395]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The information is not held centrally. The Alcohol, Entertainment and Late Night Refreshment Licensing Statistical Bulletin collects the number of new personal licence applications which were granted and refused.

It does not, however, break down the reasons for why these were refused.

National Lottery

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport with reference to the projections in Table 2.9 of Budget 2009, how much he expects to be in the National Lottery Distribution Fund in each year to 2013-14; and if he will make a statement. [307280]

Mr. Simon: Our current estimates for the size of the National Lottery Distribution Fund are:

|---|---|
| 2009-10 | 1.2 |
| 2010-11 | 0.9 |
| 2011-12 | 0.7 |
| 2012-13 | 0.7 |
| 2013-14 | 0.9 |

All figures are for the year end on 31 March.

Playing Fields: Schools

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what steps his Department has taken to restrict the sale of school playing fields by local authorities; and if he will make a statement. [302345]

Mr. Iain Wright: I have been asked to reply.

Since the introduction of legislation in 1998, under section 77 of the School Standards and Framework Act, all schools and local authorities in England have needed the Secretary of State's written consent before they can sell a school playing field or any part of a school playing field. A sale is only allowed if the playing field in question is genuinely surplus to schools needs and any community groups that may happen to use them. Also, all of the proceeds of sale must be used to improve school sports provision in the first instance. Only when it has been demonstrated that no sports facilities are needed can the proceeds be used for other educational facilities.

Royal Parks: Parking

Dr. Cable: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what (a) primary and (b) secondary legislation would be required to introduce car parking charges in those Royal Parks where charging is not in force. [306372]

Margaret Hodge: No primary legislation would be required to introduce car parking charges in Royal Parks.

Car parking charges can be introduced in the Royal Parks by regulations made under the Parks Regulation (Amendment) Act 1926 and the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

The regulations are subject to negative resolution.

Tourism

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport (1) what recent assessment he has made of the level of associated expenditure in local economies from visitors in self-catering accommodation; [306004]

(2) what assessment he has made of the potential effect of the repeal of the furnished holiday lettings rules on the quality of tourism products and services. [306006]

Margaret Hodge [holding answer 10 December 2009]: The Department for Culture, Media and Sport has not made any recent assessment of the associated expenditure in local economies from visitors to self-catering businesses.

In respect of the repeal of the furnished holiday lettings rules, the tourism industry has undertaken its own evaluation of the impact on rural and seaside communities, in which most self-catering operators are located. I am aware of the industry's concerns, but any assessment of changes in the taxation arrangements affecting such businesses is a matter for my right hon. Friend the Chancellor. An impact assessment was published alongside the draft regulations on 9 December.

I am also aware of the industry's concerns that the furnished holiday lettings rule changes will impact on the ability of self-catering operators to invest in and maintain their properties. I am continuing to discuss this matter with the Treasury.

Tourism: VAT

Mr. Liddell-Grainger: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what representations he has received on the application of a reduced rate of value added tax to visitor attractions, catering and accommodation; and whether he has discussed that matter with HM Revenue and Customs. [303121]

Margaret Hodge: I regularly meet the sector through the Tourism Advisory Council and the Tourism Alliance. While tax issues are, of course, a matter for the Treasury, this Department continues to work across Government to represent the concerns of the tourism industry at the highest level and I remain in discussion with the Treasury about the impact such measures will have.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Better Communication Action Plan

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what progress has been made in implementing the Better Communication Action Plan; and if he will make a statement. [305050]

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what progress the Government has made in its response to the Bercow Report on services for children and young people with speech, language and communications needs. [305111]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: Following the Bercow review of services for children and young people with speech, language and communication needs (SLCN), the Government published "Better Communication: An action plan to improve services for children and young people with SLCN", backed by £12 million investment.

As part of the action plan, the Department of Children, Schools and Families and the Department of Health have chosen 16 local areas to become SLCN commissioning pathfinders. The 16 pilot areas have been chosen to identify good practice in providing support for children with SLCN through the joint working of organisations such as primary care trusts and local authorities. This will be used to develop a national framework to improve the way services are delivered for children across the country.

Jean Gross was announced as the communication champion on 15 October 2009, and we have established the Communication Council, which met for the first time on 21 September 2009, to support initiatives to improve services for children with SLCN. As communication champion, Jean Gross will raise awareness of the importance of communication, share good practice and lead delivery of a national year.

In addition, the university of Warwick has been selected to lead a consortium delivering a three-year research programme on the cost-effectiveness of interventions and to guide the development of future policy and practice in providing services for children and young people with SLCN.

12 organisations working to support children with alternative and augmentative communication needs have been chosen to share grants totalling £500,000 this year as part of Becta's commitment to provide £1.5 million of funding over the next three years. These grants aim to support delivery and provision of services.

Building Schools for the Future Programme

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families when he expects work to begin on the new build elements of the Building Schools for the Future programmes in Pendle at (a) Colne Park High School, (b) Fisher More Catholic High School, (c) West Craven High Technology College and (d) Colne Primet High School; and if he will make a statement. [304664]

Mr. Coaker: Lancashire county council was among the 13 local authorities which have recently been given approval to rebuild or refurbish secondary schools in their area as part of the Building Schools for the Future (BSF) programme. Pending a successful Remit meeting, Lancashire will formally enter the programme for their next phase of BSF investment by April 2010.

Colne Park High, Fisher More Catholic High, West Craven High Technology College and Colne Primet High School are included in this phase of Lancashire's project. Work is currently scheduled to commence around April 2011 and complete by September 2012; this timetable is subject to review as the project develops.

Lancashire BSF

Future BSF projects: First follow-on project due to begin before April 2010.

BSF schools open to date: Three.

Total capital investment: Wave 1 £33.7 million (conventional funding—Excl academies); £246.6 million (PFI credits).

Total number of schools: Nine plus two Academies

First follow-on project

Remit meetings are currently being arranged and it is anticipated that Lancashire shall formally enter into the next Wave of investment in their BSF programme before April 2010.

Colne Park High, Fisher More Catholic High, West Craven High Technology College and Colne Primet High School are included in the first follow-on project and the indicative programme indicates that work on these schools will commence around April 2011 and complete by September 2012. However, it is important to note that this programme is subject to review as work progresses.

Capita

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families whether any contracts between Capita Group plc and his Department and its predecessors have been cancelled before completion since 1997; and whether Capita Group plc has been liable for any penalties arising from failings in the administration of contracts with his Department and its predecessors since 1997. [303081]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: This information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families on how many occasions Capita Group plc tendered for contracts let by his Department and its predecessors in each of the last five years; how many such tenders were successful; how much his Department and its predecessors paid to Capita Group plc for the execution of contracts in each such year; how many contracts which terminate after 2010 Capita Group plc hold with his Department; and what the monetary value is of all outstanding contracts between his Department and Capita Group plc. [303151]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: A complete answer to this question could be supplied only at disproportionate cost. I can tell you, however, that the Department spent the following amounts with Capita over the past five years:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| April 2005 to March 2006 | 205,305,614 |
| April 2006 to March 2007 | 119,837,133 |
| April 2007 to March 2008 | 115,531,705 |
| April 2008 to March 2009 | 135,694,436 |
| April 2009 to October 2009 | 71,155,087 |

Total payments made to Capita during the period was £647,523,975.

The Department currently holds 15 direct contracts with Capita Group with a total value worth £82million and 48 contracts through a framework agreement with the Department for Works and Pensions. It would not be possible to identify how much has been paid against these contracts without disproportionate costs.

Children: Databases

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families whether ContactPoint users are trained in the detection and removal of malware. [304655]

Dawn Primarolo: ContactPoint users will be able to access ContactPoint only from computers that are part of an accredited system. This accreditation includes a requirement that systematic processes and software tools are in place to report incidents and to detect malware and spyware.

Most software tools are automated and do not require intervention from the users in order to detect malware or spyware. Training users to respond to malware detection is part of the accrediting organisation's normal responsibility.

Removing malware is a highly-skilled task requiring system-level access rights that most ContactPoint users will not possess. Commercial best practice is that malware removal is carried out by dedicated IT support teams.

Children: Day Care

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what funding his Department has allocated to the National Childminding Association for the delivery of consultancy services to every local authority in 2009-10. [305265]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department's Strategic Grant for 2009-10 to the National Childminding Association (NCMA) to help develop and sustain home-based child care, includes £270,112 for consultancy advice and support to local authorities.

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what his most recent estimate is of the number of childminders who are not registered with Ofsted. [305333]

Dawn Primarolo: No estimate has been made of the number of unregistered child minders since there is no reliable method of making this estimate.

Children: Homelessness

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many local authorities have developed a joint protocol on homeless teenagers between children's and housing services in order to comply with the House of Lords decision in R (G) v London borough of Southwark [2009]. [303618]

Dawn Primarolo: This information is not collected centrally.

Children: Protection

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what steps his Department is taking to (a) improve and (b) encourage information sharing between (i) local authorities, (ii) police forces, (iii) the Probation Service and (iv) NHS services when assessing risks to children. [304153]

Dawn Primarolo: The Government recognise the importance of effective and appropriate information sharing to help those who need additional services and in safeguarding and promoting their welfare. Information sharing between practitioners is an essential part of building a complete picture of the situation, being able to correctly assess the risks and in enabling effective early intervention to help improve outcomes for all.

While there is already much good practice in information sharing and growing evidence of increasing confidence among practitioners, we recognise that in some situations practitioners are still unsure when they can share information lawfully. The Government are continuing to work with partners across all sectors, to raise awareness of good information sharing practice and to promote the guidance and training materials that support it.

HM Government's "Information Sharing: Guidance for Practitioners and Managers" which is for practitioners across children's and adult's services (including local authorities, police forces, the Probation Service and the NHS), was developed and published in October 2008 by a cross-Government team.

The Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) and the Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) led this work, in association with representatives of other Government Departments including Department of Health (DH), Cabinet Office, Home Office (HO) and Ministry of Justice (MOJ). The guidance, together with additional supporting materials, can be found on the DCSF website at:

www.dcsf.gov.uk/ecm/informationsharing

It explains when and how information can be shared legally and professionally, in order to achieve improved outcomes. It also advises how organisations should support practitioners to embed appropriate information sharing practices, including in national standards and codes of practice, where appropriate.

The National Safeguarding Delivery Unit (NSDU) was established in response to the recommendations made in Lord Laming's "The Protection of Children in England: A Progress Report (2009)" to provide a strong, co-ordinated strategic lead across four Departments (DCSF, MOJ, HO and DH). As part of its programme of activity, the unit is taking forward work to help embed good information sharing practice.

The Department has also developed a set of tools to make it easier for practitioners to work together and share information appropriately. These include ContactPoint, which is an online directory that provides a quick way for authorised practitioners to find out who else is working with the same child, the Common Assessment Framework (CAF) to help practitioners assess children and young people's additional needs, develop a common understanding of those needs and how to work together to meet them, and National eCAF, which is currently in development and will be a secure IT system for storing and accessing information captured through the CAF.

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what guidance his Department issues to local authorities on when to initiate child protection procedures. [304156]

Dawn Primarolo: Guidance to local authorities on when to initiate child protection procedures is contained within Chapter 5 of the statutory guidance "Working Together to Safeguard Children". This is currently being revised in response to the recommendations made by Lord Laming in "The Protection of Children in England: A Progress Report".

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much his Department has spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [303844]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: In the last 12 months, the Department spent £2,737 on Christmas cards and £542 on a Christmas tree at its headquarters building. The Department does not fund Christmas parties.

Community Relations: Religion

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families with reference to the answer of 5 November 2009, Official Report, column 1120W, on "Community Relations: Faith Schools", if he will assess the effect on community cohesion of faith schools; and if he will make a statement. [302654]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The Department does not currently hold data or have any mechanisms in place to assess the effect of faith schools on levels of cohesion in particular areas.

All maintained schools in England have had a duty to promote community cohesion since September 2007. This has been inspected by Ofsted since September 2008. Data are therefore available on Ofsted's judgment of how schools are performing in fulfilling that duty and many faith schools are included in those receiving good or outstanding. The judgment relates to the contribution an individual school is making given its local context. Schools are not held accountable for the level of cohesion in a local area which will be influenced by a large number of factors.

As part of the Department's work to support schools in meeting their duty to promote community cohesion, the Department's officials have commissioned Ipsos/Mori to assess the impact of the community cohesion duty on different types of maintained schools which includes faith schools. The findings from the study will be published in autumn 2010.

Departmental Energy

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much his Department spent on energy bills in respect of its estate in each year since its inception; and how much he expects to spend in each of the next two years. [304752]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The Department for Children, Schools and Families spent the following amounts on energy bills in the following years:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2007/08 | 1,489,366 |
| 2008/09 | 1,683,021 |

Due to billing cycles differing in each of our buildings, it is not possible to provide any figures for the current financial year, and as we are only a proportion of the way through the year, such figures would not be comparable with those above.

The Department is not in possession of sufficient information to predict its expenditure on energy for the next two years.

Departmental Finance

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much funding his Department has allocated for the (a) Parent Know

How campaign, (b) child development grant, (c) training of the 5,000 outreach advisers referred to in the Children's Plan and (d) Respect Parenting experts in each of the 77 designated areas in each financial year since 2006-07; and from what budget (i) such funding and (ii) funding for the two parenting advisers in each local authority has been drawn. [305271]

Dawn Primarolo: The funding allocated by DCSF to the programmes is as follows:

(a) Parent Know How Services

Parent Know How began in 2008 and is a suite of family services delivered through telephone helplines, online digital services and through print media. It is delivered by a range of third and private sector organisations.

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 15,506,000 |
| 2009-10 | 15,147,000 |
| 2010-11 | £16,324,000 |

Funding in 2008-09 includes £4.1 million for local authorities to purchase new database systems as part of the Parent Know How Directory. Figures include capital and revenue funding and are rounded to the nearest thousand.

(b) Child Development Grant

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 0.75 |
| 2009-10 | 5 |
| 2010-11 | 7 |

(c) Outreach Adviser Training

The Department has allocated up to £4 million in this spending period for outreach training, and will publish details of training soon. This funding is being drawn from the Department's programme budgets for these financial years.

(d) Respect Parenting Practitioners

The Respect Parenting Practitioners received funding of £3.85 million in 2007-08 from the Home Office Respect Task Force budget and £3.85 million each year in 2008-09 and 2009-10 from the Department for Children Schools and Families (DCSF) Families Group budget. Each of the 77 local authorities was allocated £50,000 per year over the three years.

The Parenting Experts have been allocated a total of £9 million in 2008-10 and £11.5 million in 2009-10. This has been funded from the DCSF Families Group budget.

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much his Department has allocated to (a) the Graduate Leader Fund, (b) extending the free early learning entitlement to 38 weeks per year, (c) the Free Childcare for Training and Learning for Work programme and (d) Early Excellence centres from the Standards Fund in (i) 2009-10 and (ii) 2010-11. [305336]

Dawn Primarolo: The information is as follows:

(a) The Department has allocated £305 million during the period 2008-11 for the Graduate Leader Fund (GLF), made up of £232 million in the Sure Start Early Years Childcare Grant for settings, routed via local authorities, and £73 million for the Children's Workforce Development Council (CWDC) to deliver Early Years Professional Status training and accreditation.

This funding forms part of the Sure Start, Early Years and Childcare Grant (SSEYCG) distributed by local authorities and is part of the main revenue funding block which is not ring-fenced for the GLF.

(b) The free early learning entitlement is being extended from 12.5 hours a week for 38 weeks a year to 15 hours a week for 38 weeks a year in a staged roll-out. Since September 2009 all local authorities have been delivering an extended offer of 15 hours a week to their 25 per cent. most disadvantaged three and four-year-olds. From September 2010 all eligible three and four-year-old children will be entitled to 15 hours a week free provision over no fewer than 38 weeks of the year offered on a more flexible basis to better meet families' needs. Funding of £170 million in 2009-10 and £340 million in 2010-11 has been made available through the Standards Fund to fund the additional 2.5 hours per week of provision and flexible delivery. This funding is over and above that which local authorities currently receive through the Dedicated Schools Grant for the current 12.5 hour free entitlement.

(c) For the Free Childcare for Training and Learning for Work scheme we have allocated £25 million for 2009-10 and a further £40 million for 2010-11.

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much his Department spent on the (a) Childcare Sufficiency and Access Grant, (b) Sure Start Children's Centre, (c) Sure Start local programmes and (d) Outcomes, Quality and Inclusion block of the Sure Start, Early Years and Childcare Grant in each financial year between 2003-04 and 2007-08. [305337]

Dawn Primarolo: The spend by local authorities on Sure Start Children's Centres and Sure Start Local Programmes between 2003-04 is shown in Table 1. The Childcare Sufficiency and Access and Outcomes Quality and Inclusion blocks of the Sure Start, Early Years and Childcare Grant did not come into being until 2008-09.

Table 1. Local authority spend on Sure Start Children's Centres and Sure Start Local Programmes from 2003-04 to 2007-08

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |

Local authorities also received a single capital allocation for Sure Start Local Programmes from 1999-00 to 2005-06 of £459.8 million.

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how much his Department plans to spend on the Aiming Higher for Disabled Children block of the Sure Start, Early Years and Childcare Grant in (a) 2009-10 and (b) 2010-11; [305340]

(2) how much was spent on the Aiming Higher for Disabled Children block of the Sure Start, Early Years and Childcare Grant in each financial year between 2003-04 and 2008-09. [305338]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: A breakdown of the Department's Aiming Higher for Disabled Children block of its Sure Start, Early Years and Childcare Grant to local authorities is given in the following table.

| | 2007-08 | 2008-09 | 2009-10 | £2010-11 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Revenue | 261,541 | 17,866,495 | 78,927,431 | 178,352,610 |
| Capital | 0 | 4,497,000 | 32,999,700 | 52,480,500 |
| Total | 261,541 | 22,363,495 | 111,972,131 | 230,833,110 |

There was no funding for the Aiming High for Disabled Children Programme before 2007-08. The figure for 2007-08 is the funding given to 21 pathfinder local authorities in that year and represents actual spend. Figures for 2008-11 are planned spend. These are the latest data the Department holds.

Departmental Mobile Phones

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much his Department and its predecessors spent on (a) purchasing and (b) bills for (i) Blackberrys and (ii) other mobile telephones in each of the last three years. [301351]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The information requested is as follows:

(a) The DCSF and its predecessors have spent the following amounts on the purchase of (i) Blackberry and (ii) other mobile telephones in each of the last three financial years (FYs) including current FY.

| | 2007-08 | 2008-09 | £2009-10[1] |

[1] Current

(b) Blackberry and other mobile telephone billing information are combined within existing system data records and cannot currently be reported separately.

Departmental Press

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what the operational costs of his Department's press office have been in each year since its inception; and how much he expects them to be in each of the next two years. [304753]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The information is as follows:

Operational costs of the press office in 2007-08 were £1,955,761

Operational costs of the press office in 2008-09 were £1,912,411

Operational costs of the press office so far in 2009-10 are £1,205,515

Departmental Recruitment

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what proportion of jobs advertised by his Department in the last 12 months were online only applications; and what provision his Department makes for those wishing to apply for jobs in his Department who do not have access to the internet. [301545]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The Department uses the internet and encourages on-line applications, where possible, to improve the quality and efficiency of its recruitment processes. In all of the recruitment campaigns over the 12 months (November 2008 to November 2009) there was always the option to complete a paper based application. The Department also made use of advertising media other than the internet such as Jobcentre Plus, newspapers, career fairs, and university and specialist publications to attract people.

Departmental Recycling

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what weight of paper his Department has recycled in each of the last five years. [300775]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: DCSF Headquarters has recycled the following weights of paper in the last five years:

| | Detailed tonnages—recycled paperPublications | Offices | Total tonnages |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 1,082.62 | 206.98 | 1,289.6 |
| 2005-06 | 1,082.62 | Unknown | 1,082.62 |
| 2006-07 | 589 | 280 | 869 |
| 2007-08 | 889.85 | Unknown | 889.85 |
| 2008-09 | 448.16 | 315.2 | 763.36 |

| | | Detailed tonnages—recycled paper | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | Publications | Offices | Total tonnages |
| Total | 4,092.25 | 802.18 | 4,894.43 |

DCSF Headquarters has produced less publications waste paper due to the introduction of a more efficient publications stock control management system.

The percentage of waste recycled from total waste arising has increased every year since the Sustainable Development in Government (SDiG) targets baseline year of 2004-05.

DCSF has exceeded the waste recycling target of 40 per cent. recycled by 2010 for several years (58.9 per cent. in 2007-08) whilst still meeting the target for reducing waste arising by 5 per cent. by 2010 in relation to 2004-05 levels.

Departmental Security

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many security passes his Department has issued to contractors providing consultancy services in the last 12 months. [303952]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The number of security passes issued by DCSF to contractors providing consultancy services in the last 12 months was 368.

Departmental Working Hours

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many and what percentage of staff of his Department and its non-departmental public bodies work flexibly or part-time; and what his Department's policy is on making jobs available on a job-share or flexible basis. [301338]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: Information on the numbers working part-time is published regularly in the civil service statistics:

http://www.statistics.gov.uk/StatBase/Product.asp?vlnk=2899&Pos=&ColRank=1&Rank=422

The Department offers a range of flexible work arrangements to employees including compressed hours, flexitime, home working, job sharing, partial retirement, part-time working and part-year working. Employees make applications to their line managers who take decisions based on business requirements.

The civil service operates a job share website which can be found at:

http://www.civilservice.gov.uk/jobs/jobshare/for-you/what-is-a-job-share.aspx

The Department's non-departmental public bodies are responsible for their own employee working arrangements and the information is not held centrally.

Education: Assessments

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many 16-year-olds completed an OCR National Certificate in each subject in each of the last five years. [303302]

Mr. Coaker: The following table shows the number of 16-year-olds in England who completed an OCR National Certificate in each subject in each of the last five years for which information is available.

Education: Class Sizes

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what his Department's most recent estimate is of the average class size in secondary schools; [305771]

(2) what his Department's most recent estimate is of the average class size in primary schools. [305772]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: Final information on average class size for 2009 was published on 11 August 2009 as an update to the Statistical First Release "Schools, Pupils and Their Characteristics: January 2009" (which was originally published on 13 May 2009) and can be found in Table 8 at:

http://www.dcsf.gov.uk/rsgateway/DB/SFR/s000843/index.shtml

EU Law

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what (a) statutory instruments and (b) other regulations his Department has brought forward in this Parliament to meet obligations arising from EU law. [304172]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The Department for Children, Schools and Families has made one set of regulations by way of statutory instrument in this Parliament to meet obligations arising from EU law, namely the Electronic Commerce Directive (Adoption and Children Act 2002) Regulations 2005. The key policy areas within the Department's remit (education in schools, children's social care and substantive family law) fall outside Community competence.

Every Child A Talker Programme

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what proportion of money from the Every Child A Talker programme has been allocated to (a) local authorities and (b) national strategies; [305049]

(2) what recent progress has been made under the Every Child A Talker programme; and if he will make a statement; [305051]

(3) how many children in England have received support through the Every Child A Talker programme; [305052]

(4) how much has been spent on the Every Child A Talker programme to date. [305053]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: A total of £41.2 million over a three-year period has been made available to all local authorities as part of the Every Child a Talker programme. This includes up to £50,000 per year for each local authority (and slightly more for areas where it is more expensive to recruit and retain staff) to employ an early language consultant.

The rest of the funding—the majority—is for staff in early years settings to access training and professional development. No local authority spending data are yet available for the period covering ECaT since its launch in September 2008.

None of the £41.2 million was allocated to National Strategies. Their role in supporting LAs to implement the ECaT programme is part of their ongoing contract with the Department.

We do not have details of the number of children who have received support through ECaT as the programme is aimed at improving practitioners' understanding of early language development so that they can focus on raising the speaking and listening skills of children in settings where there is the greatest need. Over 3,500 practitioners will receive training and support through the programme.

The programme has been widely welcomed by participating local authorities, who have recruited early language consultants and are working with targeted settings. Because of the age of the children expected to benefit from the programme, we do not expect to see a significant impact on Early Years Foundation Stage Profile results until 2010. However, it is encouraging to see significant improvements in the 2009 results of many of the local authorities involved in the first wave of the programme.

Extracurricular Activities

Andrew Stunell: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many (a) out-of-school and (b) holiday play schemes there were in (i) each local authority area in the north-west and (ii) England in each of the last five years. [304676]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The following shows the number of out-of-school clubs in England, and each local authority area in the north-west Government office region in each of the last five years for which data were collected. The last year that Ofsted collected information on out-of-school clubs was 2008 as changes in legislation meant that new categories were introduced for the collection of child care data.

Information on the number of holiday play schemes is not available as Ofsted do not collect these data.

Foster Care

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how many assessments of friends and family foster carers were carried out in each (a) region and (b) local authority area in each of the last five years; [305369]

(2) what estimate he has made of the number of kinship foster carers aged (a) 50 to 64 years and (b) 65 years and over. [305367]

Dawn Primarolo: The information requested is not held centrally by the Department.

Free School Meals

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many and what proportion of students in school sixth forms were entitled to free school meals in the latest 12 month period for which data are available; and if he will make a statement. [304751]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The requested information is shown in the following table:

State-funded secondary schools[1,2]: School meal arrangements of sixth form pupils[3,4] as at January 2009 in England

|---|---|

School Census

Pupils are recorded as eligible only if a claim for free school meals has been made by them or on their behalf by parents and either (a) the relevant authority has confirmed their eligibility and a free school meal is currently being provided for them, or (b) the school or the local authority have seen the necessary documentation that supports their eligibility, and the administration of the free meal is to follow as a matter of process. It is not known how many pupils could be eligible but are not submitting a claim.

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families in how many (a) primary and (b) secondary schools the proportion of pupils entitled to free school meals has decreased by more than (i) five, (ii) 10, (iii) 15 and (iv) 20 per cent. between 2005 and the latest year for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [305176]

Free School Meals: Expenditure

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what the cost to the public purse was of free school meals in (a) all schools and (b) school sixth forms in the last year for which figures are available. [303723]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The Department does not collect this information. It is for individual local authorities to decide how much funding to allocate to school meal provision. Where a school chooses to manage its own budget for school meals, it is also responsible for deciding how much to allocate.

GCSE

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many pupils attended maintained mainstream schools at which fewer than (a) one per cent., (b) five per cent. and (c) 10 per cent. of pupils at the end of key stage 4 achieved fewer than five GCSEs, including English and mathematics at grade A* to C in the latest year for which figures are available. [301039]

Mr. Coaker: Of pupils at the end of key stage 4 attending maintained mainstream schools, in 2008,

(a) 3,222 attended one of the very top performing schools with fewer than 1 per cent. of pupils achieving fewer than five GCSEs at grades A*-C or the equivalent including English and mathematics.

(b) 19,536 attended a school with fewer than 5 per cent. of pupils achieving fewer than five GCSEs at grades A*-C or the equivalent including English and mathematics.

(c) 23,733 attended a school with fewer than 10 per cent. of pupils achieving fewer than five GCSEs at grades A*-C or the equivalent including English and mathematics.

Only those schools published in the 2008 Achievement and Attainment Tables have been included in this analysis.

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many and what percentage of children in care achieved five GCSEs at grades A* to C including English and mathematics but excluding equivalents in each year since 1997. [304657]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: Information on the number of children who achieve five GCSEs at grades A* to C including English and mathematics is not available from the OC2 return, which is the current source of data on the attainment of looked after children. The OC2 return is due to be superseded by a new data source which will be used to monitor the attainment of looked after children from 2010.

In November the Department published analysis of the new data source as experimental statistics in the release, "Bridging Series for Outcomes for Looked After Children: Comparison of Data from Matched Administrative Source with Current Aggregate Source":

http://www.dcsf.gov.uk/rsgateway/DB/STR/d000894/index.shtml

Information from the new data source is available from 2006 and is shown in the table.

Key Stage 4 eligibility and performance of children who have been looked after continuously for at least 12 months¹ (GCSEs and GNVQs only). Years: 2006 to 2009. Coverage: England

¹ Children looked after continuously for at least 12 months excluding children in respite care.
² Children looked after continuously for at least 12 months at 31 March.
³ All numbers less than 1,000 are rounded to the nearest 10, otherwise they are rounded to the nearest 100.
⁴ Number of children based on those children aged 15 at the start of the academic year i.e. 31 August.
⁵ Includes results in GCSEs and GNVQs only, excludes equivalencies.

These figures are experimental statistics and should be treated with caution. They have been released to allow readers to comment on the new data source and methodology before being adopted fully as official statistics.

Gifted Children: Kent

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what percentage of pupils at schools in Ashford constituency have participated in the gifted and talented programme in each of the last five years. [illegible]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The Department does not collect data about participation in gifted and talented programmes. Through the School Census, schools are asked to confirm the number of gifted and talented pupils they have identified. The following tables provide data on how many children were identified as gifted and talented in the January census between 2006, when the question was first asked, and 2009.

2006 records include secondary gifted and talented pupil data only. Otherwise, figures include primary[1] and secondary[1, 5] school data broken down by the number[3] and percentage of gifted and talented pupils.

Graham Badman: Public Appointments

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families to what positions his Department and its agencies have (a) appointed and (b) re-appointed Graham Badman CBE in the last five years; and what (i) the salary and (ii) duration was of each such appointment. Ms Diana R. Johnson [holding answer 30 November 2009]: Graham Badman was appointed as the Chair of Becta with effect from 1 May 2009. From 1 January 2009 to 30 April he served as Acting Chair. He is paid £30,000 per annum for this role and this is accounted for in the annual report of Becta. He had previously been an unpaid member of the board of Becta for the period 1 April 2006 to 31 December 2008.

Graham Badman is a member of the National Challenge Expert Advisers Panel, which was established in July 2008. This role is not paid and is expected to last until summer 2011.

He has recently conducted National Challenge Progress Reviews of Gloucestershire LA and Suffolk LA., and also a review of elective home education. This work was undertaken on a contractual basis with Nektus.

On 1 December 2008 the Secretary of State directed the London borough of Haringey to appoint Graham Badman to chair the Local Safeguarding Children Board, which it did. The Secretary of State did not make any directions about the salary or term of that appointment which is a matter for the London borough of Haringey.

Office for Criminal Justice Reform

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families pursuant to the answer of 24 November 2009, Official Report, column 799W, on "Office for Criminal Justice Reform", for what reason data from 1997 to 1999 are currently unavailable in that format. [305629]

Dawn Primarolo: Live Police National Computer (PNC) data were first collected in 1995. Between 1997 and 1999 work was ongoing to improve the quality of the data collection in order to bring it to a standard sufficient to support the publication of statistics by local authority.

The first year those data became available for publication was for 2000-01.

Physical Education: Finance

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much funding his Department and its predecessors have allocated for the encouragement of physical exercise for pupils in schools in (a) Ashford and (b) Kent in each of the last five years. [304920]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: In each of the last five years, schools in Ashford and Kent have received funding to deliver the PE and Sport strategy as follows:

| | Ashford | Kent |
|---|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 437,130 | 2,407,938 |
| 2006-07 | 574,481 | 3,223,291 |
| 2007-08 | 589,714 | 3,462,081 |
| 2008-09 | 580,159 | 3,790,037 |
| 2009-10 | 597,669 | 3,600,875 |
| Total | 2,779,153 | 16,484,222 |

Playgrounds: Finance

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what funding his Department has allocated for (a) the construction and renewal of playgrounds and (b) new adventure playgrounds for eight to 13 year olds in deprived areas supervised by trained staff in (i) 2009-10 and (ii) 2010-11. [305302]

Dawn Primarolo: The national Play Strategy, launched in December 2008, set out the Government's commitment to invest £235 million to deliver 3,500 new or refurbished play areas, plus 30 staffed adventure playgrounds, by 2011.

This funding is allocated to every top tier local authority in England, of which 30 are play pathfinder authorities and the remaining 122 local authorities are Playbuilder authorities. On average every play pathfinder authority will receive around £2 million capital funding and £500,000 revenue funding which is to be used to completely, or substantially, replace old equipment for new or for the building of completely new play areas, with a priority on provision for 8 to 13-year-olds. Play pathfinder authorities will also deliver a new staffed adventure playground. Although these authorities will not receive a separate allocation of funding for the construction of their adventure playground, they have been advised that the construction costs will be around £800,000.

Playbuilder authorities will receive around £1 million capital and £45,000 revenue funding to deliver a minimum of 22 new or refurbished play areas.

Decisions on where the capital funding is spent within local authority boundaries are taken locally, based on grant requirements around improved play spaces being provided where they are most needed, especially deprived areas, and based on a robust consultation process with local children and young people, families and wider communities.

We are encouraging all Members of Parliament to proactively engage with their local play capital programmes as they roll out, and we are asking local authorities to ensure that their local Members of Parliament and council elected members are appropriately consulted, and briefed, about where the capital funding is spent.

The total amount of capital funding allocated for (i) 2009-10 is £100 million and for (ii) 2010-11 is £75 million.

Pre-School Education

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families with reference to the answer of 12 October 2009, Official Report, columns 219-20W, on pre-school education, how many Steiner Waldorf settings that have applied for exemption from the Early Years Foundation Stage have received such exemption. [305360]

Dawn Primarolo: As of 4 December 2009, 21 Steiner Waldorf settings have applied for exemptions from and/or modifications of the Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS). Of those that have completed the exemptions application process, 12 Steiner Waldorf settings have been granted exemptions and/or modifications from certain parts of the EYFS Learning and Development requirements. Five applications are currently in the process of being assessed and four applications were incomplete and have been closed.

Pre-School Education: Finance

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families if he will estimate the cost of extending the pre-school entitlement for three to five year olds to 48 weeks a year; and if he will make a statement. [304201]

Dawn Primarolo: From September 2010 all eligible children will be entitled to 15 hours a week of free provision over no fewer than 38 weeks of the year offered on a more flexible basis to better meet families' needs.

We are not extending the free entitlement to 48 weeks of the year. However, in "Next Steps for Early Learning and Childcare" (January 2009) we committed to ensuring that parents will have the choice to stretch the free entitlement over more than 38 weeks, enabling them to take fewer hours per week over more weeks of the year. This will support parents to cover holidays, keep costs constant and help them to budget more consistently. Over 48 weeks, a stretched entitlement would equate to just under 12 hours a week.

Residence Orders: Guardianship

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families in respect of how many children of each year of age special guardianship orders have been made in each year since 2006. [305321]

Dawn Primarolo: The number of looked-after children of each year of age who have ceased to be looked after as a result of a special guardianship order in each year ending 31 March 2006 to 2009 can be found in the following table.

Special guardianship orders were first introduced on 30 December 2005. The figures for year ending 31 March 2006 only account for the last three months of the data collection year.

Table 1. Children who ceased to be looked after during the year ending 31 March by age on ceasing, as a result of a special guardianship order being granted[1] [2] [3], year ending 31 March 2009, England

| 17 | 0 | 10 | 10 | |

[1] Only the last occasion on which a child ceased to be looked after in the year has been counted.

[2] Figures exclude children looked after under an agreed series of short-term placements.

[3] To ensure that no individual can be identified from statistical tables, we use conventions for the rounding and suppression of very small numbers. National figures have been rounded to the nearest 100 if they exceed 1,000 or to the nearest 10 otherwise. Numbers of 5 or less have been suppressed and replaced with a long dash (—) except where the number is zero.

[4] Special guardianship orders were introduced on 30 December 2005. Consequently figures for year ending 31 March 2006 only account for the last three months of the data collection year.

Schools: Enfield

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many schools in (a) Enfield North constituency and (b) the London borough of Enfield are below the National Challenge Benchmark following 2009 GCSE results. [303359]

Mr. Coaker: Individual school results for the 2008-09 academic year are not available until the publication of the Achievement and Attainment Tables in January 2010. In 2008 there were three schools in the London borough of Enfield that had fewer than 30 per cent. of its pupils at the end of Key Stage 4, achieving five or more GCSEs at grades A*-C including English and mathematics, of which one school was in the Enfield North constituency.

Schools: Flooding

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what his most recent estimate is of the number of schools at risk of flooding. [305233]

Mr. Coaker: This information is not held by the Department. However, the DCSF is currently undertaking research as part of its departmental adaptation plan (to be published in spring next year) which includes work to map flood risk in schools in collaboration with the Environment Agency.

Schools: Rural Areas

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many rural (a) primary and (b) secondary schools have closed in each year since 1997. [305059]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The following table sets out the number of maintained rural schools that have closed in each year since 2000. We do not have reliable information about decisions made prior to 2000.

| 2000 | 2 | |

| 2008 | 14 | 1 |
| 2009 | 12 | |

[1] Including middle deemed secondary.

The table shows closures where the schools ceased to be maintained and were not replaced. There are other circumstances involving school closure which have been excluded from the table because replacement provision was established, for example, in the case of a change to a school's religious character or an amalgamation of an infant and junior school to form a primary school.

Secondary Education: Per Capita Costs

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what the average per student funding was in comprehensive secondary schools of (a) less than 100, (b) 100 to 199, (c) 200 to 299, (d) 300 to 399, (e) 400 to 499, (f) 500 to 599, (g) 600 to 700 and (h) over 700 students in (i) rural and (ii) non-rural areas in 2006-07; and if he will make a statement. [303730]

Mr. Coaker: The Department collects figures of the levels of per pupil funding allocated to schools by local authorities via the Section 52 Outturn statements. The Section 52 Outturn statements are completed by all local authorities in England and all local authorities have their own individual local funding formulae to delegate education funding to the maintained schools in their area.

The following table shows the per pupil funding for maintained secondary schools in 2006-07 broken down by size. Please note that figures for opening and closing schools in that financial year have been excluded and that there was only one urban school with fewer than 100 pupils, hence the high per-pupil funding figure.

Total budget share (plus grants)[1,2] per pupil[3] in secondary schools[4] in England with an urban/rural split: 2006-07 cash terms[5] figures as reported by local authorities as at 29 October 2009

| | Number of pupils in school | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | <100 | 100-199 | 200-299 | 300-399 | 400-499 | 500-599 | 600-699 | 700+ |
| All secondary schools | 11,060 | 5,360 | 4,380 | 4,000 | 4,050 | 4,290 | 4,300 | 4,080 |
| Rural schools only | 4,790 | 5,260 | 4,370 | 3,640 | 3,800 | 3,990 | 3,810 | 3,860 |
| Urban schools only | 22,820 | 5,490 | 4,400 | 4,120 | 4,170 | 4,380 | 4,420 | 4,110 |

[1] Budget share plus grants allocated to schools is the combination of the schools individual budget share plus any revenue grants allocated to the school at the start of the financial year. This does not include any capital funding allocated to schools.

[2] The amount of money allocated to a school depends very much on the individual local authorities' own policy for funding their schools. Different authorities retain varying amounts of funding centrally to spend on behalf of their schools while others chose to give schools more autonomy over how they spend their money by devolving more funding to the individual school.

[3] The pupil numbers used to calculate the per pupil amounts are as reported by the local authority on their Section 52 Budget Statement (Table 2) comprising of the full time equivalent number pupils registered at the school used for the initial determination of the school's budget share under the local authority's allocation formula.

[4] Included are all local authority maintained secondary schools who are reported by their LA as being open for the entire final year (schools that are reported as either opening or closing during the financial year have been removed). Figures include any LSC funding and LSC pupils for schools with 6th forms.

[5] Figures are rounded to nearest £10.

Secondary Education: Standards

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families with reference to the written ministerial statement of 13 November 2008, Official Report, columns 61-2WS, on secondary school improvement, what schools are classified as coasting in each local authority; and if he will make a statement. [303733]

Mr. Coaker: The Gaining Ground strategy is locally driven. Local authorities were asked to identify schools in their area that might benefit from the support available. Schools were considered for the programme if their attainment was above 30 per cent. A*-C GCSEs including English and maths and their progression between key stage 2 (age 11) and key stage 4 (age 16) was below average with little improvement over at least three years. Local authorities also considered other criteria such as whether the school placed an equal emphasis on progression and attainment.

Special Educational Needs

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many schools for children with emotional, behavioural and social difficulties there are in (a) England, (b) Essex and (c) Castle Point. [301072]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The requested information is given in the following table.

| | Total schools |
|---|---|
| (a) England | 1,140 |
| (b) Essex | 19 |
| (c) Castle Point | 2 |

Source:
EduBase 2

The following school types have been included within this answer:

community, community special, foundation, foundation special, non-maintained special, voluntary aided and voluntary controlled.

Please note, the schools included in answer (c) above are also included within answer (b) above.

Special Educational Needs: Finance

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families from what budgets funding is drawn for (a) improved special educational needs (SEN) training, (b) the Achievement for All programme, (c) further SEN support and (d) the implementation of the recommendations of the Bercow Review. [305335]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The funding is drawn from the Special Educational Needs and Disability Division's delegated budget within the Children and Families Directorate in the Department. Department of Health budgets are also supporting the implementation of the "Better Communication Action Plan", the Government's response to the Bercow Review.

Special Educational Needs: Young Offenders

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many posts there were for learning support assistants in (a) young offender institutions and (b) secure training centres in England and Wales (i) on the most recent date for which figures are available and (ii) on the same date in each of the last five years; and how many such posts were vacant in each case. [305394]

Mr. Coaker: Figures for the number of Learning Support Assistants (LSAs) across the youth justice secure estate are not routinely recorded centrally. However, information from the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) indicates that in September 2009, there were 153 LSC funded LSAs in the 14 public sector Prison Service YOIs in England, and the LSC is not aware of any current vacancies for LSAs in these establishments.

This information is not collected centrally for the two privately managed YOIs (one of which is in Wales) and the four secure training centres.

Sure Start Programme

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how many Sure Start centres are (a) in operation and (b) under construction; and if he will make a statement; [305234]

(2) how many Sure Start children's centres there are in each local authority area; [305238]

(3) how many new Sure Start centres have been opened in each of the last 24 months; and how many such centres are planned to be opened in each of the next 12 months. [305242]

Dawn Primarolo: At the end of October 2009, there were 3,151 designated Sure Start Children's Centres, offering services to over 2.5 million children under five and their families.

We are on track to achieve our target of at least 3,500 Children's Centres by March 2010. The exact number of Children's Centres under construction or planned to be opened in each of the next 12 months is provisional and subject to change as local authorities work to open their remaining centres, and ensure universal coverage, in discussion with our delivery partner, Together for Children.

Table 1 gives the number of designated Sure Start Children's Centres in each local authority area as at the end of October 2009. Table 2 shows how many new Sure Start Children's Centres have been opened in each of the last 24 months.

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how many Sure Start outreach workers there are in each local authority area; [305330]

(2) what his most recent estimate is of the cost to local authorities of employing Sure Start outreach workers in the last 12 months. [305331]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department does not collect information on how many Sure Start outreach workers there are in each local authority area. Staffing levels in children's centres are a matter for local authorities and their partner agencies.

The Sure Start Early Years and Childcare Grant provides local authorities with funding for children's centres' outreach activities. It is for local authorities to decide how and where to use this resource. The Government's "Sure Start Children's Centres: Phase 3 Planning and Delivery" document suggests that > "in the most disadvantaged areas teams should include at least three outreach workers per centre. In less disadvantaged areas local authorities will decide on the best approach."

www.dcsf.gov.uk/everychildmatters/.

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what operating budget was allocated to Sure Start centres in each of the last three years; and how much he expects to be allocated in each of the next three years. [305362]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department does not allocate operating budgets for individual children's centres but gives allocations to allow local authorities to manage the children's centres in their area. The allocations for 2007-08 to 2010-11 are shown in the table.

Sure Start, Early Years and Childcare Grant allocations for children's centres 2007-08 to 2010-11

| 2010-11 | 883.5 | 1,297.4 | 251.7 | 101.0 | 315.0 |

The allocations for Children's centres revenue and capital are included within the wider Sure Start Early Years and Childcare Grant main revenue and main capital funding blocks respectively. Funding in these blocks is not ring-fenced and the authority has the freedom to decide how much to spend on each area supported by the grant, in line with local priorities. The main capital allocation was provided as a single allocation in 2006-07 and 2007-08.

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what the average cost of opening a new Sure Start centre is; [305391]

(2) how much his Department has spent on opening new Sure Start centres in each of the last 24 months; and how much he expects to be so spent in each of the next 12 months. [305390]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department allocates capital and revenue funding for Sure Start Children's Centres and their predecessor Sure Start Local Programmes to local authorities. It is for local authorities to decide how to allocate funding between individual centres.

The Department collects spend information from local authorities annually and does not differentiate between new and existing centres. The latest year for which audited spend is currently available is 2007-08. The following table contains details of audited spend for 2007-08 and annual allocations for 2008-09, 2009-10 and 20010-11.

Teachers: Training

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many agreements with initial teacher training providers (a) the Training and Development Agency for Schools and its predecessors and (b) his Department and its predecessors have discontinued on quality grounds since 1997. [304894]

Mr. Coaker: The Training and Development Agency for Schools (TDA) is given the power by statute to accredit initial teacher training (ITT) providers, and in doing so it is required to have regard to the quality of providers' courses when allocating training places and funding.

The available information is provided in the table. Accreditation records are available from 1999/2000 onwards. Where accreditation has been withdrawn it has been on the grounds of non-compliance with criteria set out by my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State in the Professional Standards for qualified teacher status and Requirements for ITT together with regard for the quality of provision offered.

Number of ITT providers where accreditation has been withdrawn Years 1999/2000 to 2006/07 Coverage: England

| | Number of ITT providers |
|---|---|
| 1999/2000 | 0 |
| 2000/01 | 2 |
| 2001/02 | 2 |
| 2002/03 | 6 |

| 2004/05 | 2 |
| 2005/06 | 1 |
| 2006/07 | 0 |
| Total | 18 |

In 17 other instances over this period, accreditation procedures were begun but not completed, either because the provider concerned improved sufficiently during the process or withdrew the provision voluntarily.

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families whether formal training in recognising and dealing with all forms of bullying is offered to all trainee teachers in each of the teacher training routes. [306007]

Mr. Coaker: All trainee teachers on initial teacher training routes to qualified teacher status must demonstrate that they have met the standards before they can be recommended for the award. These include standards relating to discipline and behaviour management, including bullying in all of its forms, and those relating to the safeguarding and well-being of children and young people. The standards, along with extensive guidance for trainers and trainees, are available at:

www.tda.gov.uk/qts

Dawn Primarolo: The information is as follows:

The presented data are broken down by financial years and by the following age groups: (a) 10 and 11, (b) 12 to 14 and (c) 15 to 17 years old.

(ii) Referral orders are orders of the court and are not breached as other community orders. The YJB does not hold the data on orders that have been revoked after being returned back to the court following non compliance with referral order contract. Referral orders were piloted in some areas between 1999/2000 and 2001/02 and became available in England and Wales in April 2002.

Complete data prior to financial year 2000/01 are not held by the Youth Justice Board.

|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 10-11 | 12-14 | 15-17 | Total |
| 2000-01 | 25 | 360 | 903 | 1,288 |

| 2007-08 | 523 | 8,315 | 19,637 | 28,475 |

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which as with any large recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing and may be subject to change over time.

John Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the system for processing student visa applications. [306237]

Mr. Woolas: We implemented Tier 4 of the points based system on 31 March 2009, replacing the previous arrangements for overseas students to come and study in the UK. This ensures that only those colleges and schools who provide quality education and take responsibility for their students are licensed to bring in international students. We continuously monitor our systems and where improvements can be made we will make them. The Prime Minister recently announced a review of certain elements of Tier 4 and we are studying the recommendations.

Alan Johnson: I met with the ACMD on 10 November and outlined the process for the appointment of a new chair. My officials are currently pursuing options for appointing the new Chair with the Office for the Commissioner of Public Appointments and with the ACMD. Following these discussions I will be able to confirm timings.

Dr. Evan Harris: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department for what reasons the minutes of the Advisory Council on the Misuse of Drugs meeting in November 2008 are not available. [303651]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Under the Public Order Act 1986, part III Incitement to Racial Hatred, it is an offence to commit an act that is threatening, abusive or insulting and which is intended or likely in all the circumstances to stir up racial hatred.

As part of its work to reduce the vulnerability of crowded places to terrorist attack, police counter-terrorist security advisers have identified higher risk crowded places and work is in hand with a range of partners that aims to reduce their vulnerabilities. Additionally, the National Counter Terrorism Security Office has recently published protective security guidance for all places of worship, including synagogues. Third sector organisations such as the Community Security Trust should contact their local authority and local police if they have any specific local concerns. We have also recently published a Cross-Government Hate Crime Action Plan to tackle all forms of hate crime, including anti-Semitism.

Asylum: Democratic Republic of Congo

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 25 November 2009, Official Report, column 206W, on asylum: Democratic Republic of Congo, how many investigations arising from specific allegations have taken place in each of the last four years. [303556]

Mr. Woolas: The following table shows the number of asylum seekers who were supported in accommodation, in Scotland by parliamentary constituency, as at end of September 2009. These figures exclude unaccompanied asylum-seeking children supported by local authorities and those in initial accommodation.

Capita

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether any contracts between Capita Group plc and his Department have been cancelled before completion since 1997; and whether Capita Group plc has been liable for any penalties arising from failings in the administration of contracts since 1997. [303087]

Mr. Woolas: A search of records for instances since 1997 where contracts between Capita Group plc or its subsidiaries and the Home Department have been cancelled would incur disproportionate cost. However, from best available records within the last five years no contract has been cancelled before completion. Capita Business Services provides the Criminal Records Bureau's disclosure processing service under a public-private partnership agreement. Contract schedules set out service levels and the service credits that apply should Capita Business Services fail to meet the agreed service levels. Liquidated damages are charged in the event of late delivery to agreed changes in the service. From 2001-02, the values of service credits and liquidated damages received from Capita Business Services are:

| 2001-02 | 555,000 |
| 2002-03 | 1,718,000 |
| 2003-04 | 1,528,000 |
| 2004-05 | 53,000 |
| 2005-06 | 92,000 |
| 2006-07 | 168,000 |
| 2007-08 | 0 |
| 2008-09 | 0 |

Mr. Woolas: To date, the Department has not paid for any Christmas cards.

No official funds are used for Christmas parties.

Christmas decorations are donated by Ecovert FM, the Department's facilities management services provider.

Information concerning the cost of cards and decorations to UK Border Agency, Identity and Passport Service, and Criminal Records Bureau cannot be provided without incurring disproportionate cost.

All Home Office expenditure on rewards and recognition, including staff entertainment, conforms to the principles of regularity, propriety and value for money, and any other guidance as applicable contained within Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department with reference to his Department's Together we can end violence against women and girls strategy, how much his Department plans to spend on (a) launching an award scheme to celebrate the achievements of local areas delivering excellence, (b) funding the POPPY project and (c) funding National Offender Management Service perpetrator programmes in (i) 2009-10, (ii) 2010-11 and (iii) each of the subsequent three years; and from what budgets such funding will be drawn. [305313]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The cross-Government strategy 'Together We Can End Violence Against Women and Girls' was launched on 25 November 2009.

(a) The departmental spend on an award scheme for local areas delivering excellence in their response to violence against women and girls will be finalised in spring 2010 by a cross-departmental delivery board. The board will have oversight of all actions in the strategy.

(b) Across Government, we have invested £5.8 million in the POPPY project over the last six years to provide high-level specialist support for victims trafficked into sexual exploitation. A further £3.7 million investment will be made in the period 2009-10 to 2010-11 to the POPPY project for specialist victim services for victims of sexual exploitation and domestic servitude.

(c) Probation boards fund the cost of delivering accredited perpetrator programmes including for domestic and sexual violence perpetrators through their main grant, and funding for the delivery of accredited offending behaviour programmes in custody is built into prison baselines.

Departmental Assets

Dr. Cable: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assets of his Department are planned to be sold in each year from 2009-10 to 2013-14; what the (a) description and (b) book value of each such asset is; what the expected revenue from each such sale is; and if he will make a statement. [306203]

Mr. Woolas: My Department rents rather than owns most of its estate and so is focusing more on limiting and where possible reducing its rent liabilities. There is currently one asset for sale. This is the former Official Residence at 62 South Eaton Place whose current book value is £1.7 million. The indicated guide price is £4 million.

Departmental ICT

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Putney of 3 November 2009, Official Report, column 856W, on IT systems, (1) on what projects under what budget headings the £86 million on the Next Generation IST Transformation Programme will be spent; and what timetable has been set for that expenditure. [303787]

(2) on what projects under what budget headings the £3.12 million on the Next Generation IST Transformation Programme has been spent. [303788]

Alan Johnson: Since answering the question from the hon. Member for Putney (Justine Greening) Official Report, columns 852-56W, on IT systems, I would refer the hon. Mr. Woolas: As of 30 November 2009, the total number of full-time equivalent press officers employed by the Department is 51.89 full-time equivalents. This includes 14 who are employed (by UKBA) regionally, who undertake work for UKBA which includes tasks which transferred through machinery of government changes from HMRC.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many staff of his Department were in its redeployment pool on 1 (a) January, (b) April, (c) July and (d) October 2009. [306733]

Mr. Woolas: The number of staff within the Home Office and its agencies that were in a redeployment network on 1 (a) January (b) April (c) July and (d) October 2009 is shown in table 1.

Staff that are in a redeployment network continue to undertake work for the Department while a new post is actively sought, either within the Home Office and its agencies, or in another Government Department.

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much was claimed in reimbursable expenses by press officers in his Department in 2008-09. [306901]

Mr. Woolas: I am unable to answer the question as our systems do not collate the press office travel and subsistence budget to distinguish between reimbursable expenses and other costs.

Departmental Research

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what research his Department has commissioned on public attitudes to migrant populations in the last five years. [300561]

Mr. Woolas: The UK Border Agency does not conduct research into public attitudes specifically to migrant populations. Details of the results on Home Office and UK Border Agency polling on public attitudes to immigration are, however, available on the respective public websites.

Departmental Security

Angela Browning: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what security requirements are made by his Department in respect of (a) people employed to provide audio transcription services to his Department from home, (b) the premises in which work to provide such services is carried out and (c) arrangements for the transfer of data between such premises and his Department. [302694]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 30 November 2009]: The Department does not currently have in place contracts for the provision of home-working-based audio transcription services.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Alan Campbell: 887 parliamentary questions for named day response were tabled to the Home Office between 1 December 2008 and 30 November 2009. 133 of these questions received a substantive answer on the day named. The following table shows the months in which these questions were tabled. Central guidance on answering parliamentary questions is now available in the "Guide to Parliamentary Work", at:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/parliamentary-clerk-guide.aspx

In the response to the Procedure Committee Report on written parliamentary questions, the Government accepted the Committee's recommendation that Departments be required to provide the Procedure Committee with sessional statistics in a standard format on the time taken to respond to written parliamentary questions, accompanied by an explanatory memorandum setting out any factors affecting their performance. This will be taken forward as soon as possible.

Detention Centres: Children

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether Ministers in his Department have signed authorisations for the continued detention of children at immigration removal centres beyond 28 days which provide for the detention of children during Christmas 2009. [304866]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 10 December 2009]: No authorisations have been signed which allow for the continued detention of children beyond 28 days which provided for the detention of children during Christmas 2009.

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether the UK Border Agency has made any arrangements in respect of children detained at immigration removal centres during Christmas 2009. [304867]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 10 December 2009]: We would prefer not to detain families with children and would rather that they left the UK voluntarily where the Courts have upheld a decision of the UK Border Agency that they must leave the country. However, where they fail to leave after having been given every opportunity and incentive to do so, the Agency has no other option but to detain them to enforce their departure. We believe that it is in the children's best interests to remain with their parents and they are therefore detained as a family group just a few days before their flight. However, detention is sometimes prolonged because of last minute applications to the Court as an attempt to frustrate their removal.

Detention Centres: Families

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many families he expects to be detained at immigration removal centres during Christmas 2009. [304868]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 10 December 2009]: We do not have an estimate of the number of families expected to be detained in immigration removal centres during Christmas 2009.

Detention Centres: Manpower

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) male and (b) female staff are employed at each immigration removal centre. [304441]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 7 December 2009]: There are 10 immigration removal centres in England and one centre, Dungavel House, in Scotland. Eight of the centres are operated under contracts with the private sector. Three centres, Dover, Haslar and Lindholme, are operated under agreements with the National Offender Management Service.

The number of male and female staff employed at each centre is detailed in the following table. The numbers refer to those staff directly employed by the centre operator. The data are normally used for management information only and are not subject to the detailed checks that apply for National Statistics publications. The information is provisional and subject to change.

| Immigration Removal Centre | Male employees | Female employees |
| Brook House | 129 | 46 |

Mr. Woolas: All income from entry clearance is retained by the UK Border Agency. The income received does not cover the full cost of processing this type of application and therefore no net revenue accrues to the Agency.

Entry Clearances: Overseas Students

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people were granted student visas in the last (a) 12 months and (b) five years. [301423]

Mr. Woolas: In the 12-month period October 2008 to September 2009, a total of 269,900 visas were issued in the student category.

In the five years from October 2004 to September 2009, a total of 1,184,946 visas were issued in the student category, including 104,596 visas issued to dependents.

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many student visas were granted to people from each non-EU country in the last five years. [301424]

Mr. Woolas: The information requested has been placed in the House Library. The enclosed table shows the number of student visas and student dependent visas issued to each non-EU nationality in the five year period from October 2004 to September 2009.

Entry Clearances: Pakistan

Mr. Brady: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many appeals there were against the refusal of an application for a visit visa from a Pakistani national in each year between 2004 and 2008; what the cost to the public purse was of such appeals; and how many such appeals resulted in an application being granted. [304762]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 7 December 2009]: Only family visits carry full rights of appeal. The information requested is in the following table:

| 2004 | 7,256 | 8,090 | 3,556 |

| 2006 | 29,197 | 23,348 | 7,315 |
| 2007 | 31,903 | 27,740 | 9,386 |
| 2008 | 24,076 | 26,379 | 10,540 |

Notes:

1. These data are unpublished and should be treated as provisional.
2. There is only a full right of appeal against the refusal of family visit visas.

Heads of Government

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate he has made of the number of former foreign Heads of Government who are resident in the UK; and whether any cost arising from their residence is borne by the public purse. [303937]

Mr. Woolas: No information is held on former foreign Heads of Government who may be resident in the UK.

Identity and Passport Service: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether the Identity and Passport Service has made any payments to (a) political consultancies, (b) external public relations firms and (c) public affairs firms since its establishment. [305108]

Meg Hillier: Since its establishment, the Identity and Passport Service has made payments to one public relations company who were engaged to work on passport campaigns. This contract expired in 2008 and has not been renewed. IPS has not made any payments to political consultancies or public affairs companies.

Immigrants: Detainees

Immigration

Dr. Evan Harris: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many and what proportion of applications for a residence card as the spouse of an EEA national remained outstanding six months after the application was made in each quarter since 2007. [303649]

Mr. Woolas: This information is not available as the UK Border Agency's Case Information Database records all family members of EEA nationals who apply for residence cards in one category (EEA2).

Immigration Controls

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department with reference to the answer of 12 November 2009, Official Report, column 948W, on immigration controls, for what reasons the verification service's management information system was not operating in February, March and April 2009; and what the operational cost of that service has been since November 2008. [303839]

Alan Johnson: The verification service did not operate in February and March because of necessary work to upgrade its security. The service resumed in April. The set up costs associated with the implementation of the IT infrastructure used by Teleperformance for these services was £165,123. Information about costs of the service is commercially sensitive and cannot be disclosed.

Mr. Holloway: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which colleges have had their licences to sponsor students under Tier 4 of the points-based immigration system (a) revoked and (b) suspended. [305056]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 8 December 2009]: 14 colleges have had their Tier 4 sponsor licences revoked and 35 have had their sponsor licences suspended.

We cannot release specific details of the colleges suspended or revoked as this information is commercially sensitive.

Mr. Holloway: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Epsom and Ewell (Chris Grayling) of 5 November 2009, Official Report, columns 1139-40W, on immigration controls, what action has been taken in respect of the 280 students whose sponsor under Tier 4 had had their licence revoked or suspended up to 16 October 2009. [305057]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 8 December 2009]: The information requested could be obtained only by examination of individual case records.

In general terms, students studying at a college whose licence has been suspended, and not revoked, may continue their studies at that college providing they have valid leave. Students whose leave is about to expire must, as part of an application for leave to remain as a student, show that they are enrolled on a course of study at a college which is on the register of Tier 4 sponsors.

Students studying at a college whose licence has been revoked will have their leave curtailed and are given 60 days to enrol at a college which is on the register of Tier 4 sponsors. If they fail to do so they are expected to leave the country.

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 25 November 2009, Official Report, column 213W, on overseas students, when he expects the review of approval criteria to be completed; who is leading the review; and whether external organisations have been consulted as part of the review. [305088]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 8 December 2009]: I expect the review of approval criteria to be completed within the next 12 weeks. The UK Border Agency is leading on the review of the framework, working with Ofsted, and also taking comments from each of the currently approved accreditation bodies.

Mr. Hanson: Two prolific and other priority offender schemes, Corby and Wellingborough, cover the four Crime and Disorder Reduction Partnerships in the North Northamptonshire Basic Command Unit area. The most recent performance management data show that, as at June 2009, there were 66 prolific and other priority offenders in Corby and 54 in Wellingborough. Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what budget he has allocated for pump-priming the provision of community support officers in North Yorkshire in the next 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [305848]

Mr. Hanson: Neighbourhood policing is central to improving public confidence that the police and local council are dealing with the crime and antisocial behaviour issues that matter in their area. Public confidence has increased from 45 per cent. in March 2008 to 50 per cent. in June 2009. Since 2002 we have invested heavily to ensure that there is now a Neighbourhood Policing team in every neighbourhood, including in total more than 13,500 warranted officers and 16,000 police community support officers (PCSOs).

During 2009-2010 we are providing £3.33 million to North Yorkshire Police Authority to help maintain 183 PCSOs. We will increase this provision by 2.7 per cent. to £3.42 million in 2010-11.

Police: Essex

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the costs of providing policing in Essex were in each of the last three years; and if he will make a statement. [305823]

Mr. Hanson: Total gross revenue expenditure by Essex police in the last three years was as follows:

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 306.1 |
| 2007-08 | 308.7 |
| 2008-09 | 324.7 |

The Government provide annual grant to police authorities and it is for the Chief Constable and police authorities to make the best possible use of their resources.

In 2009-10 the general grant provided to Essex was £177.9 million. This was above the minimum 2.5 per cent. increase guaranteed to all forces. In 2010-11 the provisional settlement gives Essex police an increase of 2.9 per cent. in general grants.

Mr. Hanson: Data since April 2009 are unavailable until headline figures are published in July 2010. The available data for the financial year 2008-09 are given in the following table.

The Home Office does not collect data about officials of the police authority.

[1] Full-time equivalent figures provided that have been rounded to the nearest whole number. Because of rounding, there may be an apparent discrepancy between totals and the sums of the constituent items.

[2] Special constable figures are given as headcount measures.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many officers at each rank were eligible for performance bonuses and special bonuses in Essex police in each of the last three years; how many at each rank received each type of bonus; what the average payment was for each type of bonus at each rank; and what the maximum payment was for each type of bonus at each rank; [306096]

(2) how many officials were eligible for performance bonuses and special bonuses in Essex police authority, by civil service band in each of the last three years; how many people received each type of bonus, by civil service band, what the average payment was for each type of bonus, by civil service band; and what the maximum payment was for each type of bonus, by civil service band. [306097]

Mr. Hanson: The Home Office does not hold information on officials eligible for performance bonuses and special bonuses in Essex police authority or in Essex police. The payment of individual bonuses is a matter for the Essex police authority and Essex police.

Population

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether the Government have a policy on future population (a) growth and (b) size in the UK. [301782]

Mr. Woolas: The Government do not have a policy on the UK future population growth or size, but we do have a migration policy. The new immigration system and the points-based system give us greater control over numbers while maintaining the flexibility our economy needs.

Net migration has fallen over the past year. Population projections provide estimates of the size of the future population based on certain assumptions and pre-existing trends, but they have not yet included the full impact of recent reductions in net migration and nor do they include the potential impacts of Government policies.

Radicalism

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment he has made of the implications for the UK of the report and recommendations of the Parliamentary Assembly of the Council of Europe AS/POL (2009) 15 rev on the fight against extremism: achievements, deficiencies and failures; and if he will make a statement. [301466]

Mr. Hanson: The report on "The Fight against Extremism: Achievements, Deficiencies and Failures" is still in draft and is due to be considered by the Political Affairs Committee at its meeting on 17 December. It has not yet been adopted by the Committee, or discussed by the Parliamentary Assembly of the Council of Europe.

UK Border Agency

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many contracts with a monetary value of over £5 million the UK Border Agency and its predecessors have signed in each of the last five years. [303821]

Mr. Woolas: The number of contracts let with a monetary value of over £5 million in each of the last five years is as follows. This does not include contracts which when signed had a value which was less than £5 million but due to a subsequent extension then exceeded this value.

| | Total number of contracts over £5 million let by UKBA |
| 2009 | 3 |
| 2008 | 6 |
| 2007 | 3 |
| 2005 | 2 |

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what UK Border Agency (a) outsourced services with an annual monetary value of over £250,000 and (b) information technology systems with an annual monetary value of over £250,000 are due to (i) be re-procured and (ii) become unsupported in the next four years. [303822]

Mr. Woolas: The UK Border Agency has outsourced services across the organisation. The decision to re-procure is primarily driven by the business need and priority, with the commercial strategy and procurement route determined subsequently.

The approach to re-procurement evaluation is made towards the end of each contract in light of business need and available procurement options.

There are no information technology systems contracts which are due to be re-procured or become unsupported in the next four years. However, the UK Border Agency contracts for outsourced services which may be re-procured in the next four years are as follows:

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many staff in the UK Border Agency were classified as having non-jobs on (a) 1 April 2008, (b) 1 October 2008, (c) 1 April 2009 and (d) 1 October 2009. [303824]

Mr. Woolas: 'Non-jobs' has been interpreted as staff who are currently in the redeployment pool. The following table refers to the number of UK Border Agency Staff in the redeployment network as of (a) 1 April 2008, (b) 1 October 2008, (c) 1 April 2009 and (d) 1 October 2009.

| Date as at | Number of UK Border Agency staff |
|---|---|
| 1 April 2008 | 26 |
| 1 October 2008 | 22 |
| 1 April 2009 | 24 |
| 1 October 2009 | 19 |

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what performance targets the UK Border Agency has set for its senior civil service members in 2009. [303825]

Mr. Woolas: Performance targets for senior civil servants within the UK Border Agency are set in accordance with the Cabinet Office Guidance entitled 'Managing Performance in the Senior Civil Service' and are individual to the person and the role they perform.

The Cabinet Office guidance requires that senior civil service objectives should include:

Business delivery objectives—that define business outcomes for the specific post, reflecting business priorities and value for money commitments for the year ahead, linked to delivery targets and the Agency's PSAs.

Corporate objectives—that articulate the leadership activity that contributes to the effective corporate management and coherence of a Department and/or the civil service as a whole.

Capability objectives—to ensure that individuals, the Department and civil service have the right capability to deliver business outcomes now and in the future, including improvement of people performance management: managing talent, managing attendance and promoting well-being; and addressing poor performance. Capability targets are drawn from unit and Directorate business plans and, if appropriate, the Home Office's PSAs.

Personal development objectives—to emphasise the importance of continuous personal development and an individual's growth in competence against the leadership and broader Professional Skills for Government frameworks. In addition, individuals are appraised on their leadership behaviour demonstrated throughout the year including providing direction for the organisation; delivering results; and building capability in the organisation to address current and future challenges.

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what proportion of UK Border Agency staff have financial targets in their performance management objectives; and if he will make a statement. [303826]

Mr. Woolas: The setting of individual objectives in performance management reviews is a matter for individual line managers and it is not possible for this reason to state the percentage of staff with financial targets or objectives except at disproportionate costs. We do not waste taxpayers' money on compiling this information.

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many staff were working at each grade in the UK Border Agency on 1 November 2009. [303827]

United Kingdom Border Agency staff[1]

[2] Includes approximately 350 staff whose data are unavailable except at disproportionate cost during machinery of government transfer from Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs.
[3] Locally engaged staff work for the UK Border Agency but are employed by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office.

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many projects in progress at the UK Border Agency on 1 November 2009 did not have (a) signed-off business cases and (b) end dates; and what the total budget is of the programmes in each category. [303828]

Mr. Woolas: This financial year UKBA has had 12 areas of activity it treats as programmes and projects, of which one had closed by 1 November. This leaves 11 programmes and projects within the corporate portfolio that support the UKBA business plan, change programme and wider Home Office initiatives.

Out of the 11 programmes and projects, two do not yet have a signed-off business case. The two projects are in the process of developing their business cases and are due to go through financial and other approval processes in early 2010.

All 11 programmes and projects have a planned end date.

HEALTH

[305077]

Alcohol-specific condition

Alcohol-specific conditions are those defined as wholly attributed to alcohol, based on the methodology developed by the North West Public Health Observatory. They are:

Alcoholic cardiomyopathy (142.6)
Alcoholic gastritis (K29.2)
Alcoholic liver disease (K70)
Alcoholic myopathy (G72.1)
Alcoholic polyneuropathy (G62.1)
Alcohol-induced pseudo-Cushing's syndrome (E24.4)
Chronic pancreatitis (alcohol induced) (K86.0)
Degeneration of nervous system due to alcohol (G31.2)
Mental and behavioural disorders due to use of alcohol (F10)
Accidental poisoning by and exposure to alcohol (X45)
Ethanol poisoning (T51.0)
Methanol poisoning (T51.1)
Toxic effect of alcohol, unspecified (T51.9)

Number of episodes in which the patient had an alcohol-specific primary or secondary diagnosis These figures represent the number of episodes where an alcohol-specific diagnosis was recorded in any of the 20 (14 from 2002-03 to 2006-07 and seven prior to 2002-03) primary and secondary diagnosis fields in a Hospital Episode Statistics (HES) record. Each episode is only counted once in each count, even if an alcohol-specific diagnosis is recorded in more than one diagnosis field of the record.

Ungrossed data

Figures have not been adjusted for shortfalls in data (i.e. the data are ungrossed).

Finished admission episodes

A finished admission episode is the first period of inpatient care under one consultant within one healthcare provider. Finished admission episodes are counted against the year in which the admission episode finishes. It should be noted that admissions do not represent the number of inpatients, as a person may have more than one admission within the year.

Primary diagnosis

The primary diagnosis is the first of up to 20 (14 from 2002-03 to 2006-07 and seven prior to 2002-03) diagnosis fields in the HES data set and provides the main reason why the patient was admitted to hospital.

Secondary diagnosis

As well as the primary diagnosis, there are up to 19 (13 from 2002-03 to 2007-08 and six prior to 2002-03) secondary diagnosis fields in HES that show other diagnoses relevant to the episode of care.

Data quality

HES are compiled from data sent by more than 300 NHS trusts and primary care trusts (PCTs) in England. Data are also received from a number of independent sector organisations for activity commissioned by the English NHS. The NHS Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data via HES processes. While this brings about improvement over time, some shortcomings remain.

Assessing growth through time

HES figures are available from 1989-90 onwards. The quality and coverage of the data have improved over time. These improvements in information submitted by the NHS have been particularly marked in the earlier years and need to be borne in mind when analysing time series. Some of the increase in figures for later years (particularly 2006-07 onwards) may be due to the improvement in the coverage of independent sector activity.

Changes in NHS practice also need to be borne in mind when analysing time series. For example, a number of procedures may now be undertaken in outpatient settings and may no longer be accounted for in the HES data. This may account for any reductions in activity over time.

Assignment of Episodes to Years

Years are assigned by the end of the first period of care in a patient's hospital stay.

Ambulance Services

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will place in the Library a copy of the terms of reference of the national ambulance service management group. [305909]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: There is no record in the Department of any group that goes by that name.

There is a national NHS Ambulance Chief Executives Group. This is an NHS-led group which is chaired by the chief executive of London ambulance service, Peter Bradley.

Ambulance Services: Equipment

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many requests for funding for protective vests for ambulance personnel have been made to his Department in the last two years; [305907]

(2) what trials of personal protective equipment have been initiated in the ambulance service in the last two years; when each such trial is expected to finish; and when the conclusions of these studies will be published; [305908]

(3) what representations he has received from frontline NHS ambulance trust staff on the issue of body armour in the last two years; and if he will place in the Library a copy of each such representation. [305918]

Ann Keen: Information on requests made to the Department for funding for protective vests for ambulance personnel in the last two years is not available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Information on trials of personal protective equipment in the ambulance service in the last two years is not available centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Information on representations made to the Department from frontline ambulance staff on the issue of body armour in the last two years is not available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

The NHS Security Management Service (SMS) can assist employers through guidance on assessing risks and acting to protect staff and, where incidents do occur, on taking action against offenders. The NHS SMS also works with stakeholders, including the Social Partnership Forum, to promote the safety and security of NHS staff.

Ambulances

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many ambulance vehicles are based in each English county; what the ratio of ambulances to people is in each county; and if he will make a statement. [306417]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department does not collect centrally information on the numbers of ambulances or the ratio of ambulances to people in each English county. Each ambulance service should plan to provide appropriate resources to meet local demand.

Animals: Health Hazards

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people were treated by the National Health Service in each of the last five years for conditions contracted from animal faeces in public places. [305047]

Gillian Merron: It is not known how many people were treated for infections that were contracted from animal faeces in a public place, as this level of information is not collected. Though data on laboratory confirmed infections that can be transmitted through contact with animal faeces are available, the precise source of the majority of the infections is not known. This is because many of these infections can be transmitted through multiple routes and from a range of sources. Data on all the common infections that can be transmitted from animals to humans, including via animal faeces, are published by the Health Protection Agency.

Autism

Nigel Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with which Ministerial colleagues in each Department he has discussed the development in other Government Departments of the Government's autism strategy. [305731]

Phil Hope: The adult autism strategy spans not just health and social care but also provides a framework for services across the public sector. The Department has therefore undertaken an extensive programme of activity to ensure this work aligns with the existing work programmes of other Government Departments. Departmental officials have been working closely with colleagues across Government to assess:

> the merits of issues and proposals emerging from the consultation and external reference group or if there are more viable alternative means to deliver the same goals;
> the cost-effectiveness of options for action, and whether they can be integrated into existing budgets; and
> the scale of the offer which each Department can bring forward to improve access to services and transform and improve the life chances of people with Autistic Spectrum Condition.

The strategy will benefit from the same cross-Government coalition which has so successfully supported the delivery of "Valuing People Now".

Nigel Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what arrangements his Department has made to involve external stakeholders in the post-consultation development of the Government's autism strategy. [305732]

Phil Hope: From the outset, the development of the autism strategy for adults has been underpinned by the two principles of co-production and inclusivity. The public consultation on the strategy was designed to ensure that people with Autistic Spectrum Condition, their families and carers could identify the barriers to access and their key priorities for change in public services.

The consultation which included regional events, on-line discussion forums and targeted engagement, aimed at hard-to-reach groups, received over 1,000 responses. These responses will set the direction of travel for the autism strategy.

The strategy will continue to benefit from the work of its external reference group comprising service users, family carers and the voluntary sector providers as well as professionals who design, develop and provide services.

There will be a further national consultation on the health and social care guidance, mandated by the legislation, which will accompany the strategy and is scheduled for publication in December 2012. We are equally committed to involving service users, carers and the voluntary sector in the production of the guidance.

The third sector, including user-led organisations, has a critical role to play as ambassadors for the strategy, supporting not just design but also delivery.

Back Pain: Waiting Lists

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the average waiting time was to receive a spinal injection for the treatment of back pain conditions in each London acute hospital in the latest period for which figures are available. [305080]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: This information is not collected centrally.

Basildon and Thurrock University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he was first informed by Monitor of changes to its assessment of the quality of governance at Basildon and Thurrock NHS Foundation Trust. [303858]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Monitor told the Department on the 25 November 2009 that it was going to intervene at Basildon and Thurrock university hospitals NHS foundation trust. This notification followed Monitor's board meeting earlier that day, at which Monitor decided to use its statutory powers of intervention to address concerns about the trust's leadership and quality of care.

Cancer: Health Services

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what criteria were employed by the National Cancer Action Team during the decision-making process on a regional centre for head and neck cancer services for Worcestershire; for what reasons these criteria were selected; and if he will make a statement. [307233]

Ann Keen: The National Cancer Action Team (NCAT) does not make decisions about the establishment and location of cancer services or centres.

The National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) issued Improving Outcomes Guidance (IOG) in November 2004 on the organisation of health care for adults with head and neck cancers. The guidance recommends which health care professionals should be involved in treatment and care, and the types of hospital or cancer centre that are best suited to provide that health care. It is for primary care trusts as commissioners of local services to implement this guidance in conjunction with their cancer networks, strategic health authorities and other stakeholders.

The role of the NCAT is to assess whether the plans submitted by a trust or a cancer network are compliant with IOG. Support for the Three Counties Cancer Network's implementation summary was provided because it was considered to be compliant with the IOG recommendations. To see further improvement in cancer services it is essential that IOG is fully implemented nationally.

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what plans he has made for the future of acute hospital cancer services in Worcestershire; [307234]

(2) what assessment he has made of the effects of transferring head and neck cancer services from Worcestershire on service provision to patients within the geographical region; and if he will make a statement. [307235]

Ann Keen: It is the responsibility of Worcestershire Primary Care Trust to plan and develop appropriate services, including those for cancer, which will meet the needs of its resident population.

No assessment has been undertaken by the Department with regard to head and neck cancer services in the Gloucestershire, Herefordshire and Worcestershire areas. There are no firm proposals at present. However, once these have been developed we would expect them to be subject to formal public consultation.

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Health on what dates the Three Counties Cancer Network received submissions on the head and neck cancer treatment submissions from (a) Worcestershire Royal Hospital and (b) Gloucestershire Royal Hospital; and if he will make a statement. [307242]

Ann Keen: The information requested is not held centrally. The hon. Member may wish to approach the national health service organisations involved, Worcestershire Acute Hospitals NHS Trust and Gloucestershire Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust, for this information directly.

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the report of the National Cancer Action Team on head and neck cancer services in Worcestershire, Herefordshire and Gloucestershire; and if he will make a statement. [307243]

Ann Keen: The National Cancer Peer Review programme conducted peer reviews of cancer services in the Three Counties Cancer Network, which includes Worcestershire, Herefordshire and Gloucestershire, and published reports of the reviews in 2006 and 2008. The National Cancer Peer Review programme aims to improve care for people with cancer.

It is for primary care trusts in conjunction with their cancer networks, strategic health authorities and other stakeholders to assess the reports and take any necessary action to improve local services.

Consultants: Greater London

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many vacant posts there are for accident and emergency consultants at each London acute hospital trust; and what proportion these figures represent of all such posts at each such trust. [305084]

Ann Keen: This information is not collected centrally, but is held by individual acute trusts.

Dementia

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the (a) remit, (b) work programme and (c) membership is of the ministerial taskforce on dementia research; and if he will make a statement. [306046]

Phil Hope: I announced plans to establish a new ministerial group on dementia research following the very successful ministerial summit on dementia research held in July this year. The remit of the group will be to maintain the momentum begun at the summit by developing a new vision for the future of dementia research and advising on practicable ways to achieve that vision.

The group will cover the full spectrum of scientific research, including work on cause (including prevention), cure and care. Its detailed work programme is for the group to determine, but will be driven by three main objectives:

to devise ways to use available resources more effectively to help increase the volume and impact of high quality dementia research; to develop a strategy for increasing public support for dementia research; and to provide informed and authoritative advice on Government policy and wider national and international initiatives.

Membership is currently being finalised, but the group will include the key bodies with a stake in dementia research, including the main charities, the commercial sector and people living with dementia.

Departmental Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what re-designs of websites operated by (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have taken place since 27 June 2007; and what the (i) cost to the public purse and (ii) date of completion of each such re-design was. [306160]

Phil Hope: The Department operates three main websites:

The Department of Health corporate website (www.dh.gov.uk)

NHS Choices (www.nhs.uk)

Connecting for Health (www.connectingforhealth.nhs.uk).

Since 27 June 2007 each has undergone the following re-designs listed as follows, with the given costs and completion dates:

The Department of Health corporate website

Number of re-designs since 27 June 2007: 1

Date on which re-design was completed: 11 February 2008

Total cost: £513,000.00.

NHS Choices

Number of re-designs since 27 June 2007: 0

Date on which re-design was completed: Not applicable

Total cost: Nil.

Connecting for Health

Number of re-designs since 27 June 2007: 1

Date on which re-design was completed: July 2009

Total cost: All work was completed using internal resource and formed part of the ongoing maintenance of the site.

Since 27 June 2007 the Department has reduced the total number of websites that it operates from 196 to 71, to meets its obligations under Transformational Government. The Department will continue to reduce this number to just two websites by the Cabinet Office deadline of July 2011.

Given the high number of websites that were in existence between 27 June 2007 and December 2009, it is not possible to provide information on re-designs for all of these as this would incur disproportionate costs.

The Department has two executive agencies that each operate their own website. These are:

The Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA)

NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency (PASA).

Since 27 June 2007 the MHRA website and the PASA website have not undergone any re-designs.

Departmental Pay

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the (a) average and (b) highest non-consolidated performance related payment for senior civil servants in his Department was in cash terms in each of the last five years. [303072]

Phil Hope [holding answer 30 November 2009]: Non-consolidated performance payments are made under the terms set out in the Government's response to the recommendations of the independent Senior Salaries Review Body. A close and effective link between pay and performance and increased use of variable pay is a key element of the reward arrangements for the senior civil service. Over the last five years, average (median) and maximum non-consolidated payments have been:

|---|---|---|
| 2009-10 to date | | |
| Total payments | 1,677,062 | 199 |
| Average (median) non-consolidated payment | 8,000 | |
| Highest non-consolidated payment | 27,500 | |
| 2008-09 | | |
| Total payments | 1,830,402 | 214 |
| Average (median) non-consolidated payment | 7,927 | |
| Highest non-consolidated payment | 49,004 | |
| 2007-08 | | |
| Total payments | 1,556,945 | 176 |
| Average (median) non-consolidated payment | 8,927 | |
| Highest non-consolidated payment | 27,500 | |
| 2006-07 | | |
| Total payments | 1,161,823 | 175 |
| Average (median) non-consolidated payment | 5,662 | |
| Highest non-consolidated payment | 30,699 | |
| 2005-06 | | |
| Total payments | 961,843 | 181 |
| Average (median) non-consolidated payment | 4,055 | |

Departmental Public Expenditure

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department has allocated to Maternity Matters programmes in (a) 2009-10 and (b) 2010-11. [305298]

Ann Keen: In January 2008, the Department announced an additional £330 million for maternity services to help support the implementation of Maternity Matters over the three years 2008-09 to 2010-11. This funding has been included in primary care trusts (PCT) baseline allocations. It is for PCTs to determine how best to use it, based on the needs of local maternity services.

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department has allocated for NHS Baby Lifecheck in (a) 2009-10 and (b) 2010-11. [305299]

Gillian Merron: Expenditure on NHS Baby Lifecheck in 2009-10 is expected to be approximately £1.3 million. The allocation for NHS Lifecheck in 2010-11 is still under consideration.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what payments the NHS Supply Chain has made to Fleishman-Hillard in the last 12 months; for what purpose; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments have been made. [305165]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department does not hold this information.

The operation of NHS Supply Chain was outsourced to a DHL Group company, Exel Europe Ltd., following the signing of a Master Services Agreement in September 2006.

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what payments the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence has made to (a) Weber Shandwick Public Affairs and (b) Citigate Public Affairs in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of each contract under which such payments were made. [305421]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The information requested is not held centrally. Payments made by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) to individual companies are a matter for NICE as an independent body.

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what payments the Food Standards Agency has made to Stratagem in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305425]

Gillian Merron: The Food Standards Agency has made 12 payments totalling £22,875.70 over the last 12 months to Stratagem. These payments were made to Stratagem for the purposes of public affairs support and stakeholder management.

The contract will not be placed in the Library due to commercial considerations.

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what payments the Food Standards Agency has made to Edelman in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305436]

Gillian Merron: There have been no payments made by the Food Standards Agency to Edelman in the last 12 months.

Departmental Publicity

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department has spent on (a) Ministerial photoshoots and (b) production of videos in which Ministers appear in the last three years for which figures are available. [305518]

Phil Hope: Group and individual photos were taken of the ministerial team in November 2007. The cost for this photoshoot is not separately identifiable within our records.

Videos are sometimes produced in which Ministers appear as part of a wider production. The costs of such videos are not held centrally and cannot be provided except at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Responsibilities

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 3 December 2009, Official Report, column 934W, on departmental ministerial duties, at what time on 27 October 2009 the Secretary of State (a) arrived at and (b) left Clarence House; and if he will make a statement. [306479]

Phil Hope: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State did not visit Clarence House on 27 October 2009.

My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State did visit Clarence House on 29 October 2009, as is recorded in the Court Circular of that date.

Departmental Telephone Services

Mark Lazarowicz: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many telephone lines with the prefix (a) 0870, (b) 0845 and (c) 0800 his Department (i) operates and (ii) sponsors; how many calls were received to each number in the last 12 months; and whether alternative numbers charged at the BT local rate are available in each case. [305205]

Phil Hope: The Department's Communications Directorate currently maintains no '0870' phone numbers but runs or promotes four '0845' phone numbers and 188 '0800' phone numbers.

Information on any other telephone services that may be run on behalf of the Department is not held centrally and cannot be provided except at disproportionate cost.

Records on the number of calls to individual numbers over the period requested are not available. Many of the numbers are received by the same campaign call centre and to collate records for individual phone numbers would incur disproportionate costs.

There are no alternative numbers available.

Drugs: Misuse

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate his Department has made of the number of people attending accident and emergency departments in each region with (a) drug-related conditions and (b) injuries in which the misuse of drugs was a contributory cause in each of the last three years. [305009]

Gillian Merron: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Family Nurse Partnership Programme

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what proportion of Family Nurse Partnership programme staff are health visitors; [306635]

(2) what the estimated total cost is of providing the Family Nurse Partnership scheme; and what estimate has been made of the average cost per family of the scheme; [306636]

(3) what his Department's plans are for expansion of the Family Nurse Partnership. [306637]

Ann Keen: Of all the family nurses currently employed in Family Nurse Partnership (FNP) sites, 54 per cent. had been in a health visiting post immediately prior to becoming a family nurse and 67 per cent. were currently registered health visitors.

A formative evaluation of implementation in the first 10 FNP sites is being conducted by Birkbeck college, university of London. This will conclude by 2011 and will include an assessment of costs. A report of findings from the second year was published on the Department for Children, Schools and Families research website in September this year, and this suggested that the cost of FNP per client for those completing the programme is around £4,500 over two and a half years.

The FNP is also being evaluated through a randomised controlled trial, led by the South East Wales Trials Unit at the School of Medicine, Cardiff university. This will test the impact of the FNP compared with other services on pregnancy and birth outcomes, on child health and development and on parental life course; and it will also assess costs, through an economic evaluation.

The FNP programme gives us a real opportunity to transform the life chances of some of our most vulnerable children. It has been shown in the United States to have strong and consistent short and long-term benefits for children and parents. Early learning in England suggests that the FNP can be delivered well by our skilled family nurses, that the programme is highly valued by clients, that fathers engage with it well, and that early impacts look promising.

We will be testing FNP in 50 sites across England by January 2010 and over 3,000 clients have enrolled on FNP to date. The Child Health Strategy, published in February 2009, said the Government wished to expand to 70 pilot sites by April 2011. This would allow capacity to deliver FNP to at least 7,000 families. The Child Health Strategy also said that if the research findings are positive we would like to see FNP offered to the most vulnerable first-time young mothers across England over the next decade.

Health Services: Inspections

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) planned and (b) unannounced inspection visits the Care Quality Commission has conducted in each month since its inception; and how many (i) planned and (ii) unannounced inspection visits its predecessor organisations conducted in each year since 1997-98. [304769]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Care Quality Commission has provided the following information.

The information is not available in the format requested.

The Care Quality Commission has completed the following inspections of health and social care providers since 1 April 2009.

| | 2009-10 (up to 30 October 2009) | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | April | May | June | July | August | September | October | Total |
| Key inspections completed | 1,206 | 1,325 | 1,426 | 1,396 | 1,181 | 1,157 | 827 | [1]8,788 |
| Of those, the number which were announced | 107 | 90 | 41 | 47 | 54 | 73 | 30 | [2]526 |

[1] This includes 84 inspections of NHS trusts and 186 healthcare associated infection inspections that are not broken down monthly.

[2] This includes 84 inspections of NHS trusts that are not broken down monthly.

The figures do not include an additional 214 inspections of independent health care providers (143 announced) which are currently under way and not yet completed.

The figures also do not include joint inspections with Ofsted relating to safeguarding. These commenced in June and 11 have been completed.

The following table shows the number of inspections carried out by the National Commission for Social Care and the Commission for Social Care Inspection in previous years.

| | 2002-03[1] | 2003-04[1] | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07[2] | 2007-08[3] | 2008-09 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Of those, the number which were announced | 25,606 | 24,226 | 25,233 | 13,824 | 1,734 | 626 | 303 |

[1] During 2002-03 and 2003-04 the inspections were carried out by the National Care Standards Commission. From 2004-05 to 2008-09 the inspections were carried out by the Commission for Social Care Inspection.

[2] The reduction in the number of inspections is due to changes in methodology, changes to statutory inspection frequency plus a focus on poorer performing services.

[3] The further reduction in inspection numbers is due to the transfer of responsibility for regulation of children's services to Ofsted from 1 April 2007.

The following table shows the total number of inspections of independent health care providers for the previous three years carried out by the Healthcare Commission.

| Inspections completed | 412 | 865 | 402 |
| Of those, the number which were announced | 373 | 628 | 139 |

[1] The reduction in inspections in 2008-09 was due to changes in methodology.

In addition, the following table shows the total number of NHS trusts inspected by the Healthcare Commission against core standards.

|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 79 |
| 2008-09 | 84 |

Note:

This is not the number of individual visits. Some trusts had more than one visit as part of an inspection.

The following table shows the number of health care associated inspections of NHS trusts carried out by the Healthcare Commission. These are all unannounced.

|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 120 |
| 2008-09 | 190 |

Note:

This does not include follow-up visits.

These figures do not include service reviews, clinical audits, or any of the investigations undertaken by the Healthcare Commission.

Health Visitors: East Sussex

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many health visitors have been employed in (a) Lewes constituency and (b) East Sussex in each year since 1997. [307129]

Ann Keen: The number of health visitors in the East Sussex Downs and Weald Primary Care Trust area (PCT) which includes the Lewes constituency as at 30 September for each year that data are available is shown in the following table.

East Sussex Downs and Weald PCT

| | Headcount |
|---|---|
| 2002 | 91 |
| 2003 | 84 |
| 2004 | 75 |
| 2005 | 81 |
| 2006 | 42 |
| 2007 | 72 |
| 2008 | 70 |

Notes:

1. East Sussex Downs and Weald PCT was formed in October 2006 from a complete merger of Eastbourne Downs PCT and Sussex Downs and Weald PCT. Figures for 2002-06 are an aggregate of these predecessor organisations.
2. The NHS Information Centre are aware of the drop in numbers for 2006. It is possible that Eastbourne Downs PCT failed to include around 30 health visitors in its census return for 2006. The census return was fully validated and confirmation that the return was accurate was received from the organisation prior to publication of the figures.

Health Visitors: Training

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much on average it cost his Department to fund a one-year degree-level health visitor course for a qualified nurse in 2008-09. [305261]

Ann Keen: The average cost of funding a one-year degree-level health visitor course for a qualified nurse in 2008-09 is not held centrally.

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what expenditure his Department incurred on training and professional development for health visitors in the last three years. [305262]

Ann Keen: Information on expenditure incurred on training and professional development for health visitors in the last three years is not held centrally.

This information can be provided by SHA workforce education commissioning teams.

Hearing Aids: Waiting Lists

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the average waiting time was to receive a digital hearing aid in each London primary care trust (PCT) area in the latest period for which information is available; and how many people are waiting to receive a digital hearing aid in each such PCT area. [305079]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: This information is not held centrally.

Hospital Beds: Greater London

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many times patients requiring intensive care services have been unable to obtain an intensive care bed at each London acute hospital in the last 12 months. [305083]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: This information is not held centrally.

Hospital Beds: Surrey

(2) how many beds in community hospitals were temporarily closed in (a) Surrey, (b) Guildford and (c) Waverley borough during each year since 2001. [306522]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The information requested is not held centrally.

Hospitals: Admissions

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) attendances at accident and emergency departments and (b) emergency admissions to other hospital departments were recorded in each month of each of the last three financial years. [305923]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Patients are not admitted to accident and emergency (A and E) departments; rather they are admitted via A and E to other departments within the hospital. The following table shows emergency admissions for each month of the last three financial years. Separate totals are shown for emergency admissions via A and E, and emergency admissions via other routes such as direct referrals to wards by general practitioners, bed bureaux and consultant out-patient clinics.

Hospitals: Crimes of Violence

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many accident and emergency staff in hospitals in each region were assaulted while on duty in each of the last three years. [305014]

Ann Keen: Information on the number of accident and emergency staff who have been victims of assault while on duty is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Information on the number of reported physical assaults against national health service staff in 2006-07 and 2007-08 is contained in the 'Tables showing number of reported physical assaults on NHS staff from 2004-05 to 2007-08, broken down by NHS trust/PCT' which have already been placed in the Library.

Information on the number of reported physical assaults against NHS staff in 2008-09 is contained in the 'Tables showing number of reported physical assaults on NHS staff in 2008-09, broken down by NHS trust/PCT' which have already been placed in the Library.

The NHS Security Management Service (SMS) can assist employers through guidance on assessing risks and acting to protect staff from assaults and, where incidents do occur, on taking action against offenders. The NHS SMS also works with stakeholders, including the Social Partnership Forum, to promote the safety and security of NHS staff.

Hospitals: Death

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will publish Hospital Standardised Mortality Ratios for each general hospital in England. [304665]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Hospital Standardised Mortality Ratios (HSMRs) for every non-specialist acute NHS trust in England are published each month on the NHS Choices website at:

www.nhs.uk

Impact Assessments

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many Regulatory Impact Assessments published by his Department have considered (a) one, (b) two, (c) three and (d) four policy options since 1997. [304951]

Phil Hope: The information could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Knives: Injuries

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people were admitted to (a) the Royal Sussex Hospital, Brighton, (b) the Eastbourne District General Hospital, Eastbourne and (c) the Princess Royal Hospital, Haywards Heath with knife wounds in each year since 1997. [306876]

Gillian Merron: Information is not available in the format requested. However, the following table shows the count of finishes admission episodes where the external cause was for knife wounds at Brighton and Sussex University Hospital NHS Trust and East Sussex Hospitals NHS Trust from 2002-03 (the earliest data available) to 2008-09.

A count of finished admission episodes[1] where the external cause code[2] was knife wound at Brighton and Sussex University Hospitals NHS Trust and East Sussex Hospitals NHS Trust[3] from 2002-03 to 2008-09[4]: Activity in English national health service hospitals and English NHS commissioned activity in the independent sector

| | Brighton and Sussex University Hospitals NHS Trust | East Sussex Hospitals NHS Trust |
|---|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 58 | 35 |
| 2007-08 | 71 | 51 |
| 2006-07 | 51 | 50 |
| 2005-06 | 47 | 51 |
| 2004-05 | 49 | 21 |
| 2003-04 | 57 | 32 |
| 2002-03 | 48 | 39 |

Notes:

1. Finished admission episodes

A finished admission episode (FAE) is the first period of in-patient care under one consultant within one healthcare provider. FAEs are counted against the year in which the admission episode finishes. Admissions do not represent the number of inpatients, as a person may have more than one admission within the year.

2. Cause code

A supplementary code that indicates the nature of any external cause of injury, poisoning or other adverse effects. Only the first external cause code which is coded within the episode is counted in hospital episode statistics (HES). The codes used to define knife wound are:

W26 Contact with knife, sword or dagger

X99 Assault by sharp object

This code identifies assault by ANY sharp object and therefore includes but is not limited to assault with a knife.

3. Hospital Provider

A provider code is a unique code that identifies an organisation acting as a health care provider (e.g. NHS trust or primary care trust (PCT)). Hospital providers can also include Treatment Centres (TC). Normally, if data are tabulated by health care provider, the figure for an NHS trust gives the activity of all the sites as one aggregated figure. Some NHS trusts have not registered their TC as a separate site, and it is therefore not possible to identify their activity separately.

The parliamentary question asks for information on the following hospitals

the Royal Sussex Hospital, Brighton;

the Eastbourne District General Hospital, Eastbourne; and the Princess Royal Hospital.

Data for the individual hospital sites are not available. However:

The Royal Sussex County Hospital, Brighton and the Princess Royal Hospital, Haywards Heath form part of the Brighton and Sussex University Hospitals NHS Trust for which we have provided data.

The Eastbourne District General Hospital, Eastbourne is part of East Sussex Hospitals NHS Trust for which we have provided data.

Due to organisational changes (both splits and mergers) data prior to 2002-03 are not comparable with that for later years at a trust level. For this reason we have not provided these figures as no meaningful time series is available.

4. Assessing growth through time

HES figures are available from 1989-90 onwards. Changes to the figures over time need to be interpreted in the context of improvements in data quality and coverage (particularly in earlier years), improvements in coverage of independent sector activity (particularly from 2006-07) and changes in NHS practice. For example, apparent reductions in activity may be due to a number of procedures which may now be undertaken in out-patient settings and so no longer include in admitted patient HES data.

5. Data quality

HES are compiled from data sent by more than 300 NHS trusts and PCTs in England and from some independent sector organisations for activity commissioned by the English NHS. The NHS Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies. While this brings about improvement over time, some shortcomings remain.

Lancashire Primary Care Trust

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what recent estimate he has made of the number of people being treated for depression in Lancashire primary care trust. [306673]

Phil Hope: The information is not available in the format requested. The following table shows the number of patients aged 18 years or over, recorded on practice disease registers with a diagnosis of depression for the Central Lancashire primary care trust (PCT).

Quality and Outcomes Framework (QOF)

| | Number of patients on depression register |
|---|---|
| Central Lancashire PCT | 44,720 |

Notes:

1. The Information Centre for health and social care published the national QOF for England, which gives the number of people recorded on practice disease registers with a diagnosis of depression. The depression register only includes patients 18 years or over.
2. QOF is the national Quality and Outcomes Framework, introduced as part of the new general medical services contract on 1 April 2004.
3. Participation by practices in the QOF is voluntary, though participation rates are very high, with most personal medical services practices also taking part.
4. Patients will only contribute to the figures in QOF if they are registered with a general practice participating in QOF.
5. Most indicators in QOF have rules which allow for patients to be excluded (e.g. patient refuses treatment) and so the denominator for a given indicator may be less than the number of patients on the register for that disease.
6. The published QOF information was derived from QMAS; a national system developed by NHS Connecting for Health.
7. QMAS uses data from general practices to calculate individual practices' QOF achievement. QMAS is a national IT system developed by NHS Connecting for Health to support the QOF.
8. The QMAS system captures the number of patients on the various disease registers for each practice. The number of patients on the clinical registers can be used to calculate measures of disease prevalence, expressing the number of patients on each register as a percentage of the number of patients on practices' lists.

Legislation

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how long it took in each case between the completion of an impact assessment relating to each Bill sponsored by his Department and First Reading of that Bill since 1997. [305974]

Phil Hope: The Department does not hold these data centrally.

Maternity Services

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether the recommendations of the NHS Neonatal Taskforce will be included as indicators in the 2009-10 NHS Operating Framework. [305911]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The 2010-11 NHS Operating Framework is currently being developed.

Mental Capacity Act 2005

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what (a) statutory instruments, (b) departmental circulars and (c) other documents he (i) has issued in the last 12 months and (ii) plans to issue in the next 12 months consequent on the provisions of the Mental Capacity Act 2005; and if he will make a statement. [303896]

Phil Hope: The statutory instruments (SI), departmental circulars, other documents issued in the last 12 months, consequent on the provisions of the Mental Capacity Act 2005 are shown as follows. There are no current plans to issue SIs in the next 12 months but there are plans to publish further guidance and possibly departmental circulars to support the implementation of the Act.

Issued in the last 12 months

1. Transitional arrangements were introduced via the Mental Health Act 2007 (Commencement No. 10 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2009 (SI 2009 No. 139), which were laid on 4 February 2009, to ease the handling of the then anticipated volume of assessments requested by managing authorities (care homes and hospitals) from supervisory bodies (local authorities and primary care trusts (PCTs)) following the implementation of the Deprivation of Liberty Safeguards (DOLS) on 1 April 2009.

2. Amending regulations to the NHS Bodies and Local Authorities Partnership Arrangements Regulations 2000 were made via the NHS Bodies and Local Authorities Partnership Arrangements (Amendment) Regulations 2009 (SI 2009 No. 278), which were laid on 18 February 2009. The Mental Capacity Act Deprivation of Liberty Safeguards are now included on the list of functions of NHS Bodies as a result of regulation 5 of that SI, thereby enabling PCTs to enter into formal partnership arrangements with a local authority under section 75 of the National Health Service Act 2006. Local authorities are enabled to carry out MCA DOLS functions on behalf of PCTs. Powers for LAs to enter into formal partnership arrangements with a PCT under section 75 of the National Health Service Act 2006 and for PCTs to carry out MCA DOLS functions on behalf of PCTs already existed.

3. The Mental Capacity (Deprivation of Liberty: Monitoring and Reporting; and Assessments Amendment) Regulations 2009 (SI 2009 No. 827), which were made on 31 March 2009, provide for the powers of the Care Quality Commission for the purpose of monitoring, or reporting on, the operation of the Deprivation of Liberty Safeguards.

Departmental circulars

Issued in the last 12 months

1. A Dear Colleague Letter was issued on 19 March 2009 to confirm the funding available to PCTs in 2009-10 to support the implementation of the Mental Capacity Act.

http://www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Lettersandcirculars/Dearcolleagueletters/DH_096559

2. LAC(DH)(2009)2 was issued on 24 March 2009 to confirm the funding available to LAs in 2009-10 to support the implementation of the Mental Capacity Act.

www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Lettersandcirculars/LocalAuthorityCirculars/DH_096868

Copies of both documents have been placed in the Library.

Other documents

Issued in the last 12 months

General guidance

A range of guidance to support the implementation of the Act is available on dedicated pages on the Department's website and further guidance, for example, in relation to significant case law developments will be placed there over the next 12 months.

http://www.dh.gov.uk/en/SocialCare/Deliverin gadultsocialcare/MentalCapacity/MentalCapacityActDeprivationofLiberty Safeguards/index.htm

Specific guidance

Guidance was issued on 1 April 2009, on the Department's website and a copy has been placed in the Library, regarding arrangements under paragraph 183(4) of schedule A1 to the Mental Capacity Act 2005 between the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers. They set out that, where questions about a person's ordinary residence arise in relation to which local authority should act as the supervisory body, the Secretary of State will determine cross-border ordinary residence disputes between England and Wales where the person to whom the dispute relates is accommodated in a care home in England. The Welsh Ministers will determine cross-border disputes where the person to whom the dispute relates is accommodated in a care home in Wales.

Mental Health Services

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how the Government will fulfil those commitments made in the National Service Framework for mental health that have not yet been fully implemented. [305914]

Phil Hope: The Mental Health National Service Framework reached the end of its 10-year lifespan in September 2009. It provided a blueprint for a genuine transformation in the delivery of services, and many of its objectives have been carried forward into New Horizons.

The cross-Government framework "New Horizons: A shared vision for mental health" was published on 7 December 2009 and is designed as a platform for future action across Government. It has been co-produced with a number of key external stakeholders, and sets out the expectation that services to treat and care for people with mental health problems will be accessible to everyone who needs them. A copy of the publication has already been placed in the Library.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health for what reasons the Choose and Book system does not include mental health services; and in what ways the New Horizons initiative will address this issue. [305915]

Phil Hope: Mental health services are not excluded from Choose and Book. In November 2009, there were around 380 mental health services available in the Directory of Services, 85 per cent. of which were for adults. From September to November 2009, 10,751 mental health appointments were booked using Choose and Book. However, Choose and Book may not always be the most appropriate way in which appointments for mental health services can be booked; appropriate help should be offered to vulnerable patients who may be unable or unwilling to take the necessary steps to make a booking.

"New Horizons: A shared vision for mental health", published on 7 December 2009, is a significant cross-Government programme of action with the twin aims of improving the mental health and well-being of the population and improving the quality and accessibility of services for people with poor mental health. It is based on four key guiding values one of which is "being in control of our lives" and includes a commitment to continue to explore and cost further options for extending choice to mental health service users. A copy of the publication has already been placed in the Library.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health in what way the New Horizons initiative will clarify entitlements to support and treatment for those with mental health problems. [305916]

Phil Hope: The consultation document on New Horizons, published in July this year, outlined the features of high-quality mental health care, which support the recovery of everyone who experiences mental ill health, including timely access to high-quality services. "New Horizons: A shared vision for mental health" published on 7 December 2009, a copy of which has already been placed in the Library, stresses the need to improve access to mental health services for socially excluded groups. It includes commitments to work with the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence on developing further quality standards in mental health, and to exploring options that would help increase personalisation and choice for mental health service users.

New Horizons has been developed in collaboration with strategic health authorities and is consistent with their regional visions for mental health.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how his Department is involving service users in designing Payment by Results for mental health. [305917]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Service users have been involved in developing Payment by Results (PbR) for mental health at an early stage. A study by the University of Huddersfield, "Exploring the Impact of a Clinical Decision Support Tool from the Perspective of Service Users & Carers" (available at http://eprints.hud.ac.uk/5092), used focus groups to identify what service users thought of an early iteration of the mental health currency work. The study highlighted service users' desire to be involved in the care planning process that is linked to mental health PbR. We therefore expect, as mental health PbR is implemented, that service users will be very involved in the identification and agreement of local care packages and pathways to meet their own needs as part of care planning. User representatives will also be consulted on key aspects of the further development of the approach to PbR for mental health.

MMR Vaccine: Basingstoke

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many and what proportion of children in Basingstoke under the age of five years received two doses of MMR vaccine in each quarter of the last 10 years. [305365]

Gillian Merron: The Health Protection Agency (HPA) publishes quarterly data under the COVER (cover of vaccination evaluated rapidly) programme.

Data are not available for Basingstoke itself, and the organisation responsible for primary care for Basingstoke has changed following national health service reorganisations. Up to 2002, North and Mid Hampshire health authority (HA) was responsible; for 2002 to 2006 it was North Hampshire primary care trust (PCT); and from 2006 it has been Hampshire PCT.

|---|---|---|---|
| October to December 2002 | North Hampshire PCT | 728 | 76.4 |

| April to June 2007 | Hampshire PCT | 2,649 | 79.6 |
| July to September 2007 | Hampshire PCT | 3,494 | 80.4 |
| October to December 2007 | Hampshire PCT | 3,461 | 79.4 |

| April to June 2009 | Hampshire PCT | 3,681 | 84.4 |

Prior to 2002, vaccine coverage data were published annually. Annual Measles Mumps and Rubella 2 (MMR2) coverage data at age five years by HA were published by the Department's Statistics Division for the fiscal years (1 March to 31 April) 1999-2000 to 2001-02. During this period Basingstoke was part of North and Mid Hampshire HA.

North and Mid Hampshire HA

| | Denominator | MMR2 coverage at five years (percentage) |
|---|---|---|

NHS Business Services Authority

Mr. David Anderson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make it his policy to withhold approval from the NHS Business Services Authority for the outsourcing of its IT and dental services contract until a full appraisal of the in-house option is conducted. [305359]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: On 27 November 2009, Ministers approved the business case for the award of the contract for the supply of dental contract support services and IT infrastructure to the NHS Business Services Authority ("the Authority") to Capita Group Plc. The Authority expects to sign the contract on 14 December 2009 subject to final approval by the board of the Authority on 10 December 2009.

In preparing its business case, the Authority examined its existing in-house capability and considered it was not capable of delivering the full set of business requirements set out in that case. In the circumstances, a further appraisal of the in-house option would not be appropriate.

NHS Direct: Marketing

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to the Central Office of Information press release of 17 July 2008 entitled NHS Direct Unveils New Identity, what the cost to the public purse was of the creation of the new brand identity for NHS Direct. [305026]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The total spend on the NHS Direct rebrand was £160,478.

NHS: Drugs

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what account will be taken of patient safety within the health impact assessment element of the overall impact assessment accompanying the forthcoming consultation on proposals to introduce automatic generic substitution; and whether the health impact assessment will be published within the overall impact assessment. [305910]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Patient safety will be absolutely paramount in taking forward the work on generic substitution. We are currently finalising the impact assessment that will be published as part of the consultation exercise which will begin shortly.

NHS: Finance

Mr. David Anderson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much each NHS trust and NHS foundation trust in England received for the provision of private patient services in the latest period for which figures are available. [304723]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The information requested has been placed in the Library

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much debt each NHS trust in England has; and how much each NHS trust in England has spent on debt interest in each of the last three years. [305919]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Information on the total amount owed by national health service trusts in respect of bank overdrafts, current and long-term loans, obligations under finance leases and private finance initiative (PFI) arrangements, and the interest cost in respect of these items for the last three years has been placed in the Library.

NHS: Greater London

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what recent assessment he has made of the financial performance of each London (a) acute hospital trust and (b) primary care trust. [305078]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: This information is published in the quarter, a copy of which is published on the Department website at the following location:

www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Publications/PublicationsStatistics/DH_087335

A copy of this has been placed in the Library.

NHS: ICT

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what legal firms his Department used to draft the contracts for the National Programme for IT; and for what period each was contracted. [304238]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Allen and Overy, and DLA (subsequently DLA Piper), were appointed in December 2002 to participate in the drafting and negotiation of contracts which formed the National Programme for IT, and were entered into between October 2003 and January 2004. These were the five original local service provider contracts, together with the Spine, N3 network, and e-booking (later Choose and Book) contracts.

Since that time the Department has continued to receive legal support from DLA Piper in connection with the work of the programme. The appointment of Allen and Overy ceased in June 2006.

NHS: Procurement

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the result was of the Strategic Review of Collaborative Procurement in the NHS; and if he will publish the report of the review. [304250]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Strategic Review of the Collaborative Procurement Hub Programme was undertaken by Ernst and Young in the second half of 2007 and was intended to inform a wider assessment of commercial capability across the Department and the national health service. This wider assessment took place during 2008 and resulted in publication of "Necessity—not Nicety", a new commercial operating model for the NHS and the Department.

A copy of the report of the Strategic Review of the Collaborative Procurement Hub Programme presented to the Department by Ernst and Young has been placed in the Library.

This report is also available on the NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency's website, via the following link:

www.pasa.nhs.uk/pasa/Doc.aspx?Path=[MN][SP]/NHSprocurement/National%20procurement/Strategic%20Review%20of%20CPHs_080417.pdf

A copy of "Necessity—not Nicety" has also been placed in the Library:

This document is also available on the Department's corporate website, via the following link:

www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Publications/PublicationsPolicyAndGuidance/DH_098876

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the terms of reference are of the joint OGC and NHS Purchasing Supply Review; when the review will be completed; and whether the results of the review will be published. [304251]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The title of the review was "The Office of Government Commerce's Procurement Capability Review of the Department of Health". The final report was published by the Office of Government Commerce in November 2008.

The terms of reference of the review have been placed in the Library.

The following documents have already been placed in the Library:

NHS: Standards

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health on how many occasions he has been informed by (a) strategic health authorities and (b) non-departmental public bodies of (i) patient safety concerns and (ii) management failings relating to NHS trusts in the last 12 months. [303813]

Ann Keen: The Department does not routinely bring together individual pieces of information from strategic health authorities and non-departmental public bodies which might be classified as "patient safety concerns" and "management failings" and count them.

Nurses: Temporary Employment

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many bank or agency nurses are engaged by each London acute hospital trust; and what proportion this figure represents of the nursing staff in each such trust. [305081]

Ann Keen: This information is not collected centrally, but is held by individual acute trusts.

Nurses: Training

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what expenditure his Department incurred on training and professional development for nurses in the last three years. [305260]

Ann Keen: Expenditure incurred by strategic health authorities (SHAs) on training and development for nurses in the last three years is shown in the table.

Multi-professional education and training expenditure on nurses

£ million

| | Tuition costs | Bursary costs[1, 2] | Total costs |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 658.3 | 352.8 | 1,011.0 |
| 2007-08 | 635.1 | 354.0 | 989.1 |
| 2008-09 | 568.3 | 352.4 | 920.6 |

[1] Excludes Nil award holders, i.e. EU fees-only students and students whose living allowance element of the bursary has been reduced to nil after income assessment.

[2] Includes the basic award, all supplementary allowances and all one-off payments, e.g. reimbursement of practice placement costs. Recoveries of bursaries are not included for students leaving a course or for fraud.

Oesophagectomy

Mr. Swire: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will take steps to continue minimally-invasive oesophagectomy (MIO) research conducted at the Royal Devon and Exeter hospital in the event that MIO procedures are moved from that hospital to Derriford hospital. [306569]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: This is a matter for the local national health service.

However, we are advised that the ongoing research projects into minimally invasive surgery for upper gastrointestinal (GI) cancer surgery at the Royal Devon and Exeter Foundation Trust will continue following the centralisation of upper GI cancer surgery for the South West peninsula at Plymouth Hospitals NHS Trust.

Mr. Swire: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what the long-term survival rate for (a) minimally-invasive oesophagectomy and (b) open oesophagectomy is; [306570]

(2) what the mortality rate for (a) minimally-invasive oesophagectomy and (b) open oesophagectomy is; [306571]

(3) what the average recovery time for (a) minimally-invasive oesophagectomy and (b) open oesophagectomy is. [306572]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Information on the recovery rate and long-term survival rate for minimally-invasive oesophagectomy and open oesophagectomy is not held centrally.

The 30-day mortality rate for minimally-invasive oesophagectomy was 3.4 per cent. and for open oesophagectomy was 3.1 per cent. This information is from the second annual report of the National Oesophago-Gastric Cancer Audit (NOGCA), which was published in October 2009. The publication is available on the NHS Information Centre for health and social care website at www.ic.nhs.uk/og

It is important to note that the second annual report's data do not cover all eligible patients as the audit does not close for submissions until February 2010, and not all eligible trusts have participated.

Patient Choice Schemes

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) who has responsibility within the NHS for judging a patient's entitlement and eligibility to use the patient transfer service; [307432]

(2) which NHS bodies are responsible for paying for a patient to use the patient transfer service. [307433]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: A patient's eligibility for non-emergency patient transport service (PTS) should be determined either by a health care professional or by non-clinically qualified staff who are both:

clinically supervised and/or working within locally agreed protocols or guidelines, and employed by the national health service or working under contract for the NHS.

Primary care trusts (PCTs) are responsible for commissioning ambulance services (which could include PTS) to such extent as the PCT considers necessary to meet all reasonable requirements of the area for which they are legally charged with providing services. PCTs are therefore ultimately responsible for the costs of PTS.

Plastic Surgery: Internet

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what information his Department holds on the number of websites advertising botulinum toxin, fillers and other non-surgical cosmetic procedures for sale to people in England. [306518]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department of Health and the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) do not routinely collect information on websites advertising botulinum toxin, fillers and other non-surgical cosmetic procedures for sale to people in the United Kingdom.

However, the MHRA regulates the advertising of medicines, including botulinum toxin products where it is a licensed medicine. The cosmetic use of Botox® is outside the product's licensed indications. The administration of injectable medicines such as Botox® (whether or not for cosmetic use) is restricted. Unless self-administered, they may only be administered by an independent practitioner or a person acting in accordance with the patient-specific directions of an independent prescriber. The MHRA will take appropriate action on receipt of any complaint about websites advertising botulinum toxin as a cosmetic treatment.

Prescription Drugs

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the spending per head on GP-prescribed (a) tranquillisers and (b) anti-depressants was in (i) each primary care trust area and (ii) England in each of the last three years. [306578]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The average net ingredient cost per head of population, for each primary care trust in England, for the dispensing of prescriptions written by general practitioners for tranquillisers and anti-depressants, has been placed in the Library.

Tranquillisers are defined as all those items appearing in paragraph 4.1.2 Anxiolytics of the British National Formulary (BNF) and anti-depressants defined as those items appearing in section 4.3 Antidepressant drugs of the BNF.

In October 2006, there was a re-organisation of primary care trusts (PCTs) and the 303 PCTs became 152 with some being abolished, others continuing and new ones being created. It is therefore not possible to give figures per head for each PCT in 2006-07. They have therefore not been included in the response.

Prescriptions: Fees and Charges

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 30 November 2009, Official Report, column 547W, on prescriptions: fees and charges, how many patients have identified cancer and another condition on their FP92A application form since 1 April 2009; and how many such patients identified each other condition. [305258]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: This information is not available. The NHS Business Services Authority's processing system only captures the first ticked box on the medical exemption application form.

Tony Baldry: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when his Department expects to (a) publish and (b) respond to Professor Ian Gilmore's review of prescription charges. [306534]

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when the report of the review by Professor Ian Gilmore into prescription charges will be published; and if he will make a statement. [307148]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Professor Gilmore has now submitted his report on the prescription charges review to the Department of Health. His recommendations are now being considered by the Department. We will publish the review's report and our response to the recommendations in the new year.

Sherwood Forest Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust: Finance

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what (a) funding and (b) capital funding allocation was made to each hospital site within the Sherwood Forest Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust in each year since 1997. [306674]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The information requested is a matter for the Sherwood Forest Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust. We have written to Tracy Doucet, Chair of Sherwood Forest Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust, informing her of the hon. Member's question. She will reply shortly and a copy of the letter will be placed in the Library.

Social Services

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will place in the Library a copy of the working data and assumptions behind table 1 in the Impact Assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill. [304790]

Phil Hope: The data used to produce table 1 of the Impact Assessment is from the English Longitudinal Study of Aging, Wave 3. This is a publicly available source and can be accessed at:

www.esds.ac.uk/findingdata/snDescription.asp?sn=5050 &key=sn+505

People under the age of 65 were removed from the sample. Then a logistic model of the need for formal care was estimated on the basis of each person's age, age squared, limitations in activities of daily living (ADL dependency) and whether or not they live alone (as a proxy for receipt of informal care). Fitted values from this logit model were used to produce a continuous variable for each person's level of need. The sample was then ranked in order of their predicted need on this variable, and the needs of the top 4.7 per cent. were assumed to be critical under Fair Access to Care Services (FACS)—this uses the Personal Social Services Research Unit's approach to defining those who are FACS critical, which draws on findings in the Commission for Social Care Inspection report, 'The State of Social Care in England 2007-08', published in January 2009.

The 204 sample members classified as FACS critical in this way were then grouped into those reporting difficulty with different total numbers of activities of daily living, as shown in table 1 of the Impact Assessment.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to table 2 of the Impact Assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, from which pages of the English Longitudinal Study of Aging Wave 3 he derived the numbers of people (a) receiving state-funded care and (b) making a means-tested contribution. [304791]

Phil Hope: The numbers of individuals whose needs are critical under Fair Access to Care Services (FACS) estimated to be receiving state-funded care and making a means-tested contribution are taken from the Personal Social Services Research Unit's micro-simulation model for older people.

The estimated numbers in each of these groups have then been narrowed down to those FACS critical individuals with difficulty with four or more activities of daily living by using the percentages shown in table 1 of the Impact Assessment, which are derived from the English Longitudinal Study of Aging (ELSA). They were produced by secondary analysis of the ELSA data—which are publicly available—and not drawn from a published report.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to table 2 of the Impact Assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, what methodology was used to calculate the number of people described as (a) self-funding plus unmet need, (b) residential care switchers and (c) informal care switchers. [304792]

Phil Hope: The number of individuals estimated to be self-funders or those with unmet need is taken from the Personal Social Services Research Unit's micro-simulation model for older people. An extra 25 per cent. was added to both the volume and the estimated cost from their model to bring it closer into line with alternative estimates of the numbers of severely disabled older people purchasing private home care. This seemed prudent in view of the inevitable uncertainty about the impact of free care on demand and the consequent risk of under-estimating costs.

Residential care switchers were estimated by using a simple model of the likely flows into and out of a steady state stock of individuals in residential care. It is assumed that not all individuals entering care homes under the current system will either choose or be eligible to receive personal care at home under the new system (i.e. because their needs may be too great). We do not know exactly what proportion of these individuals will choose to receive their care at home rather than enter residential care, but for illustrative purposes we have assumed a figure of 10 per cent.

Informal care switchers were estimated by removing the 'living alone' variable from the logistic regression equation used to predict individuals' level of need for formal care and re-running the model to estimate the additional volume of individuals who would be classified as critical under Fair Access to Care Services if everybody hypothetical lived alone. We do not know what proportion of these individuals would actually have their informal care arrangements withdrawn in order to qualify for free personal care, but for illustrative purposes we have assumed a figure of 5 per cent.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to table 2 of the Impact Assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, for what reasons the figure given for informal care switchers is 50 per cent. of the estimated number of informal care switchers. [304793]

Phil Hope: We do not know how many potential informal care switchers, as estimated under assumptions detailed in the Impact Assessment, have difficulties with activities of daily living (ADLs). Therefore, we have assumed that 50 per cent. of potential switchers have difficulty with four or more ADLs—and actually switch—and 50 per cent. have difficulty with less than four ADLs and do not switch since they would not qualify for free personal care.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to Annex A of the Impact Assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, from what source the estimate that 5 per cent. of people would have informal care withheld is derived. [304799]

Phil Hope: This is a working assumption. It relates to older people whose needs are not assessed as critical under Fair Access to Care Services (FACS) while receiving informal care, but would become FACS critical if they ceased to receive informal care. Comments on its validity are welcomed as part of the consultation on regulations and guidance, "Personal Care at Home: a consultation for proposals on regulation and guidance", a copy of which has already been placed in the Library.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to paragraph 4.5 of the Impact Assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, what estimate he has made of the number of people who constitute the significant number whose status will change through reablement; from what source the data underlying that estimate were derived; and what assumptions have been made in making the estimate. [304841]

Phil Hope: Studies by the Care Services Efficiency Delivery programme on reablement domiciliary care services have shown that up to 50 per cent. of older people who were offered a short term package of reablement did not require any further support at the end of their treatment[1]. However, as there are uncertainties about the long-term impact of reablement on the need for care, we cannot make an accurate forecast at this current time. That is why the impact assessment does not take into account the benefits of reablement, even though these are likely to be substantial.

Department of Health, 2009: Use of Resources in Adult Social Care: a guide for local authorities.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 5.25 of the Impact Assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, what the two supply-side failures referred to are. [304856]

Ann Keen: The supply-side failures referred to in paragraph 5.25 are the under-provision of insurance coverage and higher prices for those who do take out insurance. Insurance companies wishing to offer insurance for personal care will make an assessment of the likelihood that people will require such services and offer a product at a price based on the average probability of need.

People who view themselves as being at a low risk of needing personal care will not be attracted by an insurance product at an average price and would only buy one at a low price. Those who see themselves as high risk will see an insurance product offered at a price based on the average probability as good value for money and are likely to purchase it.

As a result, insurance companies are aware that an average priced policy will adversely select high-risk customers and so do not offer it. They may offer products at a higher price to reflect the higher risk of customers they do attract. In an extreme case, this could result in complete market collapse as the remaining customers respond to higher prices by deciding not to purchase insurance. In response, insurance companies raise prices further and eventually there are no purchasers left.

In addition, insurance companies and individuals may make a different assessment of the risk of a person needing personal care, owing to their having less information about a person's risk than the individual themselves.

Insurance companies may respond to the problem by attempting to gather information about customers to set individually tailored prices to their products. Gathering information is costly and insurance companies pass this on through higher premiums. This can be compounded if the pool of customers taking insurance becomes smaller as insurance companies have to spread their fixed costs over a small number of people, further raising the price that customers have to pay.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the change in the number of assessments conducted by local authorities as a result of enactment of the proposals set out in the Personal Care at Home Bill; what estimate he has made of the effect of that change on costs; and whether local authority funding would be adjusted accordingly. [304943]

Phil Hope: The costs associated with increasing numbers of assessments have been included in the administrative component of Table 2 in the impact assessment. In the absence of firm data on this, we have assumed that the average cost of an assessment is £200 and that 135,000 extra individuals will be assessed per year, giving an overall cost estimate of £27 million per year, as shown in Table 2 of the impact assessment. This has been included in the estimate overall annual costs of £670 million per year in 2011-12 prices.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 5.25 of the impact assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, what assessment he has made of the extent to which people believe that the state will be the insurer of last resort. [305696]

Phil Hope: Paragraph 5.25 of the impact assessment discusses the lack of a private insurance market for personal care services and the reasons why this may be the case. One of the reasons for this may be that individuals believe that the welfare state acts as a safety net for them and so they do not need to make provision for themselves. The Government have not attempted to quantify this specifically.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 5.27 of the impact assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, how many times impact assessments conducted by his Department have cited websites. [305756]

Phil Hope: The information requested could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what (a) factors he took into account and (b) research his Department undertook in determining the scope of his legislative proposals relating to personal care. [305975]

Phil Hope: The factors taken into account are set out in the impact assessment, which was published with the current consultation document, "Personal Care at Home: a consultation on proposals for regulations and guidance". Both documents are available on the Department's website at:

www.dh.gov.uk/en/Consultations/Liveconsultations/DH_109139

Copies have already been placed in the Library.

As set out in the impact assessment, the research undertaken in the English Longitudinal Study of Aging identifies the potential number of people living at home who may qualify for free personal care.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 6.2 of the impact assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, for what reason the distributional effect of providing insurance cover is included in the impact assessment. [305978]

Phil Hope: The impact assessment discusses a range of benefits of the proposals. One benefit is the distributional effect of providing free personal care to those in highest need, the beneficiaries of which are a sub-section of the population. A second benefit is the extension of Government-provided insurance to cover free personal care to those in highest need. The population as a whole derives a benefit from the extension as people know with certainty they will receive free personal care if they find themselves in need, as set out in the proposal.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether his Department has made an estimate of the average volume of carbon dioxide emissions arising from reablement schemes as set out in the Personal Care at Home Bill. [305979]

Phil Hope: I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave him on 9 December 2009, Official Report, column 497W.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 6.3 of the impact assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, how many impact assessments conducted by his Department since 1997 have included mitigation of the general reluctance to pay taxes. [305996]

Phil Hope: The information requested could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 7.5 of the impact assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, what estimate he has made of the differences in levels of informal care provided by different care settings. [306020]

Phil Hope: Paragraph 7.5 of the impact assessment sets out current thinking. An equality impact assessment screening has been undertaken and published with the consultation document, "Personal care at home: a consultation on proposals for regulations and guidance". Both documents are available on the Department's website at:

www.dh.gov.uk/en/Consultations/Liveconsultations/DH_109139

Copies have already been placed in the Library.

A full equality impact assessment will be undertaken prior to the implementation of the policy.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to the impact assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, if he will publish in full modelling commissioned by his Department from the Personal Social Services Research Unit. [306480]

Phil Hope: I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave to him on 10 December 2009, Official Report, column 552W, on social services.

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what recent revisions have been made to the financial assumptions underpinning the Government's financial modelling for a National Care Service as a result of the pledge that there will be no cash losers amongst existing disability benefit recipients. [307198]

Phil Hope: None. As we said in the Green Paper "Shaping the future of care and support together", if we reform disability benefits, anyone receiving an affected benefit at the time of reform would continue to receive the equivalent level of support and protection.

Our working assumptions in the financial modelling have consistently been that nobody will experience a cash loss as a result of the reforms.

South East Coast Strategic Health Authority

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the capitation cost of the chairman of the South East Coast strategic health authority was in the last year for which figures are available; and how many days she spent working for the authority in that year. [304137]

Gillian Merron: The chair of the South East Coast strategic health authority (SHA) was appointed from 1 May 2009 with remuneration at the national rate set by the Government of £4[illegible]131 for 2009-10. The chair committed to working at least three days a week for the SHA.

South East Coast Strategic Health Authority: Expenditure

Mr. Soames: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the (a) budgeted and (b) outturn expenditure of the NHS South East Coast health authority was in each of the last four years. [306768]

Gillian Merron: The following table shows the revenue resource limit and net operating costs for the South East Coast strategic health authority (SHA). The revenue resource limit represents the total amount of revenue expenditure that an SHA can incur during the financial year. Net operating costs represent the total net revenue expenditure actually incurred by the SHA during the financial year. For 2005-06, we have provided data for the two predecessor SHAs: Kent and Medway SHA and Surrey and Sussex SHA.

SHA revenue resource limit and net operating costs

| SHA name | — | Revenue resource limit (£000) | Net operating costs (£000) |
|---|---|---|---|
| Kent and Medway SHA | 2005-06 | 92,000 | 70,657 |
| Surrey and Sussex SHA | 2005-06 | 137,733 | 125,774 |
| South East Coast SHA | 2006-07 | 252,490 | 222,113 |
| South East Coast SHA | 2007-08 | 314,176 | 276,034 |
| South East Coast SHA | 2008-09 | 313,025 | 273,049 |

Note:
South East Coast SHA was created on 1 July 2006 from the merger of Surrey and Sussex SHA and Kent and Medway SHA

South East Coast Strategic Health Authority: Pay

Mr. Soames: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the salary of the chief executive of the NHS South East Coast health authority is. [306736]

Gillian Merron: Information about the remuneration of the chief executive of the South East Coast strategic health authority (SHA) is available in the SHA's "Annual Report 2008-09", a copy of which has been placed in the Library.

Surgery: Technology

Mr. Todd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether he plans to refer the CyberKnife robotic radiosurgery system to the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence for evaluation. [305392]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: We have no such plans. Stakeholders can submit topic suggestions for National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) guidance through the NICE website at:

www.nice.org.uk/getinvolved/suggestatopic/suggest_a_topic.jsp

We understand that the National Radiotherapy Implementation Group is considering whether it would be helpful to develop guidance for the national health service on the use of stereotactic radiotherapy more generally.

Swine Flu: Vaccination

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to the answer of 5 November 2009, Official Report, column 1183W, on swine flu: vaccination, what criteria his Department provided to Morianto in respect of the distribution of the swine flu vaccine. [307199]

Gillian Merron: The initial distribution of vaccine was targeted at acute and other national health service trusts for health care workers' vaccination. A box of GlaxoSmithKline vaccine was then distributed to general practitioner (GP) surgeries across the country so that the vaccination of clinical risk groups could start. Subsequently, primary care trusts have been able to order vaccine for GP surgeries and NHS organisations, based on the population they are responsible for.

Therapy: Domestic Violence

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to the Home Department's "Together we can end violence against women and girls" strategy, how much his Department plans to spend on the pilot site of the Multisystemic Therapy Programme at the Brandon Centre in North London in (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11 and (c) each of the subsequent three years; and from what budget such expenditure will be drawn. [305309]

Ann Keen: The Department is co-funding the Multisystemic Therapy Programme for Problem Sexual Behaviour at the Brandon Centre for a three-year period from 2009-10 to 2011-12. This funding amounts to £250,000 in 2009-10 and £300,000 in both 2010-11 and 2011-12. There is currently no commitment to funding from the Department after this date.

This commitment to develop pilot sites of Multisystemic Therapy was made originally in the 2007 Social Exclusion Action Plan, Action 20, and is drawn from the Department's Health Inequalities and Partnerships Directorate budget, with additional funding provided by the Department for Children, Schools and Families and the Youth Justice Board.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Anti-Semitism

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps the Government plan to take to monitor and seek to reduce levels of anti-Semitism overseas; and if he will make a statement. [R] [303917]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Government are committed to tackling anti-Semitism. We condemn all instances of persecution and discrimination against individuals and groups wherever they occur.

All the Foreign and Commonwealth Office's overseas missions have a responsibility to monitor and raise human rights in their host countries. We have taken a number of measures to tackle anti-Semitism, many of them in response to the report of the All-Party Parliamentary Inquiry into anti-Semitism, commissioned by John Mann MP and published in 2006. These include supporting the International Task Force for Holocaust Education, Remembrance and Research, to help educate young people around the world about the destructiveness of hate; working through embassies worldwide to support efforts to tackle anti-Semitism; and working through multilateral fora, including the UN, EU, Organisation for Security and Co-operation in Europe and the Council of Europe.

Australia: Anti-Semitism

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent reports he has received of incidents of anti-Semitism in Australia; whether he has had recent discussions with the Government of Australia on that matter; and if he will make a statement. [306092]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: I am aware of the recent release of a report by Jeremy Jones of the Australia/Israel and Jewish Affairs Council at the annual meeting of the Executive Council of Australian Jewry held in Sydney on 29 November 2009 highlighting a reported increase in anti-Semitic incidents. The report also indicated that Australians are fundamentally tolerant and opposed to discrimination, vilification or harassment of Jews and other segments of the population. The Australian Government were also highlighted as making significant developments to address this issue over the last 20 years.

The Government are committed to tackling anti-Semitism. We condemn all instances of persecution and discrimination against individuals and groups wherever they occur. All the Foreign and Commonwealth Office's overseas missions have a responsibility to monitor and raise human rights in their host countries.

Colombia: Trade Unions

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received of the number of trade unionists murdered in Colombia in the last 12 months; what steps he is taking to assist the Colombian Government to reduce this figure; and if he will make a statement. [306156]

Chris Bryant [holding answer 10 December 2009]: We see a variety of reports from different sources on the number of trade unionists murdered in Colombia. The bottom line is that one trade union murder is one too many and the level of violence and human rights abuse in Colombia is unacceptable.

The Government support the work of human rights defenders in Colombia through a range of projects. Projects approved for this financial year and beyond total around £1 million; two of these specifically help tackle impunity and three are aimed at strengthening the position of human rights defenders. We are also working with the UN on a research initiative to help improve the protection of trade union human rights and the development of positive labour relations.

Our embassy staff in Colombia meet with many who have received threats, and we will continue to do so in line with EU guidelines on human rights defenders.

I raised our concerns with President Uribe when I visited Colombia in October 2009, and I made a joint statement with Foreign Minister Bermúdez declaring:

> "the defence of human rights is necessary and legitimate for democracy, and in a country such as Colombia, which takes pride in being completely open and ready to accept international scrutiny in this area.
> We welcome these public statements from the highest levels of the Colombian Government."

Democratic Forces for the Liberation of Rwanda

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he has made an assessment of the findings of the UN report on allegations of illegal funding of the FDLR on an international scale; and whether he plans to raise the matter of such allegations in the UN Security Council. [305069]

Mr. Ivan Lewis [holding answer 8 December 2009]: The UN Group of Experts' report, which among other things considers external funding of the Democratic Forces for the Liberation of Rwanda (FDLR), makes a valuable contribution to the overall efforts of the international community to help deal with the problems of the eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC). The report is frank, independent and fearless, and the Group of Experts have set out their findings and thinking clearly and cogently. We commend them on their work.

The UK has worked closely with the UN Security Council (UNSC) on the DRC sanctions regime. The UNSC agreed unanimously in November to renew and expand the DRC sanctions regime. This is legally binding for all UN member states and represents another step forward in terms of international action to disrupt and deter those who support armed groups and facilitate the continuing conflict in the Great Lakes region.

The UK is committed to the UN sanctions regime. We will not hesitate to support sanctions against any person or company—including those based in the UK—against whom there is sufficient evidence to do so.

Departmental Legislation

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the outcome was of his Department's analysis of responses to the public consultation on possible legislation in respect of the overseas operations of private military and security companies. [illegible]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office launched a public consultation on the Government's proposed policy to promote high standards of conduct in the private military and security companies industry internationally on 24 April 2009.

We received detailed responses from over 20 organisations and individuals. Officials have analysed these in detail. We aim to publish the final summary of responses, including a Government response to the contributions received, as soon as possible.

Departmental Manpower

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of staff of his Department who (a) have been employed in the middle east and south Asia in (i) 2008 and (ii) 2009 and (b) will be employed in that area in each of the next five years. [305474]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: There were 257 diplomatic staff positions (not including UK Trade and Industry staff) in the middle east and south Asia in 2008. This number increased to 289 in 2009.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) prioritises its resources where they are most needed in order to deliver its departmental strategic objectives and we aim to respond quickly to any new priorities by moving existing staff resources to new locations when necessary. As such, it is not possible to estimate the number of staff that will be employed in the middle east and south Asia in each of the next five years.

While we do not envisage the number changing substantially, much will hinge on the FCO's future Comprehensive Spending Review (CSR) settlement (covering financial years 2011-12 to 2013-14.

Departmental Property

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much his Department spent on gilding in the most recent 12 months for which figures are available. [305505]

Chris Bryant: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office has a responsibility to maintain our historic listed buildings in accordance with the requirements of leases and English Heritage. As part of an ongoing programme of redecoration and refurbishment work £5,299 was spent in the last 12 months on gilding in the State Dining Room at Lancaster House in accordance with lease requirements. This room is used throughout the year for hosting official functions for all Government Departments.

Departmental Security

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many security passes his Department has issued to contractors providing consultancy services in the last 12 months. [303946]

Chris Bryant: 2,520 security passes were issued to contractors in the last 12 months. To identify which of these contractors provided consultancy services would incur disproportionate cost.

Honduras: Politics and Government

Jeremy Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what observations were made by UK representatives of the presidential election in Honduras on 29 November 2009; and what recognition the UK will afford to the Government formed by any of the candidates who participated. [304553]

Chris Bryant [holding answer 10 December 2009]: No UK representatives travelled to Honduras to observe the presidential elections in Honduras on 29 November 2009, and no official EU election observation mission was deployed. We understand that approximately 300 international observers attended polling stations on election day and two election experts from the European Commission were in-country at the time of the elections.

Prior to the elections we made clear our belief that the democratically elected President, Manuel Zelaya, had to be returned to office. We note that the elections, although carried out under abnormal circumstances, were held in a largely peaceful manner. The UK, and our EU partners, will continue to encourage all parties to work towards full implementation of the San José/Tegucigalpa Accord and restoration of constitutional democratic order in the country.

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether his Department provided assistance to international missions to monitor the conduct of the recent presidential election in Honduras. [306685]

Chris Bryant: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office did not send any observers to the presidential elections in Honduras on 29 November 2009, nor did we provide any assistance to other international observation missions deployed there. Two experts from the European Commission were present during the elections, but this did not constitute a formal EU election observation mission. Following the elections, the EU issued a statement on 1 December 2009 which expressed regret that the Tegucigalpa/San José Accord was not fully implemented ahead of the elections, therefore "leading to an electoral process under abnormal circumstances". The UK notes that the elections were held in a largely peaceful manner, but continues to call for the full implementation of the negotiated agreement and the restoration of constitutional, democratic order in the country.

Illegal Immigrants: Deportation

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs with reference to the comments of the Minister for Care Services in Progress magazine on 26 March 2008, how many foreign nationals have been deported because they were in the country illegally in each year since 1997. [301532]

Mr. Woolas: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested is available on the UK Border Agency website.

The Home Office publishes information on the individuals removed or deported voluntarily from the UK on a quarterly and annual basis, which are available from the Library of the House and from the Home Office's Research, Development and Statistics website at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/immigration-asylum-stats.html

Members: Correspondence

John Penrose: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he will reply to the hon. Member for Weston-Super-Mare's letters of 25 August, 1 October and 2 November 2009 on behalf of his constituent Mr. John Dunster. [306344]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: I replied to the hon. Member for Weston-super-Mare's letters on 9 December 2009.

Middle East

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether the Prime Minister plans to visit (a) Gaza and (b) Israel, including the Karni crossing. [306800]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister has no plans for such a visit.

Middle East: Armed Conflict

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received of the discovery by Israel Defence Forces (IDF) of three explosive devices in the West Bank on Thursday 3 December; whether he (a) has given and (b) plans to give assistance to the IDF to prevent terrorist attacks in Israel; and if he will make a statement. [306098]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We have received no such reports and the Israel Defence Forces have not asked for assistance. The UK has long made clear that terrorist violence is unacceptable. We shall continue to call on all armed groups to renounce the use of violence.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent reports he has received of the number of rockets held by Hezbollah in Lebanon that are capable of reaching (a) Haifa, (b) Tel Aviv and (c) other locations in Israel; and if he will make a statement. [306109]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: There are no reliable estimates of Hezbollah weaponry and the precise number of rockets with what potential ranges.

The latest report from the UN Secretary General on UN Security Council Resolution 1701 however, highlighted that Hezbollah continues to maintain a substantial military capacity distinct from that of the Lebanese state. This is available on the UN website at

http://www.un.org/Docs/sc/sgrep09.htm

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make representations to the Government of Israel on (a) the use of sand pits to hold Palestinian detainees and (b) the transfer into detention within Israel of Palestinian detainees (i) during and (ii) following Operation Cast Lead. [306676]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We closely monitor Israeli detention operations and the situation of Palestinian prisoners. We will continue to emphasise to the Israeli authorities the importance of ensuring their legal processes are in accordance with international law and democratic norms.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the conclusion of the report of the UN fact finding mission on the Gaza conflict in respect of the blockade of Gaza. [306772]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We have stated the Government position on the Goldstone report on a number of occasions. Some aspects of the report were flawed—particularly its failure to acknowledge fully Israel's right to defend herself, and the inadequate attention paid to Hamas' actions. However, the issues raised by the report were very serious, and they should be credibly and independently investigated.

We have also been clear on our position on Israeli restrictions on access through the Gaza crossings. My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister raised this with Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu on 14 October 2009. EU Foreign Ministers called for an "immediate, sustained and unconditional opening of crossings" in conclusions on 8 December 2009, which are available at:

http://www.se2009.eu/polopoly_fs/1.27026!menu/standard/file/111829.pdf

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent reports he has received on the blockade of Gaza by (a) HM Ambassador to Israel and (b) HM Consul General to the Palestinian Authority; and on what date each most recently visited Gaza. [306773]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We receive regular reports about the current situation in Gaza from both our ambassador to Israel and our consul-general in Jerusalem.

Our consul-general in Jerusalem regularly visits Gaza for meetings at the British Information and Services Office. His most recent visit was on 1 December 2009.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what advice he has received on whether (a) Israel, (b) Hamas and (c) Egypt are in breach of the terms of UN Security Council Resolution 1860; and if he will make a statement. [306777]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: UN Security Council resolution 1860 is clear in its call for a durable ceasefire; the unimpeded provision and distribution throughout Gaza of humanitarian assistance; and the prevention of illicit arms trafficking throughout Gaza.

Despite this, Hamas rocket attacks continue—they must stop immediately.

Our position on Israeli restrictions on access through the Gaza crossings is well known. My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister raised this with Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu on 14 October 2009. EU Foreign Ministers called for an "immediate, sustained and unconditional opening of crossings" in conclusions on 8 December 2009, which are available at:

http://www.se2009.eu/polopoly_fs/1.27026!menu/standard/file/111829.pdf

We have made clear our support for Egyptian-sponsored efforts to build a non-partisan, technocratic Palestinian Government, which would be capable of working productively with the international community. These Egyptian efforts continue.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the effects of the Gaza blockade on efforts to reach peace in the middle east. [306778]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We regularly press Israel to ease restrictions at the Gaza crossings and permit the legitimate flow of humanitarian and reconstruction materials, trade goods and people into Gaza. We urge Israel to do so immediately, regardless of broader peace negotiations.

The UK continues to vigorously pursue a comprehensive peace based on a two-state solution involving a viable Palestinian state living alongside Israel in peace and security.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps he plans to take to end the blockade of Gaza. [306779]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We will continue to press the Israeli authorities, both at an official and ministerial level, to ease border restrictions into Gaza and allow the passage of essential humanitarian aid and reconstruction material. These concerns were recently highlighted at the EU Foreign Ministers Meeting on 8 December 2009. The EU Foreign Affairs Council conclusions are available at:

http://www.se2009.eu/polopoly_fs/1.27026!menu/standard/file/111829.pdf

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he last requested the Israeli government to end the blockade of Gaza. [306780]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We have consistently pressed Israel to ease restrictions and allow the flow of essential humanitarian aid and reconstruction material into Gaza. My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary raised this issue during his conversation with the Israeli Foreign Minister on 25 November 2009.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the (a) number of rockets or mortars fired from the Gaza strip into Israel and (b) injuries resulting from such attacks in each of the last four quarters. [306781]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: According to the Israeli Foreign Ministry there were 762 rocket and mortar attacks during Operation Cast Lead, and 193 attacks between the ceasefire on 18 January and 8 December 2009.

There have been no Israeli fatalities since the ceasefire. We do not have figures concerning causalities.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on (a) the number of incidents of (i) Israeli military incursions, (ii) rocket mortar or tank fire from Israel into Gaza, (iii) bombing and (iv) sound bombs in each of the last four quarters and (b) fatalities and injuries that have resulted. [306782]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We are unable to establish the total number of incidents in Gaza involving the Israeli Defence Forces in 2009.

However, according to the UN, since the end of Operation Cast Lead, a total of 85 Palestinians have been killed and 134 others injured in the context of the Palestinian-Israeli conflict.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs on how many occasions in 2009 at the Erez crossing (a) British and (b) EU diplomats were shot at by Israeli or Palestinian forces; and what steps the Government have taken to reduce the risk of such incidents in future. [306787]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: There have been two incidents which have involved Israeli Defence Forces firing warning shots at diplomatic officials. One incident involved an official from the British consulate-general in Jerusalem and the second an official from an EU consulate-general in Jerusalem. We have discussed our concerns with the Israeli authorities.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether HM Ambassador to Israel plans to (a) support and (b) attend the Gaza freedom march on 31 December 2009. [306789]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Our ambassador to Israel has no plans to attend the Gaza freedom march on 31 December 2009. We advise against all travel to Gaza. Despite the ceasefires continuing to hold, they are fragile and tensions remain extremely high.

We remain gravely concerned about the humanitarian situation in Gaza and continue to urge the Israeli authorities to ease restrictions at the crossings and implement UN Security Council Resolution 1860 fully.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions (a) he and (b) his representatives have had with the UN Secretary-General on the publication of the UN Secretary-General's report on the cost of damages to UN buildings and equipment in Gaza during Operation Cast Lead; and whether he has asked the UN Secretary-General to (i) publish his report and (ii) seek damages from the parties responsible. [306791]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Government were deeply concerned by reports of incidents involving UN property/personnel during the Gaza conflict. UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon set up the UN Board of Inquiry to investigate certain incidents involving UN property/personnel during the Gaza conflict. The board reported back on 5 May 2009. The UN Secretariat are taking this forward directly with the Israeli Government.

It is for the UN Secretary-General to decide whether or not to make public anything further on this matter.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs on how many occasions (a) he and (b) the Prime Minister have raised Gaza access issues with their Israeli counterparts; and on what occasions the Israeli Government has acceded to requests for access in the last 12 months. [306795]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The UK regularly urges Israel to reduce restrictions at the Gaza crossings and to allow the legitimate flow of humanitarian and reconstruction materials, trade goods, and people.

My right hon. Friends the Prime Minister and the Foreign Secretary last raised Gaza access issues with their Israeli counterparts on 14 October 2009 and 25 November 2009 respectively.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on Israeli controls on access to Gaza. [306796]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Middle East issues, including Gaza, were discussed in depth at the EU Foreign Ministers meeting on 8 December 2009. The relevant section of their conclusions reads:

> "Gravely concerned about the situation in Gaza, the Council urges the full implementation of UN Security Council Resolution 1860 and the full respect of international humanitarian law. In this context, the continued policy of closure is unacceptable and politically counterproductive. It has devastated the private sector economy and damaged the natural environment, notably water and other natural resources. The EU again reiterates its calls for an immediate, sustained and unconditional opening of crossings for the flow of humanitarian aid, commercial goods and persons to and from Gaza. In this context, the Council calls for the full implementation of the Agreement on Movement and Access. While extremists stand to gain from the current situation, the civilian population, half of which are under the age of 18, suffers. Fully recognising Israel's legitimate security needs, the Council continues to call for a complete stop to all violence and arms smuggling into Gaza. The Council calls on those holding the abducted Israeli soldier Gilad Shalit to release him without delay."

Middle East: Diplomatic Service

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs with reference to his statement in The Sunday Times of 6 January 2008, when he expects the planned increase in numbers of diplomatic staff in the middle east and south Asia to have been completed. [305571]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The planned increase in numbers of diplomatic staff (not including UK Trade and Industry staff) took place throughout the last financial year (April 2008 to March 2009). This saw an extra 32 front line staff deployed across the middle east and south Asia.

Middle East: Peace Negotiations

Mr. Soames: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent assessment he has made of the part the Government are playing in the middle east peace process. [306743]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The UK continues to pursue vigorously a two-state solution. We support the Palestinian Authority in building the institutions of a future Palestinian state. We speak out to discourage acts which undermine the prospects of peace. And we strongly support the US effort to restart peace negotiations.

There is more consensus in the international community than there has been for many years about the basis for a resolution of the dispute between Israel and the Palestinians. We are continuing to support the efforts of the US Administration who are engaged in a good-faith endeavour to bridge the gap. We will continue to support those efforts, because the alternatives for the people of Israel, Palestine and the rest of the region look so much worse.

South Caucasus Group

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he next plans to visit the South Caucasus group of countries to discuss (a) bi-lateral relations and (b) broader global issues. [306620]

Chris Bryant: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has no current plans to visit the region. Baroness Kinnock visited Georgia in June 2009 and met with President Aliyev when he came to the UK in July 2009. In recent months Ministers and senior officials have also had a series of meetings in London with counterparts from the South Caucasus, including the Prime Minister and Foreign Minister of Georgia, Deputy Foreign Minister of Armenia and Deputy Foreign Minister of Azerbaijan. I hope to visit the region soon.

UN Committee on the Rights of the Child

John Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs on how many occasions the UK delegation to the UN Committee on the Rights of the Child has included a Minister since 1997. [305720]

Chris Bryant [holding answer 10 December 2009]: None. The UK's report on the implementation of the convention, and its optional protocols, was last examined by the Committee in 2008, when a senior official from the Department of Children, Schools and Families led the delegation.

John Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs on how many occasions a Minister has appeared before the United Nations Committee on the Rights of the Child to discuss the UK's report as a state party to the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child since 1997. [305727]

Chris Bryant [holding answer 10 December 2009]: None. The UK's report on the implementation of the convention, and its optional protocols, was last examined by the Committee in 2008, when a senior official from the Department of Children Schools, and Families led the delegation.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Attendance Allowance

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) whether all (a) existing and (b) future claimants of (i) attendance allowance and (ii) disability living allowance over the age of 65 years will have the option of continuing to be able to receive their benefits in cash via a direct payment from a future National Care Service; [307200]

(2) whether (a) existing and (b) future claimants of (i) attendance allowance and (ii) disability living allowance over the age of 65 years will need to agree care plans in order to access the equivalent level of support. [307201]

Jonathan Shaw: If disability benefits for older people are reformed as part of the introduction of the National Care Service, people receiving the affected benefits at the time of reform will continue to receive the same level of cash support. We do not anticipate that these people will need to agree a care plan in order to access this cash support.

As we said in the Green Paper, if we were to draw some disability benefits for older people into the new National Care Service, we would create a new offer for individuals with care needs. This support would be delivered in line with the best principles of benefits: a system that is consistent across the country, providing flexible methods of payment through personal budgets and investment in prevention.

Christmas Bonus

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the (a) value in current prices and (b) cost of the Christmas bonus was in each year since its introduction. [302183]

Angela Eagle: The response is in the following table:

| | Value of Christmas bonus award (£, 2009-10 prices) | Total Christmas bonus expenditure (£, cash terms) | Total Christmas bonus expenditure (£ million, 2009-10 prices) |
|---|---|---|---|

1. Total expenditure figures have been rounded to the nearest million and are given in both cash terms and 2009-10 prices deflated by the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) deflator.
2. The values of the Christmas bonus awards are rounded to the nearest pound and are given in 2009-10 prices deflated by the Retail Prices Index for the 3rd quarter each year.
3. Total expenditure for 2008-09 reflects the latest forecast outturn at the time Budget 2009 was published.
4. The Christmas bonus was first paid in 1972-73.
5. The Christmas bonus was not paid in 1975-76 or 1976-77.
6. Expenditure in 1975-76 relates to small amounts of expenditure due at Christmas 1974.
7. The 2008-09 figures for the Christmas bonus include the normal £10 payment and the pre-Budget report 2008 measure of an additional one-off payment of £60 to all Christmas bonus recipients.

Employment and Support Allowance

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions with reference to the answer of 11 November 2009, Official Report, columns 779-80W, on employment and support allowance, how many and what proportion of work capability assessments for claimants of employment and support allowance have been completed (a) between three and four, (b) between four and five, (c) between five and six and (d) over six months after the 13-week period from the start of their claim in the latest period for which figures are available. [300659]

Jonathan Shaw [holding answer on 23 November 2009]: My response to your previous question on 11 November 2009, Official Report, columns 779-80W, explained how 46 per cent. of completed work capability assessments for employment and support allowance claimants were completed within 13 weeks.

The previous reply also stated that the latest reliable cohort of employment and support allowance claims were for claims starting in April 2009. We use this cohort to estimate Atos-advice timings of the assessment process:

There were 8,900 (34 per cent.) completed between three and four months.

An additional 3,800 (15 per cent.) were completed between four and five months.

An additional 1,300 (5 per cent.) were completed between five and six months.

None were completed after six months.

Note:

Figures are rounded to the nearest 100 and percentages are rounded to the nearest whole number.

Customers are able to backdate their claims to before they first contacted Jobcentre Plus. For incapacity benefit this was for an average of two weeks, and it is expected that this will be the same for employment and support allowance. Therefore, the figures above show the actual time between when the claim was made and the completed work capability assessment taking place, and not the true time that Jobcentre Plus and Atos have to work on cases which may be shorter.

A more accurate reflection of the amount of cases that pass through the process would be determined by taking into account factors, such as, the time taken to return paperwork, whether their condition can be assessed on paper based evidence alone, whether further medical evidence is required or requested and whether a customer actually attends their initial appointment or it has to be re-scheduled. This information is not currently available but we will continue to undertake analysis of performance as the employment and support allowance regime beds in.

Employment and Support Allowance: Mentally Ill

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what proportion of employment support allowance claimants who cite mental health problems as their primary reason for claiming and who have been placed in the work-related activity group, have been referred to specialist mental health providers. [302379]

Jonathan Shaw [holding answer 30 November 2009]: The information requested is not available.

Employment and Support Allowance: Telephone Services

Mr. Todd: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether her Department has carried out a disability equality impact assessment for the telephone script it uses for employment and support allowance applications. [304150]

Jonathan Shaw: The employment and support allowance project was disability equality impact assessed. The claim process for employment and support allowance does not involve using a fully scripted computer system therefore this will not have been impact assessed.

Employment Services: Autism

Mr. Bellingham: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) when her Department plans to extend autism awareness training to all disability employment advisers at Jobcentre Plus; [304961]

(2) what training in autism awareness personal advisers at Jobcentre Plus receive. [304962]

Jonathan Shaw [holding answer 10 December 2009]: The administration of Jobcentre Plus is the responsibility of the chief executive, Darra Singh. I have asked him to provide the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Darra Singh:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your questions asking what training in autism awareness personal advisers at Jobcentre Plus receive and when her Department plans to extend autism awareness training to all Disability Employment Advisers at Jobcentre Plus. This is something which falls within the responsibilities delegated to me as Chief Executive of Jobcentre Plus.

Personal Advisers at Jobcentre Plus receive training that includes a general awareness of disability and disability issues. Additionally, this provides an understanding of the specialist roles so that staff are aware of the links with Disability Employment Advisers.

Jobcentre Plus policy is to develop its advisers in the skills required to manage a range of customers and to respect their individual needs, covering a variety of health conditions. The learning programme for Jobcentre Plus advisers focuses on raising awareness of customers' personal circumstances and the impact this may have on their ability to move into sustainable employment. Advisers are signposted to guide notes which include background information on a number of conditions, including Autistic Spectrum Condition, the implications for interviews and how to use questioning techniques in order to support customers.

Disability Employment Advisers, who focus on customers needing more extensive support, receive further levels of skills training appropriate to their customers, including skills practice in interviewing customers with Autistic Spectrum Condition. In addition, advisers including Disability Employment Advisers can seek help from their Work Psychologist colleagues to assist them in supporting customers where appropriate. All Jobcentres have access to Disability Employment Adviser services, either by being located within the Jobcentre or for example in more rural areas access to peripatetic Disability Employment Advisers who provide services across a number of locations.

I can advise you that all Disability Employment Advisers currently receive autism awareness as part of the standard training programme that they receive when they take on this role. I can also confirm that autism awareness will continue to be included in training for any future Disability Employment Advisers.

Housing Benefit

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate she has made of the cost to landlords of the introduction of direct payment of local housing allowance in (a) 2009-10 and (b) each of the subsequent five years. [304643]

Helen Goodman: The information is not available.

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many claimants in each broad market rental area receive local housing allowance in excess of (a) £385 and (b) £965 per week. [305850]

Helen Goodman [holding answer 10 December 2009]: Local housing allowance information is not available at broad market rental area level.

There are fewer than 100 people getting housing benefit of £1,000 or more under the local housing allowance arrangements—that represents just 0.01 per cent. of the total local housing allowance caseload.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much was paid in housing benefit on average to each recipient in each region in each of the last five years. [306519]

Helen Goodman: The most recent available information is in the tables.

Average weekly amount of housing benefit by Government office region: August 2005 to August 2007

John Mann: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what discretion local authorities have to make direct payments to landlords through housing-related benefits. [304229]

Helen Goodman: Under the local housing allowance rules for calculating housing benefit, local authorities may pay housing benefit directly to landlords in the following circumstances:

when they consider that the tenant is unlikely to pay their rent; or when they consider that the tenant is likely to have difficulty in managing their financial affairs; or when payments have previously been made in the same award directly to the landlord because the tenant was in 8 or more weeks of arrears of rent; or as a one-off payment where the tenant has moved leaving arrears of rent.

For housing benefit claims that are not assessed and paid under the local housing allowance rules, there are circumstances when the local authority may consider paying landlords directly:

as a one-off payment of arrears when a customer has left an address leaving arrears of rent;

at the customer's request or with his consent; or without the customer's consent, if it is in the interest of the customer and their family.

Where a customer has accrued rent arrears of eight weeks or more payment of housing benefit must be paid direct to the landlord.

In Work Credit

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many and what proportion of eligible lone parents have received the in-work credit since it was introduced. [304382]

Helen Goodman: Since the introduction of in-work credit in April 2004 to March 2009, 134,000 lone parents have taken up this form of support.

We cannot estimate the take up rate as a proportion of all eligible lone parents because to qualify for in-work credit the lone parent must work at least 16 hours per week, and we do not hold data on the number of hours lone parents work when they leave benefit.

Mortgages: Preseli

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people have received assistance through the Support for Mortgage Interest scheme in Preseli Pembrokeshire constituency since the scheme was launched. [306654]

Helen Goodman: Information on mortgage interest repayments is not available at constituency level.

Pension Credit

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what steps her Department has taken to publicise the rise in the savings disregard for pension credit to £10,000. [304260]

Angela Eagle: We have taken forward a number of measures to ensure people are aware of this change. In early November when the change took place we issued a press notice and contacted national, regional, online and specialist media to increase awareness. Coverage was achieved in a range of media including the Daily Mirror, The Guardian, The Sunday Times and the moneysavingexpert.com website which has a monthly audience of 8.1 million.

Guidance was issued to staff to inform pension credit applicants who were unsuccessful on capital grounds in advance of the rule change in November; we have also worked with key stakeholders so that they understand the changes.

Those already receiving pension credit and who benefited from the change were also notified of the change and its impact on their award.

In addition information has been incorporated in relevant pension credit leaflets and the online tool, 'The Pension Credit calculator'.

Pension Credit/Winter Fuel Payments

Ms Buck: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many pensioners were in a household in receipt of (a) pension credit and (b) winter fuel allowance in each London local authority area in 2008-09. [304514]

Angela Eagle: The information requested is in the following tables:

Number of pension credit beneficiaries in London Government region

| Local authority | May 2008 | May 2009 |
|---|---|---|
| Barking and Dagenham | 10,220 | 10,190 |
| Barnet | 13,700 | 13,780 |
| Bexley | 8,730 | 8,820 |
| Brent | 14,950 | 15,190 |
| Bromley | 10,620 | 10,770 |
| Camden | 10,180 | 10,280 |

Sickness Benefits

Mr. Gale: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if she will place in the Library before the Christmas Adjournment a copy of the Government's response to the European Commission on EU infringement proceedings in respect of the non-payment of exportable disability living allowances and other exportable sickness benefits. [306273]

Angela Eagle: I refer the hon. Member to my written answer given on 8 December 2009, Official Report, column 249W.

Social Security Benefits

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what recent estimate she has made of the number of households in England in which each member is in receipt of at least one of income support, council tax benefit, housing benefit, jobseeker's allowance, pension credit or income-related employment and support allowance. [305786]

Helen Goodman: Information on the receipt of income support, council tax benefit, housing benefit, jobseeker's allowance, and pension credit is not available on a person level basis because these are paid on a benefit unit basis.

The most recent estimate available is that there were 4,000,000 households in England where all of the benefit units were in receipt of at least one of income support, council tax benefit, housing benefit, jobseeker's allowance, or pension credit.

Source:

The Family Resources Survey 2007-08. This survey is known to under-record benefit receipt so the estimate presented here should be treated with caution.

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate she has made of the number of households in England in which all members are in receipt of at least one of working tax credit for those on incomes of less that £15,460 per annum including a disability element, disability living allowance, child tax credit for those with an income of less than £15,460 per annum, housing benefit including a disability premium, income support including a disability premium, council tax benefit including a disability premium, war disablement pension including a mobility supplement or constant attendance allowance or attendance allowance. [305788]

Jonathan Shaw [holding answer 10 December 2009]: The information is not available.

Social Security Benefits: Elderly

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much was spent on disability premiums for (a) pension credit and (b) housing benefit for people over 65 in England in (i) 2007-08 and (ii) 2008-09. [300397]

Angela Eagle: The disability premium applies only to working age benefits, but disabled pensioners can have an additional amount for severe disability taken into account in their claim for pension credit or housing benefit.

Premiums are additional amounts which are taken into account in the means test for pension credit and housing benefit, but are not paid directly as a discrete amount. They do not necessarily increase benefit entitlement by the full value of the premium, and the impact will depend on the pensioner's income and other circumstances.

However, it is possible to estimate how much pension credit expenditure is due to the severe disability premium by looking at how much less would be spent if the premium was removed, all other things being equal, and these estimates are provided in the following table.

Housing benefit is more complex, as entitlement is usually dependent on the amount and type of pension credit that is in payment. In particular, the use of the premium in a pension credit award can lead to a larger housing benefit entitlement, without the premium being used in the housing benefit assessment. National Statistics on housing benefit do not currently provide the necessary information needed in order to produce an estimate of the expenditure involved.

Estimated additional expenditure on pension credit due to the severe disability premium, for claimants aged 65 and over and living in England

|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 1,160 |
| 2008-09 | 1,220 |

Notes:

1. Expenditure estimates are consistent with expenditure information published on the internet at http://research.dwp.gov.uk/asd/asd4/expenditure.asp
2. The proportion of total pension credit expenditure relating to this group has been estimated using a 5 per cent. sample snapshot of cases in August of each year.
3. For couples, age is defined as the age of the claimant.
4. Additional expenditure on pension credit due to the severe disability premium is defined as the lower of the value of the premium(s) used in the pension credit assessment and the weekly pension credit award.
5. Estimates have been rounded to the nearest £10 million.

Social Security Benefits: Mortgages

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment she has made of the effects of the time taken to make support for mortgage interest payments on people in receipt of (a) income support, (b) income-based jobseeker's allowance, (c) income-related employment and support allowance and (d) pension credit; what the reasons are for the time taken to make such payments; how many people she estimates will be affected by the time taken; what estimate she has made of the monetary value of such outstanding payments; when she expects payments to be made in accordance with target times; and if she will make a statement. [304879]

Helen Goodman [holding answer 7 December 2009]: The information is not available in the format requested.

Neither Jobcentre Plus nor the Pension Disability and Carers Service has separate specific targets for processing support for mortgage interest (SMI) payments. Clearance times for SMI payments are measured along with all other claims or changes of circumstances affecting benefits.

Jobcentre Plus is meeting the actual average clearance targets for changes for all primary benefits; the Pension Disability and Carers Service is meeting its targets for clearing pension credit claims.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions for what reasons question (a) 300399 on definition of disability and (b) 300517 on expenditure on disability benefits, was not answered before 9 December 2009. [307203]

Jonathan Shaw: Answers to questions 300399 and 300517 were not given to the hon. Member on the due dates as a result of administrative delays, for which I sincerely apologise.

JUSTICE

Correctional Services Accreditation Panel

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how much remuneration the chair of the Correctional Services Accreditation Panel receives. [304317]

Mr. Straw: The chair of the Correctional Services Accreditation Panel is the Head of Performance and Regulation, Criminal Justice Group, Ministry of Justice. He is a senior civil servant who performs this role as part of his normal duties and receives no additional payment in relation to the chairmanship of CSAP.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people worked for the Correctional Services Accreditation Panel in each of the last three years. [304318]

Mr. Straw: In addition to the chair, the panel consists of appointed members, who are independent experts in offending behaviour programmes, the principles of effective practice and/or accreditation. 12 members were appointed in 2003 for a period of three years. These appointments and the appointment of the acting chair were extended until 31 April 2008.

Following an open competition in January 2008, 15 independent experts were appointed. Members are appointed to carry out work when required and remuneration is dependent on that work and attending the panel which convenes on an ad hoc basis. The panel is supported by one full-time civil servant who manages the programme of work.

Bill of Rights

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether invited members of the public were remunerated for attendance at his Department's deliberative events on British values. [306703]

Mr. Wills: At the regional events which took place on Saturdays throughout October in London, Cardiff, Sheffield, Gateshead and Edinburgh invited members of the public received an incentive payment of £75 per person. A total of 457 people attended the regional events. At the reconvened events in November in Gateshead and Birmingham (for which more travelling time was required for most delegates) invited members of the public received an incentive payment of £85 per person. A total of 225 people attended the reconvened events. When carrying out general population research it is usual for research companies to make incentive payments as a means to ensure that the research not only includes active individuals who like to engage in these discussions but also encourages less engaged individuals to take part. Incentive payments are especially important in the case of events of this nature, as participants will often be expected to travel long distances to attend and will also be expected to reconvene as part of the next stages in the deliberative events process.

Convictions

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the average age was of people convicted of (a) violence against the person, (b) sexual offences, (c) robbery, (d) burglary and (e) drug offences in each year since 1997. [306376]

Maria Eagle: The average age of persons found guilty at all courts in England and Wales, by selected offence type, from 1997 to 2007 (latest available) is given in the following table.

Data for 2008 are planned for publication on 28 January 2010.

The average age of persons convicted at all courts for selected types of offence, England and Wales 1997 to 2007[1, 2]

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Violence against the person | 26 | 27 | 27 | 27 | 26 | 27 | 27 | 27 | 27 | 27 | 27 |
| Sexual offences | 37 | 38 | 38 | 37 | 37 | 37 | 37 | 36 | 37 | 36 | 37 |
| Burglary | 22 | 23 | 23 | 23 | 23 | 24 | 24 | 24 | 24 | 24 | 24 |

[1] The statistics relate to the average age of persons for whom these offences were the principal offences for which they were dealt with. When a defendant has been found guilty of two or more offences the principal offence is the offence for which the heaviest penalty is imposed. Where the same disposal is imposed for two or more offences, the offence selected is the offence for which the statutory maximum penalty is the most severe.

[2] Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Crimes of Violence

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many threats made by prisoners to prison officers were reported in the latest period for which figures are available; and what his Department's policy is on action to be taken in response to such reports. [305124]

Maria Eagle: A prisoner who makes threats to anyone may be charged under the prison or young offender institution rules with using threatening, abusive or insulting words or behaviour. The charge will be dealt with at an adjudication hearing by a prison governor, or in more serious cases by an independent adjudicator (district judge). If the charge is proved the governor may impose any of the punishments set out in the rules, ranging from a caution, forfeiture of privileges, stoppage of earning, or cellular confinement. An independent adjudicator may impose any of these punishments, plus up to 42 additional days in custody.

show that in 2008, 16,048 offences of threatening, abusive, or insulting words or behaviour were punished following guilty findings at adjudications. The OMCS do not show the number of these offences that were directed at prison officers (as opposed to other members of staff, other prisoners, or visitors), or how many charges were not proven or not proceeded with.

Any threats by prisoners towards prison staff should be recorded on a Security Information Report (SIR). In the period January to August 2009, 15,232 SIRs were submitted in connection with threats to staff and others, but these records do not show how many of these incidents related to threats to prison officers, other staff, or visitors.

Alternatively to, or in addition to, the prison disciplinary system, prisoners' behaviour is taken into account when their privilege level under the Incentives and Earned Privileges (IEP) scheme is reviewed. A pattern of bad behaviour, such as making threats, or a particularly serious single incident, is likely to lead to a loss of privileges under the scheme. No figures are available on the number of prisoners whose privilege level has been reduced as a consequence of making threats.

Crown Courts

Sir Stuart Bell: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what recent assessment he has made of the level of competition for contracts for the provision of advocacy services in the Crown Court Criminal Defence Service; [306377]

(2) what his policy is on the provision of criminal litigation support and advocacy services in respect of a case in the Crown Court by the same firm of solicitors; and what value for money assessment has been made of that practice; [306378]

(3) if he will make an assessment of the potential effects on standards of representation in the Crown Court provided by the Criminal Defence Service of the appointment by the solicitors' firms providing criminal litigation support of advocates from those firms; [306379]

(4) if he will make an assessment of the potential effects on standards of advice given to a client of the Criminal Defence Service of the appointment to the client's case of a solicitor and an advocate from the same firm, with particular reference to (a) advice on the right to silence during an investigation and (b) the avoidance of adverse references at trial. [306380]

Bridget Prentice: With the exception of some advocates on very high cost (crime) cases, the Legal Services Commission (LSC) does not directly contract with advocates for the provision of advocacy services in the Crown court. The LSC is currently consulting on changes to the way that it procures advocacy services for high cost criminal cases. Currently there are sufficient advocates of appropriate quality to meet the needs of the Criminal Defence Service.

Solicitor advocates must pass through an appropriate accreditation scheme before they are able to appear in the Crown court. The aim of this is to ensure that they achieve an equivalent level of skills to barristers. It is also the case that solicitor advocates and barristers—whether employed or self-employed—are under a professional obligation only to take on cases for which they are suitably experienced and qualified.

In commissioning defence and other services, the LSC needs to be able to rely on suitable standards and accreditation to provide assurance as to the quality and value for money of the services it is buying. MOJ and the LSC have spent three years working with the professional bodies, the senior judiciary and the Crown Prosecution Service to develop a quality assurance scheme for all advocates as recognition of the significant change in those now permitted to partake in advocacy. In the longer term, the Quality Assurance of Advocates scheme (QAA) which is currently being developed may become a contractual requirement for all advocates wishing to undertake publicly funded advocacy.

Advocates, whether solicitor advocates or barristers, are not involved in advising clients during investigations prior to charge. If a litigator advises his client to remain silent during interview, then that is a matter of professional judgment at that time with no bearing on any decision to instruct an in-house advocate or independent counsel if the client is subsequently charged.

Departmental Freedom of Information

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many officials in his Department's Information Directorate were seconded to the Information Commissioner's Office in (a) 2007, (b) 2008 and (c) 2009. [306648]

Mr. Wills: The Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) is the independent authority responsible for enforcing the Freedom of Information Act.

The ICO is supported by one secondee from the Information Directorate in the Ministry of Justice, who joined the Office in April 2009. There have been no previous secondees from the Information Directorate.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many requests for information under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 received by his Department in 2008 received a substantive response within 20 days. [305570]

Mr. Wills: Statistics published by the Ministry of Justice on Freedom of Information in central Government for 2008 show that of a total of 2,492 non-routine requests received by the Department, 56 per cent. (1,393) received a substantive response within 20 days. 62 per cent. (1,537) of requests were dealt with 'in time', that is, within 20 days or by meeting a permitted extension deadline.

To improve its performance, the Department brought the management of all of its freedom of information requests within the remit of a new data access and compliance unit, in late 2008.

Since 2008, the timeliness with which it deals with requests has risen substantially—from 51 per cent. at the end of 2008 to 71 per cent. in the second quarter of 2009. It expects to see further improvements in timeliness during 2009.

The statistics can be found on the Ministry of Justice website at:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/freedomofinformationquarterly.htm

and copies are available in the Library of the House.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many full-time equivalent press officers (a) are employed by and (b) work for his Department. [303603]

Mr. Wills: As of November 2009, there were 33 press officers employed by the Ministry of Justice. In addition, there were five other staff working in the office as press office contractors.

The Ministry of Justice was created in May 2007. Staffing levels in the Ministry's Communications Directorate now more adequately reflect the high level of media interest in the work of the Department, and the need to meet the high demands of a 24/7 media. It is right that the public know and understand the work of the MOJ and its agencies and how taxpayers' money is being spent. Communications, including the work of the press office, is an important element of this.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies spent on (i) alcohol and (ii) entertainment in the last 12 months. [305534]

Mr. Wills: All expenditure on food, drink and entertainment is in line with the Ministry's internal finance policy manual and gifts and hospitality policy, which set out mandatory guidance for all staff regarding the use of public funds. Both are consistent with the Treasury guidance on "Managing Public Money", at:

http://www.hm-treasury.gov.uk/psr_mpm_index.htm

and the Treasury handbook on "Propriety and Regularity" at:

http://www.hm-treasury.gov.uk/psr governance_valueformoney.htm

The Ministry's policy on in-house hospitality prohibits the supply of any alcohol to Ministry of Justice personnel who are paid from departmental funds. When providing hospitality to external parties, then discretion can be exercised, e.g. a modest amount of wine with a meal, but expenditure should be modest and appropriate to the circumstances.

Expenditure on alcohol and entertainment are not specifically identified within the Ministry's accounting systems as they form part of a wider "entertainment and hospitality" classification. To identify specific amounts relating to alcohol and entertainment would involve examining every individual transaction within this wider category, which would incur disproportionate costs. Expenditure in 2008-09 on this wider category of expenditure was £315,000 for the Ministry and its Executive agencies, excluding the 42 local probation boards and trusts.

Departmental Telephone Lines

Mark Lazarowicz: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many telephone lines with the prefix (a) 0870, (b) 0845 and (c) 0800 his Department (i) operates and (ii) sponsors; how many calls were received to each number in the last 12 months; and whether alternative numbers charged at the BT local rate are available in each case. [305210]

Mr. Wills: The Department's telecoms services are provided through contracts with external service providers. The majority of these services are managed within individual business areas and detailed management information is not collated centrally.

Following de-regulation of the telecoms industry, many telecommunications companies offer call packages which have inclusive calls, though in most cases 0800/0845 number are not covered. This means that charges paid by the caller to prefix 08 numbers are set by each phone company individually, with charges varying accordingly, especially when the call originates from a UK mobile or non-UK number.

From the records held centrally, the Department operates 52 0845 numbers and 25 0800 telephone numbers to provide a range of services. There is no record of any 0870 numbers being used for public access to services.

Some prefix 08 numbers could also be considered to be sponsored by the Department, as it pays for some of the cost to the caller. However, the amount would differ depending on the relevant tariffs in a caller's specific call plan.

In 2008-09, call volumes to 18 0845 numbers used by Her Majesty's Courts Service Bulk Payment Centre totalled 789,000.

Details of call volumes to other individual numbers, and any additional alternative exchange numbers that may be in use, are not collated centrally, and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

As part of providing a cost-effective service to its users, the Department considers ways to make service users aware of the possibility that cheaper call options could be available. For instance, Her Majesty's Courts Service Bulk Payment Centre publish alternative exchange numbers for 18 0845 numbers on their web pages. This allows customers to choose which number to call, depending on their call plan. Charges vary, especially when the call originates from a UK mobile or non-UK number.

Departmental Written Questions

John Mason: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many questions tabled for answer on a named day his Department received in each of the last 12 months; and to how many such questions his Department provided a substantive answer on the day named. [305373]

Mr. Wills: The information requested is shown in the table and covers the Session from 3 December 2008 to 12 November 2009.

| | Number of named day questions for answer | Number of questions answered substantively on the named day |
|---|---|---|
| December 2008 | 49 | 40 |
| January 2009 | 75 | 54 |
| February 2009 | 74 | 63 |
| March 2009 | 92 | 56 |
| April 2009 | 33 | 22 |
| May 2009 | 70 | 49 |
| June 2009 | 68 | 36 |
| July 2009 | 100 | 62 |
| August 2009 | 0 | 0 |
| September 2009 | 59 | 31 |

| | Number of named day questions for answer | Number of questions answered substantively on the named day |
|---|---|---|
| October 2009 | 81 | 47 |
| November 2009 | 45 | 31 |
| Total | 750 | 482 |

Central guidance on answering parliamentary questions is now available in the "Guide to Parliamentary Work", at

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/parliamentary-clerk-guide.aspx

In the response to the Procedure Committee report on written parliamentary questions, the Government accepted the Committee's recommendation that Departments be required to provide the Procedure Committee with sessional statistics in a standard format on the time taken to respond to written parliamentary questions, accompanied by an explanatory memorandum setting out any factors affecting their performance. This will be taken forward as soon as possible.

Foster Care: Finance

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what his most recent estimate is of the cost of an intensive fostering placement. [305320]

Maria Eagle: The estimated cost for intensive fostering for the financial year 2009-10 will vary with the geographical area in which the provider is located, with some areas having larger overheads, including foster carer payments, transport, salaries and premise costs than another area. The costs currently range between £2,220 to £2,385 per week per placement.

Fuel Poverty

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice with reference to the answer of 10 November 2009, Official Report, columns 295-96W, on fuel poverty, when he expects figures on fuel poverty in (a) Yorkshire and the Humber and (b) England to be available for (i) 2008 and (ii) 2009. [305197]

Mr. Kidney: I have been asked to reply.

Figures on fuel poverty in Yorkshire and the Humber, and for all Government office regions within England, are published at the same time as headline levels for England. 2008 data will be published during 2010, and figures for 2009 will be available a year later. We will be announcing publication dates of the 2008 and 2009 figures early in the new year (2010) at the following link:

http://www.decc.gov.uk/en/content/cms/statistics/publications/publications.aspx

Health Services: Channel Islands

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what consultation his Department conducted with (a) British Chambers of Commerce, (b) trade unions, (c) the Federation of Small Businesses, (d) the Confederation of British Industry and (e) other organisations with interests in industry, trade, or commerce prior to the decision to cancel the reciprocal agreement between the National Health Service and the Isle of Man with effect from 1 April 2010; and if he will make a statement. [306506]

Mr. Wills: No such discussions took place. The Department of Health ended the bilateral agreement with the Channel Islands (including Jersey and Guernsey) and gave notice on the agreement with the Isle of Man, as it considers that they are out of place considering the wide availability of travel insurance, and there is little robust data to justify the business case and value for money for the national health service.

Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the latest estimate is of the annual cost of the Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority. [302616]

Mr. Straw: I refer my hon. Friend to my reply to the hon. Member for Blaenau Gwent (Mr. Davies) on 10 December 2009, Official Report, column 622W.

Legal Aid: Hazel Grove

Andrew Stunell: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many applications for legal aid were (a) received from and (b) granted to residents of (i) Hazel Grove constituency and (ii) each local authority in the north-west in each of the last five years. [304691]

Bridget Prentice: Applications for civil legal aid help and advice are made to individual providers. Existing data collection arrangements record the number of instances of advice provided, rather than the number of applications made.

Applications for civil legal aid representation are submitted to the Legal Services Commission (LSC). The LSC collects data on the number of civil legal aid representation applications submitted to providers located within (i) Hazel Grove constituency and (ii) each local authority in the north-west and this is broken down for each of the past five financial years (see Table 1). A proportion of these applications will come from individuals resident outside (i) Hazel Grove constituency and (ii) local authority areas in the north-west.

Data on applications for criminal legal aid are not recorded in the same way as applications for civil legal aid representation. Instead, they rely on a separate 'online' application process. This does not allow applications for criminal legal aid to be identified on the basis of postcode information. Therefore, it is not possible to provide details of criminal legal aid applications submitted from residents in the Hazel Grove constituency area, nor from those residents in each local authority area in the north-west.

However, following the introduction of means testing in October 2006, the Legal Services Commission can identify the number of criminal legal aid applications submitted to the neighbouring Stockport magistrates court (see Table 2). These applications will include those submitted from defendants charged with an indictable only offence and facing trial before Manchester Minshull street Crown court. A proportion of these applications will have come from individuals resident in the Hazel Grove constituency area.

Table 2 also provides the total number of applications submitted to all 42 magistrates courts covered by the north-west region of Her Majesty's Courts Service (HMCS). An analysis of these data by individual court could be provided only at disproportionate cost. As with the data for Stockport magistrates court, the applications will include a proportion from individuals who are resident outside the north-west region.

Police: Databases

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice which penalty notices for disorder will be recorded on the PentiP computer system. [305220]

Mr. Hanson: I have been asked to reply.

All penalty notices for disorder issued by police forces in England and Wales will be recorded on the PentiP computer system.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice which penalty notices for disorder are recorded on the Police National Computer. [305221]

Mr. Hanson: I have been asked to reply.

All penalty notices for disorder issued for 'recordable offences' are recorded on the Police National Computer. The list of 'recordable offences' is defined by the National Police Records (Recordable Offences) Regulations.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what estimate he has made of the annual running costs of the new PentiP computer system in each of the next three years. [305222]

Mr. Hanson: I have been asked to reply.

The National Policing Improvement Agency has contracted Northgate Public Services to run PentiP as a managed service for an initial period of seven years. The annual charge for providing the managed service to 44 police forces and their associated courts in England and Wales (including British Transport Police) is as follows:

| Service management year | Annual charge (£) |
|---|---|
| Year 1 | 1,919,643 |
| Year 2 | 1,454,262 |
| Year 3 | 1,362,306 |
| Year 4 | 1,300,510 |
| Year 5 | 1,300,510 |
| Year 6 | 1,300,510 |
| Year 7 | 1,300,510 |
| Total over seven years | 9,897,331 |

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what estimate he has made of the cost to the public purse of (a) developing and (b) implementing the new PentiP computer system. [305223]

Mr. Hanson: I have been asked to reply.

The PentiP computer system is being delivered by the National Policing Improvement Agency as part of a business continuity project. The full project costs of developing and implementing the PentiP computer system and related business processes across 44 police forces and their associated courts in England and Wales (including British Transport Police) is £17.3 million, which is lower than the £19.3 million original cost estimate. As the development and implementation activities are so interlinked, it is not possible to separate the costs into (a) development and (b) implementation.

Prisoners

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether prisoners allowed out of prison on resettlement overnight release licences are included in his Department's prison population figures. [305784]

Maria Eagle: Prisoners who have been released on an overnight temporary release licence are included in prison population figures.

These prisoners are required to return to prison after their temporary release has concluded and therefore continue to form part of the overall population for which a prison place is required.

Prisoners Release

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) how many convicted foreign national prisoners were released from prison in England and Wales in each of the last five years; [306682]

(2) how many foreign national prisoners convicted of each offence have been released from prison since 1 January 2009. [306683]

Maria Eagle: The number of foreign national prisoners (FNPs) discharged from prisons in England and Wales in the last five years following the completion of a determinate sentence is shown in the table.

| | Number of discharges |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 7,100 |
| 2005 | 7,400 |
| 2006 | 7,700 |
| 2007 | 8,100 |
| 2008 | 9,500 |

Note:
These figures have been rounded to nearest 100.

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Data for 2009 are not yet available.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many foreign national prisoners were discharged from a sentence of imprisonment in (a) 2008 and (b) each month in 2009 for which figures are available. [303833]

Mr. Straw: The number of discharges of foreign national prisoners from completed determinate sentences in 2008 was 9,500. This figure has been rounded to the nearest 100.

Data for 2009 are not yet available.

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Prisoners: Children in Care

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what estimate he has made of the number of people serving custodial sentences who were formerly children in care. [305621]

Maria Eagle: Information on the number of prisoners serving custodial sentences in England and Wales who were formerly in care is not held centrally.

However, a Social Exclusion Unit report 'Reducing re-offending by ex-Prisoners' published in 2002 reported that 27 per cent. of the prison population had been taken into care as a child against an average across the general population of 2 per cent.

Prisoners: Collective Worship

Mr. Burrowes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice in how many prisons all (a) Anglican, (b) Roman Catholic and (c) Free Church or Methodist prisoners were able to attend weekly worship in the last quarter for which figures are available; and in which prisons prisoners of each affiliation were not all able to attend weekly worship in that period. [306363]

Maria Eagle: Information on this is not collected or collated by prisons. The information could be obtained only at disproportionate cost as it would need to be collated from 135 prisons. All prisons provide appropriate acts of worship for prisoners from the Anglican, Roman Catholic and Free Church/Methodist traditions each week, other than in exceptional circumstances. On the authority of the governor, prisoners may be excluded from attending worship on an individual basis for a period not exceeding one month, and renewable thereafter, on certain specified grounds relating to security, good order and control.

Probation

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what his most recent estimate is of the level of underspend by probation areas in Wales in 2009-10. [306503]

Maria Eagle: Probation trusts and areas in Wales are forecast to be on-budget for 2009-10.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what mechanism exists for probation trusts and probation areas in Wales to be reimbursed for the cost to them of (a) changes in the number of staff they employ and (b) redundancy payments in the period to April 2010. [306504]

Maria Eagle: All probation areas/trusts in Wales have identified efficiency savings in their budgets. It is anticipated that any staff reorganisation or redundancies that may arise before April 2010 will be met from this money.

Probation Officers

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what plans he has for the harmonisation of the conditions of service of probation service staff in the event of the establishment of an all-Wales probation trust. [306475]

Maria Eagle: Job evaluation exercises previously carried out within probation should minimise the number of harmonisation issues. These issues would be dealt with if the trust application process is successful and once the trust becomes a legal body, as there is no power to do so before the trust is legally established. The harmonisation activities would be undertaken in a phased approach after 1 April 2010.

Probation: Finance

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how the additional £1.6 million funding awarded to the Probation Service in Wales in 2010-11 is to be allocated. [306505]

Maria Eagle: The Director of Offender Management in Wales (DOM) is responsible for allocating the additional funding. This will be used as part of the DOM's commissioning responsibility to deliver offender services in Wales.

Currently commissioning priorities are being considered and discussed with the probation service. These include increasing offender services around community resettlement, alternatives to short custodial sentences and increasing provision to support women offenders. The outcome of those discussions will help determine the range of offender services to be delivered through probation. Discussions have also included how the delivery of such additional services could provide jobs for trainee probation officers.

Road Traffic Act

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what percentage of road traffic cases which proceeded to trial did so under section 172 of the Road Traffic Act in each of the last five years. [305444]

Maria Eagle: The number of proceedings at magistrates courts for offences under section 172 of the Road Traffic Act 1988 as a percentage of all motoring offences proceeded against at magistrates courts, England and Wales 2006 and 2007 (latest available) is shown in the following table.

Prior to 2006 data under section 172 were recorded within 'other miscellaneous motoring offences' and cannot be separately identified.

Data for 2008 are planned for publication on 28 January 2010.

The number of proceedings at magistrates courts for offences under section 172 of the Road Traffic Act 1988, and the percentage these are of all court proceedings for motoring offences, England and Wales, 2006 and 2007[1] [2]

| | Number of offences | |
|---|---|---|
| Offence description | 2006 | 2007 |
| Section 172 of the Road Traffic Act 1988: Keeper of vehicle or person other than keeper of vehicle failing to supply information as to driver's identity as required by or on behalf of Chief Officer of Police. | 19,172 | [3]28,929 |
| Total motoring offences proceeded against at magistrates courts. | 1,719,888 | 1,420,563 |

[1] It is known that for some police force areas, the reporting of court proceedings, in particular those relating to summary motoring offences, may be less than complete.

[2] Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are use.

[3] The penalty for this offence was raised to six points by the Road Safety Act 2006 which was implemented in 2007. The increase in the number of proceedings is likely due to offenders refusing a fixed penalty and opting for trial.

Young Offenders

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) how many of those under the age of 18 years who were convicted of offences related to shoplifting have been (a) directed to take up training courses as part of their sentence and (b) exclusively directed to take up training courses in each year since 2004; [305324]

(2) how many of those under the age of 18 years old have been (a) directed to take up training courses as part of their sentence and (b) exclusively directed to take up training courses in each year since 2004. [305325]

Maria Eagle: Data are not available centrally on specific numbers of under-18s directed to do training as part of their sentence. Shoplifting is categorised as a separate offence and this and other sentencing data are published by the Ministry of Justice annually:

www.justice.gov.uk/publications/criminalannual.htm

Young offenders aged under 18 years may be directed to undertake a range of reparative and rehabilitative programmes as part of their sentences. In addition a young offender can be required to attend a specified place of education as part of a sentence for example if given a youth rehabilitation order with an education requirement.

Through the national youth justice indicators the Youth Justice Board require that young offending teams work to encourage the participation of young offenders in education, training or employment by the end of their sentence. This indicator is also part of the local authority national indicator set. Figures for 2007-08 showed that 71.1 per cent. of young offenders were engaged by the end of their sentence.

For information, the full trends since 2004-05 are provided as follows:

| | Percentage |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 74.2 |
| 2005-06 | 75.1 |
| 2006-07 | 68.7 |
| 2007-08 | 71.1 |

All young people in youth custody are expected to participate in education and training and this forms a central element of custodial regimes. Custody often provides a unique opportunity to engage young people in learning and for young people to develop their skills. The sentence planning process in custody includes planning education and training in accordance with the young person's needs.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Afghanistan

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what his Department's policy is on decompression periods for staff working in Afghanistan. [305779]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Most home civil service staff working in Afghanistan spend six weeks in country and two weeks out of the country. Alternatively, staff may work three weeks in country and spend one week out of the country provided the cost is no greater.

At the end of their assignment staff must take a minimum of a four-week annual leave break after a one-year posting, five weeks after an 18-month posting, and six weeks after a two-year posting.

Afghanistan: Poverty

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what assessment he has made of the effects on levels of poverty in Helmand province of his Department's activities in that area in the last 12 months; and what mechanisms are used to measure that effect. [306649]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The most recent data relating to poverty in Afghanistan were collected in 2007-08 as part of the National Risk and Vulnerability Assessment (NRVA). Analysis of NRVA data relating to Helmand will be published in early 2010. Data relating to changes in poverty in Helmand over the last 12 months are currently being collected and will be available in due course.

The Department for International Development (DFID) measures the effects of all its programmes through routine monitoring and evaluation.

Bonn Declaration

Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much funding his Department has allocated under each budget heading for the purposes of meeting its obligations under the Bonn Declaration in each year from 2001 to 2008. [306700]

Mr. Thomas: The 2001 Bonn Declaration committed signatories to providing $410 million per year, from 2005-08, for developing countries to respond to climate change. The European Community was one of these signatories and the UK Government agreed to contribute approximately £30 million ($61.467 million) per year. The following table provides the amount spent through each budget heading, which has exceed that original commitment.

|---|---|---|---|
| Special Climate Change Fund | 3.3 | 3.3 | 3.8 |
| Clean Energy Investment Framework | 0.43 | 1.3 | 0.36 |
| Global Environment Facility (climate focal area) | 10.4 | 10.4 | 11.66 |
| Bilateral (including research) | 9.27 | 18.35 | 26.18 |
| Least Developed Countries Fund | | | 3.5 |
| Other Government Department spending | 6.63 | 7.4 | 7.4 |
| Total | 30.03 | 40.75 | 52.9 |

The Department for International Development (DFID) contributed through the Special Climate Change Fund, the Clean Energy Investment Framework, the Global Environment Facility, the Least Developed Countries Fund and through Bilateral aid.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Politics and Government

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what plans his Department has to assist with the holding of local elections in the Democratic Republic of Congo in 2010. [306514]

Mr. Thomas: Successful completion of the next electoral cycle in the Democratic Republic of Congo will be vital for the continued economic development and stabilisation of the country. The Department for International Development (DFID) has committed more than £27 million in support of local elections.

DFID support has helped to build the capacity of the Independent Electoral Commission and finance preparations for local elections. This includes revision of the electoral roll and voter registration, both of which will also be used in preparation for the presidential ballot.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much his Department spent on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in his Department's buildings in the last 12 months. [305681]

Mr. Michael Foster: No funds have been spent by the Department for International Development (DFID) on works or refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in our buildings in the last 12 months.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development which conferences held overseas have been attended by civil servants based in his Department in the last three years; and what the cost to the public purse was of such attendance at each conference. [305862]

Mr. Michael Foster: The information requested is not held centrally and could not be provided without incurring disproportionate cost.

Travel by civil servants is undertaken in accordance with the Civil Service Management Code.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Hands: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many plasma screen televisions his Department has purchased since 2001; and what the cost has been of purchasing and installing such screens in each such year. [306069]

Mr. Michael Foster: This information is not held centrally and would incur disproportionate costs to collate.

Departmental Freedom of Information

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many requests under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 his Department received in 2008; and how many of these received a substantive response within 20 days. [305492]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Ministry of Justice publishes annual statistics on freedom of information requests received by central Government Departments on its website. The annual report for 2008 can be found at:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/docs/freedom-of-information-annual-report-2008.pdf

Departmental Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what redesigns of websites operated by his Department have taken place since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306159]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development's (DFID's) website has been redeveloped to allow greater scope for engagement with the UK and overseas public. The redeveloped site allows DFID to give far more detail of projects and programmes than before and is easier for the web visitor to navigate and search.

The work was undertaken in three phases:

September 2008—a short term refresh to the homepage design.

December 2008—next step in the graphical design of the website including more multimedia content.

April 2009—completion of web redevelopment and design with introduction of a content management system.

The costs were £970,419, which include design, build, testing, hosting, licensing and management.

Departmental Lost Property

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many (a) laptop computers, (b) desktop computers and (c) memory sticks his Department has recorded as having been (i) lost and (ii) stolen from its offices in Scotland in each of the last 10 years. [306694]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: There has been no loss or theft of (a) laptop computers, (b) desktop computers or (c) memory sticks from the Department for International Development's office in Scotland between financial years 2002-03 and 2008-09. Records of loss and theft are held for a seven-year period and are therefore not available for years before 2002-03.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much his Department spent on (a) alcohol and (b) entertainment in the last 12 months. [305535]

Mr. Michael Foster: It is not possible to provide expenditure figures for hospitality and entertainment without incurring disproportionate costs. All entertainment and hospitality is made in accordance with published departmental guidance on financial procedures and propriety, based on the principles of Managing Public Money and the Treasury Handbook on Regularity, Propriety and Value for Money.

Departmental Publicity

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much his Department has spent on (a) Ministerial photoshoots and (b) production of videos in which Ministers appear in the last three years for which figures are available. [305520]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development (DFID) does not have a central budget for photography or the production of videos. It is not possible to collate information from country office and departmental budgets without incurring disproportionate costs.

Departmental Training

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many overseas training courses were attended by his Department's civil servants in the latest period for which figures are available; how many civil servants attended each course; and what the total cost to the public purse was of each course. [305906]

Mr. Michael Foster: It is not possible to provide information of all training courses attended by civil servants or the amount spent by the Department for International Development (DFID) on overseas training courses without incurring disproportionate costs. Sub-departments and overseas offices within DFID are responsible for arranging and financing staff training. Information on the amount spent on training courses is not held centrally.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much his Department spent on hotel accommodation for (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) civil servants in each of the last five years. [305659]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The information requested is not held centrally and could not be provided without incurring disproportionate cost.

Travel by Ministers, special advisers and civil servants is undertaken in accordance with the Ministerial Code and the Civil Service Management Code respectively, and all spending on official entertainment is made in accordance with the principles set out in Managing Public Money.

I refer the hon. Member to the Cabinet Office annual list of overseas travel over £500 undertaken by Ministers. The 2008-09 list was published on 16 July 2009 and can be viewed at:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/propriety_and_ethics/ministers/travel_gifts.asp

Public Appointments: Females

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development pursuant to the answer of 1 December 2009, Official Report, column 607W, what steps his Department is taking with other countries to ensure well-qualified women candidates are appointed to senior posts in (a) CEDAW and (b) the UN Agency for Women. [307089]

Mr. Michael Foster: The UK is committed to promoting open, transparent and merit-based appointment processes for UN leadership positions. The purpose of this is to ensure that the best people are appointed to important roles such as the head of the new UN agency for women.

For elections, such as for the Convention on the Elimination of all forms of Discrimination Against Women's Committee (CEDAW), our policy is always to support the best-qualified candidates.

The Department for International Development works with national women's ministries in a number of developing countries to strengthen their capacity on gender equality and their engagement in international institutions working on gender.

Rwanda: Armed Conflict

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what steps he has taken (a) in the UK and (b) in the Council of Ministers in respect of (i) leaders and (ii) members of the Democratic Liberation Forces of Rwanda based in European countries; and if he will make a statement. [303706]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: I have been asked to reply.

We have been working closely with the EU Special Representative for the Great Lakes, to encourage a coordinated EU approach to the Europe-based leadership of the Democratic Forces for the Liberation of Rwanda (FDLR). We have also worked in the UN Security Council to impose sanctions on some of these individuals under UN Security Council Resolution (UNSCR) 1807. There are currently no indications of the presence in the UK of any of the leading members of the FDLR.

The UK is committed to enforcing the UN sanctions regime on the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC). We will not hesitate to support sanctions against any person or company providing support to armed groups in the region where there is sufficient evidence to do so.

We have been in touch with the Group of Experts, established by UNSCR 1807, throughout the process of producing their report, and have offered as much assistance as possible to aid in its enquiries. The UK has also shared information on the activities of militia groups, such as the FDLR, as requested by the Group of Experts and we will continue to do so. We continue to work with our European partners to disrupt lines of communication between the FDLR in DRC and FDLR support networks, for example, closing relevant websites.

Slavery: Developing Countries

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what steps his Department is taking to counter modern slavery in developing countries. [305733]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development (DFID) supports long-term programmes to help tackle poverty and social exclusion, which are some of the underlying causes of slavery and forced labour.

DFID has contributed £19.85 million to the work of the International Labour Organisation (ILO) to tackle forced labour issues.

DFID is also currently supporting two Anti-Slavery International (ASI) projects that address modern day slavery. In West Africa (Niger, Mali, Chad and Mauritania) DFID is providing £447,870 to support a five-year project that is addressing Descent Based Slavery. Over a five-year period (April 2008 to March 2013) DFID is also providing £1,435,049 to ASI to support its work in Tanzania, India, the Philippines, Togo, Peru and Costa Rica in tackling slavery and child labour.

Sudan

Lindsay Roy: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what his most recent assessment is of the humanitarian situation in Darfur province in Sudan. [306822]

Mr. Thomas: We receive regular joint assessment reports prepared by the United Nations and Government agencies. The most recent (October 2009) indicated that humanitarian indicators across Darfur were stable, although concerns were raised about the likely impact of a poor harvest. We remain deeply concerned at both the quantity and quality of humanitarian assistance in Darfur which have still not fully recovered following the expulsion and closure of NGOs by the Sudanese Government in March 2009. The continued insecurity in the region exacerbates this problem.

A secure Darfur in which humanitarian assistance can reach those who need it remains a key objective for the UK. We regularly engage with the Government of Sudan on this issue both bilaterally and through the High Level Committee. UK officials again emphasised the importance of the Government of Sudan taking action to tackle impunity at a high level meeting in Geneva on 30 November attended by the UN, donor countries and the Government of Sudan. We continue to raise these issues in meetings in Khartoum with senior members of the Sudanese Government.

United Nations: Females

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development pursuant to the answer of 1 December 2009, Official Report, column 607W, for what reason his Department has no plans to promote a UK candidate for either appointment. [307082]

Mr. Michael Foster: The United Nations (UN) has recently agreed to the creation of two new senior leadership posts on gender in the UN. General Assembly Resolution 63/311 creates a new Under-Secretary General post to head a new UN Gender Entity. Security Council Resolution 1888 creates a post of Special Representative Against Sexual Violence in Conflict at Assistant Secretary-General level. The UK supported the establishment of both of these posts. Appointments will be made by the UN Secretary-General. The UK is committed to the promotion of open, transparent, merit-based appointment processes by the UN, which encourage the best candidates to come forward.

The UK strongly supports the creation of a new UN gender agency, on which there will be further negotiations during the current session of the General Assembly. Our priority is to bring negotiations on the establishment of the entity to a successful and speedy resolution.

DEFENCE

Afghanistan and Iraq: Peacekeeping Operations

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Army Land Rovers are operational in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan. [302829]

Bill Rammell: There are currently no Army Land Rovers in Iraq. I am withholding information about Army Land Rovers in Afghanistan as its disclosure would, or would be likely to prejudice the capability, effectiveness or security of the armed forces.

Afghanistan: Armed Forces

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what mechanisms are in place to assess progress in the training of the Afghan military and police force. [303138]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The progress of the Afghan National Security Forces is regularly assessed by the ISAF forces mentoring and partnering them against the ISAF Capability Milestone criteria.

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many districts of Afghanistan are under the complete control of Afghan forces. [303911]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Afghan National Security Forces have taken on the lead for providing security in Kabul, a process which began in August 2008.

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the proportion of recruits to (a) the Afghan national army and (b) the Afghan police force who are illiterate. [303931]

Bill Rammell: The literacy rates for both the Afghan national army and Afghan national police currently estimated to stand at 93 per cent. for officers, 30 per cent. for non-commissioned officers and 11 per cent. for enlisted soldiers.

ISAF are working to address the low literacy levels with the Afghan Government. This has included letting two contracts to help with the education of recruits to the Afghan national army and Afghan national police.

UK forces in Helmand work to improve the basic literacy and numeracy of members of the Afghan national army and Afghan national police by means of train-the-trainer programmes run by the Adjutant General Corps Education & Training Service and the Ministry of Defence police respectively.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the Prime Minister's Statement of 30 November 2009, Official Report, columns 831-54, on Afghanistan and Pakistan, (1) how many of the extra 10,000 Afghan army troops will be deployed in Helmand province for (a) training and (b) offensive and manoeuvre operations; [304324]

(2) whether it is planned that the extra 10,000 Afghan army troops will be permanently based in Helmand province after their training is completed. [304325]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Helmand province is a key priority for ISAF. We continue to encourage the deployment of additional Afghan forces to Helmand; however, this is ultimately a decision for the Government of Afghanistan.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what his most recent assessment is of the strength and capabilities of the (a) Afghan National Army and (b) Afghan National Police. [304365]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The total number of Afghan National Army (ANA) currently stands at approximately 96,000. The ANA has developed well as a fighting force over the last few years and is becoming increasingly capable of participating in operations with ISAF forces as is shown by the role they recently played in contributing to Operation Panther's Claw this summer.

The total number of Afghan National Police (ANP) currently stands at approximately 94,000. Although the ANP capacity has improved through US and EU led programmes, their capability varies across the forces and continues to suffer from major problems including low levels of literacy ~~and~~ high levels of corruption.

Both ANA and ANP played a key role in leading the security for the Afghan presidential election this summer.

We will continue to work closely with the Government of Afghanistan and the international community to build the capacity of the ANA and ANP.

Afghanistan: Detainees

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) how many of those held in detention in Afghanistan had been captured by British armed forces in each year since 2001; and if he will make a statement; [301432]

(2) how many people were held in detention by British armed forces in Afghanistan in each month since 2001; [301433]

(3) how many of those held in detention by British armed forces in Afghanistan (a) have been handed over to US forces, (b) have been handed over to Afghan security forces, (c) have been released and (d) remain in British custody; and if he will make a statement. [301435]

Bill Rammell: Between July 2006 and 31 October 2009 UK forces detained 739 people. The UK does not transfer detainees to other ISAF nations unless it is required by our Memoranda of Understanding with the Denmark or the Czech Republic, where we hand detainees taken by Danish or Czech forces back to them for transfer to Afghan authorities or release. As of 31 October 2009, the UK held 10 people in detention. We hold capture details relating to a total of a further seven individuals detained by UK forces between 2001 and June 2006.

Afghanistan: Peacekeeping Operations

Willie Rennie: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the maximum cash allowance awarded to (a) military and (b) civilian staff in Afghanistan will be for 2010. [300675]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Significant differences in the terms and conditions of employment for military personnel and their civilian colleagues within the MOD make direct comparisons between the two very difficult. Moreover, it is difficult to predict allowances for the whole of 2010, since they are not subject to an annual increase but rather the result of periodic review.

The maximum monthly allowance for a MOD civilian in Afghanistan is £7,750. The quoted figure is before tax and is based on the most senior individual working in Helmand Province, undertaking a working week in excess of 82 hours. Allowances paid to civil servants reflect the significant additional hours worked above and beyond their contracted working week and the unique conditions experienced in theatre. They vary considerably and are dependent on an individual's grade, location and working week. Should the conditions in theatre remain as they are currently, then the quoted figure will remain unchanged in 2010.

It is harder to be precise about the level of military allowances. Service pay and conditions are completely different to those of their civilian counterparts and the precise sum of the whole package that military personnel receive, including the tax-free operational allowances, will depend on their rank, personal circumstances and experience. The military package, which includes an X-factor for all schooling allowances and housing for the eligible, is designed to take account of the unique nature of military life. Full details of the Service Pay and Allowance Package are available on the Armed Forces Benefits Calculator internet site available at the following link:

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what steps he plans to take to (a) increase force readiness levels and (b) maintain the present level of UK commitment to the war in Afghanistan. [303148]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Current operations in Afghanistan remain the main effort for our armed forces and the Ministry of Defence. We are committed to an enduring force level of 9,500 as announced by the Prime Minister on 30 November 2009, Official Report, column 832-36.

We acknowledge the pressure these operations place on our contingent capability. As I said to the House of Commons Defence Committee on 24 November 2009, readiness levels have improved this year and we are committed to continuous improvement to the UK's contingent capacity, focusing on those contingency tasks most likely to arise.

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what recent discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on potential EU military contributions to the campaign in Afghanistan. [303885]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: I have had numerous bilateral discussions with our European allies on their national contributions to the NATO-led campaign in Afghanistan, though not in the context of a specific EU military contribution.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library the latest copy of Unclassified Metrics by the Strategic Advisory Group HQ ISAF. [304354]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Metrics being developed for General McChrystal currently remain an internal, classified ISAF document. Should an unclassified version be produced we will, in consultation with NATO, consider placing it in the Library of the House.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many incidents of theft of British military supplies during transit from the port of debarkation in Pakistan to the final destination in Afghanistan have been reported since 2 February 2009. [304363]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Between 2 February 2009 and 5 December 2009 no incidents of theft of British military supplies transiting from the port of disembarkation in Pakistan to Afghanistan have been reported.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many insurgents have been captured by British forces in each month in 2009 to date; and how many of them (a) were subsequently released, (b) were transferred to Afghan authorities and (c) remain in British custody. [304367]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave today to the hon. Member for Leominster (Bill Wiggin).

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many contacts between British forces and the Taliban have occurred in each month of 2009. [305021]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The numbers of troops in contact events (regardless of the instigator) involving the International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) and insurgents in Helmand province as part of Task Force Helmand for each complete month from January 2009 for which verified data are available are shown in the following table.

| | Number of contacts[1] |
|---|---|
| 2009 | |
| January | 180 |
| February | 180 |
| March | 250 |
| April | 150 |
| May | 210 |
| June | 420 |
| July | 410 |
| August | 400 |
| September | 410 |
| October | 340 |

[1] Rounded to the nearest 10.

ISAF forces operating in Helmand come from a number of different nations, which often operate closely alongside each other and alongside Afghan Army and police units. Without undertaking a detailed assessment of each engagement, it is not possible to define precisely in every case whether an attack was aimed at UK forces, at our ISAF partners, or against Afghan units. Data are therefore collected on the number of incidents involving ISAF forces in Helmand without attempting to identify the nationality of the forces actually being attacked. The environment in which forces are operating makes it extremely difficult to distinguish between incidents initiated by insurgent forces and those initiated by ISAF.

These data are based on information derived from a number of sources and can be an estimate only, not least because of the difficulties in ensuring a consistent interpretation of the basis for collating statistics in a complex fast-moving multinational operational environment.

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many times the readiness levels for the 500 extra troops to be sent to Afghanistan have changed since 14 October 2009; and what the levels were in each case. [305022]

Bill Rammell: Following the Prime Minister's announcement to the House on 14 October 2009, Official Report, column 302, that UK troop numbers in Afghanistan would be increased by 500, subject to certain conditions being met, 1 Royal Welsh were placed on 14 days notice to move. 1 Royal Welsh's readiness remained unchanged until the Prime Minister's confirmation to the House on 30 November 2009, Official Report, column 834, that this deployment would go ahead.

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence to which UK location the Camp Bastion War Memorial will be returned following the cessation of hostilities. [306478]

Mr. Kevan Jones: At an appropriate time at the end of operations in Afghanistan, we will consider the future location of the Camp Bastion War Memorial.

Armed Forces: Deployment

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what treaty obligations the UK has to provide military forces overseas. [304451]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: I have been asked to reply.

There are over 400 treaties concluded since 1945 of possible relevance to the hon. Member's question. Of these, there are four multilateral treaties which stand out in terms of their importance: the North Atlantic treaty 1949; the treaty on the European Union as amended by the Lisbon Treaty 2007; the treaty of economic, social and cultural collaboration and collective self-defence 1948 as amended by the Paris Agreements of 23 October 1954 on the Western European Union; and the Charter of the United Nations 1945. Before the UK were to provide military forces overseas by virtue of relevant provisions in any of these treaties, it would be necessary for a separate decision to be taken by the Government to commit UK armed forces for deployment abroad.

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what percentage of personnel in each (a) service and (b) corps of the Army are in breach of their harmony guidelines on (i) tour intervals and (ii) individual separated service. [305020]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Each service operates different harmony guidelines. Royal Navy personnel should not exceed 660 days deployed in 36 months, the Army 415 days in 30 months, and the RAF 280 days detached in 24 months. Against these criteria our most recent information is that <1 per cent. of the Royal Navy, 10.3 per cent. of the Army and 5 per cent. of RAF personnel are operating above harmony guidelines.

The information on tour intervals and corps of the Army is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Armed Forces: Health

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many personnel in each armed service were classified as (a) unfit for duty, (b) fit for limited deployability for medical reasons and (c) overweight at the latest date for which information is available. [303124]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The MOD is currently in the process of modifying the criteria against which it collates management information on the medical fitness of Service personnel. Whereas previously we have measured the medical "fitness for task" of Service personnel, we are now moving to a process of measuring the numbers who are medically "fully deployable", "limited deployable" and "non-deployable". This should help us to focus our efforts on maximising the numbers available to deploy on operations.

The single Services and DASA have been working on the collection and validation of figures recorded against the new criteria, using data obtained from the Joint Personnel Administration (JPA) system. The aim is to provide reliable, validated data by spring 2010.

A new Armed Forces Weight Management Policy came into force on 1 October 2009, which provides policy for the measurement of body composition and the management of Service personnel who demonstrate increased risk of ill health and inadequate physical fitness owing to their weight. The policy requires each Service to provide annual body composition measurement (BCM) for all personnel, in order to identify an individual's level of health risk and encourage maintenance of a healthy body weight.

Each of the single Services is implementing the policy. The Naval Service Fitness Information Software System (FISS) is currently undergoing user testing and will go live during January 2010, with the first full reporting period being completed 12 months later.

The Army FISS began on 1 April 2009, but roll-out is still in progress and data for a full annual reporting period are not yet available.

The RAF FISS began on 1 October 2007. However, the provision of the data by individuals is voluntary, and prior to the introduction of the revised policy on 1 October 2009 around half of RAF personnel had chosen not to do so. We are therefore unable to supply comprehensive data until a full annual reporting period completes in October 2010.

Armed Forces: Health Services

Willie Rennie: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the number of veterans resident in (a) Scotland, (b) England, (c) Wales and (d) Northern Ireland who have a health condition related to their service. [304779]

Mr. Kevan Jones [holding answer 7 December 2009]: The information is not held centrally or in the format requested.

It is only possible to identify veterans who have a health condition related to their service if they have made a claim and received an award under the relevant compensation scheme. The War Pensions Scheme (WPS) provides no-fault compensation for all ex-service personnel where illness, injury or death is caused by service before 6 April 2005. The Armed Forces and Reserve Forces Compensation Scheme (AFCS) which came into force on 6 April 2005, provides no-fault compensation for injury, illness or death caused by service on or after that date.

The following tables provide details of those veterans living in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland who were receiving a pension, compensation or both between 2003 and 2009 for a health condition related to their service. The data provided here differ from earlier responses as the level of detail supplied is only available from 2003 onwards.

[1] Represents a value of fewer than five.

Notes:

1. Figures have been rounded to the nearest five
2. Due to rounding, totals may not equal the sum of their parts.
3. May include personnel who have returned to service.

The 'Great Britain' category refers to individuals that have been identified as residing within Great Britain, but due to invalid address data, cannot be allocated to a particular country.

Due to the time period given and the age profile of the recipients, it is possible that some may have died.

Armed Forces: Manpower

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) trained requirement, (b) trained strength and (c) fit for duty strength is of each service in the armed forces. [305017]

Bill Rammell: The latest trained requirement and strength of each service is provided in the following table.

|  | Trained requirement | Trained strength | Percentage requirement |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 October 2009 |  |  |  |
| Royal Navy | 35,660 | 34,980 | 98.1 |
| Army | 101,980 | 100,450 | 98.5 |
| RAF | 40,860 | 39,460 | 96.6 |

The MOD is currently in the process of modifying the criteria against which it collates management information on the medical fitness of service personnel. Whereas previously we have measured the medical "fitness for task" of service personnel, we are now moving to a process of measuring the numbers who are medically "fully deployable", "limited deployable" and "non-deployable". This will help us to focus our efforts on maximising the numbers available to deploy on operations.

We have been working on the collection and validation of figures recorded against the new criteria, using data obtained from the Joint Personnel Administration (JPA) system. The aim is to provide reliable, validated data by spring 2010.

Armed Forces: Mental Health Services

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many soldiers prescribed medication for psychological problems following active service have been posted back to active service in Iraq. [306955]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Specific details of the number of personnel prescribed medication for mental health disorders as a result of active service and who have returned to operational duties are not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. However, the individual medical records of members of the armed forces are examined by medical staff prior to deployment and the armed forces use a medical grading system which considers both mental and physical health. Both of these factors mean that personnel are not sent on operational deployment if their medical history gives any significant cause for concern.

Armed Forces: Northern Ireland

Sammy Wilson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much it has cost his Department to maintain the Army in Northern Ireland in each year since 1979. [305411]

Bill Rammell: Information is not held back to 1979. It is possible to provide data from the point at which General Officer Commanding Northern Ireland was allocated his own budget to manage. Changes in MOD accounting methodologies over time make year on year comparisons difficult.

The figures in the first table are the cash outturn for the General Officer Commanding Northern Ireland Top Level Budget which was first created in 1991-92.

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 1991-92 | 355 |
| 1992-93 | 436 |
| 1993-94 | 489 |
| 1994-95 | 510 |
| 1995-96 | 475 |
| 1996-97 | 494 |
| 1997-98 | 508 |
| 1998-99 | 509 |
| 1999-2000 | 528 |
| 2000-01 | 535 |

The second table shows outturn figures for the same Top Level Budget for financial years 2001-02 to 2005-06. In 2001-02 resource accounting was introduced in the MOD. The practice of the time was to include cost of capital charges and depreciation in the final outturn figures for Top Level Budgets.

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2001-02 | 614 |
| 2002-03 | 718 |
| 2003-04 | 653 |
| 2004-05 | 626 |
| 2005-06 | 580 |

In 2006-07 cost of capital and depreciation charges were removed from Top Level Budget accounts. The following figures therefore reflect cash outturn only.

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 309 |
| 2007-08 | 232 |
| 2008-09 | 131 |
| 2009-10 | 114 |

Armed Forces: Weapons

Willie Rennie: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence at which of his Department's bases in the UK weapons were reported as having been (a) lost and (b) stolen in each of the last 12 years; and how many and what type of weapon was involved in each case. [305627]

Mr. Quentin Davies [holding answer 10 December 2009]: This information is not held in the format requested and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. For the overall figures of weapons reported as lost or stolen over the requested period, broken down by type, I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 30 November 2009, Official Report, columns 419-20W.

Armoured Fighting Vehicles

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what consideration his Department is giving to changing the Mastiff vehicle suspension to improve its off-road performance. [306744]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The Department is continually evaluating the performance of all vehicle fleets. Both variants of the Mastiff vehicle have already received upgrades to improve its suspension, performance and reliability and we continue to monitor its performance accordingly.

Caparo Group

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what meetings (a) he, (b) other Ministers and (c) officials in his Department have had with Angad Paul in each of the last three years. [302869]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: None of the Ministers within my Department have met with Angad Paul.

Christmas

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Christmas trees were purchased by his Department and its agencies in each of the last five years; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of. [305638]

Mr. Kevan Jones: MOD building decorations including Christmas trees are paid for from non-public funds or staff subscription. The exception was the contracted-out facilities management services for Main Building and Old War Office Building in Whitehall, which did include an annual £5,000 provision for Christmas decorations. This was subsequently removed from the contract in 2008.

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much his Department has budgeted for Christmas trees in 2009. [306609]

Mr. Quentin Davies: Decorations in MOD buildings including Christmas trees are not paid for from public funds but are paid for from non-public funds or staff subscription.

Defence Estates Byelaws Review: Manpower

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many full-time equivalent staff the Defence Estates Byelaws Review Team has on its establishment; and how many posts on the Review Team are vacant. [illegible]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The Defence Estates Byelaws Review Team currently has only four staff on its establishment (some of whom have been engaged on other work) and one administrative post which is presently vacant.

Defence Nuclear Weapons Regulator

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many full-time equivalent staff the Defence Nuclear Weapons Regulator has on its establishment; how many of these are inspectors; and how many posts on the Regulator's establishment are vacant. [illegible]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The Nuclear Weapon Regulator (NWR) is an officer within the broader Defence Nuclear Safety Regulator (DNSR), which regulates both the nuclear weapons and nuclear propulsion programmes.

DNSR has 23 full-time equivalent staff; 16 of these are inspectors. Of these 23 staff, 10 report to NWR and, of these 10, six are inspectors. One inspector post (managed by NWR) is currently vacant on a short-term basis pending the arrival of the nominated individual. There are no other DNSR vacancies.

Some members of DNSR support both activities, so the number of people that NWR manages is not the same as the number of people involved in regulating the nuclear weapons programme.

Defence: Equipment

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what progress is being made in the (a) procurement, (b) production and (c) delivery to combat zones in Afghanistan of vehicles offering increased protection against roadside bombs and other improvised explosive devices. [306517

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: We are continuously delivering improvements to our fleet of protected vehicles in Afghanistan to ensure that they meet operational requirements. By the end of this year the number of vehicles in theatre will have increased by 36 per cent. since August; this includes 93 per cent. more Mastiff and 77 per cent. more Ridgback. We are also buying Warthog vehicles to replace the Viking on operations in Afghanistan, and, as announced by the Prime Minister on 1 September their delivery is being brought forward. The first Coyote and Husky vehicles have been delivered to training, and the first vehicles will deploy to Afghanistan before the end of the year.

We are also looking to the future and anticipating new threats, and have begun a programme to develop the next generation of light protected patrol vehicles.

Defence: Expenditure

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much (a) expenditure and (b) near cash expenditure there was on defence (i) including and (ii) excluding military operations in each year since 1997. [illegible]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The MOD's total expenditure (outturn) in near cash and non cash, including and excluding the cost of all military operations charged to RfR 2, for each year since 2001-02 is provided as follows.

| | 2001-02 | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 | 2008-09 |

The Department did not produce full accounts until the introduction of Resource Accounting and Budgeting for the financial year 2001-02. Prior to this, the Department's outturn was reported in the end of year "Appropriations Accounts and Estimates Reports", copies of which can be found in the Library of the House. Appropriations Accounts do not, however, separately identify the cost of operations or the costs of the security and intelligence services. This information is not held centrally.

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what percentage of gross domestic product was spent on defence (a) including and (b) excluding the cost of military operations in each year since 2007-08. [illegible]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The requested information is provided in the following table.

| | 2007-08 | 2008-09 |
|---|---|---|
| National GDP[1] (£000) | 1,417,797,000 | 1,435,086,000 |
| Total MOD outturn (£000) | 43,543,263 | 45,649,114 |
| Percentage of GDP | 3.07 | 3.18 |
| Net MOD outturn less military operations (£000) | 40,511,348 | 41,557,960 |
| Percentage of GDP | 2.86 | 2.90 |

[1] GDP figures based on those published by HM Treasury

The Outturn figures for 2009-10 will be published in the annual report in July 2010.

Departmental Art Works

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much his Department spent on art works in the last 12 months. [306447]

Mr. Kevan Jones: No works of art have been purchased by the Ministry of Defence in the last 12 months. Some works displayed within Ministers' departmental private offices are from the Government Art Collection (GAC), which publishes an annual list of acquisitions. The most recent details of acquisitions made by the GAC were published on 5 October 2009 and are available on the GAC website:

http://www.gac.culture.gov.uk/information/publications.asp

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Willis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many residential properties his Department owns; and how many (a) are occupied and (b) have been empty for more than six months. [303995]

Mr. Kevan Jones [holding answer 3 December 2009]: Much of the stock of service family accommodation (SFA) in England and Wales is owned by Annington Homes Ltd. and leased by the Department. Of the 49,828 SFA properties in the UK, 7,872 were void as at 1 December 2009 of which 3,345 have been void for more than six months.

The Department accepts that the number of voids is too high and is taking active steps to reduce this, although a management margin for refurbishment and to allow unit moves will always be required.

We do not hold central records for non-SFA residential properties owned by the Department.

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much his Department spent on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in his Department's buildings in the last 12 months. [305663]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Due to an increased number of Ministers, my Department has incurred costs of £139,000 excluding VAT, on office works and refurbishments in the last 12 months.

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the energy efficiency rating is for each of his Department's buildings in London. [306322]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I have placed in the Library of the House a list of the operational energy ratings and energy bands for buildings' occupied by my Department and its agencies, including those in London for which a display energy certificate has been produced.

Departmental Empty Property

Willie Rennie: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many properties owned by his Department are unused; and for how long each such property has been unused. [304333]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Details of all properties of all types on the Ministry of Defence (MOD) estate that are unused, and the length of time each has been so, is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Energy

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) energy rating and (b) energy band of each building occupied by his Department and its agencies was in each year for which figures are available. [305945]

Mr. Kevan Jones: A list of the operational energy ratings and energy bands for buildings occupied by this Department and its agencies for which a Display Energy Certificate (in Scotland, an Energy Performance Certificate) has been produced. A copy has been placed in the Library of the House.

Departmental Freedom of Information

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many requests under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 his Department received in 2008; and how many of these received a substantive response within 20 days. [305501]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Statistics published by the Ministry of Justice on Freedom of Information in central Government for 2008 show that of a total of 2,692 non-routine requests received by the Department (based on aggregated quarterly data) 73 per cent. (1,972) received a substantive response within 20 days. 84 per cent. (2,269) of requests were dealt with 'in time', that is within 20 days by meeting the deadline or other permitted extension deadline.

The statistics can be found on the Ministry of Justice website at:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/freedomofinformationquarterly.htm

and copies are available in the Library of the House.

Departmental Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what redesigns of websites operated by (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have been carried out since 27 June 2007; and what the (i) cost to the public purse and (ii) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306164]

Bill Rammell: The Ministry of Defence and armed forces collectively maintain four corporate websites. Identified redesign and implementation costs on these are provided in the following table.

| Website | URL | Cost (£) | Note |
|---|---|---|---|
| Ministry of Defence | www.mod.uk | 150,000 | The redesign consisted of 17 work packages during the period June 2007-end March 2008[1] |
| Royal Navy | www.royalnavy.mod.uk | n/a | This site has not been redesigned since 27 June 2007 |
| British Army | www.army.mod.uk | 75,000 | Redesign was completed 30 May 2008[2] |
| Royal Air Force | www.raf.mod.uk | n/a | This site has not been redesigned since 27 June 2007 |

[2] Design phase included information architecture, navigation schema, look and feel.

Staff costs are excluded as redesign costs cannot be disaggregated from the ongoing cost of maintaining the websites.

In addition, the Department also maintains the following websites classed as Executive agencies by Central Office of Information (COI) within the Service Transformation Agreement.

| Website | URL | Cost (£) | Note |
|---|---|---|---|
| Service Personnel and Veterans Agency | www.veterans-uk.info | n/a | Expected completion date of redesign is end December 2009[1] |
| UK Defence Standardisation | www.dstan.mod.uk | n/a | This site has not been redesigned since 27 June 2007 |
| Defence Analytical Services Agency | www.dasa.mod.uk | n/a | Redesign was completed in April 2008[2] |
| Defence Analytical Services Agency | www.dasasurveys.mod.uk | n/a | This site has not been redesigned since 27 June 2007. The website is no longer in use |
| Disposal Services Authority | www.edisposals.com | 12,000 | The redesign consisted of the addition of a portal page and MOD art gallery prints completed in phases during 2009 |
| Defence Contracts Bulletin | www.contracts.mod.uk | n/a | Redesign was completed in October 2007[3] |
| British Forces Post Office | www.bfpo.mod.uk | n/a | This site has not been redesigned since 27 June 2007 |

[1] No hard costs as the redesign is being carried out in-house.
[2] The redesign was implemented using existing DASA web team resources only. There were no non-staffing costs associated with the redesign. It is not possible to distinguish between redesign resource and routine website maintenance and development resource over the period of the redesign.
[3] The redesign was undertaken at no cost to the MOD through a concession contract with a third party. No public funds have been expended on maintaining, updating and providing the website since its inception in 2002 or will be expended in FY 2009-10.

A number of other websites are run by different parts of the Ministry of Defence, but these are not managed centrally. This information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Lost Property

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) laptop computers, (b) mobile telephones, (c) items of office furniture and (d) works of art have been (i) lost by and (ii) stolen from his Department in each of the last three years; whether his Department has made an insurance claim in respect of each such item; and what the estimated value of each item was. [300592]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The MOD takes any loss of information, associated media storage devices and valuable assets very seriously and has robust procedures in place to mitigate against such occurrences. New processes, instructions and technological aids are also being constantly implemented to mitigate human errors and to raise awareness of every individual in the Department with regards to information assets, information and its security. The quantity and impact of lost or stolen data has been significantly reduced due to these steps and the use of appropriate encryption in the MOD.

MOD units are not mandated to centrally report incidents of the loss or theft of mobile phones or office furniture nor record any related insurance claims. No work of art for which MOD is responsible has been reported lost or stolen during the last three years. To gather the further data beyond that reported below would incur a disproportionate cost.

For information on mobile telephones I refer the hon. Member to the answer given on 26 January 2009, Official Report, column 33W, to the hon. Member for Newark (Patrick Mercer).

For information on laptop computers I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by the then Armed Forces Minister, Bob Ainsworth, on 24 March 2009, Official Report, columns 271-72W, to the hon. Member for Woodspring (Dr. Fox).

No insurance claims have been made in respect of any of the above items in the MOD since 2006, which, in common with other Government Departments, does not generally insure and, instead, bears it own risks.

Departmental Pay

John Mason: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what (a) bonuses and (b) incentives have been paid to (i) consultants and (ii) contractors engaged by his Department in each of the last three years. [300631]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: This information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

In the case of MOD fee earners, who are taken on for a temporary period to provide a particular service or specialist skill, they are paid only an agreed fee for their work.

In the case of consultancy work MOD places a contract on the basis that the contractor delivers a defined output at an agreed price. Individual remuneration is a matter for the contractor.

John Mason: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what (a) bonuses and (b) incentives have been paid to (i) consultants and (ii) contractors engaged by executive agencies and non-departmental public bodies for which his Department is responsible in each of the last three years. [300632]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: No bonuses or incentives were paid to consultants or contractors in 2006-07 or 2007-08. In the financial year 2008-09, a total of £1,860 was paid to two individuals.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what payments his Department has made to Green Issues in the last 12 months; for what purposes such payments were made; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305250]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Payments made to Green Issues Communications so far in financial year 2009-10 have totalled approximately £195,000.

The payments are for a contract to provide support to the Submarine Dismantling Project in the areas of consultation and communications.

No other records of central payments to Green Issues have been found in the last 12 months.

I shall not place a copy of the contract in the Library as its disclosure would prejudice commercial interests.

Departmental Publicity

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much his Department has spent on (a) Ministerial photoshoots and (b) production of videos in which Ministers appear in the last three years for which figures are available. [305514]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Photographs or video material of Ministers sourced by the Department would typically be produced by MOD photographers or video production teams and utilise existing internal resources. Therefore, individual costs cannot be easily identified and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

EU Law

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what (a) statutory instruments and (b) other regulations his Department has brought forward to meet obligations arising from EU law in this parliament. [304175]

Bill Rammell: Central records of statutory instruments made under specific powers have only been maintained by the Statutory Instruments Registrar since 2001. There are no central records maintained of 'other regulations'. Since that time, the Department has made no statutory instruments to meet obligations arising under EU Law, under powers contained in the European Communities Act 1972.

Eurocorps

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what consideration he has given to the merits of UK (a) support for and (b) work with Eurocorps deployments; [306451]

(2) what his policy is on the role for Eurocorps in EU security; and if he will make a statement; [306458]

(3) what assessment he has made of the contribution of Eurocorps in Afghanistan; and if he will make a statement; [306481]

(4) what joint missions UK armed forces are undertaking with Eurocorps; and if he will make a statement; [306487]

(5) what assessment he has made of the effect on UK force deployment of the deployment of Eurocorps to Afghanistan; and if he will make a statement; [306488]

(6) what assessment he has made of the contribution of Eurocorps to Kosovo. [306490]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The UK has no involvement with Eurocorps and is currently not undertaking any joint missions with it.

The MOD has no policy on Eurocorps' role in EU security or assessment of its operations, and has not considered the merits of either supporting or working with it in the near future.

The UK regularly assesses the effect of the deployment of overseas forces on UK force deployment in Afghanistan. However, we have not made a specific assessment of the effect of the deployment of Eurocorps forces.

Game and Wild Birds Ordinance 2008

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the answer of 7 December 2009, Official Report, columns 92-3W, on Cyprus, what guidance he has issued to the Sovereign Base Areas Administration on whether the Game and Wild Birds Ordinance 2008 prohibits the trappings of wild birds in all circumstances. [307044]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The ordinance makes it clear that large scale and non-selective methods of capturing, pursuing or killing wild birds are prohibited. The exception is where such activity is carried out strictly in accordance with a licence issued in that regard by the chief officer for reasons of public health and safety or conservation. The Secretary of State for Defence has therefore not issued any guidance to the Sovereign Base areas administration in relation to the interpretation of the Game and Wild Birds Ordinance 2008.

Hebrides Range

Mr. MacNeil: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what additional expenditure his Department plans for Hebrides Range; whether he plans to locate new equipment at the Range; and what plans he has for the Range's role. [305613]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The Ministry of Defence is committed to the future of the Hebrides Range. My officials are currently developing plans for new investment in the range to ensure that it continues to provide the required capability. The plans remain at an early stage of development and it is not possible therefore, to specify the level of investment that will be required. Such investment will, of course, have to be affordable within the overall Defence budget. These plans will not involve redundancies.

I have also asked my officials and the range operator, QinetiQ, to make renewed efforts to market the range and its facilities to overseas customers.

Mr. MacNeil: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence on what date the oldest missile tracking equipment in use at Hebrides Range was installed. [305614]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The oldest missile tracking systems in use at the Hebrides Range are the four Nike Digital Instrumentation Radars (NiDIRs). They were installed between 1977 and 1981.

Helicopters

Mr. Keetch: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment has been made of the use of tactical helicopter landing mats for operational purposes; whether his Department plans to procure them in the near future; and if he will make a statement. [305984]

Mr. Quentin Davies: Helicopter landing mats are already in use on operations in Afghanistan at Forward Operating Bases. The requirement for helicopter temporary landing sites is currently being assessed. We will consider any changes to our current equipment in line with the needs of the operation.

Improvised Explosive Devices

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what percentage of British service personnel who have been killed by improvised explosive devices was (a) on foot patrol, (b) in a vehicle and (c) killed in other circumstances. [304350]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The MOD is committed to openly publishing casualty statistics on the number of service personnel killed and wounded on operations. Information on casualties sustained on operations in Afghanistan and Iraq, and information on how each individual was killed is included in their eulogies available on our website at the following link.

http://www.mod.uk/DefenceInternet/FactSheets/OperationsFactsheets

Iraq Committee of Inquiry

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what position each official in his Department seconded to the Iraq Committee of Inquiry held between January 2001 and December 2003; and for what matters each was responsible in each such year. [303146]

Bill Rammell: I refer the right hon. Member to the answer given to him by the Minister for the Cabinet Office (Tessa Jowell), on 3 December 2009, Official Report, columns 974-75W.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether his Department has provided briefing papers to the Iraq Inquiry for its oral evidence sessions. [305779]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Prime Minister has said that the inquiry will have access to all Government papers. My Department has provided papers and information to the inquiry, including, at the inquiry's request, a briefing paper on the no fly zones subsequently used at the inquiry's opening hearing. It is for the inquiry, which is independent, to decide how it uses these papers.

Kentigern House

Mr. Tom Clarke: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what steps he has taken to ensure that the sale of Kentigern House, Glasgow on a sale and leaseback basis (a) ensures value for money for the public purse and (b) protects jobs within the building. [306466]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave regarding employment at Kentigern House on 26 November 2009, Official Report, column 294W, to the hon. Member for North Ayrshire and Arran (Katy Clark).

The Department is satisfied that the overall transaction represents value for money for the public purse.

Members: Correspondence

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence with reference to the answer of 28 October 2009, Official Report, column 377W, on Members: correspondence, when he plans to reply to the letters of 27 July 2009 and 31 August 2009 from the hon. Member for Moray on the Court of Appeal costs incurred by his Department. [303892]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I will be writing shortly in reply to the hon. Member's letters.

Middle East: Armed Conflict

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many seaborne attacks on coalition forces by armed gangs there were (a) in the Persian Gulf, (b) in the vicinity of Umm Qasr and (c) near the Basra oil terminal in (i) 2008 and (ii) 2009. [305782]

Bill Rammell: No reports of serious incidents involving attacks by non-state forces operating from the sea against coalition naval assets in these geographical areas have been recorded in 2008 or 2009.

Military Aircraft: Helicopters

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what his latest assessment is of the helicopter fleet's fitness for purpose; and if he will make a statement. [306419]

Mr. Quentin Davies: We constantly monitor the helicopter fleet to ensure that sufficient helicopters and helicopter hours are provided to meet requirements. The helicopter fleet is currently meeting all its operational and training commitments, both in the UK and overseas.

Helicopter capability is measured in terms of flying hours rather than the number of airframes available, and we continue to review requirements and adjust as necessary.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the capability of the private sector to provide helicopters to complement existing UK defence capability in (a) Afghanistan, (b) Iraq, (c) the Balkans and (d) Somalia; and if he will make a statement. [306547]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The United Kingdom does not have enduring military commitments in the Balkans, Iraq or Somalia that require the support of civilian contracted helicopter capability. In Afghanistan, the United Kingdom already maintains a contract for medium and heavy lift helicopters to carry freight in support of military operations. In addition, NATO has a commercial contract delivering freight lift, which UK Forces utilise as part of the wider coalition.

We will always consider opportunities to enhance helicopter capability, including the use of private sector helicopters, provided that service delivery meets defence standards and operational requirements.

Official Engagements

Willie Rennie: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence on how many occasions (a) Ministers in and (b) officials of his Department met representatives of the defence industry in an official capacity since December 2007. [306502]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Defence Ministers and officials meet representatives of the defence industry numerous times each day. A definitive number of such meetings is not held centrally.

Rescue Services: Pembrokeshire

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many times a helicopter from (a) RAF Valley, (b) RNAS Culdrose and (c) Solent Coastguard assisted in a search and rescue operation off the coast of Pembrokeshire in each of the last five years. [306656]

Bill Rammell: The number of call outs off the coast of Pembrokeshire from RAF Valley, RNAS Culdrose and the Maritime Coastguard Agency bases at Lee on Solent and Portland, are shown in the following table. Call outs have been defined as those within a 25 mile radius of the Pembrokeshire coastline.

Royal Fleet Auxiliary

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the purpose is of the planned operational efficiency programme for the Royal Fleet Auxiliary. [306821]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The purpose of the review is to look at the Royal Fleet Auxiliary's business delivery model to consider options for the future and establish if there is scope to enhance efficiencies and deliver greater value for money.

Shoeburyness

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what quantity of radioactive material was released by the explosion in August 2002 at Shoeburyness; and if he will make a statement. [306958]

Mr. Quentin Davies: No radioactive material was released in the August 2002 explosion at Shoeburyness.

St. Kilda

Mr. MacNeil: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what maritime vessels are in use for the re-supply of St. Kilda; and what options for future re-supply he is considering. [305615]

Mr. Quentin Davies: A landing vessel from 17 Port and Maritime Regiment of the Royal Logistic Corps is currently in the process of completing the 2009 re-supply of St. Kilda. We are now considering whether this arrangement should continue or whether the Department should revert to a commercial solution in the future.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what contribution UK forces make to Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe; and if he will make a statement. [306452]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe is the headquarters of Allied Command Operations, one of NATO's two strategic military commands. It is responsible for all NATO operations. The UK currently contributes 125 personnel to the Headquarters, and permanently holds the position of the deputy commander, Deputy Supreme Allied Commander Europe.

University Officer Training Corps

CABINET OFFICE

Breast Cancer

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many people were diagnosed with breast cancer in (a) Lewes constituency, (b) Sussex, (c) the South East and (d) England in each year since 1997. [305610]

Angela E. Smith: The information falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many people were diagnosed with breast cancer in (a) Lewes constituency, (b) Sussex, (c) the South East and (d) England in each year since 1997. [305610]

The latest available figures for newly diagnosed cases of breast cancer (incidence) are for the year 2007. Please note that these numbers may not be the same as the number of people diagnosed with cancer, because one person may be diagnosed with more than one cancer.

Table 1 provides the numbers of newly diagnosed cases of breast cancer for each year from 1997 to 2007 for (a) Lewes parliamentary constituency, (b) the counties of East Sussex and West Sussex, (c) South East government office region and (d) England.

So that comparison over time is based on a consistent area, newly diagnosed cases of cancer in the current Brighton and Hove unitary authority, which was part of the former county of East Sussex, have not been included for any year.

Table 1. Registrations of newly diagnosed cases of breast cancer[1], persons[2], Lewes parliamentary constituency, the counties of East Sussex and West Sussex, South East government office region and England[3], 1997 to 2007[4]

| Lewes | 86 | 72 | 65 | 67 | 69 | 71 | 86 | 72 | 72 | 82 | 58 |

[1] Breast cancer is coded as C50 in the International Classification of Diseases, Tenth Revision (ICD-10).
[2] Around 99 per cent. of breast cancer cases are in women.
[3] Based on boundaries as of 2009.
[4] Newly diagnosed cases registered in each calendar year.

Children: Poverty

Jim Cousins: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many and what percentage of children are living in poverty in each region and country of the UK; and what percentage of children in poverty lived in households where one or more members of the household were in work in each year from 2005 to 2009. [302569]

Helen Goodman: I have been asked to reply.

Information on the number and percentage of children living in low income households in each region and country of the UK is given in the table for periods where data are available. Regional data are presented as three-year averages, due to variability in single-year estimates.

Table 1: Number and proportion of children who are living in households with less than 60 per cent. of contemporary median income, before housing costs, by country and region, United Kingdom, 2005-06 to 2007-08

Christmas

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much her Department has budgeted for Christmas trees in 2009. [306693]

Angela E. Smith: The Cabinet Office has budgeted £3,027 for Christmas trees in 2009.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Hands: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many plasma screen televisions her Department has purchased since 2001; and what the cost has been of purchasing and installing such screens in each such year. [306078]

Angela E. Smith: This information can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Freedom of Information

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office on how many occasions since 1 April 2008 her Department has not provided the Information Commissioner with all the relevant information he requested (a) within 20 working days in respect of a first request and (b) within 10 working days of a request for additional relevant information; and if she will make a statement. [307124]

Angela E. Smith: In those cases where the Commissioner has issued a Decision Notice, the information the hon. Member has requested is detailed in the Decision Notice. These notices are available on the Commissioner's website at:

http://www.ico.gov.uk/

It is not Cabinet Office practice to comment on those cases that have not yet been resolved.

Electoral Register

Chris Ruane: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many people were registered to vote in each Parliamentary constituency in (a) 1997 and (b) the latest year for which figures are available, listed in descending order according to the difference between the two figures. [306765]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your question asking how many people were registered to vote in each Parliamentary constituency in (a) 1997 and (b) the latest year for which figures are available, listed in descending order according to the greater difference between the two figures. (306765)

Table 1 shows the number of people registered to vote in Parliamentary constituencies in the UK and the differences between (a) 1997 and (b) 2008, which is the latest year for which figures are available.

Boundary changes affecting some Parliamentary constituencies in Scotland came into effect in 2004. For these constituencies some of the difference in the number of people who were registered to vote between 1997 and 2008 may be a result of the boundary changes. Table 2 shows the number of people registered to vote in Parliamentary constituencies in Scotland, where comparisons between the two years are not possible due to this reason.

A copy of the tables has been placed in the Library of the House.

Future Jobs Fund

Mrs. May: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how Future Jobs Fund placements will be categorised in the labour market statistics. [306368]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question asking how Future Job Fund placements will be categorised within labour market statistics. (306368)

Labour market statistics are compiled according to internationally agreed guidelines specified by the International Labour Organisation—an agency of the United Nations. In accordance with these guidelines, people on all government supported training and employment programmes are categorised as being in employment.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much her Department spent on hotel accommodation for (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) civil servants in each of the last five years. [305667]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested for the Cabinet Office is not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Iraq Committee of Inquiry

Jenny Willott: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office (1) how many (a) documents and (b) other items of information held in electronic format at each security classification her Department has submitted to the Iraq Inquiry; [307183]

(2) how many and what proportion of the (a) documents and (b) other items of information held in electronic format at each security classification requested by the Iraq Inquiry have been provided by her Department; and if she will make a statement; [307184]

(3) how many (a) documents and (b) other types of information held in electronic format at each level of security classification the Iraq Inquiry has requested from each Department; and if she will make a statement; [307187]

(4) how many (a) documents and (b) other items of information in electronic format provided to the Iraq Inquiry cannot be disclosed owing to the Government's obligations to foreign journalists or international bodies; and if she will make a statement. [307188]

Angela E. Smith: The Prime Minister has said that the Iraq Inquiry will have access to all Government papers it wants to see. The Cabinet Office has provided, or is in the process of providing, copies of all documents and electronic information it holds which the Inquiry has so far requested. Through close liaison with other Government Departments the Cabinet Office is clear that they too have all provided, or will soon provide, all such information as well. The information provided spans every level of Government security classification from the lowest to the highest. Should the Inquiry wish to disclose any Government information, the process for doing so is set out in the information Protocol agreed with the Inquiry and published on the Cabinet Office's website on 29 October.

Population

Mr. Moss: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what the population was of each (a) local authority district and (b) unitary authority in the East of England on the latest date for which figures are available. [305099]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply to the hon. Member.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your question asking what the population was of each district and unitary authority in the East of England on the latest date for which figures are available. (305099)

Public Sector: Pay

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many public sector employees in (a) Pendle and (b) Lancashire earn more than £18,000 per annum. [304663]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician has been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question asking how many public sector employees in (a) Fendle and (b) Lancashire earn more than £18,000 per annum. (304663)

The Annual Survey of Hours and Earnings (ASHE), carried out in April each year, is the most comprehensive source of earnings information in the United Kingdom. Annual levels of earnings are estimated from the ASHE, and are provided for employees on adult rates of pay, who have been in the same job for more than a year. ASHE is not used to provide estimates of the numbers of employees whose earnings is more than a specific amount, but can be used to provide estimates of percentage of employees in that category.

I attach a table showing the percentage of full-time public sector employees in (a) Pendle and (b) Lancashire earning more than £18,000 per annum in 2009.

Percentage of full-time public sector employee jobs[1] earning above £18,000 per annum: United Kingdom 2009

| | Percentage | % Coefficient of Variation |
|---|---|---|
| Lancashire | 22 | 7 |
| Pendle | 7 | 50 |

[1] Full-time employees on adult rates who have been in the same job for more than one year. As at April 2009.

Guide to Quality:

The Coefficient of Variation (CV) indicates the quality of a figure, the smaller the CV value the higher the quality. The true value is likely to lie within +/- twice the CV—for example, for an average of 200 with a CV of 5% we would expect the population average to be within the range 180 to 220. A CV of 50% indicates a low quality estimate.

Third Sector

Jenny Willott: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what discussions the Office of the Third Sector has had with (a) HM Treasury and (b) the Department of Health on the applicability to NHS charities of International Accounting Standard 27; and if she will make a statement. [307170]

Angela E. Smith: Officials from the Office of the Third Sector have regular discussions with HM Treasury colleagues on a range of matters relevant to the third sector, including the application of international accounting standards. No discussions have taken place on this subject between the Office of the Third Sector and the Department of Health.

The application of accounting standards and the regulation of charities are distinct matters. Policy in relation to the application of accounting standards is for HM Treasury, which is implementing international financial reporting standards across the central Government sector (including the NHS), advised by the independent Financial Reporting Advisory Board. If there were concerns about the independence of a charity, notwithstanding its accounting treatment, then it would be for the Charity Commission as independent regulator of charities in England and Wales to pursue those concerns.

Jenny Willott: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much money has been allocated to charities from the Hardship Fund in each month since the fund's establishment; and if she will make a statement. [307185]

Angela E. Smith: To date, the Hardship Fund has offered grants to 181 third sector organisations worth a total of £15.95 million.

Examples of individual grants include £187,569 to a children's hospice, £185,000 to a homelessness charity, £163,000 to a community organisation that helps disadvantaged families and children and vulnerable adults and £250,000 to a mental health charity.

The monthly breakdown is set out in the following table.

| | Award value | Cumulative total |
|---|---|---|
| September | 2,280,449 | 2,280,449 |
| October | 6,823,380 | 9,103,829 |
| November | 5,397,689 | 14,501,518 |
| December | 1,452,773 | 15,954,291 |

Unemployment: Young People

Mrs. May: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many and what proportion of people aged 16 to 24 years old (a) were unemployed and (b) claimed benefit in each (i) region, (ii) local authority area and (iii) parliamentary constituency (A) in May 1997 and (B) at the latest date for which information is available. [306367]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles unemployment statistics for local areas from the Annual Population Survey (APS) and its predecessor the Annual Labour Force Survey (LFS) following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions. Unfortunately the sample size does not support analyses of unemployment of 16-24 year olds for local authorities or parliamentary constituencies.

Table 1 shows the number and percentage of 16-24 year olds who were unemployed in each English Government Office Region, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland in the 12 month period ending February 1998 from the Annual LFS and March 2009 from the APS. As with any sample survey, estimates from the APS are subject to a margin of uncertainty. A guide to the quality of the estimates is given in table 1.

ONS compiles the number of claimants of Jobseeker's Allowance (JSA) from the Jobcentre Plus administrative system. Table 2 shows the number of computerised claims of Jobseeker's allowance (JSA) for people, aged 16-24 resident in each of the requested geographies in May 1997 and October 2009.

It is not possible to provide the percentage of 16-24 year olds who were claiming JSA. As an alternative, table 3 shows the proportion of 18-24 year olds resident in each of the requested geographies who were claiming JSA in May 1997 and October 2009. This data is not available for parliamentary constituencies in Scotland and Northern Ireland.

As the information provided in these tables is extensive, a copy of the tables has been placed in the House of Commons Library.

National and local area estimates for many labour market statistics, including employment, unemployment and claimant count are available on the NOMIS website at:

http://www.nomisweb.co.uk

TREASURY

Bank Services: Pensioners

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate HM Revenue and Customs has made of the number of pensioners in (a) Chorley and (b) Lancashire who will be contacted with regards to an overpayment of tax on bank or building society interest. [306699]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: As part of the Taxback campaign announced at Budget 2009, HM Revenue and Customs have contacted all 3.4 million beneficiaries of pension credit to encourage those who are overpaying tax on their bank and building society interest to claim it back and, where eligible, to register to receive future interest payments without tax deducted. The latest information on the number of pension credit beneficiaries (May 2009), shows that there were 5,330 beneficiaries in Chorley and 68,710 in Lancashire.

Banks: Loans

Jim Cousins: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of (a) the number of buy-to-let mortgages outstanding and (b) the monetary value of those mortgages lent by (i) Bradford and Bingley, (ii) Northern Rock, (iii) Lloyds Bank and its subsidiaries and (iv) Royal Bank of Scotland and its UK subsidiaries. [305852]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The financial institutions in which there is public sector investment are managed by their respective boards at arm's length from the Government, on commercial principles. The publication of specific business information is a matter for each company's management.

Bradford and Bingley has published the value of buy-to-let mortgages held at the end of 2008 in its 2008 annual accounts:

http://www.bbg.co.uk/bbg/ir/publications/rp2008/publications2008/ar2008/ar2008_03_04_09.pdf

Northern Rock has published the number and value of buy-to-let mortgages held at the end of 2008 in its 2008 annual accounts:

http://companyinfo.northernrock.co.uk/downloads/2008_annual_report.pdf

RBS has published the value of buy-to-let mortgages held at the end of 2008 in its 2008 annual accounts:

http://files.shareholder.com/downloads/RBS/677416135x0x278481/eb7a003a-5c9b-41ef-bad3-81fb98a6c823/RBS_GRA_2008_09_03_09.pdf

Budget April 2009

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he made at the time of Budget 2009 of the number of jobs supported as a consequence of his Department's (a) discretionary fiscal policy and (b) quantitative easing measures. [305755]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: On 4 November 2009, HM Treasury published a paper setting out the estimated effect on employment of discretionary economic stimulus put in place since November 2008 see "Employment impact of Government interventions":

http://www.hm-treasury.gov.uk/foi_economic_stimulus.htm

Child Benefit

Mr. Pope: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when the hon. Member for Hyndburn's constituent Mr. Ronald Howes' application for child benefit will be resolved. [305759]

Mr. Timms: The child benefit office replied to my hon. Friend on 9 December 2009.

Child Care Vouchers

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much and what proportion of the tax revenue foregone on childcare vouchers was accounted for by people paying tax at the basic rate in each year since the inception of that scheme. [306734]

Mr. Timms: Child care vouchers given to employees by their employers are exempt from income tax up to specified limits. Employers are not required to report to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs (HMRC) the amounts that they have provided, so HMRC has no administrative record of the proportion of tax foregone that relates to basic rate taxpayers.

However, published research, commissioned by HMRC in 2005, by the National Centre for Social Research (NatCen) estimated that 70 per cent. of employees receiving Employer Supported Childcare (ESC) were either basic or standard rate taxpayers. The Family Resources Survey (FRS), which is published by the Department for Work and Pensions, for 2007-08 indicates that over a third of employees receiving ESC were higher rate taxpayers, with the remainder basic or standard rate taxpayers.

The Government have published its estimates of the cost of tax and NICs relief on ESC in the pre-Budget report 2008 and the pre-Budget report 2009 Tax Ready Reckoner, available at:

http://www.hm-treasury.gov.uk/d/pbr09_taxreadyreckoner.pdf

The full title of the NatCen report, published in 2006, is "Monitoring of the Reform of the Income Tax and National Insurance Rules for Employer Supported Childcare". It is available on the HMRC website http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/research/research-report23.htm

Caroline Flint: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the statement of 9 December 2009, Official Report, columns 359-86, on the pre-Budget report, what his policy is on the future of tax relief for employer-supported child care. [306971]

Mr. Timms: On 4 December the Prime Minister announced Government's policy in relation to employer supported child care.

The Prime Minister confirmed that all families who currently receive vouchers will continue to get the same support in the future. He also set out that tax relief will be retained for any new child care vouchers that are issued in the future and that, from April 2011, all new recipients of child care vouchers will get the same income tax relief as basic rate taxpayers do currently. This will ensure that the system does not disproportionately benefit higher rate taxpayers.

Child Trust Fund

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what expenditure HM Revenue and Customs incurred on advertising child trust funds in 2008-09. [305557]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: Information in relation to the media costs incurred by HM Revenue and Customs for the child trust fund is contained in table 7 of the 2009 Statistical Report which can be viewed on HM Revenue and Customs' website:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/ctf/statistical-report-2009.pdf

Child Trust Fund: Operating Costs

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the cost of (a) payments under and (b) administration of the Child Trust Fund scheme has been in each year since 2006. [305769]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The annual cost of making child trust fund payments can be found in HM Revenue and Customs' departmental accounts, published annually on the HM Revenue and Customs website. Reports for 2006-07 accounts and subsequent years can be found at:

www.hmrc.gov.uk/about/reports.htm

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The Crown Estate has made two payments to Political Developments Limited in the last 12 months, one for £562.50 on 10 June 2009, and another for £4,033.75 on 7 August 2009. Mr. Baron: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much his Department spent on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in his Department's buildings in the last 12 months. [305691]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: A full PFI refurbishment of 1 Horse Guards road was completed in 2002. Works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers since that date is included in the annual unitary payment made to the PFI provider and is not recorded separately.

Departmental Conferences/Training Courses

Mr. Baron: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) which conferences held overseas have been attended by civil servants based in his Department in the last three years; and what the cost to the public purse was of such attendance at each conference; [305874]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The 2009 pre-Budget report microsite was redesigned in October 2009. The majority of the websites maintained by HM Treasury have not been subject to any redesign since 2006. Any cost or timescale associated with a redesign is shown in the following table.

Websites operated by the Chancellor of the Exchequer's Department

Mr. Timms: A reply was sent last week.

Non-Domestic Rates: Valuation

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer with reference to the answer of 22 October 2009, Official Report, column 1672W, on non-domestic rates: valuation, what the average rateable value in each sub-location (a) was on the 2005 and (b) is on the draft 2010 Rating List. [306549]

Ian Pearson: The information requested could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what methodology the Valuation Office Agency uses for valuing electric car charging points for business rates. [305928]

Ian Pearson: The Valuation Office Agency has a duty to ensure all relevant non-domestic hereditaments are assessed for rates on rating lists. This helps to maintain fairness in the rating system. Where a car charging point is a relevant hereditament then it will be assessed for rateable value having regard to its annual rental value at the valuation date (which for the current 2005 rating list is 1 April 2003).

Non-Domestic Rates: Ports

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the Valuation Office Agency's special category code is for (a) ports and (b) firms within ports; and whether this coding has changed as a result of the changes made to business rates on ports. [305816]

Ian Pearson: The Valuation Office Agency's Specialist Category Codes (SCAT) for (a) ports are code 433 for statutory docks and harbours (formula), code 434 for statutory docks and harbours (non formula), code 435 statutory docks and harbours (other) and code 089 docks and harbours (non-statutory).

It is not possible to identify (b) the firms within ports by a SCAT code as this will vary depending on the use of the property. No changes have been made to SCAT codes as a result of changes made to business rates on ports.

Northern Rock: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what payments Northern Rock has made to FD Public Affairs in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305430]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: During this period of temporary public ownership, Northern Rock is managed by its board at arm's length from the Government on commercial principles. It is a matter for the company's management to release specific business updates or provide any required disclosures in their audited annual report and accounts.

Origin Marking: Israel

Rob Marris: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many consignments of falsely-labelled goods originating from producers in Israeli settlements in (a) the West Bank, (b) the Golan Heights and (c) East Jerusalem were detected by HM Revenue and Customs in (i) 2004-05, (ii) 2005-06, (iii) 2006-07, (iv) 2007-08 and (v) 2008-09. [304733]

Mr. Timms: The following number of consignments on which preferential rates of duty were claimed under the EU-Israel Agreement have been identified as having originated in Settlements in the Occupied Palestinian Territories:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 99 |
| 2005 | 128 |
| 2006 | 127 |
| 2007 | 214 |
| 2008 | 11 |
| 2009 | 18 |

Public Expenditure

Mr. Andrew Turner: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much was paid to each devolved administration under the Barnett formula in the most recent financial year for which figures are available; and what corresponding funding allocation was made to Government departments in respect of services delivered in (a) England only, (b) England and Wales, (c) England, Wales and Northern Ireland, (d) England, Wales and Scotland and (e) the UK. [304722]

Mr. Byrne [holding answer 7 December 2009]: Changes in the Departmental Expenditure Limits (DEL) of the devolved Administrations are normally determined by the Barnett formula. The settlements were published in the 2007 comprehensive spending review White Paper (Cm 7227). The latest figures for the DELs of the devolved Administrations are published in Public Expenditure Statistical Analyses (PESA) (Cm 7630). Comparative data on spending for the benefit of each country and region of the UK are also published in PESA, including a breakdown of this spending by function.

Public Sector: Pensions

Mr. Watson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) if he will estimate the net annual saving to the Exchequer of capping at £50,000 per annum the benefit payable under all currently accruing defined benefit public sector pension schemes not yet in payment which are estimated to provide a benefit of less than £50,000 annually; and what amendments to public sector pension rules would be required to give effect to such a change; [304915]

(2) if he will estimate the net annual saving to the Exchequer of capping at £50,000 per annum the benefit from all future public sector defined benefit pensions funded from the public purse; and what amendments to public sector pension rules would be required to give effect to such a change; [304910]

(3) if he will estimate the net annual saving to the Exchequer of ceasing increases in funding from the public purse to defined benefit public sector pensions not yet in payment which are worth over £50,000 annually; and what amendments to public sector pension rules would be required to give effect to such a change. [304917]

Mr. Byrne: The savings from a cap on pensions in payment would take a number of years to accrue as only future pension rights could legally be capped. Data are not centrally available to estimate annual savings to the Exchequer on such future pension rights.

Revenue and Customs

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what his latest estimate is of the cost of (a) developing and (b) publicising the new charter for HM Revenue and Customs. [305550]

Mr. Timms: The Department has spent £170,000 to develop and £12,000 to publicise the Charter over a two-year period. The cost was met from Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs' (HMRC) existing budget and covers marketing, research and consultation. This delivered a Charter that stakeholder groups have agreed will be a positive step towards HMRC building better relationships with taxpayers and claimants.

Revenue and Customs: Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much HM Revenue and Customs has spent on hotel accommodation for its officials in each of the last five years. [306016]

Mr. Timms: From information available, the total cost of hotel accommodation for HM Revenue and Customs officials in each of the last five years is as follows:

| | £ |
| April to October 2009 | 7,000,247 |

Revenue and Customs: Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what redesigns of websites operated by HM Revenue and Customs have been carried out since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306209]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs has not undertaken a redesign of its website. It has however made significant incremental improvements to the site since April 2008—including new content, improved navigation and a new look and feel in key sections of the site. This work is an integral part of its Service Transformation Agreement and commitment to converge content and services on www.direct.gov.uk and www.businesslink.gov.uk by 2011. Costs are projected at a total of £10.7 million over the period 2007-08 to 2010-11.

Revenue and Customs: Somerset

Mr. Laws: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what plans there are to change the opening hours of HM Revenue and Customs Enquiry Centres in Somerset; and what assessment has been made of the likely effect of reduced opening hours at such centres on the elderly. [302256]

Mr. Timms: Demand for face to face advice from HMRC Enquiry Centres has fallen heavily in recent years as customers increasingly turn to the telephone and internet for information. As a result HMRC is reviewing the pattern of service provision to better match service availability to customer demand. This includes considering moving to part week opening in some Enquiry Centres.

The first phase of the review includes Enquiry Centres in Frome, Wells and Bridgewater. The impact of these changes is being assessed by engagement with local external customer representative bodies including MPs, local authorities, Help the Aged, the Citizens Advice Bureaux and others. HMRC is also consulting with local staff, managers and trade unions. An Equality Impact Assessment of changes to Enquiry Centre opening hours will be published prior to any changes being made.

HMRC remains committed to providing a face to face service for those customers that need one at or close to each location where they provide one now.

Royal Mint: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what payments the Royal Mint has made to Grayling Political Strategy in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305412]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: No payments have been made to Grayling Political Strategy in the last 12 months.

Stamp Duty Land Tax

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment has been made of the likely effect on the housing market of the lowering of the threshold for stamp duty. [305930]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The stamp duty holiday was designed to provide Government support for homebuyers. The stimulus it offers relies on it being temporary. The Government expect 240,000 transactions to have benefited from the holiday when it is brought to a close at the end of December.

Taxation: Banks

Mr. Bone: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what the maximum amount of tax was that each of the banks in which the Government has a stake could save by off-setting previous losses at the latest date for which figures are available; [305801]

(2) what the losses for tax purposes of each of the banks in which the Government have a stake were at the latest date for which figures are available. [305802]

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/corporate_tax/table11_2.pdf

However, it is not possible to publish HMRC estimates of the loss position of individual banks due to rules protecting taxpayer confidentiality. Published 2008 accounts for both RBS and Lloyds banking group are available on their respective websites:

http://www.rbs.com/microsites/gra2008/index.htm

http://www.lloydsbankinggroup-annualreport.com/2008/

Jim Cousins: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will estimate the tax losses carried forward by banks from the (a) 2007-08 and (b) 2008-09 financial year. [305851]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer I gave him on 27 October 2009, Official Report, column 275W.

Taxation: Business

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many (a) small and medium-sized and (b) other enterprises which made Time to Pay arrangements with HM Revenue and Customs to defer tax through the Business Payment Support Service have (i) not met their tax liabilities when they became due and (ii) extended their Time to Pay arrangement period to date; and if he will make a statement. [304412]

Mr. Timms: Over 90 per cent. of the value of tax that has become due under Time to Pay arrangements agreed through the Business Payment Support Service launched in November 2008 is being paid in line with agreed instalments. HMRC does not collect information on repayment of arrangements broken down by size of business.

Where businesses are struggling to meet their payments they are able to renegotiate an existing arrangement provided that HMRC believe the business is likely to be able to pay the tax due if given more time. All requests continue to be assessed on the same basis and there has been no change in HMRC's policy on offering Time to Pay in such circumstances.

Information about the number of businesses requesting extensions of their Time to Pay arrangements could currently be provided only at disproportionate cost, but it is intended to compile data in due course.

Taxation: Health Professions

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 1 December 2009, Official Report, column 655W, on health professions: pay, for what reasons (a) pharmacy contractors are and (b) appliance contractors are not zero-rated for value added tax. [306061]

Mr. Timms [holding answer 10 December 2009]: VAT is a broad-based tax on consumer expenditure and reliefs from it have always been strictly limited. When the UK joined the European Community (EC) in 1973, we signed up to the agreements which govern the application of VAT throughout the EC. Under these and successive agreements the UK is allowed to keep zero rates of VAT on certain items—many of which had been exempt from the purchase tax which preceded VAT—including drugs and medicines supplied by a pharmacist against a prescription. Most other goods and services became taxable at the standard rate and have remained taxable ever since. This includes most goods supplied by appliance contractors.

Taxation: Holiday Accommodation

Annette Brooke: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the potential effect of the repeal of the furnished holiday lettings rules on farmers who have diversified into tourism and related businesses. [306005]

Mr. Timms [holding answer 10 December 2009]: In 2007-08 approximately 60,000 individuals declared income from Furnished Holiday Lettings to HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC), approximately 2,500 of whom also declared income from farming. After the Furnished Holiday Lettings rules are withdrawn, these businesses will still be able to claim various tax reliefs including loss relief, a deduction for business expenses, and an allowance for capital expenditure. Therefore the impact on continuing, viable businesses is expected to be limited.

HMRC published an impact assessment on 9 December 2009, available at:

Valuation

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer with reference to the answer of 11 November 2009, Official Report, column 521W, on business improvement districts, whether the Valuation Office Agency has increased the rateable values of properties in the recent 2010 revaluation consequent on improved activity undertaken by business improvement district. [306557]

Ian Pearson: The aim of a rating valuation is to arrive at the rental value of the premises at the standard valuation date. Activity undertaken by business improvement districts will result in changes to the rating valuation of a property only if and when it materially affects the rental value of that property.

Welfare Tax Credits: Grandparents

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer for which tax credit schemes administered by his Department a retired grandparent is eligible in respect of a grandchild who is being fostered by that grandparent. [306735]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs administer child tax credit (CTC), child benefit and guardian's allowance. A grandparent or any other person who is responsible for the care of a child or qualifying young person is eligible to claim CTC, child benefit, and, in some circumstances, guardian's allowance for that child or qualifying young person providing the qualifying criteria are met.

However, where the child is placed in the care of the grandparent under a fostering arrangement, eligibility will be dependent on the terms of that arrangement. When a local authority pays for the child's accommodation and maintenance child benefit, CTC and guardian's allowance are not paid for the foster child in order to avoid duplicate provision. However, if exceptionally, the local authority does not do this then the foster parents may be eligible for child benefit, CTC and in some cases guardian's allowance for the foster child.

Welfare Tax Credits: Lancashire

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the average time taken to resolve disputed tax credit cases involving custody of children was in (a) Chorley and (b) Lancashire in each of the last three years. [306769]

Mr. Timms: This information is not available. HM Revenue and Customs endeavours to award all new claims as quickly as possible but delays can arise where enquiries have to be made and the conclusions are disputed.

Working Tax Credit

Jim Cousins: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the take-up rate of working tax credit is among (a) those also claiming child tax credit and (b) those not claiming child tax credit; and what assessment he has made of the effect upon such take-up rates of implementation of the relevant measures announced in Budget 2009. [305741]

Mr. Timms: Estimates of working tax credit take-up rates for 2006-07, which are the latest available, are provided in the HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) publication "Child and Working Tax Credit Take-up rates 2006-07". This publication is available at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/personal-tax-credits/cwtc-take-up2006-07.pdf

The Government recognise that more can be done for people without children, and has set an ambitious target to raise take-up of working tax credit among this group by 100,000 by April 2011. HMRC are making good progress by using a range of measures to reach eligible customers, such as writing to 10,000 households identified through PAYE records; partnership marketing with large employers and others, national and local marketing activity via radio and newspaper advertising, and by working jointly with the Department for Work and Pensions and local authorities as part of the In and Out of Work project.

Separate estimates of the impact of these activities on take-up rates are not available. However, HMRC estimate that taken together these will enable them to meet the target in April 2011.

Jim Cousins: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the eligibility rules on hours and incomes are for each type of working tax credit; and when these rules were last reviewed. [305807]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs publish detailed information and guidance on its website at:

www.hmrc.gov.uk/taxcredits/index.htm

and in leaflet WTC2 - Child Tax Credit and Working Tax Credit - A Guide available at:

www.hmrc.gov.uk/leaflets/wtc2.pdf

As I explained to my hon. Friend in the answer I gave him on 24 June 2009, Official Report, columns 897-98W, all aspects of tax credits are kept under review, with any decisions made as part of the Budget process.

SOLICITOR-GENERAL

Christmas

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Solicitor-General how many Christmas trees were purchased by the Law Officers' Departments in each of the last five years; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of. [305642]

The Solicitor-General: Where available, details on the purchases and polices of each Law Officers' Department are outlined as follows. In general where Christmas trees have been purchased attempts have been made to source and dispose of them in a sustainable way, as well as to keep costs to a minimum.

The Attorney-General's Office has purchased four Christmas trees during the last five years at a total cost of £409.60. This year due to cost cutting measures no tree has been purchased.

All the trees were purchased from suppliers who only buy trees from accredited sustainable sources. All the trees were recycled, ending up as wood chips for bridle paths or fertiliser. The exact breakdown of costs on a yearly basis is as follows:

|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 112.00 |
| 2006-07 | 105.85 |
| 2007-08 | 117.90 |
| 2008-09 | 74.85 |

The Serious Fraud Office has purchased the following Christmas trees over the last five years:

| | Number | £ (inc. VAT) |
|---|---|---|
| 2005 | 1 Christmas tree purchased from "Christmas Tree Land" | 56.99 |
| 2006 | 1 Christmas tree purchased from "Christmas Tree Land" | 64.98 |
| 2007 | 1 Christmas tree purchased from "Christmas Tree Land" | [1]70.00 |
| 2008 | 1 artificial tree hire service from "Phs Greenleaf" | 207.82 |
| 2009 | 1 'Real' tree hire service from "Phs Greenleaf" | 408.82 |

From 2005 to 2007 the Christmas trees purchased from "Christmas Tree Land" were grown on plantations and harvested like any other sustainable crop. The trees were disposed of via Camden Council's Christmas tree collection service. In 2008 the artificial tree was collected by Phs Greenleaf at the end of the hire period for reuse. In 2009 the 'Real' Tree from Phs Greenleaf was from a sustainable tree farm and will be collected by Phs, Gunnersbury branch, who dispose of trees via the local council who then use the chippings on pathways and nature trails throughout the borough.

HM Crown Prosecution Service Inspectorate (HMCPSI) purchases a maximum of one tree per annum which is situated in its reception area. HMCPSI does not record such costs separately from other general accommodation costs and is therefore unable to provide information in respect of past years. However, the amount spent in December 2009 was £39 and this is believed to be the highest amount.

Records are not kept on from where the trees were sourced, what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees and by what process the trees were disposed. Where possible and practicable all waste is recycled usually through its local authority.

Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office has made no purchases of "real" Christmas trees during each of the last five years. It did however purchase three artificial Christmas trees in November 2005, at a total cost of £300, all of which are still in use.

The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) does not keep central records of the number, cost, provenance or disposal arrangements in relation to Christmas trees and could provide this information only at a disproportionate cost.

The Treasury Solicitor's Department and the National Fraud Authority have not purchased any Christmas trees during the last five years.

Convictions

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how many and what proportion of cases which went to a contested trial resulted in convictions in each of the last five years. [305452]

The Solicitor-General: The following table shows the number of defendants whose case resulted in conviction or in an unsuccessful outcome after a contested hearing in each of the last five years.

Outcome of contested hearings

Magistrates court

| | Convicted after trial | Percentage | Dismissed | Percentage | Total contests |

| 2008-09 | 7,891 | 54.1 | 6,682 | 45.9 | 14,573 |

[1] Full implementation of the electronic Compass Case Management System in 2004 led to appreciable improvements in the quality and consistency of the data. Figures for 2004-05 are not directly comparable with the improved information recorded subsequently.

Crown Prosecution Service

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how much has been allocated in the Crown Prosecution Service budgets for (a) London and (b) each of its 42 regional offices for the employment of agency staff in each of the last three years. [305414]

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General what professional qualifications or skills are required of a Crown Prosecution Service area business manager. [305439]

The Solicitor-General: The Crown prosecution Service (CPS) requires its Area Business Managers (ABMs) to meet the leadership, core and professional skills requirements specified by the Professional Skills for Government (PSG) frameworks. We do not currently require further formal professional qualifications from staff to fill these roles. All ABMs are encouraged to undertake external accredited learning, such as Diplomas from the Institute of Leadership and Management. They are also required to maintain their finance, procurement, risk and performance management skills throughout the year, through a programme of learning and development.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how much the Crown Prosecution Service (a) spent and (b) allocated for the purposes of equality and diversity services in each of the last five years. [305440]

The Solicitor-General: The following table shows how much the Crown Prosecution Service has (a) spent and (b) allocated for the purposes of equality and diversity services in each of the last five years.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how much the Crown Prosecution Service spent on transporting to and from court at all stages prior to the conclusion of a trial defendants who had been arrested under bench warrants not backed for bail in each of the last five years. [305441]

The Solicitor-General: The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) has no role in the transportation of those accused of offences at any stage of legal proceedings.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how many diversity and equality managers have been employed by the Crown Prosecution Service in (a) London and (b) each of its 42 regional offices in each of the last five years; and at what cost such managers were employed in each such year. [305442]

The Solicitor-General: From 2004 to 2007 the Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) employed 10 Equality and Diversity Managers, one representing each of the 10 regional Service Centre groups, which included London. From 2007 to date, there have been two Equality and Diversity managers employed in London and 14 in the remaining parts of England and Wales, aligned to the CPS Group structure. The costs for employing such managers in 2004-05 were £319,230, in 2005-06 £320,770, in 2006-07 £321,660, in 2007-08 £458,724 and in 2008-09 £601,952.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how many disciplinary rulings have been made against Crown Prosecution Service staff in (a) London and (b) each of its 42 regional offices in each of the last five years. [305446]

The Solicitor-General: The number of Crown Prosecution Service staff dismissed for cause in each of the last five years is detailed in the following table. The CPS has not made any member of staff redundant over this period.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how many senior Crown Prosecution Service staff at grades above level D are High Court advocates; and at how many court sessions such staff advocated in court in each of the last five years. [305449]

The Solicitor-General: The Crown Prosecution Service currently employs 99 staff above level D who are higher court advocates. During the 2008-09 financial year, higher court advocates at level E or above conducted prosecutions at 1,425 sessions in the Crown court or higher courts. The following table shows the data for the last five completed years. For the years since 2007-08, these data include principal crown advocates, whose main function is the preparation and presentation of serious and complex cases at the crown court, as well as other senior lawyers in the CPS whose main function is in managing the operation of the prosecution service in London and across each of the 42 CPS areas. These staff are graded as senior civil servants, chief crown prosecutors, and level E unit heads.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General in how many cases prosecuted in each of the last five years the Crown Prosecution Service opposed bail; and in how many such cases in respect of which legal proceedings have been completed bail was not granted. [305455]

The Solicitor-General: The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) does not maintain central records relating to applications for bail.

To provide this information would involve checking paper records across the CPS and would incur disproportionate costs.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how many consultations the Crown Prosecution Service has initiated in each of the last five years; what the cost was of each such consultation; how many external consultants were contracted to provide services in respect of each such consultation; and what changes to prosecution policy were made as a consequence of each such consultation. [305456]

The Solicitor-General: The Crown Prosecution Service's answer is provided in the following table:

| Year of consultation exercise | Publication that was the subject of consultation | Whether external consultants were used |
|---|---|---|
| 2004 | Prosecuting cases of Domestic Violence | No |
| | Code for Crown Prosecutors | No |
| 2005 | Children and Young People | No |
| | Race Equality Scheme | Yes, external consultants used to conduct a consultation workshop. |
| 2006 | Prosecuting cases of Bad Driving | Yes, external consultants used to facilitate two focus groups and prepare reports based on the discussions. |
| | Single Equality Scheme | Yes, external consultants used to conduct a consultation workshop. |
| | Prosecuting cases involving the Intentional or Reckless Sexual Transmission of Infection | Yes, external consultants used to facilitate two focus groups and prepare reports based on the discussions. |

| Year of consultation exercise | Publication that was the subject of consultation | Whether external consultants were used |
|---|---|---|
| | Disability Hate Crime | Yes, external consultants used to facilitate a focus group and prepare a report based on the discussions |
| 2007 | Racist and Religious Hate Crime | No |
| | Crimes Against Older People | Yes, external consultants used to facilitate two focus groups and prepare reports based on the discussions |
| | Prosecuting cases of Homophobic and Transphobic Hate Crime | No |
| | Violence Against Women Strategy | No |
| 2008 | Prosecuting cases of Domestic Violence | Yes, external consultants used to conduct a consultation workshop |
| | Prosecuting cases of Rape | No |
| | Supporting Victims and Witnesses with Mental Health issues | Yes, external consultants used to facilitate two focus groups and prepare reports based on the discussions. (Same exercise for both publications.)[1] |
| | Supporting Victims and Witnesses with Learning Disabilities | |
| 2009 | Code for Crown Prosecutors (Note: this has been the subject of two separate consultations in 2009. The Director of Public Prosecutions considered that a number of issues had arisen that necessitated further consultation). | No |
| | Public Prosecution Service: Setting the Standard | No |
| | Assisted Suicide | No |
| | Core Quality Standards | No |

[1] Represents a brace

It is not possible to provide the discrete costs of the consultation exercise for each publication without incurring disproportionate costs.

The CPS has been able to identify which consultation exercises have involved the use of external consultants, although it has not been possible to provide the number of external consultants instructed without incurring disproportionate costs. Where external consultants have been involved only a single consultancy firm will have been contracted.

It is likely that there will have been changes made to each of the publications set out in the table following the end of the respective consultations, as the views and responses received in each of the consultation exercises were the subject of careful consideration, and the CPS will have incorporated suggested changes where they improved the publication. However, the CPS has not been able to identify the discrete changes made to each publication following consultation, as to provide this information for each publication would involve checking stored paper records across the CPS and again incur disproportionate costs.

It should also be noted that, as of 9 December 2009, the consultations on Assisted Suicide, Core Quality Standards, and the Code for Crown Prosecutors have not yet concluded, and no decisions have yet been made as to whether and how the publications should be revised in light of the responses received.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how many complaints of bullying, harassment or discrimination on grounds of (a) sexual orientation, (b) race, (c) disability and (d) gender were made against Crown Prosecution Service staff in (i) London and (ii) each of the 42 regional offices in each of the last five years; and how many such complaints are unresolved. [305457]

The Solicitor-General: Until 9 December 2009, there have been a total of 28 internal complaints relating to bullying, harassment or discrimination. Fourteen of these complaints are currently ongoing. None of these complaints relate to (a) sexual orientation; nine relate to (b) race; six relate to (c) disability and two relate to (d) gender. 11 of these complaints relate to bullying and harassment but were not categorised under the headings listed in (a) to (d). 12 internal complaints were raised in London—they included five race complaints, one disability complaint and six relating to bullying, harassment and discrimination. The remaining 16 complaints were raised in the CPS's areas outside London. A breakdown is provided in Table 1.

In 2008, there were a total of 36 internal complaints made relating to bullying, harassment or discrimination. Seven of these complaints are currently ongoing. None of the complaints relate to (a) sexual orientation; six relate to (b) race; six to (c) disability; and four relate to (d) gender. The remaining 20 internal complaints relate to bullying and harassment but were not categorised under the headings (a) to (d). From the 36 internal complaints, 12 were raised in London (they included th[illegible] race complaints and nine complaints relating to [illegible] harassment and discrimination). The remaining 2[illegible]sed in the CPS's areas outside London. A breakdown is provided at Table 2.

Prior to 2008, the CPS only held central records on the number of complaints made under the generic heading of bullying, harassment or discrimination. In 2005 there were 36 complaints, 15 of which were raised in CPS London; in 2006 there were 28 complaints with 15 being raised in London; and in 2007, there were 26 complaints, three of which were raised in CPS London. The following tables provide a further breakdown of the areas.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how many and what proportion of staff employed by the Crown Prosecution Service in (a) London and (b) each of its 42 regional offices are from black and minority ethnic groups; and whether a comparative estimate has been made of the proportion of the population comprised of people from black and minority ethnic groups in each such area. [305485]

The Solicitor-General: The current representation of black and minority ethnic (BME) staff in the CPS is 15 per cent. This compares with a national figure of 12.4 per cent. of the working age population being of BME origin. The CPS employs 41 per cent. BME staff in London, its highest representation of BME staff, compared with 35.8 per cent. of BME people of working age in London. In other CPS areas, the representation of BME staff range from 1 per cent. in Cumbria and North Yorkshire to 23 per cent. in West Midlands compared with a BME working population of 0.4 per cent. and 26.9 per cent. respectively. The following table provides a detailed breakdown of the data.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Hands: To ask the Solicitor-General how many plasma screen televisions the Law Officers' Departments have purchased since 2001; and what the cost has been of purchasing and installing such screens in each such year. [306773]

The Solicitor-General: The Attorney-General's Office have purchased two plasma screen televisions at a total cost of £3,549.20 since 2001.

In 2007 the Serious Fraud Office purchased four plasma screen televisions for its Elm House headquarters. The total cost was £9,239.70 (Plus VAT). The total cost for installation cabling and mounting of the plasma screens are estimated to be around £6,639.36 (plus VAT).

Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office has purchased one plasma screen television since 2001 at a cost of £1,755, which includes purchase and installation.

The Treasury Solicitor's Department has purchased the following plasma television screens since 2001, of them, five are for use in In-House Training and not for receiving television signals.

Plasma Televisions

| | Number | Cost (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2005 | 2 | [1]1,190 |
| 2006 | 2 | [1]1,700 |
| 2007 | 2 | [1]3,302 |

[1] Plus VAT

The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) has purchased nine plasma screen televisions during the period in question at a total cost of £15,738.02 including installation CPS central records only hold items that cost over the capitalisation threshold of £500 and it is possible that plasma television screen(s) have been purchased by CPS Area(s) at a lower cost. To obtain this information would require local managers to review all paper procurement records and would incur disproportionate cost."

Departmental Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Solicitor-General (1) what redesigns of websites operated by (a) the Law Officers' Departments and (b) its agency have taken place since 27 June 2007; and what the (i) cost to the public purse and (ii) date of completion of each such redesign was; [306173]

(2) what redesigns of websites operated by the Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office have been carried out since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306207]

(3) what redesigns of websites operated by the Crown Prosecution Service have taken place since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was; [306201]

(4) what redesigns of websites operated by the Serious Fraud Office have taken place since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306206]

The Solicitor-General: The information requested for each Law Officers' Department is outlined.

There has only been one redesign of the sole website operated by Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office since it was established on 18 April 2005.

The total cost for the strategy and planning, design and build, hosting and infrastructure, content provision, testing and evaluation and staff costs for the site was £58,741.20. The redevelopment of the site was completed on 12 December 2008.

The Treasury Solicitor's Department Operates Websites for Bona Vacantia, the Treasury Solicitor's Dept and the Government Legal Service. Since 27 June 2007 the only website redesign has been for Bona Vacantia. The cost of the redesign was £42,598.75 with the redesign being completed and the website available for use on 41 February 2009.

The Crown Prosecution Service has redesigned its website once since 27 June 2007. The total cost of the redesign was £60,085 and the work was completed on 31 March 2009.

The Attorney-General's Office built new websites for both itself and the National Fraud Authority earlier this year, the combined cost of both sites was £59,184.

The Serious Fraud Office has redesigned its website on one occasion since 2007. The work began in February 2009 and the completed website was launched on 2 October 2009. The final cost was £113,309.

HM Crown Prosecution Service Inspectorate has redesigned its whole website once since 27 June 2007. (i) There was no additional cost to the public purse as work was completed internally and was part of work stream anticipated for the publication team. (ii) The new website design was launched in March 2009.

Departmental Training

Mr. Baron: To ask the Solicitor-General how many overseas training courses were attended by civil servants in the Law Officers' Departments in the latest period for which figures are available; how many civil servants attended each course; and what the total cost to the public purse was of each course. [305886]

The Solicitor-General: During the last full financial year, 2008-09, three overseas training courses were attended by staff from Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office. A single member of staff attended each course, and the overall cost to the Department was £548.

The Crown Prosecution Service is a devolved organisation. Although expenditure data on overseas travel are available the Department does not keep central records of the reason for travel or how many overseas training courses have been attended by CPS staff nor the associated costs, and therefore the information requested could be provided only at a disproportionate cost.

No staff from the remaining Law Officers' Departments have attended any overseas training courses during the latest period for which figures are available.

Terrorism

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General what the (a) longest, (b) shortest and (c) average time taken from charge to final disposal was in each case prosecuted under terrorism legislation in respect of which legal proceedings have been completed in each of the last five years. [305453]

The Solicitor-General: The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) does not capture management information about the time taken from charge to disposal in cases prosecuted under terrorism, or any other legislation. The information requested could be obtained only by the individual analysis of case files, which would incur disproportionate cost.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General what the outcome was of each case in respect of which legal proceedings have been completed which was prosecuted under terrorism legislation in each of the last five years. [305454]

The Solicitor-General: The data requested can be found in the Home Office Statistical Bulletin 2009-09: Operation of police powers under the Terrorism Act 2000 and Subsequent Legislation – arrest, outcomes and stops and searches Great Britain 2008-09, published on 26 November 2009. This is available on the Home Office website at http://rds.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/whatsnew1.html

This bulletin brings together information on terrorism arrests, outcomes, and stop and searches previously published in separate statistical bulletins.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Affordable Housing: Construction

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many affordable homes have been built in (a) Ashford constituency and (b) Kent in each of the last 12 months. [304927]

Mr. Ian Austin: Information on new affordable homes is not available by constituency.

In 2008-09, 250 affordable homes were built in Ashford local authority and 1,940 in Kent.

These figures are from the Homes and Communities Agency Investment Management System (IMS), and local authority returns to CLG.

Figures are only available on a monthly basis from the IMS data, they are not available monthly from local authority returns. The monthly IMS figures are shown in the following table:

New Build affordable homes provided with funding by the HCA

| June | 0 | 40 |
| July | 0 | 10 |

| February | 10 | 420 |
| March | 90 | 670 |
| Total with HCA funding | 250 | 1,890 |

Note:
The figures have been rounded to the nearest 10, so the totals may not sum due to rounding.

Total affordable housing supply includes social rent, intermediate rent and low cost home ownership. Not all affordable housing is provided by new build completions, as some supply can come from acquisitions; in 2008-09, a total of 260 additional affordable homes were provided in Ashford, and 2,370 were provided in England (new build and acquisitions).

Affordable Housing: Rural Areas

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many homes were available in rural areas through the (a) HomeBuy Direct, (b) New Build HomeBuy, (c) First Time Buyers Initiative, (d) Open Market HomeBuy and (e) Social HomeBuy schemes on the latest date for which figures are available. [305037]

John Healey: For (a), 259 homes were available in rural areas with less than 10,000 inhabitants under HomeBuy Direct in 2009-10, as at end September 2009;

For (b), 408 homes were completed in rural areas with less than 10,000 inhabitants under New Build HomeBuy in 2009-10, as at end September 2009;

For (c), (d) and (e) First Time Buyers Initiative, Open Market HomeBuy and Social HomeBuy; we do not hold data centrally on the number of homes available in rural areas.

Homes and Communities Agency

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many homes in rural areas were built on exception sites in each year since 1989. [305041]

Mr. Ian Austin: The number of affordable homes provided on rural exception sites was 1,219 in 2008-09. This estimate is as reported by local authorities in the Housing Strategy Statistical Appendix. Figures are not available for earlier years.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many homes in rural areas were (a) available and (b) purchased through the (i) HomeBuy Direct, (ii) New Build HomeBuy, (iii) First-Time Buyer's Initiative, (iv) Open Market HomeBuy and (v) Social HomeBuy scheme in each of the last three years. [305273]

John Healey: For (i), HomeBuy Direct only became operational in February 2009.

For (ii), the number of New Build HomeBuy homes available and purchased in rural areas with less than 10,000 inhabitants in the last three years is as follows (separate information on homes available and purchased is not held centrally):

2008-09: 1,114

2006-07: 200

For (iii), the First Time Buyer's Initiative; the availability of homes and purchases in rural areas is not recorded separately.

Community Assets Programme

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many community asset transfers have taken place since the publication of the Quirk review. [306397]

Barbara Follett: In relation to the implementation of the Quirk Review, the Advancing Assets for Communities demonstration programme supported 50 local authority and community partnerships between 2007 and 2009 and over one-third of the 80 pilot projects supported are expected to complete successful transfer before 31 March 2010. The programme is supporting 22 partnerships in 2009-10 and will continue until 2011. Nationally there are no data for exactly how many community asset transfers have taken place but a recent survey by SQW consultants found that from a sample of 119 local authorities, 350 asset transfer projects are currently under way.

Community Infrastructure Levy

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate he has made of the yearly revenue to be generated by the Community Infrastructure Levy once operational; and whether such revenue will be classified as tax revenue for the purposes of the national accounting rules. [305931]

Mr. Ian Austin: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave her on 28 October 2009, Official Report, columns 456-57W.

Community Relations: Elderly

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps his Department is taking to reduce social isolation amongst elderly people. [305988]

Mr. Ian Austin: Communities and Local Government has various programmes and policies which contribute towards reducing social isolation among older people.

The Supporting People (SP) programme provides housing-related support which can help older people to maintain health and well-being, and take part in their communities. Between 1 April 2008 and 31 March 2009, SP outcomes data show 9,212 older people receiving long-term housing-related support services were supported to establish contact with external services, family or friends, and 6,757 were supported to participate in leisure, cultural, faith or learning activities.

Our work to create more cohesive, active and empowered communities includes strengthening third sector and voluntary organisations that will provide important support to local groups who are in a position to work actively in local communities. We are supporting a £5.5 million cross-Government scheme to promote intergenerational volunteering and encourage meaningful interaction between young and old generations.

Communities and Local Government encourages the adoption of Lifetime Neighbourhoods principles, and will shortly commission a report to provide advice to local authorities in making a reality of Lifetime Neighbourhoods.

Digital technology can also be extremely valuable in helping people to stay in regular contact with their families and friends. Communities and Local Government is working with the Department for Work and Pensions and other partners to deliver a commitment to run digital inclusion projects targeted at giving people in sheltered housing access to new technology.

Council Housing

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Welwyn Hatfield (Grant Shapps) of 22 June 2009, Official Report, column 642W, on council housing, if he will place in the Library a copy of the research reports on (a) rent analysis and (b) debt analysis. [305818]

Mr. Ian Austin: The documents have been placed in the Library. They have been available on the Communities and Local Government website since 21 July.

Council Housing: Rents

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which local authorities with council housing have not applied for financial support for reduced rent increases for council tenants. [305933]

Mr. Ian Austin: Harlow and North Kesteven district councils have not taken up the Government's offer of compensation to enable them to reduce their rent increases in 2009-10 to an average of 3.1 per cent.

Council Tax: Empty Property

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer of 16 October 2008, Official Report, column 1109W, on council housing: finance, whether local authorities which reduced their council tax discount on empty homes will be permitted to retain the additional revenue raised under the recalculation of the council tax base for the 2011-12 settlement. [306723]

Barbara Follett: All council tax revenue is retained by local authorities.

For the purposes of formula grant distribution, the council tax base for each authority is the number of Band D equivalent properties in their authority. The number of dwellings in each band is calculated by taking the number of dwellings on the valuation list and adjusting for various exemptions and discounts. This includes the number of dwellings that receive a discount because they are classed as long-term empty dwellings.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which conferences held overseas have been attended by civil servants based in his Department in the last three years; and what the cost to the public purse was of such attendance at each conference. [305872]

Barbara Follett: Records on overseas visits held in Communities and Local Government (CLG) do not identify separately the number made to attend foreign conferences or information on/or cost of what conferences were attended. This information can be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

All ministerial travel and travel by CLG staff is undertaken in accordance with the 'Civil Service Management Code' and the 'Ministerial Code'.

Departmental Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what redesigns of websites operated by (a) his Department and (b) its agencies there have been since 27 June 2007; and what the (i) cost to the public purse and (ii) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306170]

Barbara Follett: For information relating to the redesign of the Department's corporate website in August 2007, I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my hon. Friend the Member for Gloucester (Mr. Dhanda) on 20 May 2008, Official Report, column 264W.

The Department does not hold information on the website redesign of its agencies' sites centrally and so this information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many staff of his Department were in its redeployment pool on 1 (a) January, (b) April, (c) July and (d) October 2009. [306707]

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 1 January 2009 | 36 |
| 1 April 2009 | 57 |
| 1 July 2009 | 53 |
| 1 October 2009 | 52 |

As of 1 December 2009 the number of staff in the CTC had fallen to 33. Staff in the CTC undertake meaningful temporary roles while awaiting a permanent post, to widen their experience and alleviate pressure points in the business.

Departmental Publicity

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much his Department has spent on (a) ministerial photoshoots and (b) production of videos in which Ministers appear in the last three years for which figures are available. [305512]

| 2008-09 | 445 | 3,658 |

Empty Dwelling Management Orders

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how he evaluates the effectiveness of empty dwelling management orders. [304642]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Department is making a continuous assessment of the success of EDMOs through its regular contact with local authorities and the Empty Homes Agency.

Empty Property

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many long-term empty private homes there were in each Government office region in each year since 2003. [306399]

Barbara Follett: The number of long-term empty domestic dwellings in Leeds since 2004 are shown in the following table. Data prior to 2004 are not available and data are not available at constituency level.

| | Long-term empty dwellings |
|---|---|

| 8 October 2007 | 4,525 |
| 6 October 2008 | 4,712 |
| 5 October 2009 | 4,724 |

The data are taken from the Council Tax Base (CTB) form completed annually in the autumn by all billing authorities in England and returned to Communities and Local Government.

Details of the number of empty non-domestic hereditaments are not currently available.

Equality Bill 2008-09 then 2009-10

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Peterborough (Mr. Jackson) of 13 May 2009, Official Report, column

838W, on the Equality Bill, whether local authorities will be compensated under the new burdens principle for the costs to them of implementing the provisions of the Equality Bill. [305819]

Barbara Follett: The Government are committed to ensuring that all new burdens falling on local authorities are fully and properly funded so that there is no upward pressure on council tax bills. Where appropriate, funding is provided through the formula grant system or through specific grants.

Fire Services

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what his most recent estimate is of the date upon which each regional fire control room will become operational. [303477]

Mr. Malik: Under current planning assumptions the first regional fire control rooms are expected to become operational in spring 2011 and the last fire and rescue service will switch over by the end of 2012:

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the estimated gross cost of the FireControl project is over each of the next 15 years. [303462]

Mr. Malik: The estimated remaining FiReControl implementation project cost is circa £230 million. Beyond implementation Communities and Local Government has also committed to support any fire and rescue authority for whom operating costs are forecast to increase under the new networked control arrangements. The current estimate for this is £8.2 million each year.

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government for what reasons other than specification changes expenditure on the FiReControl project has exceeded the initial budget. [303482]

Mr. Malik: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to my hon. Friend the Member for Copeland (Mr. Reed) on 2 November 2009, Official Report, column 764W.

Fires: Death

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the average age was of those killed in domestic fires in each fire and rescue authority area in each year since 2000. [307180]

Mr. Malik: The information requested has been placed in the Library.

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many people have been killed in domestic fires in properties held under each type of housing tenure in each fire and rescue authority area in each year since 2000. [307189]

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many people of each (a) sex and (b) ethnicity have been killed in domestic fires in each fire and rescue authority area in each year since 2000. [307190]

Mr. Malik: The information requested has been placed in the Library.

Information on the number of fatalities by ethnicity has been collected only since the introduction of the new Incident Recording System. This was live across all of England and much of the UK from 1 April 2009. Data for 2009-10 will be available in summer 2010.

Flats: Construction

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many and what proportion of new completed dwellings in England have been flats in each year since 2000. [306748]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The Prime Minister announced on 20 November that Communities and Local Government would make £1 million available for local authorities in Cumbria to use as they see fit to assist communities in recovering from the floods.

Green Belt

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which local planning authorities have land with green belt designation. [306400]

Mr. Ian Austin: At 31 March 2009, a total of 197 local authorities had designated Green Belt land. The detailed list is in "Local Planning Authority Green Belt Statistics: England 2008-09 Annex 1", which can be found on the Communities and Local Government website at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/corporate/statistics/lagreenbelt2008

Historic Buildings: Planning Permission

Mr. Ian Austin: The Department received nearly 500 responses to the consultation exercise on draft Planning Policy Statement 15 (Planning for the Historic Environment). One of these was from the Royal Town Planning Institute, which submitted a joint response with the Institute of Historic Building Conservation. More than 50 were from heritage or conservation groups. All responses are now being considered, and a summary and analysis will be published before the end of January 2010.

Homelessness: Young People

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many people aged between 16 and 25 years have been registered as homeless in each year since 1997. [307024]

Mr. Ian Austin: Information about English local housing authorities' actions under the homelessness legislation (part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) is collected at local authority level, and published by the Department in the quarterly Statistical Release on Statutory Homelessness, available both in the Library and via the CLG website at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/corporate/statistics/homelessnessq32009

Data collected include the number of households accepted by local housing authorities as eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and in priority need, and therefore owed a main homelessness duty to secure that suitable accommodation is available ('homeless acceptances'). If a settled home is not immediately available, the authority must secure temporary accommodation (TA) until a settled home becomes available.

Figures on homeless acceptances by age group of the applicant, for each financial year since 1998-99 can be found in table 10(b) of the statistical release mentioned above. The table shows number of applicants who are aged between 16 and 24 years old. The equivalent 1997-98 figures can be found in earlier additions of the release, accessible from the following link:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/housing/housingresearch/housingstatistics/housingstatisticsby/homelessnessstatistics/publicationshomelessness

Homes and Communities Agency: Assets

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) pursuant to the answer of 25 November 2009, Official Report, columns 175-76W, on the Homes and Communities Agency, when and at what cost each of the negative valued assets held by the Homes and Communities Agency was acquired; [306906]

(2) pursuant to the answer of 25 November 2009, Official Report, columns 175-76W, on the Homes and Communities Agency, what negative valued assets are held by the Homes and Communities Agency; [306908]

(3) which of the negatively valued property interests owned by the Homes and Communities Agency are related to (a) lease or leaseback interests, (b) rental guarantees and (c) assets where disengagement is dependent upon expenditure which exceeds the amount expected to be realised through future asset sales. [307139]

John Healey: Negative value assets are held in Bristol (1), Gloucester (1), Winchester (1), Milton Keynes (4), Peterborough (1), and Trafford Park, Manchester (1).

Of these, three were included as part of the 82 redundant hospital sites purchased by the Urban Regeneration Agency, one of the HCA's predecessor bodies, during the 2006 financial year. The total liability associated with the three assets was £1.8 million.

The remaining six properties were originally taken on by the Commission for the New Towns, another of the HCA's predecessor bodies. Four of these were taken on over 10 years ago, and it is not possible to find the cost of acquiring these assets other than at disproportionate cost. Of the remaining two sites, one was taken on in 2004 for £19,000, and one in 2005. In the 2005 case, the rental guarantee of £49,000 only applied from 2009.

Of the nine property interests with negative assets, eight are in relation to rental liabilities existing on leasehold properties i.e. "lease or leaseback interests", and one is a rental guarantee. The HCA does not hold any asset where disengagement is dependent upon investment, the cost of which exceeds the value to be realised through future asset sales.

Housing

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment has been made of the effect on housing waiting lists of the recession. [306365]

Mr. Ian Austin: As at 1 April 2009 there were 1.76 million households on housing waiting lists in England. The number was 1.77 million in April 2008.

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what proportion of new completed dwellings in England were flats in each year since 1997. [307074]

Mr. Ian Austin: Figures on the proportion of new-build dwellings completed each year since 1997 that were flats are given in live table 254 on the Communities and Local Government website at the following link:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/documents/housing/xls/table254.xls

Housing: Autism

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps he plans to take under the Adult Autism Strategy to meet the housing needs of people with autism. [306287]

Mr. Ian Austin: CLG is working with the Department of Health to consider the housing needs of people with autism.

People with autism may have their housing needs met by the Supporting People programme which provides revenue funds for local authorities to commission housing related support services for vulnerable people in their area, to enable them to develop independent living skills. However, the programme is a locally delivered and managed programme and it is for each local authority to allocate the available resource based on local needs and priorities.

Public service agreement target 16 sets out the Government's aim that the most vulnerable adults are offered the chance to get back on a path to a more successful life by increasing the proportion of socially excluded adults in settled accommodation and in employment, education or training. CLG lead on the settled accommodation aspect of the PSA and the PSA 16 client group will include people with autism who are assessed as having a moderate to severe learning disability, or receiving secondary mental health services.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which section of his Department is responsible for implementation of the Autism Strategy in relation to housing. [306280]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Housing Management and Support Directorate is responsible for the housing aspect of the Adult Autism Strategy.

Housing: Elderly

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will develop a national strategy for retirement housing. [306271]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Government published their strategy for housing in an ageing society 'Lifetime Homes, Lifetime Neighbourhoods' in February 2008, which sets out our strategy for all types of housing, including specialised housing for older people, such as retirement housing.

One of the commitments in the 2008 strategy was to commission an innovation panel to look at the future of specialised housing for older people. This panel published its report 'HAPPI-Housing our Ageing Population: Panel for Innovation' last week, and we will be considering how the recommendations in the report can support the ongoing implementation of 'Lifetime Homes, Lifetime Neighbourhoods'.

Housing: Energy

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many and what proportion of (a) owner occupiers, (b) social tenants and (c) private tenants spent (i) between zero and three per cent., (ii) from four to six per cent., (iii) from seven to nine per cent. and (iv) 10 per cent. or more of their total household expenditure on electricity, gas and other fuels in each of the last three years. [307210]

Mr. Ian Austin: The following table provides estimates of the number and proportion of owner occupiers, social renters and private renters spending the requested proportions of their disposable income on electricity, gas and other fuels in 2005-06, 2006-07 and 2007-08. These estimates are based on data from the Office for National Statistics Expenditure and Food Survey.

Housing: Floods

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate he has made of the number of households displaced by flooding that have not been able to return to their homes following each incident of flooding in the last three years. [305231]

Ms Rosie Winterton: We do not keep information centrally on all flooding events as most are dealt with at the local level. We did monitor displaced households following the summer 2007 floods. Around 50 per cent. of households displaced by those floods had returned to their homes after six months. Around 80 per cent. had returned within 12 months and around 99 per cent. within 24 months.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assistance his Department provides to homeowners whose homes are flooded but who do not have flood insurance. [305232]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The Department provides assistance in respect of flooding in exceptional circumstances. Following the summer 2007 floods we made available flood recovery grant of £18.4 million to support the work of the hardest hit local authorities in helping those people in their communities in greatest need, whether insured or not. In addition, in July 2008, £30.6 million was allocated under the Restoration Fund to support their continued efforts to rebuild their communities.

Local authorities had flexibility to decide how best to use these funds based on their own local circumstances.

On 20 November, we announced that a Community Recovery Fund of £1 million would be made available to local authorities affected by the Cumbria flooding. Again this is for local authorities to support those people in their communities in greatest need, whether insured or not, and local authorities will have flexibility in how they can use the fund.

The Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) administers social fund crisis loans and community care grants, which provide help for the most vulnerable people with essential needs in an emergency. Crisis loans are intended for people on benefits or low income, and community care grants can only be used to help people on income-related benefits with little or no access to capital or other resources to meet the need.

Social fund crisis loans can be paid to people in work in circumstances such as these, where they are victims of a disaster and in need of immediate help.

Housing: Lighting

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what consideration he has given to the requirement for the output of domestic light bulbs to be measured in lumens; and whether the listing of an equivalent luminance in watts in addition to lumens would be permitted. [305934]

Dan Norris: I have been asked to reply.

From September 2010, EU Regulation 244/2009 under the Eco-design for Energy-using Products Directive will require manufacturers to label packaging with the lumen output of a lamp, in addition to the nominal lamp power (in Watts).

The lumen output will be required to be written in a font twice the size of the nominal power.

Housing: Prices

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the house price affordability ratio for households on (a) lower quintile and (b) median earnings was in each local authority area for the most recent quarter available. [305039]

Mr. Ian Austin: Communities and Local Government does not hold household earnings data down to local authority level. Therefore we are unable to derive house price affordability ratios based on household earnings.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the average house price was in each local authority area in each year since 1997. [305225]

Mr. Ian Austin: Data showing average (mean and median) house price in each local authority in each year since 2007 are available on our website at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/documents/housing/xls/table-585.xls

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the ratio of lower quintile house prices to lower quintile earnings was in each year since 1997. [306413]

Mr. Ian Austin: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given on 23 March 2009, Official Report, columns 71-72W, to the Member for Welwyn Hatfield (Grant Shapps).

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 8 December 2009, Official Report, column 305W, on housing: prices, what the average sale price of a home in a rural area was in each region in each year since 1997 in 2009-10 prices. [306909]

Mr. Ian Austin: The average sale price of a home in a rural area in each region at 2008 constant prices in each year since 1997 is presented as follows:

Housing: Research

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) when the report of research undertaken by Heriot Watt University into housing supply and future housing need was presented to his Department; and when he expects the report to be published; [305042]

(2) how much his Department has paid to Heriot-Watt University to undertake its research into housing supply and future housing need. [305043]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Department received a first draft report of the housing need research commissioned from Heriot-Watt University in October 2009. The report will be finalised after academic peer review. A publication timetable has not yet been fixed.

The cost of this research project is expected to be £163,256. To date, the Department has paid Heriot-Watt University £146,458.

Housing: Sprinkler Systems

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment has been made of the merits of installing sprinklers in new build (a) homes and (b) flats. [307069]

Mr. Ian Austin: The use of sprinklers and other fire suppression technologies in dwellings was considered in the review that led to the 2006 revision of Approved Document B. This document provides guidance on compliance with Part B (Fire safety) of the Building Regulations. The extensive review that preceded the development of this new guidance considered a four year research project looking at the issue from both an effectiveness and cost/benefit perspective.

Sprinklers have been shown to be an effective measure in reducing fire deaths. However, the review, which included public consultation, concluded that it would not be cost-effective to provide sprinklers in all new homes but that it would be reasonable to provide them in blocks of flats over 30 metres in height where the risks were shown to be greater. A provision to this effect was, therefore, included in the revised Approved Document.

Housing: Standards

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent estimate he has made of the cost of refurbishing an average home to meet the lifetime homes standard. [306396]

Mr. Ian Austin: In "The Future of the Code for Sustainable Homes—Making a Rating Mandatory", page 51 para. 3.3 sets out the range of costs for building to the Lifetime Homes Standard as being between £545 and £1,615. Revised costs are included in the impact assessment supporting the forthcoming consultation on the Code for Sustainable Homes which will be published shortly.

Local Government

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to his Department's press release of 7 December 2009, what other sources of data will be used to produce the report on the nation's civic health; which Department has lead responsibility for that report; what the budget is for that programme; and whether he plans to commission new research for that report. [306754]

Barbara Follett: The full list of data sources for the civic health report is still under consideration by the Department for Communities and Local Government (which has lead responsibility for its production). The budget for the programme is dependent on the exact nature of the report and is consequently undetermined at this stage. Nonetheless, the report will not require the collection of new data and so should prove relatively inexpensive to compile.

Local Government Finance

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what new burdens placed on local authorities since the adoption of the New Burdens principle have not resulted in associated compensation for councils. [305939]

Barbara Follett: The Government are committed to ensuring that all new burdens falling on local authorities are fully and properly funded so that there is no upward pressure on council tax bills. Where appropriate, funding is provided through the formula grant system or through specific grants.

Local Government Finance: Emergency Services

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the assumed share of the council tax base for the purposes of the local government finance settlement was for (a) police services and (b) fire and rescue services in each year since 1997-98. [307084]

Barbara Follett: The following table shows the share of council tax base used in calculating an authority's share of formula grant for each of the four tiers of authorities from 1997-98 to date.

| | Share of council tax base | | | |

| 2010-11 | 0.722079958 | 0.088692078 | 0.033356743 | 0.155871221 |

During the period 1997-98 to 2002-03, the shares of council tax base were set on the basis of national shares of total standard spending assessments for the services that each provides, using the control totals set out in annexe E of the Local Government Finance Report (England) for that year.

In addition, during the period 1997-98 to 1999-2000, the figures for inner London boroughs and the receiver for the Metropolitan police district were adjusted to allow for expenditure on probation and magistrates courts.

From 2003-04 onwards, the shares of council tax base have been set so that the percentage increase in grant for each damping group of authorities is broadly proportional to the underlying percentage increase in formula spending share/relative needs formula for that group. In 2003-04, the resulting shares for shire county councils and shire district councils in two-tier areas were adjusted to reflect in part the combined impact of raising the assumed national council tax from about £769.16 for 2002-03 to about £1,037.46 for 2003-04 on the distribution of council tax income for these two groups of authorities are taken together.

Local Government Services: Elderly

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer of 14 October 2009, Official Report, column 972W, on local government services: elderly, how much funding from each programme budget will be drawn from the reprioritised central budgets; and what estimate he has made of the monetary value of the (a) efficiency savings and (b) funds released by reprioritisation by local authorities. [306558]

Barbara Follett: The commitment to offer free personal care at home to those with highest needs is expected to cost up to £670 million in a full year. The Government, through the Department of Health, will provide the bulk of this funding (£420 million in a full year). The Government believe that it is right that councils play their part alongside central Government to help deliver the free personal care commitment and to contribute £250 million in a full year to the cost, through efficiencies and reprioritisation. It is for councils themselves to make decisions on how to deliver those further savings.

Local Government: Freedom of Information

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many requests were received by local authorities under the Freedom of Information Act in each of the last five years; and how many requests to local authorities under the Freedom of Information Act were responded to within 20 days in each such year. [306052]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The information requested is not held centrally.

Local Government: Standards

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what mailings and communications the Audit Commission has sent to prospective parliamentary candidates about comprehensive area assessment in the last 12 months; and for what purposes. [305925]

Ms Rosie Winterton: This is an operational matter for the Audit Commission, and I will ask the chief executive of the Audit Commission to write to the hon. Member direct.

Letter from Steve Bundred, dated 14 December 2009:

The Audit Commission sent an email to prospective parliamentary candidates of all parties on 18 November 2009. The email advised them of information about their local authority areas to be published on the new Oneplace website on 9 December 2009 and gave them the url of sample web pages.

The message noted the interest that their prospective constituents might take in impartial assessments of services and quality of life in local areas. The Commission's Managing Director, Communication and Public Reporting, sent a further email to prospective candidates on 9 December 2009 informing them that the Oneplace website was up and running and giving them its web address.

A copy of this letter will be placed in Hansard.

Mortgages

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many holders of buy-to-let mortgages in each region have defaulted on their mortgage repayments in each of the last 10 quarters. [305561]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Council of Mortgage Lenders collects and publishes data on the numbers of buy-to-let mortgages that are in arrears. However these data are only available for the United Kingdom as a whole.

Mortgages: Government Assistance

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many households in (a) Ashford constituency and (b) Kent have taken up the Homeowners Mortgage Protection Scheme. [304928]

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many households have received financial support under the (a) Mortgage Rescue Scheme and (b) Mortgage Homeowner Support Scheme in each local authority to date. [305937]

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many people in Preseli Pembrokeshire constituency have received assistance through the Mortgage Protection Scheme. [306653]

John Healey: We have acted rapidly in conjunction with lenders and money advice agencies to put in place a range of help and support for households struggling with their mortgage at every stage, and launched a campaign to ensure households have clear information about the help available. Most borrowers experiencing difficulties are able to agree a solution with their lender. In addition, the Government schemes provide a valuable backstop for those people who need further support. Over the last year over 330,000 homeowners have received help and advice with their mortgage.

Financial Services Authority figures show that in quarter 2 of this year 135,000 households were benefiting from an arrangement agreed with their lender, an increase of 74 per cent. on the previous year.

The proportion of the mortgage market now committed to offering the Government-backed scheme or similarly extended forbearance without the need for Government guarantee is now more than 90 per cent. UK wide management information collected from these lenders and money advice agencies shows:

> Over 33,000 loans were benefiting from extended forbearance where lenders were accepting less than contractual monthly payments or where loans had been modified to make monthly payments more affordable for the borrower;
> 6,000 of these loans were deferring interest as part of an arrangement equivalent to the Homeowners Mortgage Support scheme, and only 15 have so far needed the formal backstop of HMS and have been registered for the Government-backed guarantee following the five-month qualification period.

Mortgage Rescue Scheme summary monitoring statistics are published on a quarterly basis on the Department's website. Figures can be accessed using the following link:

> http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/corporate/statistics/mortgagerescuestatistics

Quarterly figures reported by local authorities from January to September 2009 are provided in a table which has been placed in the Library.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much has been spent by his Department on (a) the set up and ongoing costs of the Mortgage Help website and (b) publicity for the initiative since its launch. [307147]

John Healey: The Mortgage Help website and accompanying publicity campaign are both ongoing projects, costs for which are not yet finalised.

The Department will publish detailed annual costs for these activities, and other communications expenditure, as is established practice at the time of its next Annual Report.

Multiple Occupation

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many indicators and datasets councils must submit to his Department as part of the Register of Licensed Houses in Multiple Occupation regime; with what frequency; and for what reasons those data are not included in the National Indicator set. [305927]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Register of Licensed Houses in Multiple Occupation collects 31 data items in one dataset. Local authorities are asked to provide data once a quarter. These data are collected to monitor the 2004 Housing Act and were not intended to be part of the National Indicator set.

Non-Domestic Rates: Fire Services

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much has been paid in empty property business rates in respect of each regional fire control room liable for such rates. [303478]

Mr. Malik: The North West Regional Control Centre (RCC) has paid £47,808.73 in business rates and the South East RCC has paid £3,939.54.

No other business rates have been paid.

Ordnance Survey

Mr. Mark Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether he plans to revise Ordnance Survey's Business Strategy published on 23 April 2009 with reference to the announcement of 17 November 2009 on access to Ordnance Survey data. [306348]

Mr. Ian Austin: The purpose of the forthcoming consultation is to hear feedback on the most appropriate future business strategy for Ordnance Survey in order to deliver access to certain geographic information for free re-use.

Recycling

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many local authorities are making facilities available for the recycling of Christmas trees in 2009. [305564]

Dan Norris: I have been asked to reply.

The Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs does not hold the information requested. The Government believe local authorities are better placed to make decisions on the best waste management strategy for their local area, so we do not direct or interfere in the decisions they make. This includes the facilities local authorities make available for recycling Christmas trees. It does however, encourage local authorities to consult extensively with residents, to ensure their opinions and preferences are taken into consideration.

Regional Planning and Development

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment has been made of the effect of the removal of the needs test in planning guidance on levels of out-of-town development. [306388]

Mr. Ian Austin: Annexe A to the impact assessment of the draft Proposed Changes to Planning Policy Statement 6: "Planning for Town Centres", which we published for consultation in July 2008, sets out our assessment of the effects of removal of the need test on levels of out-of-town development.

Regional Planning and Development: Finance

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much public funding the regional assemblies and their successor bodies will receive in 2010-11. [306389]

Mr. Ian Austin: We are still awaiting business plans from regional assemblies and successor bodies which will set out their funding requirements for 2010-11. However, we have said that overall resources need to be reduced in 2010-11 compared to 2009-10.

Rented Housing

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many right to manage companies exercised their right to take over the management of properties in each year since the implementation of the Commonhold and Leasehold Reform Act 2002. [307138]

Mr. Ian Austin: Communities and Local Government does not hold information on the number of RTM companies that have registered as a company and have gone on to acquire the right to manage, or information in respect of yearly breakdowns since implementation of the right to manage in October 2003.

Repossession Orders: Rural Areas

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many homes in rural areas were repossessed in each year since 1997. [305062]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Department does not collect information on mortgage possessions and arrears although information for the United Kingdom as a whole is published separately by the Council of Mortgage Lenders (CML) and the Financial Services Authority (FSA). These are not split by whether the mortgage was for a home in a rural area or not.

Sheltered Housing

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps his Department is taking to ensure that sheltered housing residents are consulted on any changes proposed by service providers; what sanctions are available to his Department in respect of service providers who do not consult residents prior to taking decisions on changes to service provision; and if he will make a statement. [305992]

Mr. Ian Austin: Changes to services provided under the Supporting People programme, including in sheltered housing, are a matter for the individual local authority concerned. However we have made clear that any changes should only be implemented after meaningful consultation with residents.

CLG does not impose sanctions on providers of services as it is local authorities which have a contract with providers, not CLG. However, CLG have developed a framework, called the quality assessment framework (QAF) whereby authorities are able to measure the standard of the services which are being delivered to service users. To meet the necessary standard the service must take account of service user views.

In response to concerns raised about changes to sheltered housing services, Lord McKenzie chairs a ministerial working group which will produce guidance to providers and commissioners on consultation and engagement with residents, and a complaints guide to make residents more aware of how best to raise concerns they may have.

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will instruct local authorities to provide residential wardens for sheltered housing schemes in circumstances in which existing residents signed tenancy agreements on the understanding that such wardens would be provided. [306272]

Mr. Ian Austin: The provision of residential wardens in sheltered housing schemes is a matter for local authorities. Local authorities determine what services to provide, including the provision of resident wardens in sheltered accommodation, based on local needs and priorities.

Social Rented Housing: Asbestos

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will require the owners of social housing to inform residents of such housing of the presence of asbestos in their housing and its communal areas. [305566]

Mr. Ian Austin [holding answer 9 December 2009]: Guidance published by the Health and Safety Executive states that in the case of the common parts of domestic premises such as lift and stair spaces in flats, there is a duty placed on those with maintenance and repair responsibilities to provide information on the location and condition of the material to anyone who is liable to work on it or disturb it.

Social Rented Housing: Insurance

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what progress has been made on reviewing his Department's guidance Insurance for All: A good practice guide for providers of social housing. [305073]

Mr. Ian Austin: The document 'Insurance for All: a good practice guide for providers of social housing' was published by the Housing Corporation in April 2001. Revision of the document was one of four recommendations on insurance in Sir Michael Pitt's review of the summer of 2007 floods which the Government accepted.

Six-monthly reports on the progress of the recommendations accepted by the Government are available on the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs website at:

http://www.defra.gov.uk/environment/flooding/risk/floodreview2007.htm

The latest report is currently being finalised and will be published shortly.

Social Rented Housing: Property Transfer

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether he has made a recent estimate of the number of housing transfers within housing associations in South East London. [304998]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Department has not made any estimate of the number of housing transfers within housing associations. However, the following table lists those local authorities in south-east London who since 1997 have transferred all or part of their housing stock to registered social landlords under a large scale voluntary transfer programme.

| Local authority | Date of transfer | Registered social landlord |
|---|---|---|
| LB Bexley | 9 February 1998 | Orbit Bexley |
| LB Bexley | 9 February 1998 | London and Quadrant |

| Local authority | Date of transfer | Registered social landlord |
|---|---|---|
| LB Greenwich (Charlton Triangle) | 29 March 1999 | Charlton Triangle Homes Limited |
| LB Lewisham (Phoenix) | 3 December 2007 | Phoenix Community Housing Ltd. |
| LB Lewisham (Grove Park) | 7 July 2008 | London and Quadrant Housing Trust |
| LB Lewisham (Lee) | 12 October 2009 | Broomleigh |

Social Rented Housing: Waiting Lists

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will rank local authorities in England by the number of applicants on their waiting lists for social housing (a) on 2 December 2009, (b) in April 2009, (c) in 2008 and (d) in 2007; how many such applicants there were on each such waiting list in each case; and if he will make a statement. [304777]

Mr. Ian Austin: Information is available on numbers of households rather than applicants. The number of households on the local authority housing waiting list is collected on the Housing Strategy Statistical Appendix (HSSA) as at 1 April each year.

Where local authorities and registered social landlords operate a common register, households registered with the RSL will be included in the data. However, registered social landlords are independent bodies and can keep their own waiting lists.

A table has been placed in the House Library ranking the number of households on the local authority waiting lists for each local authority in England as at 1 April each year for 2007, 2008 and 2009.

Supporting People Programme

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps his Department is taking to promote best practice by local authorities in the provision of services under the Supporting People programme. [305989]

Mr. Ian Austin: CLG has developed a Supporting People Quality Assessment framework (QAF) and a Supporting People Outcomes framework. The QAF enables local authorities to measure the standard of the services which are being delivered to service users and the Outcomes Framework shows the benefits attained by individuals of using the services. CLG will continue to promote the use of both the QAF and Outcomes Framework in the procurement and delivery of Supporting People services.

In addition CLG have convened a Supporting People Transition Board to support the sector, including local authorities, to deliver the Supporting People programme in an un-ringfenced environment.

Tenancy Deposit Schemes

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment has been made of the financial stability of tenancy deposit schemes. [307079]

Mr. Ian Austin: The three tenancy deposit protection schemes are operated by private companies and are self-financing. Communities and Local Government monitors all three schemes and holds regular contract governance meetings with the scheme providers.

Tenant Services Authority: Manpower

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many staff will be directly employed by the Tenant Services Authority; and what the estimated number is of staff who will conduct inspections for the authority without being employed by it. [306409]

Mr. Ian Austin: The number of staff directly employed by the Tenant Services Authority (TSA) is set out in their annual report and accounts which was laid in Parliament on 5 November 2009.

Travelling People: Republic of Ireland

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent assessment he has made of the rate of migration of Travellers to the United Kingdom from the Republic of Ireland; and whether any assessment has been made of the effect of the new criminal trespass laws in the Republic in affecting migration patterns. [305942]

Mr. Malik: A "common travel area" is in place between the United Kingdom and Ireland, and therefore no record is kept of the movement of particular ethnic groups between the two countries.

Communities and Local Government publishes data twice yearly on the number of Gypsy and Traveller caravans in England. Recent data do not indicate any unexpected increases in the number of Gypsy and Traveller caravans.

Valuation: Tribunals

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how many disputes relating to (a) service charges and (b) TV aerial digital switchover were dealt with by the Leasehold Valuation Tribunal service in (A) each of the last three years and (B) 2009 to date; [307136]

(2) how many long leases were varied by the Leasehold Valuation Tribunal service under the terms of Part IV of the Landlord and Tenant Act 1987 in each of the last 10 years; [307137]

(3) how many disputes of each category were dealt with by the Leasehold Valuation Tribunal service in each of the last three years. [307140]

Mr. Ian Austin: The information is as follows:

Cases dealt with by the Residential Property Tribunal Service 2006-09

| | 2006 | 2007 | 2008 | 2009[1] |
|---|---|---|---|---|

|---|---|---|---|---|
| Others | 33 | 27 | 32 | 24 |
| Total | 8,161 | 8,227 | 8,281 | 8,218 |

[1] Projected.

Notes:

1. 'Fair rents' cases are those involving regulated tenancies under the Rent Act 1977.
2. 'Market rent' cases are those involving assured and assured shorthold tenancies established under the Housing Act 1988.
3. 'Right to buy appeals' are determinations made by residential property tribunals as to the suitability of housing for occupation by the elderly.
4. 'Housing Act 2004' cases relate to those powers given to residential property tribunals in respect of the Housing, Health & Safety Rating System, management orders under the Act and the licensing of houses in multiple occupation.

Projected totals for 2009 are based on actual figures for the first 10 months of the year, extrapolated to 12 month totals.

The information sought on how many long leases were varied by the Leasehold Valuation Tribunal service under the terms of Part IV of the Landlord and Tenant Act 1987 in each of the last 10 years, which is only held from 30 September 2003 when jurisdiction was transferred from the courts to Leasehold Valuation Tribunals, is not immediately available.

I will write to the hon. Member as soon as this information becomes available.

The number of disputes dealt with by Leasehold Valuation Tribunals relating to service charges in each of the last three years, and 2009 to date, are identified in the above table.

I am aware of one dispute dealt with by the Leasehold Valuation Tribunals in 2009 relating to digital switchover. However, no specific records are kept identifying the disputed components of each individual service charge case dealt with by Leasehold Valuation Tribunals, including disputes relating to TV aerial digital switchover.

ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Biofuels: Power Stations

Nia Griffith: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what biomass power stations are (a) in operation and (b) under construction. [307630]

Joan Ruddock: With regard to the number of biomass power stations in operation, I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave to my hon. Friend the Member for Middlesbrough, South and East Cleveland (Dr. Kumar) on 3 November 2009, Official Report, column 889W.

We do not keep figures centrally for the number of biomass power stations under construction.

Boilers

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what assessment he has made of the number of inefficient domestic boilers in (a) public and (b) private housing; and how long he estimates it will take to replace them under the proposed scrappage scheme. [307622]

Joan Ruddock: We estimate that there are about 4.5 million domestic boilers which are "G-rated" or worse. While we do not hold sufficient information to say what percentage are in social housing or private housing stock, an analysis of the English Housing Condition Survey suggests social housing is less likely to contain G-rated boilers, following years of investment under programmes such as Decent Homes. The Greener Boiler Incentive will provide £400 for up to 125,000 homes who seek to replace working G-rated Boilers with more efficient heating technologies. In addition Building Regulations require broken boilers to be replaced with more efficient boilers. Currently 1.5 million boilers a year are replaced.

Caparo Group

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change whether (a) Ministers and (b) officials in his Department have met Angad Paul in each of the last three years. [303109]

Joan Ruddock: Since the creation of the Department of Energy and Climate Change in October 2008, Ministers and officials have in the course of business met and consulted with a wide variety of public and private sector individuals and organisations.

Climate Change: International Cooperation

Clive Efford: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will make it his policy to seek an agreement to eradicate the use of hydrofluorocarbons in refrigeration and air conditioning systems in his discussions at the United Nations Climate Change Conference in Copenhagen. [305883]

Joan Ruddock: Together with the EU, the UK is committed to working for an international hydrofluorocarbons emissions reduction arrangement as one of the outcomes of Copenhagen.

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what meetings he plans to hold with non-governmental organisations at the United Nations Climate Change Conference in Copenhagen. [307345]

Joan Ruddock: At the Copenhagen climate change summit, my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State and I will hold regular meetings with a wide range of non-governmental organisations.

Climate Change: Publicity

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what steps the Act on $CO_2$ Campaign has taken to offset the carbon dioxide emissions generated through its activities. [304019]

Joan Ruddock: All agencies working on the Act on $CO_2$ campaign are briefed to meet the campaign objectives in a carbon efficient way.

DECC will offset direct $CO_2$ emissions from Act on $CO_2$ campaigns since 2007, specifically transportation and electricity use during advertising shoots and public events.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many people have called the Act on $CO_2$ advice line to seek advice on saving money since its inception. [304053]

Joan Ruddock: Since its inception in April 2008 until the end of October 2009, 866,866 people have called the Act on $CO_2$ helpline.

Departmental Buildings

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the energy efficiency rating is for each of his Department's buildings in London. [306321]

Joan Ruddock: The Energy Performance Operational Rating for 3 Whitehall Place is 150 on scale F.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the (a) energy rating and (b) energy band is of each building occupied by his Department and its agencies. [306432]

Joan Ruddock: The Energy Performance Operational Rating for 3 Whitehall Place is 150 on scale F. Atholl House is located in Scotland and therefore has no requirement to have an energy rating.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change which conferences held overseas have been attended by civil servants based in his Department since its inception; and what the cost to the public purse was of such attendance at each conference. [305866]

Joan Ruddock: This information is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Domestic Visits

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change on how many occasions he visited (a) Scotland, (b) Wales and (c) Northern Ireland in an official capacity in the last 12 months. [303487]

Joan Ruddock: In the course of his official duties, my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State has visited Scotland twice and Wales four times in the past 12 months. He has not made an official visit to Northern Ireland during the last 12 months.

Departmental Freedom of Information

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many requests under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 his Department received in 2008; and how many of these received a substantive response within 20 days. [305495]

Joan Ruddock: Statistics published by the Ministry of Justice on Freedom of Information in central Government for 2008 show that of a total of 45 non-routine requests received by the Department (based on aggregated quarterly data) 64 per cent. (29) received a substantive response within 20 days.

71 per cent. (32) of requests were dealt with 'in time', that is within 20 days by meeting the deadline or other permitted extension deadline.

The statistics can be found on the Ministry of Justice website at:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/freedomofinformationquarterly.htm

and copies are available in the Libraries of the House.

Departmental Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what redesigns of websites operated by (a) his Department and (b) its predecessors have been carried out since 27 June 2007; and what the (i) cost to the public purse and (ii) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306162]

Joan Ruddock: The Department of Energy and Climate Change was created on 3 October 2008, and its official corporate website:

http://www.decc.gov.uk/was launched on 23 February 2009. There has been no requirement for a redesign since the launch.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the purposes were of the reception held by his Department on 10 November 2009; how many guests were invited; how many attended; and what the cost was. [303397]

Joan Ruddock: The reception was held to support the communication of the UK's objectives in the run up to the UN negotiations on climate change in Copenhagen in December.

158 guests were invited. We do not have a record of the exact number who attended. The cost was £3,122.72.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what payments the Energy Saving Trust has made to Positif Politics Ltd. in the last 12 months; and what (a) representations his Department has received from and (b) discussions it has had with Positif Politics Ltd. on the Energy Saving Trust in that period. [305434]

Joan Ruddock: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave him on 21 July 2009, Official Report, columns 1627-8 W.

The Energy Saving Trust is a private company limited by guarantee, and details of payments made are therefore a matter for the Trust's Board.

During the last 12 months, DECC has not received any representations from nor engaged in any discussions with Positif Politics Ltd., regarding the Energy Saving Trust.

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what payments the Energy Saving Trust has made to Stratagem in the last 12 months; and what (a) representations his Department has received from and (b) discussions it has had with Stratagem on the Energy Saving Trust in that period. [305435]

Joan Ruddock: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to him on 21 July 2009, Official Report, columns 1627-8W.

The Energy Saving Trust is a private company limited by guarantee, and details of payments made are therefore a matter for the Trust's Board.

During the last 12 months, DECC has not received any representations from nor engaged in any discussions with Stratagem, regarding the Energy Saving Trust.

Departmental Publications

Nigel Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will place in the Library a copy of the Memorandum of Understanding between his Department and the British Geological Survey on the operation of the National Geoscience Data Centre in Gilmerton, Edinburgh. [305808]

Joan Ruddock: A copy of the Memorandum of Understanding has been placed in the Libraries of the House.

Departmental Security

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many security passes his Department has issued to contractors providing consultancy services in the last 12 months. [303948]

Joan Ruddock: DECC's access control policies are implemented in line with the HMG Security Policy Framework, Mandatory Requirements 56, 57 and 58. The Department does not have the information requested as there is no requirement for the DECC pass system to specifically identify contractors who are providing consultancy services to the Department.

Departmental Taxis

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many miles (a) Ministers and (b) officials in his Department and its predecessors travelled by taxi in the course of their official duties in each year since 1997; and at what cost to the public purse in each such year. [302707]

Joan Ruddock: The Department of Energy and Climate Change was established in 3 October 2008.

Mileage information is not collected when taxi claims are submitted by officials using taxi hire companies. For ministerial taxi travel using the Government Car and Despatch Service where travel mileage is available the distance recorded for the period 3 October 2008 to 31 March 2009 is 915 miles.

The total cost for ministerial and official taxi travel in the period 3 October 2008 to 31 March 2009 was £63,000.

Departmental Travel

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change on what date he last travelled by (a) bus and (b) taxi in the course of his official duties. [302727]

Joan Ruddock: In the course of his official duties, my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State last travelled by taxi on 11 November 2009. All travel by Ministers is undertaken in accordance with the 'Ministerial Code'.

Departmental Written Questions

John Mason: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many questions tabled for answer on a named day his Department received in each of the last 12 months; and to how many such questions his Department provided a substantive answer on the day named. [305379]

Joan Ruddock: For the period 1 December 2008 to 30 November 2009 357 named day questions were tabled to DECC and of these 104 received substantive answers on the day.

Energy Supply

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what steps have been taken in relation to the possibility to exercise the reserve powers provided under the Energy Act 2008 for the Government rather than Ofgem to set the grid access regime. [304470]

Mr. Kidney: The Government launched a consultation on options for grid access reform on 25 August 2009, and this closed on 17 November. The consultation document was placed in the House Libraries, and is also available from the DECC website at:

http://www.decc.gov.uk/en/content/cms/consultations/improving_grid/improving_grid.aspx

We are currently considering responses received to the consultation and will publish a Government Response alongside a further, technical consultation on our preferred option and the changes to industry codes and licences associated with implementation in early 2010. We intend to implement the changes to codes and licences to ensure the regime can take effect from June 2010.

Energy Supply: Cybercrime

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will consider the merits of bringing forward legislative proposals for a mandatory duty for energy utility companies to report breaches in their cyber-security to Ministers. [302669]

Mr. Kidney: Existing good practice is that a cyber security breach resulting in a loss or compromise of customers' details would be reported to the Office of the Information Commissioner. DECC works closely with other areas of Government (notably the Office of Cyber Security (OCS) and the Centre for the Protection of National Infrastructure (CPNI)) to identify and mitigate vulnerabilities in the national infrastructure that could be exploited by cyber threats, and to share best practice across the critical national infrastructure.

If a cyber security breach impacts an energy utility company's operational capability leading to security of supply concerns, I have existing procedures (including my Department's emergency response plans) and existing powers (including, where appropriate, emergency powers under the Energy Act 1976) to intervene.

Energy: Conservation

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the budget is of the Community Energy Saving Programme; and which organisations will coordinate the associated community energy assessors. [307080]

Joan Ruddock: We expect the energy companies to deliver around £350 million worth of energy efficiency measures in discharging their obligations under the Community Energy Saving Programme (CESP).

The obligated energy companies are responsible for the energy advice delivered under CESP. Such advice must be delivered in accordance with the Electricity and Gas (Community Energy Saving Programme) Order 2009 and Ofgem's supporting CESP guidance.

Energy: Housing

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the Home Heat helpline; and whether his Department collects data on the uptake of home energy support benefits in each constituency. [304682]

Joan Ruddock: The Home Heat Helpline is run through the Energy Retail Association and is funded by the energy suppliers. Spend by suppliers on the Home Heat Helpline is reported on and monitored by Ofgem under the voluntary agreement between suppliers and the Government for spending on programmes of social assistance. Ofgem's latest report is available online at:

http://www.ofgem.gov.uk/Pages/MoreInformation.aspx?docid=263&refer=Sustainability/SocAction/Suppliers/CSR

The DECC-funded Warm Front scheme, which operates in England only, provides a range of energy saving measures to applicants in receipt of certain passports benefits. Eaga plc, the scheme manager, gathers performance data by region, local authority area and constituency on behalf of the Department.

Fuel poverty is a devolved matter, and devolved Governments collect their own data.

The Carbon Emissions Reduction Target (CERT) is a GB-wide obligation that requires the big six energy suppliers to report measures installed to the regulator, Ofgem. Measures installed are reported at GB level and no information on where this occurs is currently kept. To address this deficiency, the Government are negotiating a voluntary agreement with the energy suppliers for them to report the installation of measures into the Homes Energy Efficiency Database (HEED) managed by the Energy Saving Trust, and it is hoped to conclude these negotiations shortly.

Energy: Meters

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many households in (a) Jarrow constituency, (b) South Tyneside, (c) the North East and (d) the UK had (i) electricity and (ii) gas pre-payment meters in each of the last 10 years. [303646]

Mr. Kidney: Ofgem monitors and publishes information about gas and electricity prepayment customers. However, prepayment data are not collected on a parliamentary constituency or borough council basis. Ofgem published figures for the 10-year period in its Domestic Suppliers Social Obligation 2008 report. The number of customers in Great Britain using prepayment meters was:

Customers in Great Britain using prepayment meters

Million

| | 1999 | 2000 | 2001 | 2002 | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 | 2008 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Gas | 1.6 | 1.8 | 1.8 | 2.0 | 2.0 | 2.1 | 2.2 | 2.3 | 2.3 | 2.4 |
| Electricity | 3.7 | 3.5 | 3.8 | 3.7 | 3.7 | 3.6 | 3.6 | 3.6 | 3.6 | 3.6 |

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many domestic energy customers in each (a) constituency and (b) local authority area use pre-payment meters. [304492]

Mr. Kidney: Ofgem monitors and publishes information about gas and electricity prepayment customers. However, data are not collected on a parliamentary constituency or local authority basis. In June 2009, the last period for which data have been published, the number of customers in Great Britain using prepayment meters was 2,464,377 for gas and 3,698,628 for electricity. In Scotland, the number of customers using prepayment meters was 242,688 for gas and 476,794 for electricity.

Fuel Poverty

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what recent estimate he has made of the number of households living in fuel poverty in (a) Chesterfield constituency, (b) Derbyshire and (c) England. [307167]

Mr. Kidney: The most recent available sub-regional split of fuel poverty relates to 2006, and shows that there were around 4,900 fuel poor households in the Chesterfield constituency and around 54,500 fuel poor households in the county of Derbyshire.

More recent figures are available for England. These show that in 2007, there were around 2.8 million fuel poor households in England.

Gas and Electricity Markets Authority: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what payments Ofgem has made to Finsbury in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract governing those payments. [305065]

Mr. Kidney: Ofgem made the following payments to Finsbury for communications related activities:

| Financial year | Total paid (£) |
|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 29,006.16 |
| 2003-04 | 62,067.47 |
| 2004-05 | 11,308.36 |
| 2005-06 | 0 |
| 2006-07 | 0 |
| 2007-08 | 0 |
| 2008-09 | 0 |
| 2009-10 | 0 |
| Total | 102,381.99 |

The Department does not hold any information on the commercial contract between Ofgem and Finsbury. I have therefore asked Ofgem's chief executive to write to the hon. Gentleman direct.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much the Office of Gas and Electricity Markets has spent on hotel accommodation for its officials in each of the last five years. [306042]

Mr. Kidney: Ofgem does not record specific information on expenditure on hotel accommodation but it does publish annual information on overall travel and subsistence expenditure. Over the last five years, its expenditure on travel and subsistence has been as follows:

| Period | Expenditure (£000) |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 504 |
| 2005-06 | 689 |
| 2006-07 | 771 |
| 2007-08 | 603 |
| 2008-09 | 603 |

I have liaised with Ofgem over this reply. As it explains, Ofgem does not record specific information about hotel costs. This reply draws on information published in Ofgem's annual resource account statements which are available through its website.

Members: Correspondence

Mr. McLoughlin: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change when he expects to reply to the letter from the right hon. Member for West Derbyshire of 24 August 2009 concerning Hydropower in Derbyshire, ref: PM/OP/Hydropower. [307165]

Joan Ruddock: My noble colleague Lord Hunt of King's Heath OBE responded on 8 December 2009. Such a delay is obviously unacceptable and my officials have investigated the reasons for the error and are adjusting correspondence handling procedures to prevent this happening again.

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change when his Department expects to publish its response to the report on energy security by the right hon. Member for Croydon North. [307229]

Mr. Kidney: My right hon. Friend the Member for Croydon, North (Malcolm Wicks) has raised a number of important issues which we are studying carefully and the Government will publish a response in due course.

Official Engagements

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what meetings he has had with the Government's Chief Sustainability Officer in the last 12 months. [304484]

Joan Ruddock: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State has regular meetings with ministerial colleagues, officials and others.

Scientists

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change on how many occasions he has met (a) the Government chief scientific adviser and (b) his Department's chief scientific adviser in the course of his official duties in the last 12 months. [303964]

Joan Ruddock: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State has regular meetings with ministerial colleagues, officials and others.

Solar Power

Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change for what reasons his Department ceased to accept applications for funding for photovoltaic projects under phase two of the Low Carbon Buildings Programme on 30 November 2009; and if he will make a statement. [306668]

Joan Ruddock: In Budget 2009, my right hon. Friend the Chancellor announced a further £45 million for LCBP to allow for grant funding continuity up to the introduction of Green Energy Cash-backs (feed-in tariffs) on 1 April 2010 and Renewable Heat Incentives (RHIs) on 1 April 2011. Technology 'pots' were created to allow for equitable support for all microgeneration technologies from the LCBP programme.

Following consultation with the industry, an initial 'pot' of £14 million was set for Solar PV under Phase-2 of LCBP. This was subsequently increased to £18 million due to unprecedented demand.

We currently have approximately £5.7 million worth of applications for PV being evaluated under Phase-2 and this will exhaust the total allocation for PV. As a result, we closed LCBP-2 to new PV applications from 1 December 2009 in line with our discussions with industry.

Of the £45 million announced in Budget 2009, we anticipate that we will commit over £19 million to Solar PV.

Phase-1 which provides support for householders remains open to new applications for Solar PV until 31 March 2010.

Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what steps he has taken to ensure the continuous availability of funding for solar photovoltaic projects; and if he will make a statement. [306669]

Mr. Kidney: The Low Carbon Building Programme (LCBP) will provide continuity of grant provision up until the introduction of Green Energy Cash-backs (FITs) in April 2010 for the Phase-1 (householder stream). The demand for grants for solar photovoltaic technology under the Phase-2 scheme (communities and other not-for-profit organisations) has been unprecedented and we have found it necessary to close that programme to new applications, however we are currently processing a backlog of £5.7 million worth of applications for PV projects.

Grant funding for microgeneration technologies including Solar PV will be available through the recently announced PAYS pilot scheme starting in December 2009 and further grant funding will be available for communities participating in the Low Carbon Communities Challenge. In both these programmes, the choice of technology will be defined by the applicants but will include Solar PV.

Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what grant assistance is available for non-domestic users of solar photovoltaic energy. [306670]

Joan Ruddock: The Low Carbon Buildings Programme will close to applications for electrical microgeneration, including Solar PV on 31 March 2010 when feed-in tariffs (FITs) will be introduced. Due to unprecedented demand, the Phase-2 scheme (non-domestic) has been closed to new Solar PV applications from 1 December 2009 as we have approximately £5.7 million worth of applications for PV waiting to be processed.

The introduction of FITs in April 2010 will replace the LCBP grant support for electrical generation equipment and is anticipated to further stimulate the market through a tariff mechanism.

Grant funding will be available from the Low Carbon Communities Challenge, the choice of technology will be defined by the applicants but will include Solar PV.

Warm Front Scheme

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many claimants received assistance under the Warm Front programme in each of the last three years; how many such claimants were not reimbursed for the full cost of work carried out under the Warm Front scheme in each such year; and if he will make a statement. [305701]

Mr. Kidney: The number of households assisted under Warm Front in the last three complete years, alongside the number of households who received works whose value was in excess of the grant limit, are as follows:

| | Assisted households | Households asked to contribute |
|---|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 253,079 | 35,805 |
| 2007-08 | 268,900 | 59,830 |
| 2008-09 | 233,504 | 51,405 |
| 2009-10 (to 30 November 2009) | 157,111 | 8,466 |

Mr. Andy Reed: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what monitoring process is in place to ensure the quality of work carried out under the Warm Front scheme; and if he will make a statement. [305982]

Mr. Kidney: Due to the vulnerable nature of Warm Front applicants, the scheme pays particular attention to maintaining the highest possible standards of safety, quality and customer care. As manager of the scheme, Eaga continually monitors contractor performance using customer satisfaction surveys, with the best performing contractors receiving.

Additionally, upon completion of installation, 100 per cent. of heating and 5 per cent. on insulation installations (chosen randomly) are inspected by experienced independent engineers to ensure the necessary standards are met.

Alongside these measures, the Department has also appointed independent quality assurors, White Young Green, to carry out six-monthly and ad hoc audits of installer performance.

BUSINESS, INNOVATION AND SKILLS

Broadband

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what estimate he has made of the proportion of households that have a broadband internet connection in each local authority area. [304041]

Mr. Timms: No such estimates have been made.

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what proportion of households have a broadband internet connection in (a) rural areas of England and (b) Herefordshire. [304043]

Mr. Timms: The Department does not have information on the proportion of households connected to broadband in (a) rural areas of England and (b) Herefordshire. However, figures from the Ofcom Communications Market Report: English regions of August 2009, indicate that 65 per cent. of households in rural England, and 58 per cent. of households in rural West Midlands, have fixed broadband connections.

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what steps he is taking to ensure that consumers can access third party provider services via broadband services provided by regulated private companies. [304132]

Mr. Timms [holding answer 7 December 2009]: I understand that the hon. Gentleman is concerned about a specific situation in which he says access to 118 directory inquiries services is restricted by BT through their "Home Hub" broadband product.

BT's Home Hub is a wireless internet router which facilitates a range of services including broadband and a Voice Over Internet Protocol (VoIP) telephone capability. BT provides access to their own directory enquiries service (118 500) through the VoIP service and restricts access to other directory inquiries services. This restriction is limited to the Home Hub VoIP service as customers can access other 118 numbers through their normal BT phone, or by prefixing the number with five when using their VoIP phone to access their public switched telephone network line. Users are also free to access 118 services through the internet.

A recent Significant Market Power (SMP) review by Ofcom found that "call origination for Voice over Broadband (VoB) calls is not the same market as wholesale call origination on a narrowband network" and as such, BT are within their rights to restrict access to other directory inquiries services.

Ofcom have recognised that as VoIP/VoB services develop and increase in significance they may need to re-examine their judgment and possibly include VoIP/VoB calls in BT's end to end connectivity obligation. In the mean time, the Department and Ofcom are keen to encourage commercial negotiation between BT and the affected service providers to find a resolution to this ongoing dispute.

Broadband: South East

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what recent assessment he has made of the adequacy of broadband coverage in (a) Lewes constituency, (b) East Sussex and (c) the South East. [304277]

Mr. Timms: The Department does not hold the information in order to make a recent assessment of the adequacy of broadband coverage in (a) Lewes constituency, (b) East Sussex and the south-east. However, in its Communications Market Report: English Regions, published in August 2009, Ofcom estimates that in the South East, 99.98 per cent. of households were connected to a DSL-enabled BT exchange and 84 per cent. of households were connected to an unbundled local exchange.

Business: Eastbourne

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many (a) small, (b) medium-sized and (c) large businesses in Eastbourne have received funding under the Regional Loans Transition Fund scheme since the scheme was established. [303746]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Regional Transition Loan Funds were established by the Regional Development Agencies as a time limited measure while national instruments such as the Enterprise Finance Guarantee Scheme were put in place. In the South East England Development Agency region the Transition Fund provides loans of up to £150,000 for small and medium-sized enterprises that are facing liquidity issues arising from the adverse financial credit squeeze. The Transition Fund is financed by SEEDA and managed by Finance South East. One business in Eastbourne has applied for funding under this scheme since it was established. This application was turned down as it did not meet the eligibility criteria. For comparison, in the SEEDA region over the same period, 141 businesses enquired about these loans, 27 businesses were offered funding and 20 have so far received funding, of which two are based in East Sussex. In those circumstances where companies did not meet the criteria a range of advice through the Business Link network has been made available, such as business health checks. Over 95,000 businesses have benefited from this service to date across England, including 17,851 in the South East.

Business: Government Assistance

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many businesses in each (a) parliamentary constituency, (b) local authority area and (c) Government Office region had received funding under the (i) Enterprise Finance Guarantee, (ii) Working Capital, (iii) Trade Credit Insurance Guarantee, (iv) Capital for Enterprise Fund and (v) Automotive Assistance Programme scheme on the latest date for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [302137]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The reporting structure for each scheme differs in terms of the availability of information at constituency, local authority, and regional levels.

The Enterprise Finance Guarantee is a temporary loan guarantee scheme aimed at facilitating additional bank lending to viable small and medium sized enterprises. Decision-making on individual loans is fully delegated to participating lenders and is done on commercial grounds.

Figures on the Enterprise Finance Guarantee are available at constituency and at local authority level, a copy of which shall be deposited in the Library of the House. For brevity, following are figures for the number and value of loans offered and drawn within each region as of 26 November.

| Region | Number of new loans offered to customer | Total value of offered loans (£ million) | Number of new loans drawn by customer | Total value of drawn loans (£ million) |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| East Midlands | 486 | 52.83 | 416 | 44.24 |
| East of England | 757 | 66.97 | 613 | 54.70 |

| Scotland | 464 | 61.43 | 395 | 54.33 |
| Northern Ireland | 72 | 13.58 | 56 | 10.41 |
| Total UK | 6,691 | 677.29 | 5,496 | 547.93 |

Under the 'Working Capital Scheme', £2 billion of guarantees has been provided to two banks to free up regulatory capital for new lending to UK companies. Companies themselves do not apply for guarantees under the Working Capital Scheme (WCS) and are not aware that their loans are guaranteed under the WCS. No records are kept by parliamentary constituency or region of companies who have loans underpinned by WCS guarantees.

As a result of action by the Government and the regulatory authorities leading to improvements in capital markets since the introduction of the WCS, the Government have been able to allocate resource provision for the WCS to other measures to support businesses.

As of 20 November, 72 suppliers have purchased 'Trade Credit Insurance' under the Government Top-up Scheme, in the following Government offices/constituencies. We do not analyse the information per local authority area:

As of 26 November, with respect to the £75 million Capital for Enterprise Fund equity scheme, the appointed fund managers have so far made offers totalling £68.2 million to 44 businesses. 11 businesses have accepted the terms of the funding offered with a total value of £17.9 million. The fund managers continue due diligence on these, and the further proposals that have been put forward. Eight businesses have received investment totalling £12.2 million, two based in the East Midlands, one in London, two in Scotland, two in the South East and one in Yorkshire and Humber. I am not providing a breakdown by parliamentary constituency or local authority as this could make it possible to identify the individual companies that have received support.

With regard to the Automotive Assistance Programme, on 18 September 2009, BIS announced the offer of a £10 million loan to Tata Motors European Technical Centre to support £25 million of investment in the Coventry area to develop and manufacture electric vehicles in the UK.

Climate Change Projects Office

Gregory Barker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what the aims and objectives are of his Department's Climate Change Projects Office. [304472]

Mr. McFadden: The Climate Change Projects Office (CCPO) is the UK Government's primary contact for business involved in the international carbon market (particularly climate change projects under the Kyoto Protocol—Clean Development Mechanism and Joint Implementation projects that generate tradable carbon credits). The CCPO supports and promotes UK private sector involvement in the market. The CCPO is based in the Department for Business and is joint-funded by the Department for Energy and Climate Change. Details about the CCPO's work can be found in the UK CCPO annual report 2008/09, copies of which have been placed in the House Libraries.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Baron: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills which conferences held overseas have been attended by civil servants based in his Department since its inception; and what the cost to the public purse was of such attendance at each conference. [305865]

Mr. McFadden: The Department does not centrally record details of conferences held overseas attended by civil servants. To obtain this information would require searching through four departmental and IT systems and entail disproportionate costs.

The Department will soon publish details of expenses of senior staff on the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills website, overseas conferences attended will be included.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Hands: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many plasma screen televisions his Department has purchased since its inception; and what the cost has been of purchasing and installing such screens. [306085]

Mr. McFadden: This Department's Estates section has not purchased any plasma screen televisions since its inception in June.

Information is not held centrally for any purchases of plasma screens that may have been made by individual Directorates within the Department.

Departmental Public Expenditure

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what the cost to the public purse was of the review of employee engagement commissioned by his Department and conducted by David MacLeod and Nita Clarke. [304573]

Mr. McFadden: The external costs (excluding VAT) associated with conducting the employee engagement review, and with publication of the report in July 2009, were £192,678.

Electric Cables: Standards

Mr. David Anderson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what steps his Department is taking to protect the public from the risks posed by installation of electrical cables which do not meet approved standards. [304007]

Jonathan Shaw: I have been asked to reply.

Where examples of electrical cables which do not meet the recognised approved standards are reported to the Health and Safety Executive (HSE) the matter is investigated by inspectors who enforce, among other supply legislation, the Electrical Equipment (Safety) Regulations 1994 (EESR). Inspectors have the power to prohibit further supply of electrical cables whose foreseeable use represents a risk of serious harm to persons. Where defective products are already in the supply chain action can be taken to require suppliers to warn and advise their customers.

Examples of defective electric cables imported from Asia are currently under investigation. More generally, inspectors will shortly be carrying out an exercise to examine samples of cables in use on construction sites in the UK. Depending on the findings, besides prohibiting the supply and use of any found to be seriously defective, the HSE will propose a wider market surveillance project to the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills on the supply of cables into the industrial and domestic market.

Energy and Climate Change Unit

Gregory Barker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what the aims and objectives are of his Department's Energy and Climate Change Unit. [304473]

Mr. McFadden: The Low Carbon Business Opportunities Unit and the Energy and Climate Change Unit in BIS have now joined together to form the Low Carbon Business Team. The Low Carbon Business Team aims to capture the economic and industrial opportunities for the UK from the global shift towards a Low Carbon economy and ensure the views of UK business are properly taken into account in the development of policies across Whitehall. They will be working together, taking a strategic approach to ensure industry is in a position to capitalise on business opportunities arising from the transition to a low-carbon economy.

EU Law

Gregory Barker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what (a) statutory instruments and (b) other regulations to meet obligations arising from EU law his Department has brought forward in the 2005 Parliament. [304171]

Mr. McFadden: Central records of statutory instruments made under specific powers have only been maintained by the statutory instruments registrar since 2001. There are no central records maintained of "other regulations". Since that time the Department and its predecessors have made 235 statutory instruments to meet obligations arising from EU Law, under powers contained in the European Communities Act 1972.

Freight

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills pursuant to the answer of 3 December 2009, Official Report, column 982W, on freight, if he will break down by mode of transport the number of road freight companies which have (a) become insolvent, (b) ceased trading for other reasons and (c) been started up in each of the last 10 years. [306641]

Ian Lucas: Further to the answer of 3 December 2009, in answer to part (a), The Insolvency Service do not currently collect or maintain a record of figures at the level of detail below "Land Transport". The figures provided in the answer of the 3 December are the most detailed available to answer part (a).

At the most detailed level of classification, the "freight transport by road" industry is identifiable. However, it is not possible to distinguish the mode of transport within this standard industrial classification.

Responsibility for statistics relating to business start-ups and closures ("births" and "deaths") has moved from the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills to the Office for National Statistics (ONS). Tables 1 and 2 record statistics received from the ONS in response to (b) and (c) above. These represent those figures which are both readily available and most similar in coverage to the figures for insolvencies, but they should not be treated as being entirely consistent and, in particular, the ONS figures will include some businesses that are not registered companies.

Higher Education: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many students from Leeds West constituency (a) attended university courses and (b) received student loans to attend university courses in each year since 1996-97. [306599]

Mr. Lammy: The latest figures from the Higher Education Statistics Agency (HESA) on enrolments from Leeds, West parliamentary constituency are shown in the table. Reliable information on student loans received is not available at constituency level.

Higher Education: Lewes

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many people from Lewes constituency became full-time undergraduate students in each year from 2002-03 to 2007-08; and how many such people (a) were from and (b) had parents from each socio-economic group. [306957]

Mr. Lammy: The latest available information from the Higher Education Statistics Agency is shown in the following table.

Figures are provided for full-time undergraduate entrants aged under 21, and 21 and over, as data on socio-economic class are gathered on a different basis for these two distinct age groups. Socio-economic class is derived from information on occupation: for entrants aged under 21 this is based on the occupation of their parent, and for those aged 21 and over it is based on their own occupation.

Figures for the 2008/09 academic year will be available from the Higher Education Statistics Agency in January 2010.

Internet

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills when his Department first informed the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers of its plans to bring forward proposals for new powers in relation to internet domain registries in the Digital Economy Bill. [305484]

Mr. Timms: The Department contacted ICANN in July to inform them that the Government were preparing reserve powers in respect of internet domain name registries.

Internet: Copyright

Mr. Watson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what estimate his Department has made of the cost of peer-to-peer file sharing of copyrighted material to the UK film industry in each year since 1999; if he will publish his Department's analysis upon which such an estimate is based; and if he will make a statement. [306025]

Mr. Timms: The Government have not carried out a study into the cost of unlawful peer-to-peer file-sharing to the UK film industry. However, the UK Film Council in 2006 estimated the total cost of copyright infringement to the UK film industry to be £388 million of which digital infringement is estimated to have cost the industry £202 million. The 2007 estimates were £404 million total cost, of which digital infringement £224 million. While digital infringement will include other forms of infringement than peer-to-peer, it is likely that it will account for a large proportion of the estimated figure. In the June 2009 consultation document IPSOS research, commissioned by the industry, was included that calculated losses in 2007 from unlawful peer-to-peer file-sharing to the film and television industries of £152 million.

Mr. Watson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what estimate his Department has made of the cost of peer-to-peer file sharing of copyrighted material to the UK games industry in each year since 1999; if he will publish his Department's analysis upon which such an estimate is based; and if he will make a statement. [306026]

Mr. Timms: The Government have not carried out a study into the cost of unlawful peer-to-peer file-sharing to the UK games industry. However, according to the Entertainment and Leisure Software Publishers Association (ELSPA) in their response to the consultation on this subject published last year, for the six-month period January to June 2008 industry, online monitoring of a selection of ELSPA members' games found over 350,000 infringing video game files for the UK. Globally, the monitoring of those games found over 11 million infringing video game files.

Mr. Watson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what estimate his Department has made of the number of people who shared copyrighted material through peer-to-peer technology in the UK in the latest period for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [306027]

Mr. Timms: The Government have not carried out a study into the number of people who share copyrighted material unlawfully through peer-to-peer technology. Commonly quoted industry figures suggest around 6.5 million regular file-sharers, but it will be an early task for Ofcom under the Digital Economy Bill to set an authoritative baseline for the level of online infringement, and monitor the level of such infringement as the initial obligations begin to be applied.

Mr. Watson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what estimate his Department has made of the cost of peer-to-peer file sharing of copyrighted material to the British music industry in each year since 1999; if he will publish his Department's analysis upon which such an estimate is based; and if he will make a statement. [306055]

Mr. Timms [holding answer 10 December 2009]: The Government have not carried out an independent assessment of the cost of unlawful peer-to-peer file-sharing to the music industry. However, music industry research estimates that in 2008 they suffered losses as a consequence of such activity of £180 million. This figure, clearly identified as an industry estimate, was used in the consultation document issued in June 2009 on this topic.

Mr. Watson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many meetings (a) Ministers and (b) officials have held with representatives from (i) the Federation Against Copyright Theft, (ii) the British recorded music industry and (iii) the Open Rights Group in the last 12 months. [306114]

Mr. Lammy: Ministers and officials from the Department have held numerous meetings in the last 12 months with the Federation Against Copyright Theft, the British Recorded Music Industry and the Open Rights Group.

Internet: EU Law

Mr. Watson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills whether his Department has made an assessment of the likely effects of EU Directive 2000/31/EC on the provisions outlined in the Digital Economy Bill, with particular reference to articles (a) 12, (b) 13, (c) 14, and (d) 15 of the Directive; and if he will make a statement. [306030]

Mr. Timms: The Government believe the Digital Economy Bill is fully compliant with Directive 2000/31/EC.

Internet: Security

Mr. Watson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills (1) what estimate his Department has made of the number of (a) residential customers and (b) business customers who have unencrypted wireless internet connections in the UK; [306028]

(2) what assessment he has made of the number of wireless routers in the UK that are protected by (a) WEP, (b) WEP2 and (c) WPA1 encryption; and if he will make a statement. [306029]

Mr. Timms: We do not collect data on the number of wireless networks that are protected by encryption nor the relative use of the various security techniques available. Get Safe Online advises home users to protect their wireless networks from intrusion by applying encryption.

Invoices

Chris Huhne: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what steps his Department has taken to prevent the practice of issuing unsolicited invoices to businesses for inclusion in internet and business city guides; and whether any prosecutions have been brought for offences related to this practice. [306816]

Kevin Brennan: Section 3 of the Unsolicited Goods and Services Act 1971 imposes requirements as to how agreements may be made for entries in business directories. A person will not be liable for any charge for inclusion in a directory of an entry relating to that person or his business unless that person has agreed to the charge. Local Trading Standards Services have a duty to enforce the legislation, although the Department does not hold information on the number of prosecutions brought.

National Geoscience Data Centre

Nigel Griffiths: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills if he will publish the costings of each of the four options considered in the British Geological Survey's Tribal Group report on the closure of the National Geoscience Data Centre in Gilmerton, Edinburgh. [305729]

Mr. David Hamilton: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills if he will publish the costings of each of the four options considered in the British Geological Survey's Tribal Group report on the closure of the Survey's engineering and core store in Loanhead, Midlothian. [305730]

Mr. Lammy: The full report by the Tribal Group including the costings and net savings for the four options is available on the website of the British Geological Survey:

http://www.bgs.ac.uk/about/InformationManagementReport.html

Post Office

Mr. Newmark: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills for what reasons a sub-postmaster's or sub-postmistress's contract may be terminated. [306500]

Mr. McFadden: I have asked Alan Cook, Managing Director of Post Office Ltd., to respond directly to the hon. Member and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Libraries.

Post Office: Disciplinary Proceedings

Mr. Newmark: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills whether sub-postmasters and sub-postmistresses are permitted to be accompanied by (a) solicitors and (b) other people independent of the Post Office at disciplinary meetings. [306497]

Mr. McFadden: I have asked Alan Cook, Managing Director of Post Office Ltd., to respond directly to the hon. Member and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Libraries.

Mr. Newmark: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many sub-postmasters and sub-postmistresses have been subject to disciplinary action in respect of incidents related to the use of the Post Office Horizon system; and what standards of proof are used by the Post Office when investigating such incidents. [306499]

Mr. McFadden: I have asked Alan Cook, Managing Director of Post Office Ltd., to respond directly to the hon. Member and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Libraries.

Mr. Newmark: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills who conducts appeal proceedings in respect of disciplinary action taken against Post Office employees. [306501]

Mr. McFadden: I have asked Alan Cook, Managing Director of Post Office Ltd., to respond directly to the hon. Member and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Libraries.

Post Offices

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many post offices in (a) urban and (b) rural areas in each region have closed in each year since 25 December 2004; and if he will make a statement. [306520]

Mr. McFadden: I have asked Alan Cook, Managing Director of Post Office Ltd., to respond directly to the hon. Member and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Libraries.

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many post offices in (a) urban and (b) rural areas in each region Post Office Ltd. has identified for closure in (i) 2010, (ii) 2011 and (iii) 2012; and if he will make a statement. [306639]

Mr. McFadden: The Government have said that they will not support a further programme of post office closures so no post offices have been identified for future closure. However, neither the Government nor POL can prevent the closure of individual post offices where, for example, a sub-postmaster decides to retire or resign and a replacement cannot be found. The Government's access criteria will continue to apply across the UK.

We are providing up to £1.7 billion to 2011 to support a network of around 11,500 branches; this includes a £150 million annual social network payment to support non-commercial sub-post offices, in urban as well as rural areas, from April 2008. We also recognise that there will be a continuing need for network support payments beyond 2011.

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many people in (a) urban and (b) rural areas in each region live (i) less than one miles, (ii) less than two miles, (iii) less than three miles and (iv) three miles or more from the nearest post office; and if he will make a statement. [306640]

Mr. McFadden: I have asked Alan Cook, Managing Director of Post Office Ltd., to respond directly to the hon. Member and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Libraries.

Post Offices: Information and Communications Technology

Mr. Newmark: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what changes to the Post Office Horizon system will be made in the development of a new system. [306498]

Mr. McFadden: I have asked Alan Cook, Managing Director of Post Office Ltd., to respond directly to the hon. Member and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Libraries.

Mr. Newmark: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what timetable he has set for the implementation of the new Post Office Horizon system; and what his most recent estimate is of the cost of implementing that system. [306493]

Mr. McFadden: I have asked Alan Cook, managing director of Post Office Ltd, to respond directly to the hon. Member and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Libraries.

Mr. Newmark: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what mechanisms are in place for independent audit and checking of the new Post Office Horizon system prior to its implementation. [306494]

Mr. McFadden: I have asked Alan Cook, managing director of Post Office Ltd, to respond directly to the hon. Member and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Libraries.

Mr. Newmark: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what estimate he has made of the likely savings to the Exchequer consequent on the implementation of the new Post Office Horizon system. [306495]

Mr. McFadden: In 2007, the Government agreed a business plan with the Post Office for the period to March 2011. This was linked to the funding of up to £1.7 billion which the Government are providing to the Post Office over that period. The business plan sets out a range of cost saving measures being undertaken by the Post Office, including upgrades to its Horizon IT system. These measures will in total provide an annual cost saving of over £200 million from 2011 and Post Office Ltd is on target to achieve this. POL's progress on delivering these cost savings is monitored by the Shareholder Executive.

Mr. Newmark: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills whether the Post Office Horizon system will be examined by independent auditors prior to its replacement. [306496]

Mr. McFadden: I have asked Alan Cook, Managing Director of Post Office Ltd., to respond directly to the hon. Member and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Libraries.

Postal Services Commission: Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how much the Postal Services Commission has spent on hotel accommodation for its officials in each of the last five years. [306045]

Mr. McFadden: This is an operational matter for which Postcomm has direct responsibility. I have therefore asked Postcomm's Chief Executive, Tim Brown, to reply direct to the hon. Member.

A copy of the response will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Postal Services Commission: Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what redesigns of websites operated by the Postal Services Commission have been carried out since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306210]

Mr. McFadden: This is an operational matter for which Postcomm has direct responsibility. I have therefore asked Postcomm's Chief Executive, Tim Brown, to reply direct to the hon. Member.

A copy of the response will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Public Sector: Information

Mr. Mark Field: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills with reference to the announcement on 17 November 2009 on the Making Public Data Public initiative, what steps are being considered by the Government to increase the availability of public sector information to business, individuals and community organisations. [306350]

Mr. Timms: The Government's overall policies and plans for increasing the availability and re-use of public data are set out in "Putting the Frontline First: Smarter Government" (Cm 7753), published on 7 December.

Mr. Mark Field: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what the terms of reference are for his Department's Making Public Data Public initiative; and if he will make a statement. [306484]

Mr. Timms: The terms of reference for the initiative led by Sir Tim Berners-Lee OM and Professor Nigel Shadbolt are as follows:

In the last two years the Government's work on the power of information has shown how the information revolution has the potential to transform Government and public services.

The Government have accepted all of the recommendations of the Power of Information Taskforce to open up access to Government information for free re-use.

In particular, and linked to its wider programme of Public Service Reform, the Government are committed to implementing and to extending to the wider public sector the principle that public sector information should be available under straightforward licences and in standard formats for others to re-use: the principle that public sector information should be public.

In the next six months, Sir Tim Berners-Lee will serve in an advisory capacity to the Minister for the Cabinet Office, and he will work with Professor Nigel Shadbolt to form a panel of technical and delivery experts to oversee the rapid implementation of key recommendations, including:

(1) Overseeing the creation of a single online point of access for all public UK datasets—and work with departments to make this part of their routine operations—with a live Beta site running by the end of the year.

(2) Bringing forward specific proposals to implement and extend to the wider public sector the public sector information principle, including:

helping to select and implement common standards for the release of public data helping to select, develop and implement common terms for that data where necessary developing Crown Copyright and 'Crown Commons' licences and extending these to the wider public sector supporting the exploitation and publication of distributed and decentralised information assets looking at the potential for reform of the information regulatory framework, working with the Information Commissioner's Office and other experts to ensure that the regulatory regime supports the proactive publication of Government information

(3) Driving the use of the internet to improve Government consultation processes as proposed by the Taskforce and learning from the innovations already used by the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills, the Cabinet Office and others.

Other key areas in which Sir Tim Berners-Lee will advise the Government include:

(4) Working with the Government to engage with the leading experts internationally working on public data and standards, and to promote international liaison and global standards setting—an investment in future international data sharing.

(5) Helping to drive culture change in Whitehall toward an assumption of total publication for anonymous data using open standards.

The panel will work closely with the recently-appointed Director for Digital Engagement and other officials in the Cabinet Office, the Office for Public Sector Information (part of The National Archives), and the Technology Strategy Board.

Mr. Mark Field: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills which public sector information holders are being considered under his Department's Making Public Data Public initiative; and if he will make a statement. [306485]

Mr. Timms: The Making Public Data Public initiative has initially focused on public sector information holders in central Government Departments and agencies. The Government consider that the same principles should be extended to all public services, and my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government announced on 7 December that Professor Nigel Shadbolt will lead a Local Public Data Panel to work with local government to release local public data.

Mr. Mark Field: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what methodology was used to calculate the estimate that the implementation of the Making Public Data Public initiative could contribute £1 billion to the economy. [306486]

Mr. Timms: The Office of Fair Trading market study "Commercial Use of Public Information" (published in 2006) estimated that improving the way in which the market for public sector information worked could mean it would grow to over £1 billion per annum.

Students: Loans

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many people not domiciled in the UK have outstanding loans with the Student Loans Company; how many such loans are in arrears; and in respect of how many such loans no repayments were made in the last 12 months. [303616]

Mr. Lammy: The most recent figures showing the number of borrowers not domiciled in the UK with outstanding loans and the number in arrears and not paying have been published by the Student Loans Company, and are available in the following documents on the website.

SLC SFR 02/2009 Student Loans for Higher Education in England, Financial Year 2008-09 (Provisional) at:

For borrowers who are domiciled in the EU, effective collection is underpinned by EC Regulations 44/2001 which allows the SLC to obtain judgments in UK courts, which can be enforced by courts in other EU countries. Borrowers' accounts must be set up with repayment schedules and put into notional arrears in order that the SLC can inform borrowers that unless they take steps to provide income details and commence repayment where appropriate, legal action will be taken against them. This is an essential step in the overseas collection process.

Transport

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many companies involved in (a) passenger rail transport, (b) interurban and suburban passenger land transport, (c) urban, suburban and metropolitan area passenger transportation by underground, metro or similar systems and (d) taxi operation have (i) become insolvent, (ii) ceased trading for other reasons and (iii) been started up in each of the last 10 years. [306642]

Ian Lucas: The Insolvency Service does not currently collect or maintain a record of figures at the level of detail requested for part (i). The lowest available industry breakdown is for "Land Transport" as a whole; these figures are available at:

http://www.insolvency.gov.uk/otherinformation/statistics/insolv.htm

and were also provided in the answer of 3 December 2009, Official Report column 982W.

Parts (b) and (c) can not be answered independently. Instead information has been provided on standard industrial classification 6021 which covers elements of both part (b) and part (c), and 6023 which also covers elements of part (b).

Responsibility for statistics relating to business start-ups and closures ("births" and "deaths") has moved from the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills to the Office for National Statistics (ONS). The data recorded as follows are the record statistics received from the ONS in response to (b) and (c) above. These represent those figures which are both readily available and most similar in coverage to the figures for insolvencies, but they should not be treated as being entirely consistent and, in particular, the ONS' figures will include some businesses that are not registered companies.

HOUSE OF COMMONS COMMISSION

Cats

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission if the House of Commons Commission will consider the merits of providing a resident cat. [306270]

Nick Harvey: The Commission has no plans to introduce a cat. The House Service includes a qualified pest controller, who monitors and controls pests on the parliamentary estate using humane and effective methods. In addition, an independent expert is employed to audit and advise on pest control, and inspections of catering areas are undertaken by the local council. The clear advice we have is that all effective measures possible are being taken, but that in a building such as the Palace, pests such as mice can only be controlled rather than eradicated.

Security

Mr. Hurd: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission whether the House of Commons Commission has engaged any (a) private intelligence and (b) private security firms or consultants in the last 12 months. [305172]

Nick Harvey: The House of Commons has engaged one private security firm in the last 12 months for one specific piece of work in connection with the internal inquiry into the unauthorised disclosure of information on Members' allowances.

ELECTORAL COMMISSION COMMITTEE

Departmental Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the hon. Member for South West Devon, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission what redesigns of websites operated by the Electoral Commission have taken place since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306192]

Mr. Streeter: The Electoral Commission informs me that it has completed two website redesign projects in this period.

The first was the redevelopment of its corporate website:

www.electoralcommission.org.uk

This project was completed in June 2008 at a cost of £283,744.

The second was the redevelopment of the Commission's voter information website:

www.aboutmyvote.co.uk

This project was completed in August 2008 at a cost of £140,600.

Electoral Register

Mrs. Laing: To ask the hon. Member for South West Devon, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission what recent estimate the Electoral Commission has made of the number of people registered to vote in (a) local, (b) European and (c) general elections. [306317]

Mr. Streeter: The Commission informs me that the Office for National Statistics (ONS) collects annual electoral registration data showing the number of entries on the local government and parliamentary registers. The most recent figures are for the electoral registers on 1 December 2008 and show the following numbers of entries on the electoral registers for the United Kingdom.

| Type of election | Entries on the electoral registers |
|---|---|
| Local government | 46,147,877 |
| Parliamentary | 45,194,449 |

For the European Parliament elections across the United Kingdom on 4 June 2009, the number of entries on the registers was 45,312,626.

The ONS is due to publish figures for the 1 December 2009 electoral registers in the spring of 2010.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the hon. Member for South West Devon, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission how much the Electoral Commission has spent on hotel accommodation for its staff in each of the last five years. [305706]

Mr. Streeter: The Electoral Commission informs me that it has spent approximately the following amounts in each of the last five years on hotel accommodation for staff. It is not possible to provide more precise figures as these totals include some travel and subsistence expenses, and to disaggregate these would incur disproportionate cost:

|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 32,080 |
| 2005-06 | 29,480 |
| 2006-07 | 23,490 |
| 2007-08 | 56,850 |
| 2008-09 | 71,090 |

DEFENCE

Afghanistan: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the Prime Minister's Statement of 30 November 2009, Official Report, columns 831-6, on Afghanistan and Pakistan, on what date the Government agreed with the Afghan government that the capacity of the Helmand police training centre would be doubled; and if he will make a statement. [304877]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: I have been asked to reply.

The decision to increase the capacity of the recently opened interim Helmand police training centre from 150 to 250 police per course was taken by the Helmand provincial chief of police on 28 October 2009. The decision is fully supported by the Civilian-Military Mission in Helmand. The UK has funded the interim police training centre as part of a programme of capacity building in Helmand, including the training and mentoring of Afghan national police recruits.

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether operational commitments in Afghanistan have affected the military's capability to build temporary bridges in the UK. [307145]

Bill Rammell: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 15 December 2008, Official Report, column 331W, to the hon. Member for Portsmouth, South (Mr. Hancock). This includes our capability to build bridges in the UK.

Air Force: Deployment

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the average unit tour interval was for each (a) aircraft and (b) helicopter crew type in the Royal Air Force in the latest period for which figures are available. [304374]

Bill Rammell: The average unit tour interval for each RAF aircraft and helicopter crew type, including those in Joint Helicopter Command, as at 3 December 2009 is shown in the following table.

The roles and deployment patterns vary between each type of aircraft and this is reflected in the tour intervals experienced by their aircrew. Aircrew when not deployed on operations continue to meet defence commitments and conduct training.

| Aircraft type | Average tour interval | Tours |
|---|---|---|
| Hercules C130K | 42 days | Afghanistan |
| Hercules C130J | 92 days | Afghanistan and Iraq |
| Hercules C130K | 90 days | Falkland Islands |
| Sentinel | 63 days | Afghanistan |
| Tristar | 70 days | Afghanistan |
| VC10 | 20 months | Falkland Islands |
| Tornado GR4 | 18 months | Afghanistan |
| BAE125 | three months | Afghanistan |
| BAE146 | three months | Afghanistan |
| Chinook | 42 weeks | Afghanistan |
| Merlin | 44 weeks | Afghanistan |
| Sea King | 17 months | Falkland Islands |

Armed Forces: Absence without Leave

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many armed forces personnel went absent without leave (a) from posts (i) in Scotland, (ii) in Northern Ireland, (iii) in Wales, (iv) in England and (v) overseas and (b) while on operations in each month of 2009. [304775]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The information is not held in the format requested. Centrally held information relates to the number of Absent Without Leave incidents and not to the number of personnel. Additionally, data are only available by month in respect of the Royal Navy and Royal Air Force. In respect of the Army, only the year to date total is held centrally and to obtain this information by month will require a manual search of records which could be provided only at disproportionate cost. The available figures are provided in the following table.

AWOL statistics are recorded by the number of incidences reported. Within this total there may be service personnel who have been AWOL on more than one occasion. Furthermore, following the reporting of an incidence of AWOL, information may later come to light of extenuating circumstances for that unauthorised absence, such as compassionate, hospitalisation or travel delays beyond the individual's control. In such cases they may not have been formally charged but the incidence is still recorded.

| | | Region | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Royal Navy | Eastern | Western | Northern | Army | Royal Air Force | Region |
| January | 5 | 5 | 5 | 0 | — | 1 | Scotland |
| February | 10 | 5 | 5 | 0 | — | 0 | — |
| March | 10 | 5 | 5 | 0 | — | 0 | — |

| October | 10 | 5 | 0 | 0 | — | 1 | England |
| November | 5 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — | 3 | England |
| Total | [1]82 | 0 | 0 | 0 | [1]1,605 | [1]6 | — |

[1] This is the number of recorded incidences, not the number of people AWOL or the number of charges brought.

Notes:

1. Figures in respect of the Royal Navy and Army rounded to nearest 5.
2. The Royal Navy record their AWOL incidences by regions of the United Kingdom (Eastern, Western and Northern) from the ship or unit where they absconded from.

Armed Forces: Cadets

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) inflow and (b) outflow of cadet forces staff has been in each month of 2009 to date. [304435]

Mr. Kevan Jones: This information is neither held centrally nor in the format requested, and could be provided only by a manual search of records thus incurring a disproportionate cost.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what the (a) inflow and (b) outflow has been of each cadet and combined cadet force in each month of 2009 to date; [304436]

(2) what the (a) required and (b) actual number of cadet staff has been in each month of 2009 to date. [304437]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Statistics on the strengths of the Adult Volunteers for cadet forces and each cadet and combined cadet force is contained within the document "TSP 7 Annual Publication UK Reserves and Cadets as at 1 April 2009." This is available in the Library of the House and at the following link:

www.dasa.mod.uk

Monthly information is neither held centrally nor in the format requested and could only be provided by a manual search of records at disproportionate cost.

We are greatly indebted to the superb commitment of the adult volunteers who continue to provide such a rewarding experience for the cadets in detachments throughout the country. I am extremely grateful to the Cadet Force Adult Volunteers for the commitment and leadership they continue to display.

Armed Forces: Manpower

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what the (a) trained requirement, (b) trained strength and (c) fit for duty strength is of each pinch point trade; [305018]

(2) what percentage of each pinch point trade is in breach of its harmony guidelines on individual separated service; [305019]

(3) what the percentage shortfall of (a) trained requirement, (b) trained strength and (c) fit for duty strength of each pinch point trade is. [306797]

Bill Rammell: Information detailing pinch point trades has been reclassified. I am withholding the information as its disclosure would, or would be likely to prejudice the capability, effectiveness or security of the armed forces.

The House of Commons Defence Committee will continue to be provided with information on the armed forces manning situation, including pinch point trades, under normal security exemptions.

Armed Forces: Mental Health Services

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many soldiers have been diagnosed with mental health problems following active service in Iraq. [306950]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The MOD's Defence Analytical Services and Advice (DASA) organisation publishes statistics on first attendances to MOD's out-patient Departments of Community Mental Health (DCMHs) and its in-patient contractor, in the UK Armed Forces Psychiatric Morbidity reports. Quarterly and annual reports for the whole of 2007 and 2008, and quarterly reports for January to March and April to June 2009, are now available both in the Library of the House and on the DASA website at:

www.dasa.mod.uk

Equivalent verified data prior to 2007 are not available and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Armed Forces: Sport

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what his policy is on the funding of competitive sport as an element of adventurous training courses for members of the armed forces; whether this policy has changed during the last six months; and if he will make a statement. [306381]

Mr. Kevan Jones [holding answer 14 December 2009]: Both competitive sport and adventurous training in the armed forces make a vital contribution to operational effectiveness, fighting spirit and personal development. They play an important part in service life including recruiting and retention. While some physical activities (canoeing, gliding, mountaineering, parachuting and sailing) can be authorised either as sport or adventurous training, a clear dividing line is drawn. If the activity is 'competitive' it is designated as 'sport' and conducted under the regulations of the relevant national governing body; non-competitive adventurous training is undertaken under the services' adventure training policy. Consequently, publicly-funded adventurous training courses do not involve competitive sport. This policy has not changed in the last six months.

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the policy of his Department is on the funding of competitive sport involving (a) teams and (b) individuals from the armed services; whether that policy has changed during the last six months; and if he will make a statement. [306382]

Mr. Kevan Jones [holding answer 14 December 2009]: Sport in the armed forces makes a vital contribution to operational effectiveness, fighting spirit and personal development. It plays an important part in service life including recruiting and retention. Consequently encouragement is given to service personnel to participate in a full range of sporting activities both as team members and individuals. For major sports facilities are provided at units and for all eligible sports public funding is provided, within laid down criteria, for equipment, travel and cash in lieu of rations. Sport is also supported by non-public funds. There has been no change to this policy in the last six months.

Armed Forces: Training

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether the training restrictions placed on the Officer Training Corps apply to (a) University Air Squadrons and (b) University Royal Naval Units. [307237]

Bill Rammell: There are currently no training restrictions in place on the Officer Training Corps (OTC). Payments for officer cadets attending training have been suspended since October 2009 as part of a range of budgetary measures put forward by the Army this year. OTC activities are continuing on a voluntary basis, although travel and subsistence costs are being met and all cadets will have the opportunity to earn their annual bounty.

The Royal Air Force has made a 10 per cent. reduction in its university Air Squadron ground training budget for this financial year, the flying training budget has not been affected. This has reduced some adventurous training activities, and annual paid training days for cadets have been reduced from 35 to 31.

No training restrictions have been placed on university Royal Navy units this year.

Bailey Bridges

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) whether his Department plans to continue using Bailey bridges; [307143]

(2) how long it takes on average to construct a Bailey bridge in ideal conditions. [307144]

Bill Rammell: The Bailey bridge is no longer used by the British Army. The requirement for long, clear span, high load class bridges is now met by the Logistic Support Bridge (LSB), which is a development of the Bailey bridge. While sharing some characteristics of the proven Bailey bridge system, the LSB has significantly improved performance; primarily due to improvements in design, manufacturing processes and raw materials.

The time taken to construct a LSB is dependant upon a myriad of different factors including the length of span required, the weight of traffic that must be supported and crucially the conditions of, and access to the site where the bridge is required. As an illustrative example a 12 bay (36 m) bridge on a pristine site in ideal conditions would take 40 hours to erect. The bridge that was recently constructed in Cumbria (a 52 m span) took three and a half days of bridge construction, within a wider window of almost 10 days for all the associated preparation and support. Given the challenging conditions of this particular task, this is a considerable achievement.

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the load capacity is of the Bailey bridge recently constructed over the River Derwent; and whether his Department plans to build a temporary road bridge over the River Derwent. [307146]

Bill Rammell: The load capacity of the temporary footbridge built across the River Derwent is 4.5 tonnes. We are not aware of any plans for Cumbria county council or central Government to ask the Ministry of Defence for the construction of a road bridge, temporary or otherwise.

Departmental Lost Property

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence which of his Department's locations in the UK have recorded (a) laptop computers, (b) desktop computers and (c) memory sticks as having been (i) lost and (ii) stolen in each of the last 10 years. [306696]

Mr. Kevan Jones [holding answer 14 December 2009]: This information is not held in the format requested and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many and what percentage of parliamentary questions tabled for written answer by his Department on a named day in session 2008-09 received a substantive Answer on that day. [307539]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 9 December 2009, Official Report, column 367W, to the hon. Member for Glasgow, East (John Mason).

Central guidance on answering parliamentary questions is now available in the "Guide to Parliamentary Work", at the following link:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/parliamentary-clerk-guide.aspx

In the response to the Procedure Committee Report on written parliamentary questions, the Government accepted the Committee's recommendation that Departments will be required to provide the Procedure Committee with sessional statistics in a standard format on the time taken to respond to written parliamentary questions, accompanied by an explanatory memorandum setting out any factors affecting their performance. This will be taken forward as soon as possible.

Military Bases: Browndown

Sir Peter Viggers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what plans there are to continue the activities of those Army Cadet Force units which use the Browndown military accommodation following its planned closure. [307606]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Cornwall Army Cadet Force (ACF) was the only ACF which used Browndown for its annual camp. This will now take place at Penhale or St. Mawgan. 145 Brigade's central training camps for adults and senior cadets were formerly held at Browndown. These will now be run at Bicester Garrison, Longmoor or Malta Lines in Aldershot, depending on availability.

Naval Strike Wing

Mr. Soames: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the order of battle of the Naval Strike Wing is; where it is based; and what its command structure is. [306742]

Bill Rammell: The Naval Strike Wing (NSW) is part of Joint Force Harrier (JFH) which is based at RAF Cottesmore. NSW flies the Harrier GR9 aircraft and comprises 197 personnel, including 16 pilots. Commanding Officer NSW, a Royal Navy (RN) Commander, is directly responsible to the JFH Force Commander (FC), a RAF Group Captain, who is also Station Commander at RAF Cottesmore.

The JFH FC is responsible to Air Officer Commanding (AOC) No. 1 Group, RAF Air Command, through Captain Harrier, a RN manned position within HQ No. 1 Group, RAF Air Command—AOC 1 Gp is the Aircraft Operating Authority for all JFH aircraft, aircrew and support personnel.

Rescue Services: Pembrokeshire

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many times a search and rescue helicopter from RMB Chivenor was operational off the coast of Pembrokeshire in (a) day time and (b) night time in each of the last five years. [306655]

Bill Rammell: The number of search and rescue call outs from RMB Chivenor off the coast of Pembrokeshire are shown in the following table. Day time call outs have been interpreted as between 0800 and 1959. Call outs have been defined as those within a 25 mile radius of the Pembrokeshire coastline.

|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Day | 26 | 23 | 23 | 15 | 31 |
| Night | 3 | 4 | 4 | 5 | 5 |
| Total | 29 | 27 | 27 | 20 | 36 |

[1] Up to 30 September.

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the helicopter flying time from (a) RMB Chivenor, (b) RAF Valley, (c) RNAS Culdrose and (d) Solent Coastguard to Pembrokeshire. [illegible]

Bill Rammell: The current average helicopter flying times, to the risk areas covering Pembrokeshire and its surrounding coastal waters, together with the estimated flying times for the future UK Search and Rescue—Helicopter (SAR-H) service are provided in the following table.

| | Current (minutes) | Future (minutes) |
|---|---|---|
| RMB Chivenor | 34 | 27 |
| RAF Valley | 42 | 33 |
| RNAS Culdrose | 63 | 49 |
| MCA Lee on Solent | 66 | 60 |

We continue to meet our national requirement of reaching all very high, all high and 75 per cent. of medium risk areas well within one hour of take off.

OLYMPICS

Christmas

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many Christmas trees were purchased by her Office in each year since its was established; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of. [illegible]

Tessa Jowell: My office has not purchased any Christmas trees since it was established.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Baron: To ask the Minister for the Olympics which conferences held overseas have been attended by civil servants based in her Department since its inception; and what the cost to the public purse was of such attendance at each conference. [illegible]

Tessa Jowell: Information on overseas conferences attended by civil servants in the Cabinet Office and the Department for Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS) will be covered in the answers provided by the Minister of State, Cabinet Office and the Under-Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport, my hon. Friend the Member for Birmingham, Erdington (Mr. Simon) respectively.

Departmental Int[illegible]

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Minister for the Olympics what redesigns of websites operated by her Office have taken place since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306196]

Tessa Jowell: Information on the redesigns of websites in the Cabinet Office and the Department for Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS) will be covered in the answers provided by the Minister of State, Cabinet Office and the Under-Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport, my hon. Friend the Member for Birmingham, Erdington (Mr. Simon) , respectively.

Departmental Training

Mr. Baron: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many overseas training courses were attended by her Office's civil servants in the latest period for which figures are available; how many civil servants attended each course; and what the total cost to the public purse was of each course. [305887]

Tessa Jowell: Civil servants in the Government Olympic Executive (GOE) report to me through the permanent secretary of the Department for Culture, Media and Sport and will therefore be included in the answer provided by the Under-Secretary of Statefor Culture, Media and Sport, my hon. Friend the Member for Birmingham, Erdington (Mr. Simon). Cabinet Office civil servants will be covered in the answer provided by the Minister of State, Cabinet Office.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how much her Office spent on hotel accommodation for (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) civil servants in each of the last five years. [305653]

Tessa Jowell: The Government publish an annual list of all (international) ministerial travel costing over £500. The list includes a breakdown of travel by all Ministers and the global figure for the cost of ministerial travel includes the cost of staff (including special advisers) accompanying Ministers. Detail of travel taken in the current year will be published as soon as it is ready after the end of the financial year. All ministerial travel is undertaken in accordance with the Ministerial Code.

Information on other hotel accommodation used by myself, special advisers and civil servants in my office will be included in the answer provided by the Minister of State, Cabinet Office.

Olympic Games 2012

Hugh Robertson: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many groups in the Government Olympic Executive have responsibility for 2012 Olympic legacy matters; what the (a) membership is and (b) responsibilities for Olympic legacy matters of each such group are; and how many times each such group has met in the last 12 months. [305789]

Tessa Jowell: The Olympic and Paralympic Legacy Board in the Government Olympic Executive has responsibility for managing the legacy from the 2012 games.

Four supporting boards report to the Olympic and Paralympic Legacy Board: covering East London, sports, social and economic legacy. There is also a Nations and Regions Group which ensures that the legacy of the games is UK-wide.

The members consist of civil servants from across Whitehall and representatives from external organisations who give their time for free.

This year the Olympic and Paralympic Legacy Board has met three times. Each of its four sub-groups has met two or three times and the Nations and Regions Group members have met four times.

I will place the terms of reference and membership for each of the groups mentioned above in the Libraries of both Houses.

CULTURE, MEDIA AND SPORT

Historic Buildings: Coventry

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport when he expects the review by English Heritage on the proposed listing of Coventry Market to be concluded; what representations his Department has received on the matter; what discussions his Department has had with Coventry city council on the matter; and what assessment he has made of the likely effects of the proposed listing on wider regeneration plans for Coventry. [307168]

Margaret Hodge: The grounds for review submitted by the listing review applicants have been assessed by the Department and further advice has been requested from English Heritage, the Secretary of State's statutory advisers on the historic environment. I would expect to be able to make a decision on the review by March 2010.

The Department has received representations both in favour and opposing listing from private individuals and companies. DCMS has not had any discussions with Coventry city council on the issue of the review.

The Secretary of State, when making a listing decision, may only take into account the architectural and historic interest of a building. He may not take into account planning matters and, therefore, is unable to consider the possible effects of listing on regeneration plans.

Leisure: Facilities

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much was spent on (a) leisure facilities and (b) sports facilities in each district and unitary council area in the Eastern region in the last 12 months. [306465]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The information requested is not held centrally in the manner requested; to provide it would incur disproportionate costs.

Sports: Obesity

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what steps his Department is taking to encourage participation in sport in Leeds West constituency in order to reduce levels of obesity; and what funding has been made available for this purpose in 2009-10. [306979]

Mr. Sutcliffe: DCMS is primarily focused on increasing sports participation, with Sport England as our key delivery partner. However, this is part of a joint target with the Department of Health to get 2 million more people more physically active, including one million more people playing more sport. DCMS and Sport England work very closely with the Department for Health across this target and sport will, of course, have a great positive effect on people's health.

As the non-departmental public body with responsibility for community sport, Sport England's aim is to increase and sustain levels of participation in sport and develop talent to drive standards of elite performance throughout the country. Its funding is distributed as part of the commitment to get 1 million more people playing more sport by 2012.

National governing bodies of sport (NGBs) are at the heart of the strategy as it is their networks of community clubs, coaches and volunteers that make sport happen. Sport England is investing £480 million through 46 governing bodies over the next four years and has agreed grow, sustain and excel targets with each one. Each sport has developed a whole sport plan to achieve these targets.

In addition to the funding which is distributed through NGBs, Sport England also operates a number of other funding streams. In 2009-10 Leeds, West received a revenue Sportsmatch award of £50,000 through Exchequer funding to Leeds Rugby Academy for a community sports programme.

While no additional lottery awards have been made in the current financial year to Leeds, West, in previous financial years the total value of capital and revenue funding to Leeds, West totalled £2,249,610.

Sports: York

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what financial assistance (a) the Government and (b) the National Lottery have given to (i) amateur sports clubs, (ii) sport in schools and (iii) professional sports clubs in York since 1996-97. [304509]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The information is as follows:

Amateur sports clubs

(i) In 2002 the Department introduced the Community Amateur Sports Clubs (CASC) Scheme which provides certain tax reliefs for registered clubs, similar to those normally given to charities. The Department does not hold records on the number of clubs registered or the financial benefit received by registered clubs in York. However as at November 2009 the CASC scheme has 5,511 registered clubs across the UK, and Deloittes estimate that it has saved community amateur sports nearly £61 million since the scheme's inception. This money has gone back into sport and has enabled clubs to spend it on everything from facilities to kit.

Sport England have invested approximately £300 million nationally into national governing bodies of sport (not including the Football Foundation funding) since 2005. While a proportion of this funding was used to develop amateur sports clubs, Sport England are unable to breakdown the information as required. They also provide extra funding (in addition to their funding of national governing bodies of sport) directly to amateur sports clubs around the country including in York.

The Football Foundation, which is funded by the premier league, the Football Association and the Government, has advised that since its inception in 2000, it has granted a total of £2,227,115 to amateur sports clubs in York. Since 1999 The Big Lottery Fund has also awarded £73,743, through a total of 19 awards, benefiting amateur sports in the city of York constituency.

Sport in schools

(ii) Since 2003, approximately £2.4 billion has been invested nationally to support sport in schools through the PE, School Sport and Club Links (PESSCL) strategy and then the PE and Sport Strategy for Young People (PESSYP). This total is a mixture of Exchequer and lottery funding, of which £686 million has been lottery funding. The Department is unable to provide a breakdown of this total at local authority level without incurring a disproportionate cost.

The Big Lottery Fund has advised that they awarded £887,392 through a total of 24 awards, benefiting sport in schools in the city of York.

Professional sport

(iii) In terms of lottery funding, the York City football club received a total of £556,163 through the Football Youth Development Programme. The following table provides details of individual awards by year:

| | Recipient | Project title | Local authority | Total (£) |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1998-99 | York City FC | Football Youth Development Programme | York | 288,690 |
| 2003-04 | York City FC | Football Youth Development Programme | York | 138,000 |
| 2004-05 | York City FC | Football Youth Development Programme | York | 67,890 |
| 2005-06 | York City FC | Football Youth Development Programme | York | 61,583 |
| Grand total | | | | 556,163 |

Tourism

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what the inbound tourism figures were for the first three quarters of (a) 2008 and (b) 2009. [303194]

Margaret Hodge [holding answer 1 December 2009]: VisitBritain forecast that the full year picture for tourism in 2009 will be a year-on-year spending increase of 1 per cent.

While the United Nations World Tourism Organisation predictions were that inbound tourism figures were expected to fall for all countries because of the economic climate, the figures for inbound holiday tourism (up 3 per cent. in the first nine months of this year) and domestic tourism (up 6 per cent. in the first eight months of this year) have remained strong.

The figures over the first three quarters of both years are set out in the following table. However, latest figures show the number of overseas residents visiting the UK in September 2009 was unchanged compared with September 2008. Furthermore, overseas visitor spend in September was 7 per cent. higher than September last year.

The latest UK inbound tourism figures (in thousands), for 2008 and 2009 are set out as follows[1].

Tony Blair

Mr. Hands: To ask the Prime Minister when he last spoke to Tony Blair about official business. [305830]

The Prime Minister: I have regular discussions with a wide range of individuals.

WOMEN AND EQUALITY

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many full-time equivalent press officers (a) are employed by and (b) work for the Government Equalities Office. [303609]

Michael Jabez Foster: Six full-time press officers currently work for the Government Equalities Office, supporting the Department and its four Ministers.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Harper: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many and what percentage of Parliamentary Questions tabled for written answer by her on a named day in session 2008-09 received a substantive answer on that day. [307531]

Michael Jabez Foster: There were 41 named day parliamentary questions tabled for written answer by the Minister for Women and Equality during session 2008-09. Of these 59 per cent. received a substantive answer on the named day.

Equal Pay

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what recent progress has been made on reducing the pay gap between men and women. [303001]

Maria Eagle: The latest figures from the Office for National Statistics show the gender gap based on median hourly earnings for all employees has fallen from 22.5 per cent. in 2008 to 22.0 per cent. in 2009.

Equalities and Human Rights Commission: Research

John Battle: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what research the Equality and Human Rights Commission has (a) conducted and (b) evaluated on equal pay in respect of (i) ethnic groups, (ii) disabled and able-bodied people and (iii) part-time and full-time employees in (A) Leeds and (B) England; and what level of difference in pay has been identified for each group in each location. [307440]

Maria Eagle: The Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) has published two research reports on gender pay gaps by different equality strands since December 2008. They are:

> Pay Gaps Across Equalities Areas by Simonetta Longhi and Lucinda Platt of the Institute for Social and Economic Research, University of Essex (ECHR Research Report no. 9, 2008); and
> Pay Gaps Across the Equality Strands: a review by Hilary Metcalf of the National Institute of Economic and Social Research (ECHR Research Report no. 14, 2009).

The first study consists of a statistical analysis of the Labour Force Survey; the second study is a review of the existing research evidence from 2000 onwards. Both reports take a Great Britain wide approach and show data on pay gaps by ethnicity and disability and also include some information on full-time and part-time pay gaps. However, neither report presents data separately for England or for Leeds.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much his Department has spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [303841]

Mr. Woodward: The total spent by the Northern Ireland Office (NIO), its agencies and arm's length bodies, including the Public Prosecution Service on Christmas cards to individuals working in and with the Northern Ireland community was £1,960.53. At Hillsborough castle, provision of two Christmas trees cost £195.00 with a further £909.14 spent on decorations across the rest of the Department. The Northern Ireland Office London office, to mark the work of staff during the year, held a special event; the total cost for this event was £990.28.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much his Department spent on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in his Department's buildings in the last 12 months. [305678]

Paul Goggins: The amount spent on work and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers is not separately costed or invoiced so this question could be answered only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Publicity

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much his Department has spent on (a) ministerial photoshoots and (b) production of videos in which Ministers appear in the last three years for which figures are available. [305522]

Paul Goggins: The Northern Ireland Office (NIO), including its arm's length bodies and the Public Prosecution Service Northern Ireland but excluding its agencies and non-departmental public bodies, has had no expenditure on (a) ministerial photoshoots or (b) production of videos in which Ministers appear in the last three years.

Police Service of Northern Ireland: Finance

Sammy Wilson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what the policing budget in Northern Ireland has been in each year since 1979. [305413]

Paul Goggins: The information requested is available only for the last 10 years and is as follows:

£ million

| — | Resource Departmental Expenditure Limit | Capital DEL | Annual Managed Expenditure | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1999-2000 | 640.8 | 14.1 | — | 654.9 |

| 2009-10 | 911.8 | 42.4 | 288.5 | 1,242.7 |

Terrorism

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what his most recent assessment is of the security situation in Northern Ireland; and if he will make a statement. [307343]

Paul Goggins: The most recent report of the Independent Monitoring Commission confirms the threat from dissident republicans is more serious than at any time since they began to report in 2004. This small number of people are determined to take Northern Ireland back to the past but will not be allowed to succeed.

TRANSPORT

Buses: Injuries

Mr. Pelling: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many injuries resulting from passengers falling on buses were reported in (a) England and (b) Greater London in the last five years. [306289]

Paul Clark: From the information collected by the Department for Transport it is not possible to identify passenger falls on buses. However, it is possible to identify those passengers reported by police as injured on a bus/coach that was in motion and did not impact with any object, vehicle or pedestrian. This information is given in the following table:

Reported bus and coach passenger casualties in vehicles that were in motion and did not impact with any object, vehicle or pedestrian, by position in vehicle[1], 2004-08

| | (a) England | | (b) Greater London | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Year of accident | Standing | Seated[1] | Standing | Seated |
| 2004 | 1,[illegible] | 1,541 | 644 | 490 |
| 2005 | 1,296 | 1,560 | 593 | 419 |
| 2006 | 1,295 | 1,432 | 597 | 336 |
| 2007 | 1,161 | 1,610 | 444 | 300 |
| 2008 | 1,110 | 1,556 | 436 | 339 |

Reported bus and coach passenger casualties in vehicles that were in motion and did not impact with any object, vehicle or pedestrian, by position in vehicle[1], 2004-08

[1] Excludes casualties that were boarding or alighting at the time of the accident.

Departmental Travel

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport (1) how many buses he used during his mystery traveller bus tour; [302688]

(2) how much his Department has spent on his mystery traveller bus tour. [302689]

Mr. Khan: To date, I have taken 20 buses.

I have paid for all my bus fares myself.

All ministerial travel is undertaken in accordance with the Ministerial Code.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport whether his Department has offset the carbon emissions arising from his mystery traveller bus tour. [302927]

Mr. Khan: My bus tour has been planned to coincide, as far as possible, with existing ministerial commitments. All bus stages undertaken as part of the tour have been made using scheduled bus services available to the public. As such, carbon emissions arising specifically from the tour are negligible and no expenditure has been incurred to offset them.

EU Law

Gregory Barker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what (a) statutory instruments and (b) other regulations his Department has brought forward in this Parliament to meet obligations arising from EU law. [304179]

Mr. Khan: Central records of statutory instruments made under specific powers have only been maintained by the Statutory Instruments Registrar since 2001. There are no central records maintained of "other regulations".

Central records show that since the Department for Transport was created in May 2002, it has made 138 statutory instruments to meet obligations arising from EU Law, under powers contained in the European Communities Act 1972.

EU law obligations may also be met by statutory instruments made under Acts other than the 1972 Act. According to a database held by the Department for Transport, the Department has made a total of 171 statutory instruments since the beginning of 2004 to meet EU law obligations. This number includes those instruments made under the 1972 Act as well as other Acts.

The cut-off date used for measuring the number of statutory instruments made was 4 December 2009.

Motor Sports Association

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what progress has been made in amending legislation to provide for the transfer of responsibility for authorising routes for UK rallies from the Royal Automobile Club to the Motor Sports Association; and when that process is likely to be completed. [306536]

Paul Clark: Government officials will be writing to stakeholders shortly with a copy of the draft regulations and to explain how we intend to proceed. We are aiming to complete the process in the spring.

Official Cars: Exhaust Emissions

Charles Hendry: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what the average level of carbon dioxide emissions was for new cars purchased by the Government Car and Despatch Agency in the last 12 months. [307602]

Paul Clark: The average level of carbon dioxide emissions for new cars purchased by the Government Car and Despatch Agency in the last 12 months is 142.08g/km.

Public Transport: Crimes of Violence

Mrs. May: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport with reference to the Home Department's Together we can end violence against women and girls strategy, how much his Department plans to spend on steps to improve safety on public transport in (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11 and (c) each of the subsequent three years; and from what budget such expenditure will be drawn. [305310]

Mr. Khan: Substantial investment by the public transport industry, local authorities, the police and others has already been—and continues to be—made to help achieve a safe environment for public transport passengers and staff. The costs are met through a variety of Government and non-Government funding streams.

The development of the secure bus stations scheme and any further publication of good practice guidance on improving personal security will be met through the Department's administration budget to cover staff and any consultancy work.

The Department will contractually require new train operators to ensure the majority of rail stations are accredited under the Secure Stations scheme. All recently let rail franchises contain such provisions. The costs will be met from the rail franchising budget, but cannot be separately identified as they will form part of the total service proposition put forward by bidders.

Severn Bridge: Tolls

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what mechanism governs the calculation of new annual tolls for the Severn Crossings. [306307]

Mr. Khan: The Severn Bridges Act 1992 provides that new toll rates are introduced on 1 January each year. Under the provisions of section 9(2) of the Act, an annual order is required to be made in December each year fixing the toll amounts for the following year. The annual toll rates are revised in line with a formula related to the retail price index figure for the previous September. The tolls are calculated by multiplying toll rates given in a table in section 9 of the Act by a factor to allow for the inflation increase from March 1989. These amounts are then rounded to the nearest 10 pence.

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what assessment he has made of the effect of the Severn Crossing toll on businesses in Wales. [306308]

Mr. Khan: The second Severn Crossing was constructed to alleviate traffic problems on the old Severn Bridge and to improve transport links to businesses in Wales.

Since 1992, the tolling structure in place allows the Concessionaire to recover the costs associated with the construction of the second Severn Crossing and the financing, operation and maintenance of both Severn Crossings.

The Department for Transport has made no recent assessment of the impact of the Severn Crossings tolls on businesses in Wales.

Taxis

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what recent estimate his Department has made of the number of unlicensed taxis operating in (a) England and (b) Leeds North West constituency. [305765]

Mr. Khan: In order to offer a taxi service lawfully in England (outside London), the driver and the vehicle must be licensed by the relevant local authority under the Town Police Clauses Act 1847. It is a matter for local licensing authorities to make an assessment of the extent of illegal operation in their area and take appropriate enforcement action where necessary. We do not keep a central record of any such assessments.

Taxis: Guide Dogs

Mr. Gerrard: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many exemptions have been granted on medical grounds to licensed taxi drivers from the requirement under the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 to carry guide dogs with their owners. [305960]

Mr. Khan: The Department for Transport does not have access to these data centrally as exemptions are issued by local licensing authorities. It will be for licensing authorities to keep their own records as to the numbers of exemptions issued from the duty to carry assistance dogs.

Mr. Gerrard: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what steps he is taking to encourage licensing authorities to ensure that the requirements of the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 for licensed taxi drivers to carry guide dogs with their owners are monitored and enforced. [305961]

Mr. Khan: Taxi drivers have a duty under the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 to carry assistance dogs in their vehicles. These duties have been in effect since 31 March 2000. It is the responsibility of local licensing authorities to monitor and enforce the duties and should be incorporated into the licensing enforcement regime. The Department for Transport has issued guidance to licensing authorities outlining their duty to enforce the provisions.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Hands: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many plasma screen televisions his Department has purchased since 2001; and what the cost to the public purse has been of the purchase and installation of such screens in each such year. [306063]

Dan Norris: No plasma screens have been purchased since 2006. Further information concerning the purchase of plasma screens from 2001 to 2005 could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Energy

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the (a) energy rating and (b) energy band of each building occupied by his Department and its agencies was in each of the last three years. [305946]

Dan Norris: The OGC publishes central Government Departments' display energy certificate (DEC) operational ratings building by building twice a year. The most recent publication, on 31 July 2009, contains DEC data up to and including 28 February.

This information can be found on the following website:

http://www.ogc.gov.uk/government_delivery_display_energy_certificate_data.asp

Data relating to the energy rating of buildings as at 30 September 2009 will be published on the OGC website on 18 December 2009.

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the energy efficiency rating is of each of his Department's buildings in London. [306320]

Dan Norris [holding answer 14 December 2009]: The OGC publishes central Government Departments' display energy certificate (DEC) operational ratings building by building twice a year. The most recent publication, on 31 July 2009, contains DEC data up to and including 28 February. This information can be found on the following website:

http://www.ogc.gov.uk/government_delivery_display_energy_certificate data.asp

Data relating to the energy rating of buildings as at 30 September 2009 will be published on the OGC website on 18 December 2009.

Departmental Freedom of Information

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many requests under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 his Department received in 2008; and how many of these received a substantive response within 20 days. [305494]

Dan Norris: Statistics published by the Ministry of Justice on freedom of information in central Government for 2008 show that of a total of 446 non-routine requests received by the Department (based on aggregated quarterly data) 72 per cent. (115) received a substantive response within 20 days. 88 per cent. (391) of requests were dealt with 'in time', that is within 20 days by meeting the deadline or other permitted extension deadline.

The statistics can be found on the Ministry of Justice website at:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/freedomofinformationquarterly.htm

and copies are available in the Library of the House.

Departmental Publications

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the monetary value is of his Department's contract with Seven Squared for the production of its staff magazine; and for what reason the magazine is not produced by his Department's communications office. [305249]

Dan Norris: The monetary value of the contract with Seven Squared to produce Landscape magazine for the financial year 2008-09 was £136,752.24 (not including VAT).

Landscape is DEFRA's staff magazine. It is a high-quality publication that is issued 10 times a year and made available to staff in DEFRA, our Executive agencies and the other partner organisations with which we work. Research shows that the magazine is well read, well received and makes a strong contribution to the effectiveness of the business by raising awareness of our wide-ranging portfolio, and for ensuring that staff are clear about the purpose and direction of the Department.

It is more cost-effective for us to outsource publication of Landscape to an agency which has the necessary range of specialist equipment, software, technical skills and editorial skills to produce this high quality magazine. To establish and maintain a publication unit in-house which would be underutilised in this specific instance, cannot be justified.

Domestic Waste: Waste Disposal

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the amount of household waste sent for incineration in the London borough of (a) Bexley, (b) Bromley, (c) Croydon and (d) Greenwich in the most recent period for which figures are available. [306895]

Dan Norris: The tonnage of waste sent for incineration with energy recovery by each of the local authorities in question in the financial year 2008-09 is shown in the following table. These authorities sent no waste to be incinerated without energy recovery in 2008-09.

The full local authority dataset is available on DEFRA's website.

| Local authority | Municipal waste incinerated with energy recovery in 2008-09 (tonnes) |
|---|---|
| Bexley | 14,880 |
| Bromley | 43,897 |
| Croydon | 309 |
| Greenwich | 60,083 |

Drinks

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of litres of (a) soft drinks, (b) mineral water and (c) fruit juice were consumed per person in each of the last five years. [306561]

Dan Norris: The following table shows the estimated number of litres of soft drinks, mineral water and pure fruit juices purchased by UK household residents in the UK in each year since 2003-04.

Litres per person per year

| | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|

| Mineral water | 15.1 | 16.3 | 16.5 | 18.8 | 16.7 |
| Pure fruit juice | 17.6 | 15.3 | 19.0 | 20.0 | 18.6 |
| Grand total | 148.7 | 140.3 | 137.8 | 145.1 | 134.1 |

Notes:
1. Estimates are averages over the UK household population including children.
2. Estimates cover both eating out and household purchases. Concentrated soft drinks have been converted by a factor of 5 to the unconcentrated equivalent.

Fish

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the (a) monetary value and (b) quantity of canned fish purchased by the public sector in each of the last five years. [307650]

Dan Norris: The information requested is not available. For the past five years, the procurement of food products, including canned fish, has been a matter for individual public sector organisations and authorities. Future collaborative procurements will provide greater access to this type of information.

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether his Department's planned collaborative procurement framework for the purchase of canned fish in the public sector will include sustainability criteria. [307651]

Dan Norris: DEFRA is working closely with the Office of Government Commerce to ensure that sustainability criteria are embedded into future collaborative food procurement frameworks, including the one referred to on canned fish. The sustainability criteria will be included in the invitation to tender.

Forestry Commission: Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what redesigns of websites operated by the Forestry Commission have taken place since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306199]

Dan Norris: The Forestry Commission's England website has not been the subject of a redesign process in the period specified, but has benefited from a continuing evolution with the publication of new information and improvements to the user experience.

Incinerators

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will review the licensing conditions relating to incinerator [illegible]rs for the purposes of imposing requirements [illegible]re detailed reporting, with particular reference to (a) quarterly reports for incinerator bottom ash and (b) test results for H14 ecotoxicity. [306738]

Dan Norris: There is no legal requirement for more detailed reporting under current UK or EU legislation. There is also no requirement to provide information on H14 testing (or any hazardous waste assessment) under Hazardous Waste Regulations or Environmental Permitting Regulations.

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what progress his Department has made on the sampling of incinerator bottom ash for the purposes of classifying batches as hazardous or non-hazardous. [306739]

Dan Norris: The Environmental Services Association is currently finalising a sampling protocol that can be used to help the assessment of incinerator bottom ash.

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what (a) national and (b) international standards there are in respect of the sampling of industrial waste or other materials to ensure that they are correctly classified as hazardous or non-hazardous. [306740]

Dan Norris: Due to the large variation in the composition of waste, there is no single national or international standard that could be applied for sampling wastes.

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will direct the Environment Agency to make available on its website the quarterly reports produced by incinerator operators on (a) discharges and (b) tests on incinerator bottom ash from their licensed facilities. [306741]

Dan Norris: The Environment Agency makes these reports available on its public registers. These can be viewed at the regional offices relevant to each facility. They are not stored electronically.

Origin Marking: Israel

Kate Hoey: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what proposals he has to identify products from the Israeli settlements in the West Bank and Gaza on labels; and if he will make a statement. [305985]

Dan Norris: On 10 December the Secretary of State tabled a written ministerial statement concerning technical advice on the labelling of produce from the Occupied Palestinian Territories. That advice has been issued in response to consumer and retailer concern about a lack of clarity on whether such produce comes from Israeli settlements or Palestinian producers. Some aspects of the advice are relevant to produce from Gaza as well as from the west bank. However, we understand that since 2006 there have been no Israeli settlements in Gaza, therefore the issue of clarity of origin between Palestinian producers and Israeli settlement producers is not applicable.

Recycling

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of Christmas trees which were recycled in each of the last three years; and whether his Department provides assistance to local authorities for the recycling of Christmas trees. [307648]

Dan Norris: No such estimate has been made by DEFRA. The Government believe local authorities are better placed to make decisions on the best waste management strategy for their local area, so it does not direct or interfere in the decisions they make. This includes the facilities local authorities make available for recycling Christmas trees. It does, however, encourage local authorities to consult extensively with residents, to ensure their opinions and preferences are taken into consideration.

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of Christmas cards which were recycled in each of the last three years; and if he will make a statement. [307649]

Dan Norris: No such estimate has been made by DEFRA. The Government believe local authorities are better placed to make decisions on the best waste management strategy for their local area, so it does not direct or interfere in the decisions they make. This includes the facilities local authorities make available for recycling Christmas cards. It does, however, encourage local authorities to consult extensively with residents, to ensure their opinions and preferences are taken into consideration.

Whales: Conservation

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether there are plans to revise EU Council Decision 7146/09 of 3 March 2009 in advance of the 62nd International Whaling Commission meeting in June 2010. [307192]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Council Decision 7146/09 was adopted on 3 March 2009 and established the position to be taken by the European Community at the subsequent three annual and related intersessional meetings of the International Whaling Commission (IWC). The Council's intention was, therefore, that the Decision should remain in force until the end of the 63rd IWC annual meeting in 2011. Neither the European Commission nor member states have suggested so far that there is any need to amend the Decision.

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when the International Whaling Commission's Small Working Group on the future of the IWC (a) last met and (b) plans to meet prior to the 62nd International Whaling Commission meeting in June 2010. [307297]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The International Whaling Commission's (IWC) Small Working Group (SWG) last met in March 2009 and was due to meet in December 2009 to discuss the output of the Support Group. The Support Group, set up to assist the chair and the SWG in reaching a decision on a number of issues relating to the future of the IWC, was unable to reach a conclusion at its September 2009 meeting and so will continue discussions. The SWG is, therefore, scheduled to meet again in March 2010 ahead of the 62nd IWC meeting in June.

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when the International Whaling Commission's Support Group of the Small Working Group on the future of the IWC (a) last met and (b) plans to meet prior to the 62nd International Whaling Commission meeting in June 2010. [307298]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The International Whaling Commission's (IWC) Support Group last met from 4 to 6 December 2009. The group plans to meet again in January 2010 and the product of that meeting will be discussed in the larger meeting of the Small Working Group (SWG) in March. This will allow the SWG to review and discuss the matter prior to the next annual meeting of the IWC in Morocco in June 2010.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Departmental Art Works

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much his Department spent on art works in the last 12 months. [306440]

Mr. Michael Foster: Works of art displayed in the Department for International Development (DFID) are from the Government Art Collection (GAC), which publishes an annual list of acquisitions. The most recent details of acquisitions made by the GAC were published on 5 October 2009 and are available on the GAC website:

http://www.gac.culture.gov.uk/information/publications.asp

International Assistance

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development which Governments contributed to the delivery of aid supplies provided by his Department in (a) 2007, (b) 2008 and (c) 2009, and what steps the Government took in consequence in each case. [306802]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development (DFID) works with other Governments to deliver its aid in two ways:

Financial aid to partner Governments

Through delegated co-operation or co-financing arrangements where one donor leads in the relationship with the partner Government.

We only give financial aid to partner Governments when there is a shared commitment to poverty reduction, human rights and strengthening public financial management. We protect our funds in three ways:

We assess the risks carefully and have our assessment checked by external experts.

We ensure that Governments have a credible reform programme to improve their systems; and provide technical support to help them.

We use safeguards to prevent mis-use of funds and ensure the adequacy of these is checked by independent experts; e.g. additional audits of particular sectors or tracking money from the Ministry of Finance to make sure it gets to the right places.

Details of where UK aid is delivered are publicly available through the DFID annual reports which are available through the DFID website:

http://www.dfid.gov.uk/Site-search/?q=annual+report

LEADER OF THE HOUSE

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Baron: To ask the Leader of the House which conferences held overseas have been attended by civil servants based in her office in the last three years; and what the cost to the public purse was of such attendance at each conference. [305861]

Barbara Keeley: Since June 2007, no civil servants based in the Office of the Leader of the House of Commons have attended conferences held overseas. The Office of the Leader of the House of Commons joined the Cabinet Office in June 2007 and information from before this time can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Hands: To ask the Leader of the House how many plasma screen televisions her office has purchased since 2001; and what the cost has been of purchasing and installing such screens in each such year. [306084]

Barbara Keeley: I refer the hon. Member to the answer provided by the Cabinet Office on 14 December 2009, Official Report, column 839W. This information can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

The Office of the Leader of the House of Commons joined the Cabinet Office in June 2007 and information from before this time can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Training

Mr. Baron: To ask the Leader of the House how many overseas training courses were attended by her Office's civil servants in the latest period for which figures are available; how many civil servants attended each course; and what the total cost to the public purse was of each course. [305893]

Barbara Keeley: Since June 2007, no civil servants based in the Office of the Leader of the House of Commons have attended overseas training courses. The Office of the Leader of the House of Commons joined the Cabinet Office in June 2007 and information from before this time can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Harper: To ask the Leader of the House how many and what percentage of Parliamentary Questions tabled for written answer by her on a named day in session 2008-09 received a substantive answer on that day. [307552]

Barbara Keeley: Fifty-two parliamentary questions for named day were tabled to my right hon. and learned Friend during the 2008-09 Session. 100 per cent. of these questions were answered on the named day and substantively.

Central guidance on answering parliamentary questions is now available in the 'Guide to Parliamentary Work', at:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/parliamentary-clerk-guide.aspx

In the response to the Procedure Committee report on written parliamentary questions, the Government accepted the Committee's recommendation that Departments be required to provide the Procedure Committee with sessional statistics in a standard format on the time taken to respond to written parliamentary questions, accompanied by an explanatory memorandum setting out any factors affecting their performance. This will be taken forward as soon as possible.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Leader of the House how much her Office spent on hotel accommodation for (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) civil servants in each of the last five years. [305658]

Barbara Keeley: I refer the hon. Member to the answer provided by the Cabinet Office on 14 December 2009, Official Report, column 840W. The information requested for the Cabinet Office is not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

The Office of the Leader of the House of Commons joined the Cabinet Office in June 2007 and information from before this time can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

WALES

Departmental Pay

Mr. Scott: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much has been paid in bonuses to civil servants in his Department in 2009. [306535]

Mr. Hain: The Wales Office is subject to Ministry of Justice performance guidance, from which my Department has paid £15,200, in end of year appraisal bonuses. The amounts are set by the Ministry of Justice and are in recognition of outstanding performance; seven Ministry of Justice staff received the reward.

A further sum of £700 was awarded as a special bonus under the Ministry of Justice reward and recognition scheme, for additional work performed.

All payments were non pensionable lump sums.

Departmental Sick Leave

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many days sickness absence were taken by staff in his Department in each of the last 12 months for which figures are available; and what the cost to his Department was of such absence. [305549]

Mr. Hain: The Wales Office does not collect this information in this way, and obtaining this information could be achieved only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Training

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many overseas training courses were attended by his Department's civil servants in the latest period for which figures are available; how many civil servants attended each course; and what the total cost to the public purse was of each course. [305888]

Mr. Hain: None.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Caravan Sites: Travelling People

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the written ministerial statement of 24 November 2009, Official Report, column 44WS, on Gypsy and Traveller caravan count 2009, how many unauthorised Travellers there were on (a) tolerated and (b) not-tolerated sites on land (i) owned and (ii) not owned by Travellers, in each year since 2000. [307065]

Mr. Malik: The Bi-annual count of Gypsy and Traveller caravans collects data on the number of caravans on authorised and unauthorised sites in England. It does not provide data on the number of persons who are Gypsies and Travellers. The following table derived from the counts covering the period from 19 January to 16 July 2009 shows the number of caravans on unauthorised sites.

Community Development: Finance

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what support his Department gives for the recruitment of community development workers. [306988]

Barbara Follett: Communities and Local Government sponsors and funds the Community Development Foundation (CDF) as a non-departmental public body, to be a leading source of expertise on community development and empowerment. As part of its activities, and working with other national community development organisations, CDF provides research evidence and good practice guidance covering the role of community development workers, their recruitment, retention and management. This work will be enhanced by the results of an England-wide survey of Community Development Work, the report of which CDF is due to publish in March 2010.

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how many interfaith projects have been funded by his Department since 2005; and if he will make a statement; [306989]

(2) how many grants his Department has made to interfaith organisations since 2005; and if he will make a statement. [306990]

Mr. Malik: The Faith Communities Capacity Building Fund was distributed over the three years 2004-05 to 2007-08, in two rounds of funding, to the organisations in the attached lists. The Fund had two categories: capacity building and inter faith activity.

A total of 73 inter faith organisations have successfully received funding in both rounds of the Faith Communities Capacity Building Fund. A comprehensive list of organisations granted funding is available on the Community Development Fund (CDF) website at:

www.cdf.org.uk

Since 2008, we have been committed to a three year programme of investment and support worth over £7.5 million, as announced in our inter faith framework "Face to Face and Side by Side".

Part of this funding is being distributed through the "Faiths in Action" fund, which aims to support local activities and initiatives that have a direct link to one or more of the four building blocks described in "Face to Face and Side by Side:" confidence and skills to bridge and link; shared spaces for interaction; structures and processes; and opportunities for learning. All types of organisations at national, regional or local level in England may apply for this funding. The Faiths in Action programme is administered CDF and further information about projects and organisations funded under this programme can be found at:

www.cdf.org.uk

The other funding is allocated to a programme of investment over three years in Regional Faith Forums to support and build their capacity, in particular their interaction with local inter faith activity.

My Department also supports the Inter Faith Network for the UK (IFN) with an annual grant. IFN represents the collective voice of all main faith communities and in partnership with DCLG facilitated England's first inter faith week. The week ran from 15-21 November 2009 and we offered small grants to national inter faith organisations to help with their contribution and enable cross community participation.

Comprehensive Area Assessments

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what role the Audit Commission has in inspecting local development plan documents as part of comprehensive area assessments. [307205]

Ms Rosie Winterton: This is an operational matter for the Audit Commission, and I will ask the chief executive of the Audit Commission to write to the hon. Member direct.

Letter from Steve Bundred, dated December 2009:

Your Parliamentary Question outlined above has been passed to me to reply.

Comprehensive Area Assessment, or CAA, is a new way of assessing local public services in England. It examines how well these services are working together to meet the needs of the people they serve.

The starting point for assessments is the priorities set and agreed by local public services, based on what is important to local people. The focus of assessments is on outcomes of public services working together on people and places, and prospects for improvement in the future.

What matters locally varies from place to place. Councils and their local partners have developed sustainable community strategies to set out the challenges and agreed priorities for their areas and how they plan to achieve sustainable development. In addition, they have agreed with central government new local area agreements (LAAs) setting out improvement targets up to March 2011. Longer-term goals are set out in sustainable community strategies and local development frameworks. In CAA, we will consider progress towards achieving local priorities, in relation to these different timescales.

Judgements are made using a range of evidence. Evidence includes performance data, evidence from any inspections that have taken place in the area, the views of local people and services users and self-assessments that local partners may want to provide. As well as any self-assessment, inspectorates will draw evidence from key documents such as the Sustainable Community Strategies, Housing Strategy, Local Development Framework, Children and Young People's Plan, Joint Strategic Needs Assessments, Community Safety Partnership Plan and reports to, and minutes of, the local strategic partnership, children's trusts, council and scrutiny committees. All of this information is brought together along with information held by the six inspectorates (the Audit Commission, Ofsted, the Care Quality Commission and Her Majesty's Inspectorates of Constabulary, Prisons and Probation) to reach judgements about the quality of public services in the area.

The findings from CAA are reported on the new Oneplace website at:

www.direct.gov.uk/oneplace

A copy of this letter will be placed in Hansard.

Council Housing: Rents

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many and what proportion of local authorities have decided to reduce their level of social housing rent in 2009-10. [306878]

Mr. Ian Austin: We have no data to suggest that any local authority has reduced social rents in 2009-10.

Of the 191 authorities with active housing revenue accounts at the beginning of the financial year, 189 (98.9 per cent.) accepted our offer of real help now by way of additional subsidy to reduce their average rent increase to 3.1 per cent., thus providing real help to their tenants.

Council Tax

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent representations has he received from the Local Government Association's Labour Group on council tax. [305813]

Barbara Follett: The three year settlement delivered by this Government for Local Government, which delivered a 4 per cent. average increase in investment, has resulted in the Secretary of State receiving no formal representations from any LGA group.

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar on 29 October 2008, Official Report, column 1136W, on council tax: standards, what data collections outside the national indicator set (a) are still being collected and (b) have been discontinued by his Department. [306433]

Barbara Follett: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave her on 22 October 2009, Official Report, columns 1645-646W, in respect to data this Department still collects.

The Department will be publishing the latest update to its simplification plan on 14 December. This lists the data that the Department has stopped collecting and sets out other work under way to further reduce the regulatory burden. A copy of this update will be available at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/corporate/publications/corporate-reports/

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer of 14 October 2009, Official Report, column 965W, on council tax, whether he has made an estimate of the effects on the revenue of each local authority with a below-average council tax collection rate of their collection rate. [306552]

Barbara Follett: No. Under sections 33 and 44 of the Local Government Finance Act 1992, and regulations 3 and 7 of the Local Authorities (Calculation of Council Tax Base) Regulations 1992, it is the responsibility of individual local authorities to take account of collection rates when considering their council tax base (and the resulting revenues) during the process of setting budgets and their band D council tax levels for a financial year. As a result, the revenue of a local authority with a below-average council tax collection rate is not materially affected for that financial year by such a collection rate.

Council Tax: Billing

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment has been made of the effectiveness of the new requirements to publish efficiency information on council tax bills; and whether research was conducted before implementation of the requirements on the comprehensibility of the information. [306411]

Barbara Follett: In the explanatory memorandum to the 2008 regulations governing the inclusion of efficiency information on and with council tax bills, the Department committed to review their operation this financial year.

The review consisted of two telephone surveys; the first, on the local government experience, asked how people had reacted to the information. It found that about a third of councils were contacted at least once in response to the efficiency information presented on or with the council tax bills. It also asked what operational difficulties, if any, councils had encountered in meeting the requirement. Overall, authorities did not experience the level of difficulty anticipated in their response to the 2008 consultation on the proposal.

The second survey questioned a small number of consumer groups on their understanding of the public response to the information and sought their views about its effective presentation. Provision of efficiency information was generally welcomed in so far as it meant that the public could be better informed about the work that their local authorities are engaged in.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside his Department's building attended by civil servants in his Department there have been since its inception; and what the cost was of each. [307527]

Barbara Follett: The Department does not hold information centrally on the number of away days and conferences attended by staff since its inception. Attendance at away days and conferences are approved by appropriate line managers and there would be a disproportionate cost involved in trying to obtain this information.

Departmental Pay

Mr. Scott: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much has been paid in bonuses to civil servants in his Department in each year since 2003. [306455]

Barbara Follett: The following table sets out the total cost of performance bonuses paid to civil servants within Communities and Local Government. Figures are only available from the financial period 2004-2005.

Total cost of non-consolidated payments

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2009-10 | [1]751,150 |
| 2008-09 | 1,284,549 |
| 2007-08 | 1,018,350 |
| 2006-07 | 838,250 |
| 2005-06 | 596,000 |
| 2004-05 | 469,000 |

[1] This total cost only represents the non consolidated payments made to the SCS and is subject to change once the pay award for all staff below SCS has been implemented

The Department also operate a scheme for all staff below the Senior Civil Service under which individuals or teams may receive a small non-consolidated award in recognition of an outstanding contribution over a limited period. The maximum payment made under these arrangements is £600. Records are only available for the periods set out in the table.

Total cost of in-year performance non-consolidated performance awards

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 116,000 |
| 2004-05 | 105,000 |
| 2003-04 | 116,000 |

In Communities and Local Government, bonus payments are made to those members of staff who are found to have made a significant contribution towards the achievement of the team's, and/or Department's objectives. Individuals are expected to show that they have exceeded the requirements set for the achievement of the objective and have demonstrated exemplary behaviour in doing so. Our senior civil service staff members are also assessed against a range of factors, including:

The achievement of their Prime Objective which focuses on the way in which they lead, manage and develop their staff;

Degree to which business objectives are met;

Delivery for Ministers;

Demonstration of skills set out in the Professional Skills for Government framework such as judgment and leadership; and Effective resource management.

Departmental Public Expenditure

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many funding streams relating to (a) housing, (b) regeneration and (c) social exclusion are overseen by his Department and its agencies. [306729]

Barbara Follett: The information requested is as follows:

(a) Housing

There are four funding streams relating to housing, under the title 'Improving the Supply and Quality of Housing': Central Government Spend; Local Authority Spend; Annually Managed Expenditure and Non-Budget Spend. These are set out in the Department's Main Supply Estimate 2009-10, which covers both the Department and its agencies, and form sections B, M, T and W respectively.

(b) Regeneration

There are two funding streams relating to regeneration, under the title 'Building Prosperous Communities, Promoting Regeneration and Tackling Deprivation': Central Government Spend and Local Authority Spend. These form sections C and N respectively of the Main Estimate.

(c) Social Exclusion

There are two funding streams relating to social exclusion, under the title 'Developing Communities that are Cohesive, Active and Resilient to Extremism': Central Government Spend and Local Authority Spend. These form sections D and O respectively of the Main Estimate.

The Main Estimate 2009-10 can be found at:

http://www.hm-treasury.gov.uk/d/1340_me09_dclg_1st.pdf

This information is also published in the CLG Annual Report 2009, Annex C at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/corporate/annualreport09

The annual report also contains further details regarding the specific programmes funded through each of the aforementioned funding streams.

Departmental Public Relations

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what payments (a) the Fire Service College and (b) his Department has made to ICE Ltd in each of the last five years; and to what projects these payments relate. [306509]

Barbara Follett [holding answer 14 December 2009]: The information is as follows:

(a) The Fire Service College have made the following payments to ICE Ltd:

| Business area: Centre for Leadership | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 0 |
| 2006 | 20,000 |
| 2007 | 44,000 |
| 2008 | 10,000 |
| 2009 | 0 |

(b) The Department has made no payments to ICE Ltd in the last five years.

Domestic Waste: Waste Disposal

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer of 10 November 2009, Official Report, column 275W, on domestic waste: waste disposal, if he will make it his policy to review the design standards to assess whether they are sufficient to house the number and volume of wheelie bins provided by waste collection authorities to households. [307129]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Government plan to carry out an evaluation and review of Part H (Drainage and waste disposal) and its guidance as part of the Future of Building Control Implementation Plan and will introduce any necessary revisions in 2013.

We have reviewed domestic waste disposal within the waste category of the Code for Sustainable Homes (the Code) as part of the Code's general review before its planned consultation later this year. Given the variability of frequency of waste collections by local authorities, we propose to amend the calculation methodology for external space to link it to the frequency of collections by the local authority. Where a local authority does not provide the waste containers and collects fortnightly, the BS5906:2005 space standards (100 litres for the first bedroom and then a further 70 litres for each additional bedroom) should be doubled. We are not proposing that you can reduce the space requirements for more frequent collections. Additionally, we propose that where the local authority does not limit the volume of waste collected weekly, then compliance with BS5906:2005 is required. We intend to publish our conclusions from the Code consultation in summer 2010.

Fêtes

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer of 14 October 2009, Official Report, columns 965-68W, on fetes, how many (a) forms and (b) permits are required for the purposes of operating a fete. [306551]

Barbara Follett: We have made no such estimate.

Fire Services

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what guidance documents issued by his Department to fire and rescue authorities on integrated risk management plans relate to (a) the location of fire stations and fire appliances, (b) the hours of operation of fire stations, (c) the priority given to protecting life, (d) the priority given to protecting property and (e) socio-economic and geo-demographic targeting of support. [306819]

Mr. Malik: Decisions on operational issues such as the location of fire stations and fire appliances, the hours of operation of fire stations and the priority given to identified and assessed risks are taken by individual Fire and Rescue Authorities (FRAs) as part of the integrated risk management planning process.

A range of IRMP-related guidance has been issued to FRAs and is available on the Communities and Local Government website at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/fire/developingfuture/integratedriskmanagement/

The guidance, which is non-prescriptive, is designed to provide advice and assistance on IRMP and its associated processes, allowing local authorities and local communities to make appropriate decisions at the local level.

The Department has also provided each fire and rescue service with a suite of software called the fire service emergency cover (FSEC) toolkit. This toolkit allows each fire and rescue service to undertake a risk-based assessment of their area. FSEC is based upon a geographical information system, which takes account of a range of factors including socio-economic and geo-demographic data, and uses bespoke software to calculate the probable losses based on a particular set of response strategies in terms of lives lost and property costs. That then enables the FRA to determine its optimum prevention, protection and response strategies appropriate to its own area.

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the recent impact assessment in respect of delays to the FiReControl projects; which fire services were identified as higher risk; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the full results of the impact assessments. [307156]

Mr. Malik: We undertook an impact assessment of project delay, working with the fire and rescue services. No fire and rescue service identified unmanageable risks as a result. A small number of fire and rescue services identified increased risks and we are working with them to mitigate these. The information provided by the fire and rescue service was on a confidential basis.

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what mechanism exists for the transfer of individual fire and rescue authorities control functions to regional control centres; and whether he can direct such a transfer. [307195]

Mr. Malik: The Government are committed to working in partnership with the Fire and Rescue Service to deliver the benefits which FiReControl will bring. This commitment is set out in the 'Fire and Rescue Service National Framework 2008-11'. Powers exist under sections 22 and 29 of the Fire and Rescue Services Act 2004 to direct a move to the FiReControl network, as a last resort.

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate he has made of the cost of measures taken as a result of delays to the Firelink and FiReControl projects; and which of them are included in the FiReControl business case. [307198]

Mr. Malik: Firelink delays have resulted in additional costs in project management which have been recovered from the contractor. The Firelink project has also incurred additional costs for project management in providing an interim solution to enhance integration with existing control rooms due to FiReControl delay. The cost is estimated at £4.6 million Under FiReControl, the estimated cost of the delay in July is £40 million. We have entered into a royalties deal with our supplier on future sales of the system to recover these costs for the taxpayer while enabling the system to be developed. The cost of any delay are referred to in the FiReControl business case.

Floods: Cumbria

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Peterborough of 1 December 2009, Official Report, column 643W, on floods: Cumbria, whether expenditure incurred by local authorities below the 0.2 per cent. threshold in respect of the recent flooding in Cumbria will be reimbursed under the Bellwin scheme. [306724]

Barbara Follett: No. The threshold has been set at 0.2 per cent. of a local authority's calculated annual revenue budget. This is because the Government, throughout the lifetime of the Bellwin scheme, have thought it reasonable to expect authorities to cover costs themselves up to a certain level. Every local authority is required to maintain reserves, one of whose main purposes is to meet unexpected costs. Successive Governments have retained the threshold and it has never been waived, even during the 1987 storms, the 2000 floods, the foot-and-mouth crisis or the 2007 summer floods.

The threshold applies to annual spending and not to spending on each incident. So authorities who report more than one incident in the same financial year take spending on all reported incidents into account in calculating whether they have exceeded the threshold.

Greenbelt

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment he has made of the effect on his Department's policy on the protection of green belt land of the decision of the Planning Inspectorate of 20 October 2009 in respect of the appeal of Libra Demolition Ltd against the refusal of Leeds City Council to grant outline planning permission for a residential development. [306888]

Mr. Ian Austin: The site referred to is not in the green belt. However, the case is subject to legal proceedings at present, so it would not be appropriate to comment further at this stage.

Homelessness: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many and what proportion of people classed as homeless and in priority need are under the age of 25 years in Leeds city area; and if he will make a statement. [306600]

Mr. Ian Austin: Information about English local housing authorities' actions under the homelessness legislation (part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) is collected at local authority level, and published by the Department in the quarterly Statistical Release on Statutory Homelessness, available both in the Library and via the CLG website at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/corporate/statistics/homelessnessq32009

Data collected include the number of households accepted by local housing authorities as eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and in priority need.

and therefore owed a main homelessness duty (to secure that suitable accommodation is available).

Data on age of applicants accepted as owed a main homelessness duty are available at national level and provided in table 10(b) of the statistical release, found at the link above and in the Library. The first age band shows applicants who are aged between 16 and 24 years old (all applicants must be 16 or over).

Data are also available at a national level on applicant households with dependent children accepted as owed a main homelessness duty, in table 5 of the statistical release mentioned above. However the actual number of children is not held centrally.

During the July to September quarter 2009, there were 123 homeless acceptances in Leeds, of which 30, or 24 per cent. were from applicants aged 16 to 24 and 84, or 68 per cent. were households with dependent children.

A table showing the number and proportion of accepted applicants aged between 16 and 24 years and applicant households with dependent children, at local authority level has been placed in the Library.

Homelessness: Young People

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what estimate he has made of the proportion and number of homeless people aged 18 years or under; [307224]

(2) what estimate he has made of the proportion and number of homeless people aged 25 years or under. [307225]

Mr. Ian Austin: Information about English local housing authorities' actions under the homelessness legislation (part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) is collected at local authority level, and published by the Department in the quarterly Statistical Release on Statutory Homelessness, available both in the Library and via the CLG website:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/corporate/statistics/homelessnessq32009

Data collected include the number of households accepted by local housing authorities as eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and in priority need, and therefore owed a main homelessness duty (to secure that suitable accommodation is available). If a settled home is not immediately available, the authority must secure temporary accommodation until a settled home becomes available, and this information is also collected.

Figures on the number and proportion of applicants under the age of 25 who were accepted as owed a main homelessness duty, was given in response to my right hon. Friend the Member for Leeds, West (John Battle) today (PQ 306600).

A table showing the number and proportion of households with children (and the actual number of children) in temporary accommodation can be found in the statistical release mentioned above.

We also hold centrally data on the number of 16 to 17-year-old applicant households in temporary accommodation, and on 30 September there were 1,590 in this category, 3 per cent. of the total number of households in temporary accommodation on this date.

Housing

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer of 11 November 2009, Official Report, column 525W, on housing, how many first-time buyers purchased a home with a mortgage in the UK in each year from 1979 to 1995. [306416]

Mr. Ian Austin: The numbers of first-time buyers purchasing a home with a mortgage in the UK in each year from 1979 to 1995 are presented in the following table:

First time buyers purchasing with a mortgage, UK

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 1979 | 320,200 |
| 1980 | 314,400 |
| 1981 | 342,100 |
| 1982 | 433,800 |
| 1983 | 477,600 |
| 1984 | 531,300 |
| 1985 | 557,800 |
| 1986 | 612,700 |
| 1987 | 523,700 |
| 1988 | 580,300 |
| 1989 | 455,200 |
| 1990 | 409,200 |
| 1991 | 336,200 |
| 1992 | 447,600 |
| 1993 | 519,500 |
| 1994 | 532,100 |
| 1995 | 420,300 |

Source: Council of Mortgage Lenders.

Today there are 1.6 million more home-owners than in 1991 and 1 million more than in 1997.

Housing Benefit

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many local authorities have responded to his Department's consultation on the Housing Revenue Account. [306880]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Department received 155 responses from local authorities to the consultation on proposals to reform the Housing Revenue Account subsidy system.

Housing Benefit: Lancashire

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent assessment he has made of the incidence of housing benefit fraud in East Lancashire; and if he will make a statement. [306450]

Helen Goodman: I have been asked to reply.

Department for Work and Pensions fraud and error estimates, published in the Fraud and Error in the Benefit System series, provide fraud and error estimates at a national level. The estimates are derived from the examination of a sample of benefit payments. The sample sizes are too small to produce valid estimates at sub-national level, so therefore information for East Lancashire is not available.

Housing: Carbon Emissions

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what requirements there are on a householder to make adjustments for the purposes of energy efficiency to a dwelling that householder proposes to extend. [306893]

Mr. Ian Austin: Minimum standards for energy efficiency are set out in Part L of the Building Regulations (England & Wales), 'Conservation of fuel and power'. Part L requirements apply only when certain categories of building work are carried out to existing dwellings, including adding an extension. Guidance issued under Part L sets out a number of energy efficiency provisions, in relation to the performance of the fabric and services of any new extension.

Where an extension is added onto a building (including a dwelling) and the floor area of the existing building exceeds 1,000m$^2$ then additional consequential energy efficiency improvements to the existing building may also be required.

CLG recently consulted on proposals to raise Part L standards in 2010 and plans to publish a summary of responses early in 2010.

Housing: Expenditure

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much his Department and its predecessors spent on housing in each year since 1997-98 expressed in real terms in 2009 prices. [307219]

Mr. Ian Austin: Data on public expenditure by department and function are published annually in "Public Expenditure Statistical Analyses". The latest edition was published in June 2009 (Cm 7630) and includes data from financial year 1997-98 up to and including 2007-08.

Housing: Finance

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much of the £21 million for low-carbon heating systems announced in April has been spent in each region. [307018]

Mr. Ian Austin: There has been no expenditure as yet under the Low Carbon Infrastructure Fund but contracts are in place to enable allocated monies to be spent this financial year. The regional breakdown of committed expenditure is as follows:

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| North East | 1.7 |
| Yorkshire and Humber | 1 |
| West Midlands | 3.88 |
| East Midlands | 1.5 |
| South West | 3.3 |
| South East | 5.77 |
| London | 3.5 |

Housing: Prices

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the average purchase price of a first-time buyer's property was in each year since 1997. [307268]

Mr. Ian Austin: The average mix-adjusted purchase price of a first-time buyer in each year since 1997 is available on our website at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/documents/housing/xls/141377.xls.

ICE

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what payments (a) the Fire Service College and (b) his Department have made to ICE Ltd in each of the last five years; and to which projects these payments relate. [306651]

Barbara Follett: The information is as follows:

(a) The Fire Service College have made the following payments to ICE Ltd:

| Business area: Centre for Leadership | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 0 |
| 2006 | 20,000 |
| 2007 | 44,000 |
| 2008 | 10,000 |
| 2009 | 0 |

(b) The Department has made no payments to ICE Ltd in the last five years.

Litter

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what powers local authorities have in respect of the placing of dog refuse bins and litter bins on unadopted land. [306770]

Barbara Follett [holding answer14 December 2009]: My Department is not responsible for the placement of dog refuse bins and litter bins.

Local Government: Pensions

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what his Department's latest estimate is of the average level of employer contribution as a percentage of the employee's salary made by each administering local authority within the Local Government Pension Scheme. [306817]

Barbara Follett: No estimate has been made.

Local Government: Reorganisation

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Meriden of 16 October 2009, Official Report, column 1107W, on Atherton Associates, whether Ministers in his Department have met representatives of Atherton Associates in the last 36 months to discuss unitary restructuring. [306725]

Barbara Follett: No Minister from this Department has met with Atherton Associates in the last 36 months.

Local Government: Standards

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what mechanisms are used to (a) collect, (b) check and (c) publish statistical data for the purposes of the (i) local spending reports and (b) Total Place initiative. [306891]

Barbara Follett: Expenditure data published in local spending reports are official statistics and are collected, checked and published in line with guidelines for such statistics.

Total Place data are collected and owned by the pilot areas involved on a voluntary basis. CLG has commissioned a report which will summarise and comment on these findings and will be published following agreement of a final draft.

Marinas: Planning Permission

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what planning guidance is in place in relation to building marinas on (a) protected coastline and (b) adjoining green belt land. [305935]

Mr. Ian Austin: There is no planning policy or guidance specific to marinas on protected coastlines or within or adjoining green belt. Our policy on the latter is set out in Planning Policy Guidance Note 2, Green Belts, available on the website:

www.communities.gov.uk

Mortgages: Repossession Orders

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate he has made of the number of households with a (a) mortgage and (b) second-charge loan which have been repossessed in each of the last three years. [307130]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Department does not collect information on mortgage possessions and arrears although information for the United Kingdom as a whole is published separately by the Council of Mortgage Lenders (CML) and the Financial Services Authority (FSA).

The latest CML information is at:

http://www.cml.org.uk/cml/media/press/2456

The latest FSA information is at:

http://www.fsa.gov.uk/Pages/Doing/Regulated/Returns/IRR/statistics/index.shtml

National Policy Statements

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which documents will have priority in cases where the contents of national policy statements differ from planning policy statements and planning policy guidance notes. [307075]

Mr. Ian Austin: Where applications for a development consent order are made to the Infrastructure Planning Commission (IPC), decisions will have to be made in accordance with the national policy statement although the IPC may also have regard to other matters which it thinks are both important and relevant. As the primary consideration for the IPC when it makes decisions on applications for development consent, national policy statements will take precedence over planning policy statements and planning policy guidance notes.

Non-Domestic Rates: Churches

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether church buildings which are used for purposes other than religious worship are liable for business rates. [306920]

Barbara Follett: As stated in the Local Government Finance Act 1988, if church halls, chapel halls and similar buildings are used only for the purposes of the organisation responsible for the conduct of public religious worship, they are, like the church or place of public religious worship, exempt from business rates.

However, where the building is also used for other purposes, it may be rated accordingly.

Non-Domestic Rates: Greater London

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer of 14 October 2009, Official Report, columns 974W, on non-domestic rates: Greater London, what the title was of the guidance note from which the section on sub-location codes was obtained; and if he will place in the Library a copy of that note. [306553]

Barbara Follett: The title of the document is "Review of sub-location codes". A copy has been placed in the Library.

Non-Domestic Rates: Public Libraries

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether the operators of mobile libraries are liable for the payment of business rates. [307040]

Barbara Follett: Mobile libraries are not rateable. The operational base from which they work may have a liability for rates.

Non-Domestic Rates: Valuation

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what percentage rise in rateable values for an average hereditament from the 2005 Rating List to the draft 2010 rating list would entail a real terms revenue neutral change in business rates based on the 2010-11 standard rating multiplier. [306387]

Barbara Follett: The percentage rise in rateable values that would entail a real terms revenue neutral change in business rates based on the 2009-10 and the provisional 2010-11 small business multipliers is 18.2 per cent. This percentage was calculated by setting the Notional Chargeable Amount (NCA) for a given hereditament in 2009-10 equal to the NCA for that hereditament in 2010-11. The NCA is the product between the multiplier for the relevant year and the rateable value (RV) of the hereditament in that same year. This calculation assumes that hereditaments would not be eligible for any relief, i.e. that its bill would coincide with the NCA.

The five-yearly business rates revaluations make sure each business pays its fair contribution and no more by ensuring the share of the national rates bill paid by any one business reflects changes over time in the value of their property relative to others. The 2010 revaluation will not raise a single extra penny for Government.

Over a million properties will see their business rate liabilities come down as a result of revaluation. The Government intend to put in place a £2 billion relief scheme to limit the impact on the minority with bill increases. That is on top of the wider support available to help ease business pressures including discounted rate bills for small businesses and deferring tax payments.

Oikos Storage: Canvey Island

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the (a) maximum and (b) minimum volume of fuel is which is to be stored at the Oikos terminal for the duration of BP's leasehold contract. [307252]

Mr. Ian Austin: According to HSE records the current hazardous substances consent for the Oikos terminal is for a maximum of 473,508 cubic metres of highly flammable liquids which may include petroleum and petroleum mixtures (no minimum is specified). This would be approximately 355,131 tonnes of petroleum.

Ordnance Survey

Mr. Arbuthnot: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will make it his policy to provide support to the areas of the mapping sector not accounted for by the operations of Ordnance Survey. [305110]

Mr. Ian Austin: There are no plans to provide explicit financial support to the mapping sector outside Ordnance Survey.

Mr. Mark Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the announcement of 17 November 2009 on the Making Public Data Public initiative, when he expects to begin the consultation regarding access to Ordnance Survey data. [306349]

Mr. Ian Austin: We expect the consultation to be launched during the week beginning 14 December 2009.

Planning

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many requests in each region he has received for planning applications to be called in (a) under an article 14 declaration and (b) under section 77 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 in each of the last 10 years; how many of those have been called in; and if he will make a statement. [307278]

Mr. Ian Austin: The following tables show, by region, the annual number of third party requests for planning applications to be called-in; the number of planning applications referred under section 77 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (TCPA); the number of applications called-in; and the number of article 14 directions issued. Figures before 2002 have been excluded due to potential data inaccuracies.

The power to call-in any planning application is provided solely by section 77 of the TCPA. An article 14 direction simply prevents a local planning authority from granting permission for a specific proposal.

Private Rented Housing: Greater London

Jeremy Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what information his Department holds on the average length of private sector tenancies in each London borough; and what plans he has to improve the security of tenure for private sector tenants. [307251]

Mr. Ian Austin: Communities and Local Government does not hold the information requested. Most tenants in the private sector have assured shorthold tenancies. The legislation governing these is designed to achieve a fair balance between the rights of landlords and tenants and we have no plans to change this.

Regional Planning and Development

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government by what process planning committee members are appointed to each of the development corporations. [305926]

Mr. Malik: There are three Urban Development Corporations (UDCs) in England: London Thames Gateway Development Corporation (LTGDC); Thurrock Thames Gateway Development Corporation (TTGDC); and West Northamptonshire Development Corporation (WNDC). The Planning Committees for the UDCs are appointed in each case by the Board under the terms of the Committee's governing documentation, copies of which are published on the relevant Corporation's website.

LTGDC

http://www.ltgdc.org.uk/PDF/Planning%20committee%20terms%20of%20reference.pdf

TTGDC

Website being upgraded—a copy will be placed in the Library of the House.

WNDC

http://www.wndc.co.uk/about_us/board_meeting_agendas.aspx

In the case of London Thames Gateway and Thurrock Thames Gateway Development Corporations, the Board may decide to appoint independent members. Where this takes place procedures analogous to those required by the Commissioner for Public Appointments are followed; although such appointments are not OCPA regulated.

Scientists

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government on how many occasions he has met (a) the Government chief scientific adviser and (b) his Department's chief scientific adviser in the course of his official duties in the last 12 months. [303966]

Barbara Follett: In the last 12 months the Secretary of State has:

(a) Not met with the Government chief scientific adviser.

(b) Met once with the departmental chief scientific adviser.

Sleeping Rough

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what his most recent estimate is of the number of rough sleepers in (a) Leeds and (b) England. [305773]

Mr. Ian Austin: In 1998 there were estimated to be 1,850 rough sleepers in England with eight rough sleepers in Leeds. Since then good progress has been progress has been made in reducing the total number of rough sleepers to 464 in 2009, based on local authority street counts, which includes six rough sleepers who were found on Leeds' count.

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the estimated level of rough sleeping in England was in March 2001. [306726]

Mr. Ian Austin: 681 people were estimated to be sleeping rough in England in 2001.

In 1998 there were estimated to be 1,850 rough sleepers in England. Since then good progress has been made in reducing the number of rough sleepers to a total of 464 in 2009 based on local authority street counts.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate he has made of the proportion and number of rough sleepers aged 25 years or under. [307209]

Mr. Ian Austin: The annual headline figure for rough sleeping based on local authority street counts does not include information on age profile.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many and what proportion of individuals receiving Supporting People grants under the rough sleeper strand were aged (a) under 18, (b) under 25 and (c) under 40 years in each of the last three years. [307222]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Supporting People programme is a locally managed and delivered programme. Local authorities are responsible for making the strategic decisions regarding the programme including deciding what services to commission to meet local needs and priorities. People who are eligible for Supporting People funding tend to use a service, rather than receive a cashable grant.

Social Rented Housing

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will make it his policy to ensure that social tenants who move to a different local authority area retain their security of tenure in respect of social housing in their new area. [306877]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Government are committed to ensuring that social tenants, wherever they live in England, continue to have the same statutory protection in respect of their security of tenure and are provided with the most secure form of tenure compatible with the purpose of the housing and the sustainability of the community. We have no intention of bringing forward proposals that would diminish the security which social tenants currently enjoy.

Vacant Land

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Tamworth of 25 November 2009, Official Report, column 184W, on vacant land: Tamworth, how many acres of green space there are in each local authority in England; and what his Department's definition of green space is. [307214]

Barbara Follett: Data on local authority green space from 2005 are publicly available from the Office for National Statistics. These are not comprehensive as there is no requirement for national collection. More accurate and current data could be supplied by individual local authorities. Communities and Local Government do not define green space, but the Annex to PPG 17 provides examples of the broad range of open spaces that may be of public value, a significant component of which, are related to green spaces.

SOLICITOR-GENERAL

Crown Prosecution Service: Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Solicitor-General how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Crown Prosecution Service's (CPS) buildings attended by civil servants in the CPS there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307461]

The Solicitor-General: The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) is a devolved organisation and local managers are responsible for arranging away days and conferences. Information on the number of each that took place outside CPS buildings attended by civil servants is not recorded centrally. To obtain the information requested would require all managers to review records since 2005 and would incur disproportionate cost. The following table provides the total value recorded for conference expenditure in each financial year since 2005.

| CPS conference expenditure | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 0.85 |
| 2006-07 | 1.05 |
| 2007-08 | 0.68 |
| 2008-09 | 0.67 |

The CPS does hold Senior Managers' Conferences each year, which bring 150 of its senior managers from all 42 areas and senior headquarters (HQ) staff together to discuss the most pressing issues facing the Service. In past years this has been held twice a year; a decision was taken in 2009 to reduce the frequency to one per year.

The following table shows the average cost of each conference each year since 2005.

| CPS conference expenditure senior management conferences | Average cost (£000) |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 93 |
| 2006-07 | 112 |
| 2007-08 | 128 |
| 2008-09 | 75 |

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Solicitor-General how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Law Officers' buildings attended by civil servants in the Law Officers' Department there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307467]

The Solicitor-General: The information requested is outlined in the following tables.

(a) Departmental away days

| | Number of away days | Cost (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 0 | 0 |
| 2006-07 | 0 | 0 |
| 2007-08 | 0 | 0 |
| 2008-09 | 1 | [1]3,249.79 |
| 2009-10 | 3 | [1]5,710.50 |
| | | [2]515.00 |
| | | [3]488.73 |

[1] Whole office.

[2] Whole office half day.

[3] Senior management team, half day.

(b) Conferences outside the Law Officers' buildings attended by civil servants

| | Number of conferences | Cost (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 9 | 2,816.70 |
| 2006-07 | 4 | 2,026.39 |
| 2007-08 | 5 | 1,815.23 |
| 2008-09 | 9 | 3,437.20 |
| 2009-10 | 4 | 1,752.70 |

Departmental Energy

Grant Shapps: To ask the Solicitor-General what the energy (a) rating and (b) band of each building occupied by the Law Officers' Departments was in each year for which figures are available. [307216]

The Solicitor-General: The information requested is published by the Office of Government Commerce and is available online at the following website address:

http://www.ogc.gov.uk/government_delivery_display_energy_certificate_data.asp

The OGC Centre of Expertise in Sustainable Procurement has committed to publish a summary of DEC ratings for the Government estate every six months.

The Treasury Solicitor's Department does not currently possess an energy rating.

HMCPSI's organisation is too small to come under the DECs (Display Energy Certificates) scheme. This only applies to buildings over 1,000 m2 which HMCPSI does not fall under.

Departmental Plants

Grant Shapps: To ask the Solicitor-General how much the Law Officers' Departments spent on (a) cut flowers and (b) pot plants in 2008-09. [306279]

The Solicitor-General: The Attorney-General's Office spent £37.90 on cut flowers in 2008-09 for the reception area. There was no spend on pot plants.

The Treasury Solicitor's Department has not spent any money on (a) cut flowers and (b) pot plants in 2008-09.

The Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office is a minor occupier in buildings owned by HM Revenue and Customs and receives a fully managed estate service from that department. This includes the responsibility for provision and maintenance of floor standing plants within the office environment, the costs for which cannot be separately identified. No monies have been spent on the provision of cut flowers.

The National Fraud Authority and HM Crown Prosecution Service Inspectorate has not made any payments for cut flowers or pot plants in 2008-09.

The Crown Prosecution Service is a devolved organisation. The Department has not kept central records of expenditure on cut flowers and pot plants in 2008-09. To provide this information would involve checking paper records across the CPS and would incur disproportionate costs.

The Serious Fraud Office has spent £2,340.00 (excluding VAT) on flowers and £2,765.36 (excluding VAT) on maintenance of pot plants in 2008-09. No new pot plants were purchased in 2008-09.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Harper: To ask the Solicitor-General how many and what percentage of parliamentary questions tabled for written answer by her on a named day in session 2008-09 received a substantive answer on that day. [307533]

The Solicitor-General: Of the 29 named day questions tabled to my Department in the 2008-09 parliamentary session, 28 per cent. or 96 per cent. of them were answered on the day nominated by questioners.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Solicitor-General (1) how much the Law Officers' Departments spent on hotel accommodation for (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) civil servants in each of the last five years; [305652]

(2) how much the Crown Prosecution Service has spent on hotel accommodation for its officials in each of the last five years; [306034]

(3) how much the Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office has spent on hotel accommodation for its staff in each of the last five years; [305703]

(4) how much the Serious Fraud Office has spent on hotel accommodation for its staff in each of the last five years. [305704]

The Solicitor-General: The information requested for the Law Officers' Departments is contained in the following table.

| Law Officer Department | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 | 2008-09 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| AGO, TSOL[1], HMCPSI | 51,359 | 44,036 | 56,699 | 51,948 | 27,848 |
| SFO[2] | 142,224 | 166,838 | 202,592 | 243,118 | 119,639 |
| CPS[3] | 1,130,000 | 1,175,000 | 1,447,000 | 1,260,000 | 1,248,000 |

| Law Officer Department | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 | 2008-09 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| NFA[4] | — | — | — | — | 654 |
| RCPO[5] | — | 58,924 | 122,585 | 87,045 | 44,154 |

[1] Information for the Attorney-General's Office, HM Crown Prosecution Inspectorate and Treasury Solicitors (TSOL) is collated centrally by TSOL. In addition, officials from TSOL incur hotel expenses when working on client cases. These costs are not accounted for separately from other client disbursements and therefore the cost of providing this information would be disproportionate. However, since April 2009 these costs have been captured through Carlson Wagonlit and the year to date hotel expenditure recorded on case-related stays is £73,220.

[2] The Serious Fraud Office's spend on hotel accommodation by financial year include any hotel expenditure for permanent staff; non-permanent staff and non-Executive board members.

[3] The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) does not record expenditure on hotel accommodation, reimbursement of meals and other incidental overnight expenses separately. To provide a detailed breakdown would involve checking paper records across the CPS and would incur disproportionate costs.

[4] The costs given relate to the accommodation costs incurred during the NFA launch in 2008-09.

[5] In its first year, 2005-06, Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office (RCPO) did not account separately for expenditure on hotel accommodation and providing a detailed breakdown would incur a disproportionate cost.

The Law Officers' Departments do not have any special advisers. Furthermore, ministerial hotel costs are not recorded separately from those of civil servants and it is therefore not possible to provide information on these matters without incurring a disproportionate cost. However, details on the cost of overseas trips made by departmental Ministers are published annually by the Cabinet Office. These can be accessed at:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/propriety_and_ethics/ministers/travel_gifts.aspx

The list for 2008-09 was published on 16 July. This and earlier lists are available in the Library of the House.

TREASURY

Mutual Building Societies

12. Paul Rowen: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what steps his Department is taking to assist mutual building societies during the recession. [306854]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: Government have taken, and will continue to take, steps to promote competition and consumer choice through supporting the development of a strong, competitive and sustainable building society sector. Government are facilitating discussions on funding and capital, with the objective of strengthening the robustness of the mutual building society model, and enhancing their provision of mortgages to home buyers. Government will continue to ensure their actions are in taxpayers' interests.

Banks: Government Support

14. Mr. Brazier To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what response his Department plans to make to the National Audit Office report on the Government's support for banks; and if he will make a statement. [306856]

Ian Pearson: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer I gave the hon. Member for Southend, West (Mr. Amess) today.

Budget 2009

19. Laura Moffatt: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what recent assessment he has made of the effect on the economy of the fiscal measures to help businesses he announced in Budget 2009. [306861]

Ian Pearson: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer given by my right hon. Friend the Chancellor of the Exchequer earlier today to the hon. Members for Halton (Derek Twigg) and Ochil and South Perthshire (Gordon Banks).

International Finance Facility for Immunisation

20. John Robertson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what discussions he has had with his international counterparts on financial support for the International Finance Facility for Immunisation; and if he will make a statement. [306863]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: Treasury Ministers and officials have meetings with a range of international counterparts as part of the process of policy development and delivery. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings.

In September the Prime Minister announced a £600 million expansion of the International Finance Facility for Immunisation, with the UK contributing £250million, this expansion will support health systems in developing countries.

Comprehensive Spending Review

21. Mr. Allen: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he expects to announce the timetable for the next comprehensive spending review; and if he will make a statement. [306864]

Mr. Byrne: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer my right hon. Friend gave the hon. Member for Putney (Justine Greening) earlier today.

Child Tax Credit

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many people in the UK are (a) eligible for and (b) in receipt of child tax credit. [306560]

Mr. Timms: Estimates of the number of households eligible for child tax credit in 2006-07, which are the latest available, are provided in table 1 of the HM Revenue and Customs publication "Child and Working Tax Credit Take-up rates 2006-07". This publication is available at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/personal-tax-credits/cwtc-take-up2006-07.pdf

The latest information on the number of households receiving child tax credit is available in the HMRC snapshot publication "Child and Working Tax Credits Statistics. April 2009". This can be found at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/personal-tax-credits/cwtc-apr09.pdf

Departmental Pay

Mr. Scott: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much has been paid in bonuses to civil servants in his Department in each year since 2007. [306434]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: Information on spending on performance and special bonuses since 2007-08 is shown in table 4.D of the 2008-09 Annual Report and Accounts (HC 611) available from:

www.hm-treasury.gov.uk/annual_report09.htm

Employee Benefit Trusts

Dr. Cable: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many interest-free loans have been made from employee benefit trusts in each of the last five years. [305760]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs do not keep a record of the number of loans taken from employee benefit trusts (EBTs). It is known that many loans are taken from EBTs by employees, some on an interest free basis and some on an interest bearing basis. Where loans are taken on an interest free basis the employee is liable to a tax charge on the benefit arising (s.175 ITEPA 2003).

Financial Services and Markets Act 2000

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if his Department will bring forward proposals to extend the provisions of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 to include company registrars as bodies which may be investigated and regulated by the Financial Services Authority and the Financial Services Ombudsman. [306267]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The Government keep under review those activities which are subject to regulation. At this time we have no plans to include company registrars within the regulatory framework. Whenever the Government plan any changes to the scope of regulation this will generally be subject to public consultation.

Income Tax Personal Allowance

Danny Alexander: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what recent representations he has received on the levels of income tax personal allowance; and if he will make a statement. [306842]

Mr. Timms: Treasury Ministers and officials receive representations from a wide range of organisations and individuals in the public and private sectors as part of the process of policy development and delivery. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such representations.

The personal allowance and the age related allowance will be maintained at their current level, providing a real-terms benefit relative to September's retail price index.

National Insurance Contributions

Mr. Gregory Campbell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much national insurance a person earning the national average wage paid in 1997; and if he will estimate how much it will be in 2010. [307207]

Mr. Timms [holding answer 14 December 2009]: The annual amount of primary class 1 national insurance contributions for individuals earning the average weekly wage for 1996-97 and 2009-10 can be found in the following table:

| | Gross weekly wage (£) | Annual Class 1 NICS (£) | Percentage of income paid as NICS |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1996-97 | 359.60 | 1,616.16 | 8.6 |
| 2009-10 | 590.70 | 2,749.60 | 9.0 |

Non-Domestic Rates: Microgeneration

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many hereditaments which benefited from the exemption for microgeneration plant and machinery in respect of non-domestic rates valuation from 2008 to 2010 have had that equipment valued and rated as part of the 2010 rates revaluation. [306834]

Ian Pearson: The information requested could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Taxation: Banks

Mr. Bone: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will bring forward proposals to disallow losses made by banks for the purpose of calculating corporation tax. [307056]

Mr. Timms [holding answer 14 December 2009]: The Government keep all taxes under review.

Unemployment: Young People

Natascha Engel: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what recent representations he has received on the effects on the economy of the level of youth unemployment. [306862]

Ian Pearson: Treasury Ministers and officials receive representations from a wide variety of organisations in the public and private sectors as part of the process of policy development and delivery.

The Government are taking decisive action to ensure that young people are supported through the recession. This action will ensure that we avoid the long-term detachment of young people from the labour market.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission: ICT

Mr. Laurence Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission (CMEC) plans to replace the computer systems in operation at the Child Support Agency and CMEC; and if she will make a statement. [304914]

Helen Goodman [holding answer 7 December 2009]: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have asked the Child Maintenance Commissioner to write to the hon. Member with the information requested and I have seen the response.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission (CMEC) plans to replace the computer systems in operation at the Child Support Agency and the CMEC; and if she will make a statement. [304914]

The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission (the Commission) was established under the Child Maintenance and other Payments Act 2008 to deliver a fundamental redesign of the child maintenance system following previous failed attempts to reform existing schemes and work is now underway on the development of a new child maintenance scheme. In November 2008 responsibility for the existing two statutory child maintenance schemes transferred from the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions to the Commission. The Commission continues to deliver the two existing schemes through a division operating under the CSA brand name.

In late 2008 the Commission undertook a feasibility study to determine the most appropriate IT solution to support the future scheme. The study recommended that the current computer system (CS2) be replaced, and a new system be developed using a set of integrated commercial off-the-shelf products. In March 2009 the Commission agreed a contract with Tata Consulting Services (TCS) for the creation of this new IT system. Work on the new computer system is currently in the development phase.

The current IT systems will continue to be used to process the existing cases and will remain in place until the existing schemes close, currently planned around 2014.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Child Rearing

Richard Burden: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what recent steps her Department has taken to provide financial assistance to relatives and friends who care for children who would otherwise have been taken into care. [304113]

Helen Goodman: Most benefits for children are administered by HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC); this includes child benefit, guardian's allowance, and child tax credits.

Income support is available to single people who have responsibility for a child under the age of 10. A single relative or friend may therefore be eligible for income support if they are responsible for a child who would otherwise have been taken into care. Income support can also be paid where a child under age 16 is placed with a single person under fostering arrangements or prior to adoption.

Income support is also available to people, whether single or not, who are temporarily looking after a child out of necessity because that child's parent or guardian is either ill or absent from home.

Customers who are responsible for a dependent and are in receipt of pension credit may be eligible for one or more of the HMRC-administered benefits, none of which are taken into account as income for pension credit purposes.

If the customer qualifies for carer's allowance for looking after a disabled child they could receive an additional amount for caring.

Where a child is being looked after by a local authority and placed with a relative or friend, the financial assistance in respect of that child is the responsibility of the local authority.

Children: Maintenance

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions with reference to the answer of 18 March 2009, Official Report, column 1202W, on the child maintenance options helpline, what the equivalent figures to those provided in the Table are for each month from January 2009. [301020]

Helen Goodman: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have asked the Child Maintenance Commissioner to write to the hon. Member with the information requested and I have seen the response.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions with reference to the Answer of 18 March 2009 Official Report column 1202W on the child maintenance options helpline what the equivalent figures to those provided in the Table are for each month from January 2009. [301020]

The information you requested is provided in the table below. This excludes information on the average time to answer calls as previously included in the answer of 18 March 2009 Official Report column 1202W. This measure has been replaced with a Client Standard whereby 90.0% of calls will be answered within 30 seconds. This information has been included in the table below as a percentage of calls answered.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

[2] Calls received exclude those outside working hours.
[3] Figures for the number of calls abandoned and the average duration of inbound calls are rounded to the nearest five.
[4] Calls abandoned are those who have listened to the initial greeting and then: have had a short call and hung up while speaking to an agent; have hung up before speaking to an agent; or have hung up while in a queue.
[5] Duration of call includes time spent talking to customers and wrapping up the call.

Cold Weather Payments: Derbyshire

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many cold weather payments have been made in respect of households in (a) Chesterfield and (b) Derbyshire in 2008-09. [306838]

Helen Goodman: The available information is that Chesterfield parliamentary constituency was linked to Nottingham weather station and Derbyshire county was linked to Nottingham, Bingley and Woodford weather stations in the winter of 2008-09.

The following table shows the number of triggers received at the three weather stations in the winter of 2008-09.

| Weather station | Number of triggers in 2008-09 |
|---|---|
| Nottingham | 2 |
| Bingley | 3 |
| Woodford | 4 |

Source:
DWP Records

It is not possible to give the estimated number of payments made in 2008-09 to residents of Chesterfield or Derbyshire county as this information is not available at constituency level or county level but only by weather station. Generally the areas linked to weather stations do not coincide with a constituency or county.

Crisis Loans

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much and what proportion of social fund crisis loan expenditure was spent on alignment payments in each quarter since 2007. [302244]

Helen Goodman: The available information is given in the table.

Angela E. Smith: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, asking how many and what proportion of claimants of jobseeker's allowance were aged (a) under 21, (b) 22 to 25, (c) 26 to 30, (d) 31 to 35, (e) 36 to 40, (f) 41 to 45, (g) 46 to 50, (h) 51 to 55, (i) 56 to 60 and (j) over 60 years old in each month since January 2005; and if the Secretary of State will make a statement. (307152)

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles the number of claimants of Jobseeker's Allowance (JSA) from the Jobcentre Plus administrative system. Table 1 shows the number of persons aged (a) under 20, (b) 20 to 24, (c) 25 to 29, (d) 30 to 34, (e) 35 to 39, (f) 40 to 44, (g) 45 to 49, (h) 50 to 54, (i) 55 to 59 and (j) 60 and over who were claiming JSA in each month since January 2005. Table 2 shows the proportion of total claimants of JSA by each of these age groups in each month since January 2005. These are our standard age ranges. I am sorry that the data can not be presented for the age groups requested.

National and local area estimates for many labour market statistics, including employment, unemployment and claimant count are available on the Nomis website at:

|  | All POCA | Percentage paid by POCA |
|---|---|---|
| 2005 | 4700 | 16 |
| 2006 | 4660 | 15 |

[305787]

Helen Goodman [holding answer 10 December 2009]: Information on the receipt of income support, council tax benefit, housing benefit, jobseeker's allowance, and pension credit is not available on a person level basis because these are paid on a benefit unit basis.

The most recent estimate available is that there were 1,000,000 households in England where all of the benefit units had children under 16 and were in receipt of at least one of income support, council tax benefit, housing benefit, jobseeker's allowance, or pension credit.

Work Capability Assessment

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions with reference to the answer of 10 November 2009, Official Report, column 300W, on Jobcentre Plus: training, what qualifications and experience Atos Healthcare professionals are required to have before making medical assessments on individuals' fitness for work. [303658]

Jonathan Shaw: The approved health care professionals' (HCPs) role is to carry out an assessment of the functional effects of the customer's disabling condition, and to utilise the information gathered to provide the decision maker with an impartial and independent assessment.

Atos doctors must be fully registered with the General Medical Council without current or previous restrictions, conditions or warnings and hold a licence to practice from the date the GMC issues licences. In addition they must have at least three years post full registration (GMC or EEA—European Economic Area equivalent) experience as a minimum. Alternatively for non EU graduates three years post full registration experience in the doctors native country is required. In individual cases, solely at the discretion of the CMA, the requirements that no conditions or warnings be attached to registration and that the doctor must have a minimum of three years post registration experience, may be waived.

Atos nurses must be fully registered (level 1) Registered General Nurses without current or previous restrictions or cautions with the Nursing and Midwifery Council. In addition they must have at least three years post full registration experience. In individual cases, solely at the discretion of the CMA, the requirements that no cautions be attached to registration and that the nurse must have a minimum of three years post registration experience, may be waived.

Atos Healthcare HCPs are specifically trained to provide decision making authorities with independent, accurate and authoritative advice and reports on the effects of disability.

Initial Training—varies in detail according to which benefit is involved. However all such training follows a similar basic pattern, as follows:

Theoretical Training—Theoretical training commences with a trainer-led theory-based course usually delivered to a group of trainees in a classroom setting. Trainees who are new to the work of Atos Healthcare will receive instruction in such areas as disability analysis, customers rights, equal opportunities and professional standards. Detailed technical information relevant to the benefit concerned is provided. All Atos health care trainers have undergone specific training to prepare them for the role, including practical sessions to enhance their understanding of how adults learn.

Practical Training—Practical Training is the work undertaken by the new recruits that is produced in a controlled environment. For examination centre based assessments the trainee is supervised and appraised by an experienced medical adviser as they complete their introductory cases. In the domiciliary visit based benefits the initial cases are monitored immediately on return to allow feedback to be given without delay.

Demonstration of understanding assessed by multiple choice examination—for incapacity benefit, employment and support allowance and disability living allowance the trainee is required to attain a pass mark in a multiple choice questionnaire before they are allowed to proceed to the practical training. The questionnaire includes questions on the whole range of topics covered in the training course.

Demonstration of understanding by audit—In all benefits the initial cases produced by the trainee are target monitored by an experienced medical adviser and the training cannot be considered as complete until the HCP has demonstrated that their work is acceptable. Whenever any problems are identified appropriate feedback is provided. Further cases are monitored until the work is shown to be satisfactory. If the situation is not rectified the HCP may be required to repeat the entire training process. Continued lack of progress will result in the HCP being offered no further training and no further work.

Approval—All HCPs must be approved by the chief medical adviser to the DWP and separate approval is required for each benefit area in which the HCP is involved. Approval is dependent on successful completion of all stages of their training process and ongoing demonstration that the work being carried out meets a satisfactory standard.

Written Guidelines—As part of the trainees training and ongoing support, HCPs are issued with guidelines pertaining to the benefit involved. These guidance notes provide specific technical advice about the benefit concerned, outline best practise and contain general advice about disability analysis and service to the people with disabilities.

The assessment carried out is different to the more usual type of medical examination in which the HCPs aim is to make a diagnosis and decide on appropriate treatment. A GP or specialist is not usually trained in disability assessment medicine and therefore will often not have specific experience in assessing the disabling effects of medical conditions and the way in which a customer's illness or disability affects them in carrying out of a range of everyday work-related activities. As well as this difference in emphasis within the assessment process, the HCP will, when giving an opinion, be aware of the law relating to benefit entitlement. A specialist on the other hand is less likely to be familiar with the law.

In order to provide independent, accurate and authoritative advice and reports it is not necessary for HCPs to hold specialist registration with the General Medical Council. The DWP chief medical adviser approves HCPs to carry out assessments. Approval is dependent on strict recruitment criteria, completion of a course of training in disability assessment medicine approved by the CMA and evidence of satisfactory performance.

Minimum experience criteria for recruitment are laid down both employed and contracted HCPs.

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the monetary value has been of contracts entered into by his Department in Afghanistan with (a) Afghan and (b) non-Afghan contractors in each year since 2001. [305468]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The information we have on non-Afghan contractors is as follows and covers contracts in Afghanistan during the financial years 2008-09 and 2009-10. Comprehensive information on contracts pre-dating this period could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Bermuda

Mr. Andy Reed: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps he is taking to support the Government of Bermuda in tackling gun crime; and if he will make a statement. [305981]

Chris Bryant: Under the Bermuda constitution, the governor has responsibility for the police. He is working closely with the Bermuda police service and the Bermuda Government to help the police tackle rising gun crime. Three overseas police forces have offered their experience and advice: a force in Florida, the Federal Bureau of Investigation of the Washington DC area and West Midlands police in the UK. All three offers have been accepted by Bermuda and will be put to the best possible use.

Bosnia-Herzegovina: Judiciary

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions his Department has had with the High Representative in Bosnia-Herzegovina on the future role of international judges and prosecutors in Bosnia-Herzegovina; and what recent representations he has received on the matter. [307110]

David Miliband: High Representative Inzko briefed the 18-19 November Peace Implementation Council (PIC) Steering Board on the future role of international judges and prosecutors in Bosnia and Herzegovina. The PIC Steering Board invited him to consider what further steps could be taken to address the concerns raised in this regard. Officials from my Department have since been in regular contact on this issue with High Representative Inzko and his staff.

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on the continued presence of the international judges and prosecutors serving in the War Crimes Chamber of the State Court in Bosnia-Herzegovina; and what the outcomes of those discussions were. [307111]

David Miliband: The continued presence of international judges and prosecutors serving in the War Crimes Chamber of the State Court in Bosnia and Herzegovina was raised at the European Foreign Affairs Council on 8 December, where I made clear UK support for an extension to their mandate.

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of recommendations in the 3 December report to the UN Security Council by Prosecutor Serge Brammertz on the continued presence of the international judges and prosecutors serving in the War Crimes Chamber of the State Court in Bosnia-Herzegovina. [307112]

David Miliband: The Government support the assessment made by International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia Chief Prosecutor Brammertz in his 3 December 2009 report to the UN Security Council on the continued presence of the international judges and prosecutors serving in the War Crimes Chamber of the State Court in Bosnia and Herzegovina (BiH). The Government agree that these judges make an important contribution to the justice system in BiH, and to the ability of the country to meet its international obligations, and therefore strongly supports High Representative Inzko's 14 December 2009 decision to extend the mandate of international judges and prosecutors working in the war crimes department of the Court of BiH.

Christmas

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many Christmas trees were purchased by his Department and its agencies in each of the last five years; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of. [305634]

Chris Bryant: This information is not held centrally, and to provide it would incur disproportionate cost.

Mr. Vaizey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much his Department has budgeted for Christmas trees in 2009. [305719]

Chris Bryant: This information is not held centrally, and to provide it would incur disproportionate cost.

Departmental Carbon Emissions

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what estimate he has made of the tonnage of carbon dioxide emissions arising as a result of his activities undertaken in an official capacity in each year since his appointment. [305560]

Chris Bryant: The information requested is not held centrally, and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. Since 1999 the Government have published a list of Cabinet Ministers' overseas travel over £500 along with the total cost for all ministerial travel. Copies of lists are available in the Library of the House. All ministerial travel is undertaken in accordance with the Ministerial Code and all central Government ministerial and official air travel has been offset from 1 April 2006.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) is actively seeking to improve the sustainability of its operations through its "Greening the FCO" programme, whose objective is to ensure that all aspects of FCO operations at home and overseas are managed sustainably, and that environmental considerations are at the heart of the way the FCO is run.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which conferences held overseas have been attended by civil servants based in his Department in the last three years; and what the cost to the public purse was of such attendance at each conference. [305864]

Chris Bryant: This information is not held centrally, and to provide it would incur disproportionate cost.

Departmental Co-ordination

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs with reference to the answer of 14 August 2008, Official Report, column 125W, on Departmental coordination: Department for International Development, what progress has been made on his Department's planned co-location with the Department for International Development in Abuja; and if he will make a statement. [307169]

David Miliband: In May 2009, when the business case was developed and the amount of their financial contribution formally assessed, the Department for International Development withdrew from the Foreign and Commonwealth Office's project to construct a new high commission in Abuja and decided to remain in their existing offices in the city. However, in order to provide flexibility, the design of the new mission is being taken forward to allow future co-location with the Department for International Development should circumstances change.

Co-location is the preferred option for both the Foreign and Commonwealth Office and the Department for International Development and each proposal is assessed on both its financial and non-financial elements with a focus on achieving best value for the Government.

Departmental Cost Effectiveness

Dr. Cable: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what efficiency savings projects (a) his Department and (b) its agencies put in place under the Operational Efficiency Programme; on what date each such project was initiated; how much each such project was expected to contribute to departmental savings; how much had been saved through each such project on the latest date for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [300923]

Chris Bryant: Building on the comprehensive spending review 07 (CSR07) programme to deliver £35 billion in savings by the end of financial year 2010-11, the Operational Efficiency Programme (OEP) is a key part of the Government's drive to achieve greater efficiency savings across public spending.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) is working on its contribution towards the £35billion in savings as outlined in its most recent Departmental Report and forthcoming Autumn Performance Report. Despite over £100 million of financial pressures caused by sterling's fall in value, the FCO is working to achieve its OEP contribution through:

The Corporate Services Programme, which was launched in December 2008. This is expected to deliver £4 million in financial benefits in 2010-11. As of November 2009, the Corporate Services Programme had delivered £3.4 million in financial benefits from outsourcing facilities management services, localising corporate services positions overseas and rationalising corporate services activity in the UK.

Corporate Procurement which is contributing £2 million savings in Programme Spend targeted mainly at the daily rates being charged by organisations awarded accountable grants and £2 million savings through the implementation of the FCO's Consultancy Value Programme and Category Management for Consultancy.

FCO Services (FCOS) which is an independent trading fund. In addition to their £6million saving target already agreed for CSR07, FCOS will generate an additional £4million in 2010-11 by driving down their costs further and through an increased dividend.

£2.1 million to be found by further driving down of costs.

The wider FCO Family is also contributing. The British Council will deliver £2.6 million in savings in 2010-11 through its Business Transformation programme which began in May 2009. The BBC World Service has made strides in the sharing and outsourcing of back office functions, including procurement and will continue to examine its processes to help produce future savings to contribute £3.3 million.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Hands: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many plasma screen televisions his Department has purchased since 2001; and what the cost has been of purchasing and installing such screens in each such year. [306066]

Chris Bryant: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to the right hon. Member for Horsham (Mr. Maude) on 6 March 2008, Official Report, column 2791W.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) delegates budgets for such equipment to individual internal departments and does not hold a centralised record of such purchases. The information could therefore be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Standard FCO guidance applies to the purchase of plasma television screens. This is based on achieving value for money.

Departmental Energy

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the (a) energy rating and (b) energy band of each building occupied by his Department and its agencies was in each year for which figures are available. [305944]

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the energy efficiency rating is of each of his Department's buildings in London. [307421]

Chris Bryant: The energy ratings and bands for Foreign and Commonwealth Office buildings are as follows:

| | 2008 | | 2009 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Rating | Band | Rating | Band |
| King Charles Street | 92 | D | 110 | E |
| Old Admiralty Building | 103 | E | 98 | D |
| Lancaster House | 71 | C | 87 | D |
| 1 Carlton Gardens | 58 | C | 49 | B |
| Hanslope Park | 245 | G | 155 and 619 | G |

Departmental Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what redesigns of websites operated by (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have taken place since 27 June 2007; and what the (i) cost to the public purse and (ii) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306161]

Chris Bryant: The information is as follows:

(a) The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) has undertaken two redesigns of its websites since 27 June 2007. Between March and September 2008, the FCO delivered a new FCO web platform, which included redesigns of all its 250 websites. Then in October 2009, the FCO completed a redesign of its main site www.fco.gov.uk.

(i) The cost to the public purse of the two redesigns are as follows:

2008: It is not possible to break down the costs for the 2008 redesign because the redesign costs were part of the wider FCO web platform project, which was delivered by Logica. Logica subcontracted elements of the project out (for example, to XM for design, to Alterian for the content management system, to Verizon for hosting). The amount Logica paid subcontractors for the design work is commercially protected and not known to the FCO.

2009: In October 2009, the FCO redesigned the FCO corporate site www.fco.gov.uk. The work was completed using in-house resources at no additional cost to the public purse. The in-house resources cannot be disaggregated from the ongoing cost of maintaining the FCO web platform.

(ii) Dates of completion are as follows:

2008: Our corporate site www.fco.gov.uk launched on 31 March 2008, including with the new design. Our other sites were launched over the summer, with the final one going live on 29 September 2008, including with the new design.

2009: The 2009 redesign of our corporate site www.fco.gov.uk went live on 24 October 2009.

(b) We are not aware of redesigns by our agencies.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what change there has been in the number of locally engaged staff at each overseas post as a result of budgetary changes since the withdrawal of the overseas price mechanism; and if he will make a statement. [307053]

David Miliband: Staffing levels at posts take into account a number of factors, chiefly operational need, affordability and sustainability. Local budgets are devolved to heads of post, therefore, the recording of changes to the number of locally engaged staff as a result of the withdrawal of the overseas price mechanism (OPM) and any subsequent budgetary changes are not held centrally. To provide a breakdown for each overseas post spanning the period from the withdrawal of OPM to the present could only be obtained at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies spent on (i) alcohol and (ii) entertainment in the last 12 months. [305537]

Chris Bryant: Spend on alcohol for official entertainment was included within the total for entertainment expenditure in the reply I gave to the hon. Member for Chipping Barnet (Mrs. Villiers) on 12 October 2009, Official Report, columns 38-39W. Expenditure on official entertainment is devolved to individual departments and posts and to provide a breakdown for alcohol alone could be done only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Sick Leave

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many days sickness absence were taken by staff in his Department in each of the last 12 months for which figures are available; and what the cost to his Department was of such absence. [305554]

Chris Bryant: For the 12 month period from December 2008 to November 2009, a total of 21,628 sick days were taken by UK-based civil servants employed by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office. The estimated cost of this absence is £1,881,809.59.

Departmental Standards

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs for what reasons the decision was made to change the corporate services programme from a five to a three-year programme; and if he will make a statement. [305416]

Chris Bryant: The corporate services programme has a key role to play in driving cost savings from the Foreign and Commonwealth Office's back office. It was directed to deliver those savings within a three year timescale in light of the tight fiscal climate.

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many consultants are employed by his Department's corporate services programme; and what the cost to date of employing consultants within the programme has been. [305417]

Chris Bryant: The corporate services programme currently employs 36 staff, of which nine are consultants or specialist contractors. The programme also has a number of contracts in place to obtain specialist technical, legal and commercial advice and support.

The total spend on such external support since October 2008 is £4,382,269.

The corporate services programme aims to reduce the cost of the back office by approximately £24 million year on year from 2011-12.

Departmental Taxis

Ian Stewart: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what contracts his Department has with private hire taxi companies; and what expenditure his Department has incurred against each such contract in each of the last three years. [300831]

Chris Bryant: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) currently uses two contracts with private hire taxi companies: Addison Lee, covering the London area; and Raffles Taxis, covering the Milton Keynes area. Both contracts are used for both FCO departmental usage, and FCO Services. As FCO Services has been an independent Trading Fund since 1 April 2008, their expenditure is recorded and shown separately since that date.

The FCO uses a contracted out service to ensure the best value for money, and taxi use is verified by directorates. We are working collaboratively with other Government departments to keep future costs down by the use of a single service provider. Following an in-house review earlier in 2009 the FCO has taken positive action to reduce its taxi costs as demonstrated by the figures for the first seven months of this year. We are continuing to bear down on future costs.

FCO guidance underlines that all staff should travel by the most appropriate means according to the demands of their job and to ensure maximum efficiency and value for money. Public transport must be used whenever possible. Taxis may be used when there is no other suitable methods of public transport available—e.g. when staff are working late into the night during crises, or travelling to airports at unsociable hours—or where staff are carrying classified material for meetings.

Departmental Telephone Services

Mark Lazarowicz: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many telephone lines with the prefix (a) 0870, (b) 0845 and (c) 0800 his Department (i) operates and (ii) sponsors; how many calls were received to each number in the last 12 months; and whether alternative numbers charged at the BT local rate are available in each case. [305213]

Chris Bryant: None.

Departmental Training

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies spent on away days in the last 12 months; and what the (i) subject and (ii) location of each away day was. [306758]

Chris Bryant: This information is not held centrally as spending on away days is devolved to individual Departments and posts. Providing a breakdown for each one including subject and location for the period requested could be done only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Written Questions

John Mason: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many questions tabled for answer on a named day his Department received in each of the last 12 months; and to how many such questions his Department provided a substantive answer on the day named. [305372]

Chris Bryant: In recent months, the Foreign and Commonwealth Office has significantly improved its performance in answering named day parliamentary questions (PQs) on time. The numbers of such PQs received and answered on time from January 2009 to Prorogation in November 2009 were as follows. Reliable statistics are not available for December 2008.

| | PQs received | PQs answered on time |

Gibraltar: Territorial Waters

Sir Nicholas Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the status in international law of the extent of Gibraltar territorial waters; and if he will make a statement. [306760]

Chris Bryant: We are fully confident of the UK's sovereignty over British Gibraltar Territorial Waters.

Sir Nicholas Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what assessment he has made of the merits of the government of Gibraltar's application to the European Court of First Instance against Commission Decision 2009/95/EC updating a list of sites of Community importance for the Mediterranean biogeographical region; and if he will make a statement; [306761]

(2) what discussions his Department had with (a) the Gibraltarian Government, (b) the Spanish Government and (c) the European Commission prior to Commission Decision 2009/95/EC updating a list of sites of Community importance for the Mediterranean biogeographical region; and if he will make a statement; [306762]

(3) what representations he has made to (a) the Gibraltarian Government, (b) the Spanish Government and (c) the European Commission on Commission Decision 2009/95/EC updating a list of sites of Community importance for the Mediterranean biogeographical region since the decision was made; and if he will make a statement; [306763]

(4) what his Department's policy is on the government of Gibraltar's application for the annulment of the Spanish site of Community importance known as Estrecho Oriental; and if he will make it his policy to challenge any new decision by the European Commission adopting an updated list of such sites which does not recognise the sovereignty of Gibraltar over its territorial waters. [306764]

Chris Bryant: We are fully confident of the United Kingdom's sovereignty over British Gibraltar Territorial Waters (BGTW).

The UK has sought and received permission from the European General Court to intervene in support of the Government of Gibraltar's application for annulment of Commission Decision 2009/95/EC updating a list of sites of Community importance for the Mediterranean biogeographical region insofar as it relates to the Estrecho Oriental site. The court has indicated that it will hear admissibility arguments first. Our written intervention on admissibility issues will be submitted to the court in January 2010 and we cannot comment further on the contents of that intervention at this stage.

We fully support the Government of Gibraltar on this issue and remain in close contact with them. We have made representations to both the European Commission and Spain in order to object to their actions on this matter and have placed on record that the UK does not recognise the validity of the Estrecho Oriental listing. We object that Spain should have sought to have an area of BGTW listed and that this listing should have been approved. The UK is the only state competent to propose a Site of Community Importance within BGTW. During the recent negotiations on the latest proposed Decision updating the list of sites in the Mediterranean, the UK voted against the proposal because of the inclusion of the Spanish designation of Estrecho Oriental. We are considering our options in the event of a new Commission Decision including this site on its list.

Government Departments: Wine

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the estimated total value of alcoholic beverages in the Government wine cellar is; what it was in 2008-09; how many bottles of (a) wine, (b) beer, (c) spirits and (d) other alcoholic beverages are held in the cellar; and how many alcoholic beverages from the cellar were consumed in the last year. [306112]

Chris Bryant: The Government Hospitality wine cellar provides for all Government Departments. I refer the hon. Member to the reply given by my hon. Friend the Member for Lincoln (Gillian Merron) to the hon. Member for Bath (Mr. Foster) on 28 April 2009, Official Report, column 1204W. Since then the size of cellar has grown by about 500 bottles, and in value by about £85,000. In the 2008-09 financial year, Government Hospitality used about 14 per cent. of its stock, which is in line with previous years.

Hakluyt

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs with reference to the answer of 5 November 2009, Official Report, columns 1112-13W, on Hakluyt, if he will publish the submission made to the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State setting out (a) the (i) reasons and (ii) justifications for not providing the information requested in Question 296748 and (b) the estimated cost of providing the information requested, required in accordance with section 7.28 of the Cabinet Office's Guide to Parliamentary Work. [302820]

David Miliband: My hon. Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State agreed that as the requested information was not held centrally, collating the information would incur disproportionate costs for the Department. In order to provide an accurate answer to the question, all Foreign and Commonwealth Office staff in Departments in London and our 242 posts across the world would need to be contacted and their replies collated, the costs of which would exceed the disproportionate costs threshold as stated in the Cabinet Office's Guide to Parliamentary Work.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much his Department spent on hotel accommodation for (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) civil servants in each of the last five years. [305661]

Chris Bryant: Spend on hotel accommodation is devolved to individual departments and posts and to provide a breakdown spanning a period covering five years could be done only at disproportionate cost.

Israel

Mr. Soames: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent representations he has made to the Government of Israel on the continued building of illegal settlements. [306766]

Mr. Ivan Lewis [holding answer 14 December 2009]: Settlements, including in East Jerusalem, are illegal and an obstacle to peace. We want Israel's 25 November 2009 announcement on a settlement moratorium to become a step towards resuming meaningful negotiations between the Israelis and Palestinians. We continue to call for a full settlement freeze in the West Bank and East Jerusalem, including so-called 'natural growth', in accordance with the responsibilities in the 2003 road-map.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has reiterated the UK position to the Israeli Government on several occasions, most recently in his telephone conversation with the Israeli Foreign Minister on 25 November 2009.

Middle East: Armed Conflict

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent reports he has received of (a) the number of (i) rockets and (ii) arms held by Hezbollah in Lebanon and (b) the number of militia being trained by Hezbollah in Lebanon; and if he will make a statement. [306099]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The latest report from the UN Secretary General on UN Security Council Resolution 1701 highlighted that Hezbollah continues to maintain a substantial military capacity distinct from that of the Lebanese state, in direct contravention of Security Council Resolutions 1559 and 1701. It also makes clear that Hezbollah have not challenged allegations regarding its armament and increased military capability.

All these reports are available on the UN website at:

http://www.un.org/Docs/sc/sgrep09.htm

This, combined with statements made by Hassan Nasrallah, Secretary General of Hezbollah, suggest that Hezbollah has increased its military capacity. However, we lack definitive figures.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the effect of the blockade of Gaza on (a) the level of separation between the Gaza Strip and the West Bank and East Jerusalem, (b) efforts to establish a two-state solution in the Middle East, (c) the security situation in (i) Israel and the occupied Palestinian territory and (ii) the Middle East and (d) the likelihood of war in the region. [306774]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Gaza conflict and Israeli restrictions on Gaza have reversed earlier economic and social development gains. These restrictions do not only affect the every day lives of innocent civilians but also increase the challenges in achieving a comprehensive and just peace between the Israelis and Palestinians. We will continue to press the Israeli government to ease border restrictions in Gaza. We also call on them to reduce the barriers to the movement of people and goods between the Gaza Strip, the West Bank and East Jerusalem.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs with reference to his comments on the BBC World at One programme on 30 December 2008, what assessment he has made of whether the objectives he has set for the Government's policy in respect of Hamas have been achieved; and what the benefit is of this policy. [306786]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We continue to believe that it is not productive to talk to Hamas. The military wing of Hamas is proscribed in the UK as a terrorist organisation: it fires rockets at Israeli civilians and puts ordinary Palestinians in harm's way. We believe that to talk to Hamas while it continues to use violence would simply undermine those Palestinians who are committed to peace.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on (a) UK nationals and (b) nationals of other European countries involved in shooting incidents at the Erez crossing in 2009. [306788]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We are aware of two incidents that have involved the Israeli Defence Forces firing warning shots at EU nationals at the Erez crossing in 2009. One of these incidents involved an official from the British consulate-general in Jerusalem, and the other an official from another EU consulate-general in Jerusalem. There were no casualties in either incident. We have made our concerns clear to the Israeli authorities.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he most recently reviewed the Government's policy on Gaza. [306790]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Government constantly keep their policies under review. The UK continues to be gravely concerned regarding the humanitarian situation in Gaza, and we urge the Israeli authorities to implement fully UN Security Council Resolution 1860 and reduce restrictions at the Gaza crossings. We also call on those holding the abducted Israeli soldier Gilad Shalit to release him without delay. These concerns were clearly highlighted in the 8 December EU Foreign Affairs Council Conclusions.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when the Prime Minister last asked his Israeli counterpart to end the blockade of Gaza. [306799]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister reiterated to the Israeli Prime Minister on 14 October 2009 the urgent need to permit the flow of essential humanitarian aid and reconstruction material into Gaza.

Olympic Games 2012

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps his Department is taking to assist in preparations for the London 2012 Olympics. [306686]

Chris Bryant: [holding answer 15 December 2009]: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) will be supporting certain international aspects of the Olympic games and Paralympic games, including looking after visiting Heads of State and Government and liaising with countries participating in the games. The FCO currently has a small team in place, co-ordinating our preparations for the games. Other staff are working on London 2012-related projects, including security and protocol issues, and a public diplomacy campaign that seeks to use the games to promote Britain's image abroad.

Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent meetings he has had with representatives from the Organisation for Security and Co-operation in Europe; and if he will make a statement. [305276]

Chris Bryant: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary met the Organisation for Security and Co-operation in Europe (OSCE) Secretary-General, Marc Perrin De Brichambaut, when he attended the OSCE Informal Foreign Ministers' Meeting in Corfu in June 2009. The Secretary-General also met the then Minster for Europe (Caroline Flint), when he visited London in February.

Overseas Territories Consultative Council

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the outcomes of the recently held Overseas Territories Consultative Council meeting. [307379]

Chris Bryant: I had open and frank exchanges with the Overseas Territory leaders (except Gibraltar, which did not attend) at this year's Overseas Territories Consultative Council on a wide range of subjects. We agreed the following in a communiqué issued after the meeting:

to continue discussions on the relationship between the UK and the Overseas Territories; to recommit to the principles of good governance;

that the UK will, where appropriate, assist the Territories to meet their international obligations;

the importance of respect for human rights and the need to safeguard children;

to finalise action within Territories to enable extension to all the populated Territories of the International Labour Organisation convention 182 on the worst forms of child labour and the convention on the elimination of all forms of discrimination against women, during the course of 2010;

the importance of managing public finances so that Territories are better placed to guard against downturns in their economies;

the need to review the Overseas Territories borrowing guidelines;

the importance of implementing recommendations from the Foot review of British offshore financial centres; that the UK will support efforts to tackle crime in the Overseas Territories.

Palestinians

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he plans to visit Gaza. [306792]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has no immediate plans to visit Gaza.

Palestinians: Human Rights

Rob Marris: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he received from the organisation Lawyers for Palestinian Human Rights on 30 March 2009; what consideration he has given to these representations; and if he will make a statement. [304734]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: [holding answer 14 December 2009]: We have received several letters from the organisation Lawyers for Palestinian Human Rights throughout 2009. They highlighted human rights concerns including border restrictions imposed by the Israeli authorities in Gaza and the administrative detention of Palestinian prisoners without charge.

We take the protection of human rights very seriously. The UK have consistently pressed the Israeli authorities to ease border restrictions in Gaza and have also urged them to ensure that their legal processes are in accordance with international law and democratic norms.

Panchen Lama

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent information he has obtained in respect of the whereabouts and health of the Panchen Lama. [307032]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We have consistently raised the case of the Panchen Lama, Gedhun Choekyi Nyima, in previous rounds of our regular UK/China Human Rights Dialogues. Most recently I also included his name on a case list handed to the Chinese authorities during my visit to China in September 2009. In this we asked the Chinese to implement the recommendations of the UN Committee on the Rights of the Child report CRC/C/15/Add.271 which the UK supports. This stated that China should allow an independent expert to visit Gedhun Choekyi Nyima to check his living conditions and well-being and that there are no restrictions on his freedom of movement and that he is free to select a career.

The Chinese responded that

> "Gedhun Choekyi Nyima is an ordinary Chinese Tibetan young man and is of good health. At present, he is enjoying a normal life together with his family and receiving good education. The family have repeated many times that they do not want their normal life to be disturbed and that this wish should be sufficiently well respected".

We will continue to raise this case when appropriate.

Somalia

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he plans to send British personnel to Somalia as part of an EU security sector reform mission. [305764]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The UK has no plans to send British personnel into Somalia as part of the EU security sector reform mission. There are ongoing discussions in the EU about the possibility of a Common Security and Defence Policy (CSDP) mission for Somalia to train Somali security forces.

If a CSDP mission were to be deployed, the training would take place in another country or other countries because of the fragile security situation inside Somalia. The issue is still being considered and a final decision on a possible CSDP mission will be subject to appropriate assessments, consultation and agreement. Any UK contribution would be dependent on our available resources and the operational needs identified.

Spain: EC Presidency

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of Spain's agenda for its forthcoming Presidency of the EU. [307378]

Chris Bryant: We understand that the Spanish Prime Minister, José Luis Rodríguez Zapatero, will announce the formal programme for their presidency on 15 December 2009. However, the Spanish have already said they will focus on implementing the Lisbon treaty, following up the Copenhagen summit on climate change, putting in place an economic reform strategy for the next 10 years, driving progress on jobs and growth, and bringing Europe closer to its citizens. Innovation and equality will also be important themes. We welcome these emphases.

Trade Unions

Lindsay Roy: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps his Department is taking to assist the work of trades unions overseas; and if he will make a statement. [306469]

Mr. Ivan Lewis [holding answer 10 December 2009]: We have a strong relationship with the Trade Union Congress (TUC) and, through them and through our overseas missions, we work closely with the trade union movement to reach a wide cross-section of civil society overseas. Our worldwide network and the TUC's links with trade union movements around the world mean we are able to work together on issues of mutual concern, such as democracy, human rights and rule of law.

Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) ministers meet formally with senior TUC officials and representatives three times a year at the Joint Advisory Council to discuss international issues; the most recent of these meetings took place on 3 September 2009, and another is planned for January 2010. The TUC and the FCO have designated official contact points, who meet on a regular basis to ensure action is taken on recommendations from the Joint Advisory Council meetings. Additionally, ad hoc meetings take place to discuss geographical and thematic issues.

Turks and Caicos Islands: Human Rights

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the effects of the recent suspension of human rights legislation in the Turks and Caicos Islands; and if he will make a statement. [307236]

Chris Bryant: While parts of the constitution have been suspended, the fundamental rights and freedoms of the individual are still protected under part 1 of the Turks and Caicos Constitution Order 2006, which remains in force. The Turks and Caicos Islands (TCI) Constitution (Interim Amendment) Order 2009 has removed the constitutional right to trial by jury in certain criminal cases.

The Order in Council suspending ministerial Government and the House of Assembly for a period of up to two years was brought into force on 14 August 2009. The order left the human rights provisions of the constitution in place except for the constitutional right to trial by jury in TCI, which was suspended. This provides the possibility in future of having trials by judge alone in the TCI Supreme Court in appropriate cases. This is wholly consistent with the European convention on human rights, which does not require trial by jury. A number of countries have criminal trials without a jury and even in the UK there is no right to trial by jury in every case.

On suspension of the House of Assembly, the UK withdrew its acceptance of protocol 1, article 3 of the European convention on human rights in respect of the Turks and Caicos Islands, which requires contracting parties to hold free elections at reasonable intervals by secret ballot, under conditions which will ensure the free expression of the opinion of the people in the choice of the legislature. However, this withdrawal is for a limited period until reforms have been implemented and elections held by July 2011.

With the approval of the Governor, the TCI Advisory Council and the TCI Human Rights Commission, the right of individual petition, which had previously been accepted in respect of TCI for five years was accepted on a permanent basis in October.

JUSTICE

Ashwell Prison

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how much has been spent on repair and reconstruction of HM Prison Ashwell since the riot of April 2009. [306524]

Mr. Straw: Information held by the establishment shows that the costs of reconstruction currently stand at approximately £818,700 and this is set out in the attached table. Each item is rounded up to the nearest [illegible]0 or £1,000 for items below and above £1,0000 respectively.

The police investigation is continuing.

| | Location of costs | Costs (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Four residential wings—replacement glass, fire alarm arrangements, H&S equipment, etc. | 30,000 |
| 2 | Refurbishing the OMU Building—fire damage, complete refurbishment. | 634,000 |
| 3 | Repairing the gymnasium—Repairs to most windows, internal doors, ceiling tiles fire damage decoration etc. | 20,000 |
| 4 | Healthcare/Reception repairs to windows, internal doors decoration | 10,000 |
| 5 | Plastics Moulding Workshop—Fire damage and redecoration, replacement machinery | 50,000 |
| 6 | Maintenance Offices—Repairs to windows, internal doors, decoration | 10,000 |
| 7 | Potato Pak Building—Totally destroyed by fire | 8,500 |
| 8 | Repairing D Wing Annex—Replacement of every window pane, some external lights, decoration etc. | 10,000 |
| 9 | Costs of redecorating all other workshops, redecoration replacement windows | 10,000 |
| 10 | Boarding up buildings | 6,900 |
| 11 | Compensation to staff and prisoners for property | 4,300 |
| 12 | Other costs | 25,000 |
| | Total | 818,700 |

Christmas

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many Christmas trees were purchased by his Department and its agencies in each of the last five years; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of. [305630]

Mr. Wills: Since the Ministry's creation in May 2007, the following amounts have been spent on Christmas trees in its headquarters estate, inclusive of VAT and decorations. The 2008-09 figure includes the purchase of reusable lights.

| Financial year | £ |
|---|---|
| 2009-10 | 1,000 |
| 2008-09 | 970 |
| 2007-08 | 924 |

The costs are for three trees, one for each building in the MOJ HQ estate for each year.

The information for agencies can be gathered only at a disproportionate cost. All four of the Ministry's agencies (National Offender Management Service; HM Courts Service; Tribunals Service and Office of the Public Guardian) have regionalised structures. Each individual building orders its own trees and decorations.

It would incur disproportionate cost to investigate where the trees had been sourced, the sustainability of those sources and the process for their disposal. The decisions on what Christmas trees to purchase are left at local management level.

The Ministry is committed to sustainable development and improving its environmental performance, including the achievement of key targets to:

Reduce $CO_2$ emissions by 30 per cent.

Recycle 75 per cent. of waste

Reduce the waste we generate by 25 per cent. and Reduce water consumption by 25 per cent.

Courts: Physiotherapists

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what provisions in rules of court permit physiotherapists to appear as expert witnesses in cases involving low-value personal injury claims in road traffic accidents. [305828]

Bridget Prentice: There are no specific provisions in rules of court permitting physiotherapists to appear as expert witnesses in cases involving low-value personal injury claims in road traffic accidents. In these claims the court may allow the reasonable costs of obtaining a medical report and attendance of an expert medical witness where the expert evidence was reasonably required.

Health Services: Channel Islands and Isle of Man

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what recent assessment he has made of the effects on (a) educational institutions and (b) businesses in the Isle of Man of the decision of the National Health Service to terminate its reciprocal agreement with effect from April 2010; and if he will make a statement. [306507]

Mr. Wills: No such assessments took place. The Department of Health ended the bilateral agreement with the Channel Islands (including Jersey and Guernsey) and gave notice on the agreement with the Isle of Man, as it considers that they are out of place considering the wide availability of travel insurance, and there is little robust data to justify the business case and value for money for the national health service.

Pleural Plaques

Chloe Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when he will provide the response to his Department's consultation on supporting people with pleural plaques launched in July 2008. [306047]

Bridget Prentice: The House of Lords decision has raised extremely complex and difficult issues which have required very careful consideration within Government. It has also been important to look beyond the issue of pleural plaques itself to consider how people who have been exposed to asbestos can be supported much more widely. We are actively considering all these issues in order to be in a position to publish a final response as soon as possible.

Prisoners: Suicide

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prisoners committed suicide in each month of 2009. [306525]

Mr. Straw: The number of self-inflicted deaths in prison establishments in England and Wales for each month of 2009 to date, are as follows:

| | Self-inflicted deaths |
|---|---|
| January | 10 |
| February | 4 |
| March | 4 |
| April | 7 |
| May | 6 |
| June | 3 |
| July | 7 |
| August | 5 |
| September | 2 |
| October | 5 |
| November | 3 |
| December | — |

Note:

There are a further five deaths awaiting classification. The National Offender Management Service's definition of self-inflicted deaths is broader than the legal definition of suicide and includes all deaths where it appears that a prisoner has acted specifically to take their own life. This inclusive approach is used in part because inquest verdicts are often not available for some years after a death (some 20 per cent. of these deaths will not receive a suicide or open verdict at inquest). Annual numbers may change slightly from time to time as inquest verdicts and other information become available.

Every death in prison is a tragedy, and affects families, staff and other prisoners deeply. Ministers, the Ministry of Justice and the National Offender Management Service are committed to learning from each death and to reducing the number of such incidents. Good care and support from staff save many lives, but such instances go largely unreported. Prisons successfully keep safe in any given month approximately 1,500 prisoners assessed to be at particular risk of suicide or self-harm. Deaths in prisons are among the most scrutinised of all incidents and each case is subject to a police investigation and independent investigation by the Prisons and Probation Ombudsman. Robust systems are in place for monitoring all deaths and learning from them.

The National Offender Management Service has a broad, integrated and evidence-based prisoner suicide prevention and self-harm management strategy that seeks to reduce the distress of all those in prison. This requires proactively identifying prisoners at risk of suicide and self-harm. The strategy encompasses a wide spectrum of NOMS and Department of Health work around such issues as mental health, substance misuse and resettlement. Prisoners identified as at risk of suicide or self-harm are cared for using the Assessment, Care in Custody and Teamwork (ACCT) procedures.

Prisoners: Voting Rights

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what steps he plans to take in response to the recent Council of Europe resolution on prisoner voting rights in the UK. [307595]

Mr. Wills: The Government note the interim resolution by the Council of Europe's Committee of Ministers' Deputies in the case of Hirst (No 2). We have recently completed a two-stage consultation on the voting rights of convicted prisoners. We are carefully analysing the responses to the consultation. The Government take their obligations under the European Convention on Human Rights seriously. But we must arrive at an approach which respects the judgment of the Court in Hirst (No 2) while at the same time taking into account the political context and traditions of the United Kingdom.

Prisons: Visits

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice which prisons in England and Wales allow visits to inmates on Christmas day. [306526]

Mr. Straw: Visits do not normally take place on Christmas day, Boxing day or Good Friday. Some prisons may have their own local arrangements where there may be some provision for visits on these days. However, this information is not recorded centrally and could only be obtained by approaching 135 prisons and young offender institutions across England and Wales.

Reintegration Support Scheme

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what expenditure his Department incurred on its reintegration support scheme in 2008-09. [303683]

Mr. Woolas: I have been asked to reply.

The cost of the 2008-09 Voluntary Assisted Return and Reintegration programmes is currently not available as it is subject to audit.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when he plans to respond to question 301329, tabled by the hon. Member for South-West Bedfordshire on 19 November 2009, on departmental working practices. [305637]

Mr. Straw: I replied to the hon. Member's question on 7 December 2009. I apologise to the hon. Member for the delay in replying, but I concluded that the original draft answer needed clarification and referred it back.

Young Offenders: Children in Care

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what percentage of juveniles imprisoned for breach of (a) bail and (b) statutory orders had previously been looked after in each of the last three years. [305303]

Maria Eagle: Information on the number of juveniles in custody in England and Wales who had previously been looked after is not held centrally.

However, a joint Youth Justice Board and HM Inspectorate of Prisons report "Children and Young People in Custody 2008-2009" published on 9 December 2009 reported on a survey of every juvenile prison establishment in England and Wales. Responses to the survey indicated that a quarter of young men and nearly half of young women had been in care at some point.

HEALTH

Abortion

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the cost to the NHS was of the abortion procedures undertaken on non-UK residents in hospitals and clinics in England in 2008. [306031]

Gillian Merron: There is no cost to the national health service for non-UK residents receiving non-emergency abortions as these will be privately funded.

Data for the cost of emergency abortions for non-UK residents are not held centrally. It is important to note that emergency abortions are a rare occurrence.

Cholesterol

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when his Department's Prevention Strategy will be published; and whether it will include reference to cholesterol as a risk factor for cardiovascular disease. [306122]

Ann Keen: We have recently published "NHS 2010-2015: From Good to Great. Preventative, People Centred, Productive". A copy of this has been placed in the Library. As set out in the section on supporting people to stay healthy, we are rolling out NHS health checks, as part of the range of initiatives that are aimed at preventing heart disease, stroke, diabetes and chronic kidney disease.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what plans his Department has to encourage people to take steps to reduce their cholesterol levels. [306123]

Ann Keen: Everyone between the ages of 40-74 will be made aware of their cholesterol levels and told how they can reduce it through the NHS health check programme. It will assess people's risk of heart disease, stroke, kidney disease and diabetes and will support people to reduce or manage that risk through individually tailored advice.

These checks will be based on straightforward questions and measurements such as age, sex, family history, height, weight and blood pressure. They would also include a simple blood test to measure cholesterol.

Diet and exercise are important parts of any strategy to minimise risk factors for heart disease, including cholesterol. Earlier this year we launched the Change4Life Campaign which aims to help everyone to "eat well, move more and live longer".

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people in England have high cholesterol rates; and if he will make a statement. [306124]

Ann Keen: According to data from the Quality Outcomes Framework that are available, approximately 700,000 adults in England had a cholesterol in 2008-09 of more than five millimoles per litre.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what recent assessment his Department has made of the effect of high cholesterol on the population; [306125]

(2) what recent assessment his Department has made of the effect of raised cholesterol on the cardiovascular health of the population; [306126]

(3) what assessment his Department has made of raised cholesterol as a cause of disability in England. [306127]

Ann Keen: We know that raised cholesterol levels are a significant risk factor for all cardiovascular diseases including coronary heart disease and stroke.

Everyone between the ages of 40-74 (who has not been diagnosed with a vascular disease) will be made aware of their cholesterol levels and told how they can reduce it through the NHS health check programme. It will assess people's risk of heart disease, stroke, kidney disease and diabetes and will support people to reduce or manage that risk through individually tailored advice.

These checks will be based on straightforward questions and measurements such as age, sex, family history, height, weight and blood pressure. They would also include a simple blood test to measure cholesterol.

The Quality and Outcomes Framework of the general practitioner contract includes quality indicators that provide incentives for practices to measure and control cholesterol in people who have been diagnosed with cardiovascular disease, diabetes and chronic kidney disease.

Christmas

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many Christmas trees were purchased by his Department and its agencies in each of the last five years; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of. [305649]

Phil Hope: The mandatory requirement for Departments prior to 1 April 2009 was that Christmas trees should be procured from legal sources which are preferably sustainable. The requirement since 1 April 2009 is that Christmas trees must also be purchased from sustainable sources. The Government have developed a set of criteria and a definition of sustainable which can be found on the latest guidance, the 'Timber Procurement Advice Note (TPAN April 2009)'. This is available on the Central Point of Expertise on Timber website at:

www.proforest.net/cpet/files/TPAN

All of the trees purchased in 2009 came from a sustainable source. The costs include the delivery, installation and collection and sustainable disposal for each tree. For all trees purchased in 2009 new trees are planted. The costs in 2009 represent the purchase of three small trees for Richmond House to replace artificial trees that were broken and one large tree in Skipton House at a cost of £2,485. The cost of the large tree is broken down as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| Cost of tree and decoration | 1,786 |
| Collection and disposal | 375 |
| VAT at 15 per cent. | 324 |

We purchased a smaller tree in Skipton House in 2009 saving £418 on the costs incurred in 2008

The following table summarises the number and cost of all the Christmas trees purchased by the Department and its agencies in each of the last five years.

Department of Health

| | Trees purchased | Total cost (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2005 | 1 | 1,145 |
| 2006 | 1 | 1,750 |
| 2007 | 2 | 2,162 |
| 2008 | 1 | 2,903 |
| 2009 | 4 | 3,235 |

Medicines and Health Regulatory Authority (MHRA)

MHRA does not hold records of any purchases before 2006. Details of Christmas trees purchased since 2007 are as follows:

| | Trees purchased | Total cost (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2007 | 1 | 2,705.50 |
| 2008 | 1 | 2,674.00 |
| 2009 | 0 | 0 |

The tree purchased in 2007 was provided as part of the landlord service charge and we have no records of the source of this tree. The tree purchased in 2008 came from a sustainable forest and a tree was replanted. When finished with use the tree was collected, shredded and turned into compost.

The Purchasing and Supply Agency has not purchased any trees.

Chronically Sick

Chris McCafferty: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the scheduled dates are for (a) commencement and (b) completion of the mid-term review for the National Service Framework for Long-Term Conditions. [306528]

Ann Keen: The mid-term review is scheduled to commence early next year, and be completed by late spring 2010.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department spent on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in his Department's buildings in the last 12 months. [305682]

Phil Hope: The Department of Health has spent £4,890 on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in the last 12 months.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health which conferences held overseas have been attended by officials of his Department in the last three years; and what the cost to the public purse was of such attendance at each conference. [305863]

Phil Hope: Information about attendance at individual conferences and the costs of such attendance is not collected centrally.

Departmental Training

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many overseas training courses were attended by officials of his Department in the latest period for which figures are available; how many such officials attended each course; and what the total cost to the public purse was of each course. [305894]

Phil Hope: Training provided to departmental staff is delivered primarily through short (half-day or one-day) training courses, taking place on departmental premises whenever possible. Data held centrally show that only in exceptional cases do staff participate in training outside the United Kingdom. In the past year there has been one centrally recorded case of overseas training, at a total cost of £18,000.

Any training organised locally by teams is not recorded centrally and would incur disproportionate cost to collect.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many and what percentage of Parliamentary Questions tabled for written Answer by his Department on a named day in session 2008-09 received a substantive answer on that day. [307543]

Phil Hope: 840 questions were tabled for answer on a named day, of which 789 (94 per cent.) were answered on the day specified.

Dietary Supplements: Health Hazards

Lembit Öpik: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many illnesses attributable to the use of food supplements were recorded in the last 10 years; and if he will make a statement. [307121]

Gillian Merron: There is no mandatory adverse event reporting system for food supplements, therefore there are no central records held of the number of illnesses attributable to the use of food supplements.

Drugs: Prisons

Mike Wood: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what interventions are used to meet the needs of (a) low, (b) moderate and (c) severe drug misusers in prisons; and if he will make a statement; [307376]

(2) what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the Drug Interventions Programme in prisons; and if he will make a statement. [307377]

Phil Hope: The interventions used to meet the range of needs of drug misusers in prisons are clearly outlined in "Drug misuse and dependence: UK guidelines on clinical management (Department of Health (England), the Scottish Government, Welsh Assembly Government and Northern Ireland Executive, 2007)", a copy of which has been placed in the Library.

The 2007 clinical guidelines provide guidance on the treatment of drug misuse in the United Kingdom. They are based on current evidence and professional consensus on how to provide drug treatment for the majority of patients, including within prisons.

The 2007 clinical guidelines do not provide rigid protocols on how clinicians must provide drug treatment for all drug misusers (all drug misusers includes those with low, moderate and severe misuse). Neither does this guidance override the individual responsibility of clinicians to make appropriate decisions in the circumstances of the individual patient, in consultation with the patient (and guardians and carers if appropriate). In instances where clinicians operate outside the framework of this guidance, they should be able to demonstrate the rationale for their decisions.

An Independent evaluation of the Integrated Drug Treatment System in prisons has been commissioned by the Department. The independent evaluation began in 2008 and is timetabled to be completed in 2011.

Drugs: Rehabilitation

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) adults and (b) children under 18 years old received opiate substitutes or methadone prescriptions in each year since 2000. [305757]

Gillian Merron: The National Drug Treatment Monitoring System (NDTMS) records the number of people in specialist drug treatment who are reported as receiving a prescribing intervention. The vast majority of such adults are receiving methadone or buprenorphine. Of the remainder, some receive other substitute medication and some receive symptomatic treatment in conjunction with psychosocial treatment. NDTMS has recorded data since 2004-05. NDTMS does not record activity by general practitioners who are not specialists in drug treatment who may also prescribe substitute opioids for drug misusers.

Data from 2004-05 are presented in the following table. Data for 2008-09 have been calculated using a new, more accurate methodology. Revised data for previous years, recalculated to be consistent with the improved methodology, will be published early next year.

Individuals[1] in drug treatment in England receiving a prescribing intervention (usually alongside other interventions)

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 88,196 |
| 2005-06 | 107,093 |
| 2006-07 | 118,107 |
| 2007-08 | 131,468 |
| 2008-09[2] | 147,504 |

[1] From 2004-05 to 2007-08, data included adults and young people. For 2008-09 the figure includes only adults.

[2] Methodology changed to count adults only and improve accuracy. Figures for this year are therefore not directly comparable with previous years.

In 2007-08, 253 young people in specialist treatment in England were recorded in the National Treatment Agency for Substance Misuse (NTA)'s published figures ('Getting to Grips, 2009') as receiving a pharmacological intervention, of which 77 were receiving only this intervention (the remainder received other interventions in addition). A pharmacological intervention in the case of a young person will normally be symptomatic treatment, rather than substitute prescribing.

Prior to 2007-08, young people were included in the general data above. Young people's data for 2008-09 will be published later this month.

Food Standards Agency: Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much the Food Standards Agency has spent on hotel accommodation for its officials in each of the last five years. [306035]

Gillian Merron: The Food Standards Agency does not separately record expenses on hotel accommodation. The cost of separating hotel expense claims from others would be at disproportionate cost.

Food Standards Agency: Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what redesigns of websites operated by the Food Standards Agency have taken place since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306200]

Gillian Merron: There have been no redesigns of websites operated by the Food Standards Agency since 27 June 2007.

Health Education: Sex

Sir Gerald Kaufman: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what sexual health campaigns (a) directed at students and (b) in the Greater Manchester area his Department is undertaking. [305698]

Gillian Merron: The Department is currently undertaking sexual health campaign activity for young people, including students, in Greater Manchester.

The 'Any Plans Tonight' campaign will run on billboards in Manchester city centre and on selected bus shelters in wards with high rates of under-18 conceptions for two weeks starting on 29 December 2009. The campaign is aimed at 16 to 18-year-olds and aims to remind young people of the need to use condoms and contraception and promotes local contraception and sexual health services. In addition, the Manchester Metropolitan University branch of the National Union of Students plans to distribute materials for use at their local club nights and on the 'Show a Condom Grab a Gift' event.

At national level the Department works with the National Union of Students in England on an ongoing basis. The Department of Health and the Department for Children, Schools and Families are currently running an England-wide joint campaign aimed at young people including students. The first part of this campaign, which covers contraception choices and is called 'Contraception. Worth Talking About', was launched on 30 November 2009.

Health Services: Isle of Man

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will place in the Library details of (a) arrangements, (b) contracts and (c) tariffs relating to the commissioning by the Isle of Man Government of elective health service treatments handled by North West Specialist Commissioning team of the NHS that have been in operation over the past decade; and if he will make a statement. [300313]

Gillian Merron [holding answer 25 November 2009]: A copy of an agreement between NHS North West Specialist Commissioning team and the Isle of Man Government has been placed in the Library. Tariffs used are in line with national policy with regard to payment by result.

Health Services: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what change there has been in the financial position of (a) primary care trusts and (b) hospital trusts in Leeds in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [306590]

| | 2007-08 Annual Accounts Surplus/(Deficit) | 2008-09 Annual Accounts Surplus/(Deficit) | 2009-10 Q2 Forecast Outturn Surplus/(Deficit) |
|---|---|---|---|
| Leeds Primary Care Trust (PCT) | 3,312 | 5,150 | 5,000 |
| Leeds Teaching Hospital National Health Service Trust | 3,093 | 471 | 0 |

Notes:

The financial positions of all national health service organisations that report to the Department are published quarterly on the Department's website. These publications also include an assessment of the NHS organisations' performance against the NHS performance framework. This information can be accessed via the following link:

Hospitals: Food

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what measures his Department has put in place to assess patient satisfaction with hospital meals. [306672]

Ann Keen: The Department is able to measure and assess patient satisfaction with hospital meals via the Care Quality Commission's annual national in-patient survey.

This survey asks a sample of patients how they rate hospital food, as well as whether they were offered a choice of food and whether they got enough help from staff to eat their meals. Trusts may also conduct their own patient questionnaires to assess patient satisfaction with hospital meals.

Hospitals: Inspections

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many hospital inspections were carried out by the Care Quality Commission and its predecessors in each of the last three years; and how many visits to hospital premises were made by inspectors from the Care Quality Commission and its predecessors in each of the last three years. [304844]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Care Quality Commission has provided the following information.

The information is not available in the format requested.

Since 1 April 2009, there have been 84 inspections of national health service trusts against core standards and 74 inspections of non-NHS acute hospitals. In addition, the Commission has completed 186 health care associated infection inspections of NHS trusts.

The total number of inspections of independent health care providers for the previous three years carried out by the Healthcare Commission were:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 412 |
| 2007-08 | 865 |
| 2008-09 | 402 |

Note

This includes all independent health care providers regulated by Healthcare Commission, not all of which are hospitals.

The total number of NHS trusts inspected by the Healthcare Commission against core standards were:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 79 |
| 2008-09 | 84 |

Note

This is not the number of individual visits. Some trusts had more than one visit as part of an inspection.

The number of health care-associated inspections of NHS trusts carried out by the Healthcare Commission were:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 129 |
| 2008-09 | 190 |

Note

This does not include follow up visits.

These figures do not include service reviews, clinical audits, or any of the investigations undertaken by the Healthcare Commission.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department spent on hotel accommodation for (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) officials of his Department in each of the last five years. [305660]

Phil Hope: Travel by Ministers and civil servants is undertaken in accordance with the Ministerial Code and the Civil Service Management Code respectively and all expenditure has to be incurred in accordance with the principles of managing public money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

The amount spent on these expenses is not easily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

The Cabinet Office publishes an annual list of overseas visits made by Cabinet Ministers costing in excess of £500 dating from 1997 onwards. Details on all Health Ministers overseas travel for 2008-09 can be found on the Cabinet Office website:

www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/propriety_and_ethics/ministers/travel_gifts.aspx

Leicestershire Primary Care Trust: Diabetes

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much was spent by Leicestershire primary care trust on (a) diabetes prevention measures, (b) treatment of diabetes and (c) treatment of diabetes-related illnesses in each of the last three years. [306342]

Ann Keen: The information is not available in the format requested.

Estimated expenditure on diabetes for Leicester City Teaching Primary Care Trust (PCT) and Leicestershire County and Rutland PCT for 2005-06 to 2007-08 is shown in the following table.

Programme budgeting estimated expenditure on diabetes 2005-06 to 2007-08

£000

| | Programme budgeting category 04a diabetes | |
|---|---|---|
| Expenditure on own population | Leicester City Teaching PCT | Leicestershire County and Rutland PCT |
| 2005-06 | 5,672 | 8,499 |
| 2006-07 | 7,209 | 10,371 |
| 2007-08 | 8,156 | 13,618 |

1. The programme budgeting data collection is complex. Therefore, expenditure figures are best estimates rather than precise measurements. Year on year comparisons are not straightforward due to annual refinements to the data collection methodology and changes to underlying data sources.
2. Diabetes is a subcategory of endocrine, nutritional and metabolic problems. Subcategory level data tend to be less robust than main category data as they are smaller categories and are therefore subject to greater variation.
3. Figures include expenditure across all sectors. Disease specific expenditure does not include expenditure on prevention, or GP expenditure, but does include prescribing expenditure.
4. Programme budgeting data for 2004-05 to 2007-08 are published on the Department website. 2008-09 expenditure data have been collected and are undergoing validation prior to publication.

Mental Health Services

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how the new patient right to maximum waiting times proposed for the NHS Constitution will apply to (a) mental health services, (b) consultant-led community mental health teams, (c) psychological therapies for lower level anxiety and depression and (d) psychological therapies for severe mental illnesses. [305912]

Phil Hope: Much of mental health activity will be outside the scope of 18 weeks. However, where these services are consultant-led, the 18-week operational standard applies to referrals to mental health services, consultant-led community mental health teams, psychological therapies for lower level anxiety and depression and psychological therapies for severe mental illnesses.

Subject to the outcome of "The NHS Constitution: A consultation on new patient rights", it is intended that the right will be applied in the same way as the 18 week operational standard.

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what provision for psychotherapy is available under the NHS. [306938]

Phil Hope: The Improving Access to Psychological Therapies (IAPT) programme aims to improve acess to evidence-based psychological therapy for people with depression or anxiety disorders. Launched in autumn 2009 and currently delivered in 109 primary care trusts (PCTs), by 2010-11 every PCT in the country will have begun to establish a service.

Although the IAPT programme had focused initially on cognitive behavioural therapy, the national health service has recently extended a commitment to deliver the full range of National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence-approved interventions including interpersonal therapy, couples therapy, brief dynamic therapy, counselling and collaborative care as services develop from 2010-11.

NHS: Finance

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the assessed value of (a) NHS-owned land and property in England was in each of the last three years and (b) NHS-owned land and property in England is that is currently unoccupied. [305920]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The information is not collected in the precise format requested. However, the following information is provided.

The value of land and buildings owned by the national health service is published in their annual financial accounts. These data have been collated centrally and give values for 31 March as:

£ million

| | Land | Buildings excluding dwellings | Dwellings | Assets under construction |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 8,638 | 24,616 | 435 | 1,731 |
| 2007-08 | 11,275 | 25,904 | 508 | 1,427 |
| 2006-07 | 10,703 | 24,350 | 507 | 1,391 |

The data are based on that provided electronically to the Department by NHS trusts and primary care trusts and manually collated data from the financial accounts of foundation trusts. The availability and formatting of the foundation trust data means that they will not be complete.

Information is not collected centrally on NHS owned land and property that is currently unoccupied.

Prescription Drugs

Chris McCafferty: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what recent discussions he has had with patient representative groups about generic drug substitution; [306527]

(2) if he will take steps to prevent pharmacists from automatically substituting prescribed drugs with their generic equivalents until the proposed generic substitution scheme has been introduced. [306529]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: We have received representations from a number of patient representative groups about our proposals to implement generic substitution in England but have not met with any in advance of the formal consultation, due very shortly.

Currently, pharmacists are not able to dispense a generic product where a branded product has been prescribed and this will remain the position until the generic substitution arrangements are introduced.

Smoking

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people have given up smoking through NHS programmes in each of the last three years. [306563]

Gillian Merron: Information on the number of people in England who have given up smoking[1] in each year from 2006-07 to 2008-09 is provided in table 3, of the national tables published in "Statistics on NHS Stop Smoking Services: England, April 2009 to June 2009 (Q1—Quarterly report)". The table is replicated as follows.

This publication has already been placed in the Library and the relevant table is also available on the NHS Information Centre website at:

Smoking: Young People

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what progress has been made in reducing the incidence of smoking in the 11 to 15-year-old age group over the last three years. [306562]

Gillian Merron: Information is not available in the format requested.

Information on the incidence of smoking among young people (defined as regular smokers, occasional smokers and current smokers) is contained within table 2.1 of 'Smoking, Drinking and Drug Use among Young People in England in 2008'. Information is provided by gender and includes the years 2006, 2007 and 2008.

This publication has been placed in the Library and is also available on the NHS Information Centre website at:

www.ic.nhs.uk/webfiles/publications/sdd08fullreport/SDD_England_2008_full_report.pdf

Social Security Benefits: Disabled

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will publish the models his Department has produced on changing (a) disability benefits and (b) attendance allowance. [307693]

Phil Hope: We have not taken any decisions on whether some benefits for older people will be reformed in the new care and support system. If we do decide to integrate some benefits for older people into the new care and support system, we will provide further details in our White Paper next year.

We have been working with the personal social services research unit (PSSRU) to provide the modelling and analysis to underpin our policy development for the Green and White Papers. We were provided with an interim report from PSSRU in November but that was based on a view of the system when the Green Paper was published. Our core modelling assumptions have changed quite significantly since then as a result of our stakeholder engagement, responses to our consultation and developments such as the Prime Minister's announcement on free personal care. The report is therefore only part of the story and we have come to the conclusion that to publish it now could be unhelpful to the wider debate on the future of care and support.

The whole methodology of the interim report was published in July on the PSSRU's website at:

www.pssru.ac.uk/pdf/dp2644.pdf

The top level costs and benefits are in the impact assessment published with the Green Paper and available on the big care debate website at:

http://careandsupport.direct.gov.uk/greenpaper/the-green-paper-and-supporting-documents/

PSSRU continue to model the costs and benefits of a new national care service based on revised assumptions.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the contributions of the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Work and Pensions on 8 December 2009, Official Report, column 154, whether the term (a) equivalent level of support and (b) no cash losers are equivalent. [307694]

Phil Hope: As we said in the Green Paper, if we do reform disability benefits for older people, anyone receiving an affected benefit at the time of reform would continue to receive an equivalent level of support and protection. We have confirmed that this means they would not experience a cash loss as a result of any such reforms.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what effect his policy of no cash losers has on the proposal for reform set out in the Government's social care Green Paper; [307722]

(2) what estimate he has made of the cost to the public purse of the policy of no cash losers. [307723]

Phil Hope: We think it is important to provide certainty to those people who will be in receipt of disability benefits for older people when we introduce the new National Care Service. If disability benefits for older people were reformed as part of the National Care Service, those receiving the affected benefits at the time of reform would continue to receive the same level of cash support. We will give more details about the National Care Service offer in our White Paper next year, and this will include information on the costs and benefits of a new care and support system.

Social Services

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many representations he has received on paragraphs 5.18 and 5.19 of the impact assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill. [305754]

Phil Hope: To date we have not received any representations on paragraphs 5.18 and 5.19 of the impact assessment of the Personal Care at Home Bill.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 5.28 of the impact assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, what estimate he has made of the margin at which an individual may run down savings in order to qualify for free personal care; and what estimate he has made of the (a) maximum and (b) minimum numbers of people expected to apply for free personal care. [305973]

Phil Hope: Paragraph 5.28 of the impact assessment discusses the incentive to run down savings in order to qualify for free personal care as one of a range of benefits which may in principle result from the proposals. As reducing the savings disincentive is not a primary policy objective of the proposal, an assessment of its possible scale has not been made.

The expected number of people who will benefit from the Personal Care at Home Bill is shown in Table 2 of the impact assessment. These figures suggest that an estimated 110,000 older people and younger adults will become eligible to receive free personal care, above and beyond those approximately 170,000 people who already receive care for free or the 37,061 people who make a means-tested contribution. For the purposes of the impact assessment, it has been assumed that 100 per cent. of those estimated to become eligible will apply for free personal care, since it is likely that those individuals who do not choose to receive free care organised by their council may choose instead to receive the equivalent sum in the form of a personal health budget.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what funding streams he has identified for the reform of the social care system. [307724]

Phil Hope: In the Green Paper "Shaping the Future of Care and Support Together", we said that Government must make sure that the money it is spending on care and support is being used in the most effective way. However, as a society, we will have to spend more money on care and support to meet the needs and expectations of people who will need care and support in the future. The Green Paper sets out different ways that this could be achieved.

In addition, we said that there is a case for drawing some funding streams together to enable us to deliver the new and better care and support system we want to create. We think we should consider integrating some elements of disability benefits for older people, for example attendance allowance, to create a new offer for individuals with care needs.

We have ruled out any incorporation of disability living allowance for under-65s into the new National Care Service.

Social Services: Public Consultation

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many Big Care Debate events have been held since the publication of the Green Paper on shaping the future of care together, in July 2009; in which Parliamentary constituencies these events have been held; and which hon. and right hon. Members have been (a) invited to attend these events and (b) are recorded as having attended these events. [307204]

Phil Hope: During the Green Paper consultation period, the Department organised 80 roadshows for the public, and 37 events for stakeholders. They were held in the following constituencies: Ashford; Basingstoke; Bath; Bedford; Bethnal Green and Bow; Birmingham, Ladywood; Blackpool South; Bognor Regis and Littlehampton; Bournemouth East; Bournemouth West; Brecon and Radnorshire; Brighton, Pavilion; Bristol East; Carlisle; Cities of London and Westminster; City of York; Crawley; Croydon Central; Darlington; Dartford; Derby South; Dudley South; Ealing, Acton and Shepherd's Bush; Exeter; Harborough; Kingston upon Hull West and Hessle; Lancaster and Wyre; Leeds Central; Leicester South; Leicester West; Lincoln; Liverpool, Riverside; Manchester Central; Morley and Rothwell; Newcastle upon Tyne Central; North East Milton Keynes; North Swindon; North West Durham; Northampton South; Norwich North; Norwich South; Nottingham South; Nuneaton; Oxford West and Abingdon; Peterborough; Poplar and Canning Town; Reading East; Rugby and Kenilworth; Sheffield Central; Sheffield, Attercliffe; Southampton, Itchen; Stoke-on-Trent Central; Stretford and Urmston; Taunton; Telford; Tunbridge Wells; Tyne Bridge; Vauxhall; and Wolverhampton South West.

The following hon. and right hon. Members were invited to attend Big Care Debate stakeholder events located in the Government Office Region for which they were responsible as Regional Ministers: the hon. Member for Dudley, North (Mr. Austin); the right hon. Member for Newcastle upon Tyne, East and Wallsend (Mr. Brown); the hon. Member for Stevenage (Barbara Follett); the right hon. Member for Dulwich and West Norwood (Tessa Jowell); the right hon. Member for South Dorset (Jim Knight); the hon. Member for Chatham and Aylesford (Jonathan Shaw); the right hon. Member for Doncaster, Central (Ms Winterton); and the hon. Member for Oldham, East and Saddleworth (Mr. Woolas).

We have on record that the Secretary of State for Health, the Minister of State for Care Services and the Regional Minister for Yorkshire and Humber each attended one or more Big Care Debate events.

Sunbeds: Research

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what recent research his Department has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on the use of ultraviolet tanning equipment by minors; and if he will make a statement. [306483]

Gillian Merron: The Department has recently commissioned, through Cancer Research UK, two large face-to-face surveys of sunbed use in over 9,000 children aged 11 to 17 in England. The first of these established that 6 per cent. of 11 to 17-year-olds had used a sunbed. A letter detailing some of the findings was published in the British Medical Journal on 13 November 2009. Further information on sunbed use by children and young people can be found at:

www.comare.org.uk/documents/COMARE13thReport.pdf

Swine Flu: Disease Control

Mrs. Lait: To ask the Secretary of State for Health for what reasons general practitioners are required to provide monthly returns to his Department on swine influenza injections giving the (a) date of birth, (b) diagnostic code and (c) date of injection of each patient; and to what use this information is required. [306330]

Gillian Merron: Monthly data on swine influenza (H1N1) vaccinations are collected from all general practitioners in order that the number of people in the priority and age groups for vaccination that have been vaccinated can be determined and followed through time.

These data are important to collect as they allow the progress of the vaccination programme to be monitored and they inform the management of the programme and planning of any extension to it.

Swine Flu: Telephone Services

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many telephone calls have been dealt with by the swine influenza hotline in each month since it came into operation. [306936]

Gillian Merron: The Department collects data on telephone calls to both the Swine Flu Information Line and the National Pandemic Flu Service (NPFS). The monthly data for each are provided as follows.

Swine Flu Information Line

| | Number |
|---|---|

| Total | 784,049 | 594,547 | 2,410,273 |

We cannot provide a breakdown of the calls made to the NPFS before 16 August as the system in place, prior to that time, could not do this.

Tourette Syndrome

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what provision is made in the training of general practitioners to enable them to recognise and support people with Tourette syndrome; and if he will make a statement. [306532]

Ann Keen: The content of curriculum and quality and standard of training for general practitioners is not the responsibility of the Department but the responsibility of the appropriate professional regulatory body.

However, the Department is committed to working with the professional regulatory bodies, royal colleges and others to promote high standards of education and training to ensure that doctors are equipped with the up-to-date knowledge, skills and attitudes essential for professional practice.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Academies: National Curriculum Tests

Mr. Keetch: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families for what reasons academies at which pupils do not take standard assessment tests are included in the statistics for these tests; and if he will make a statement. [306512]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 14 December 2009]: Academies, like maintained schools, have a responsibility to administer National Curriculum tests at Key Stage 2 as part of their Funding Agreement. It is a requirement that the results of all schools are published in the Key Stage 2 tables.

Academies: Sponsorship

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families whether a final date for full payment of sponsorship funding is agreed between his Department and the sponsor of each academy school. [306374]

Mr. Coaker: There are two types of sponsorship payments for Academies: traditional procurement and the endowment model. For traditional procurement Academies sponsorship payments are a contribution to the capital cost of constructing Academy buildings. Under this model, the timing of the receipt of cash sponsorship varies from academy to academy and is agreed as part of the Funding Agreement between the Department and the academy.

With the endowment model, sponsors establish an endowment fund which generates revenue for the Academy Company to use to counteract the impact of deprivation on the communities they serve. Under this model, receipts to the Academy Trust are made once the academy has opened, and usually over a period of five years. This is also agreed as part of the Funding Agreement between the Department and the academy.

In some instances, under both models, the Department has provided sponsors with some flexibility over the timing of payments made. These are considered on a case by case basis but we would expect sponsors to pay the amounts pledged.

Antisocial Behaviour

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many respect zones there have been in each year since 2007; how much funding each zone has received in each year; and what funding they can expect to receive in each of the next three years, broken down by funding stream. [303877]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 3 December 2009]: The Respect Programme was a success and most of the commitments in the Government's Respect Action Plan have been met or are in train and have been taken into the heart of programmes across Government and in local service delivery.

The 47 local authorities entitled 'Respect' areas no longer hold this title but continue to receive funding to tackle antisocial behaviour, provide parenting programmes and deliver Family Intervention Projects, the previous requisite elements of being a Respect area.

The funding provided to these areas to continue delivery of these elements of the Respect programme for each of the years from 2007 to 2011 is outlined as follows:

| | 2007-08 | 2008-09 | 2009-10 | 2010-11 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Anti-social behaviour grant (area based grant) | 3,329,719 | 3,429,719 | 3,429,719 | 3,429,719 |
| Family intervention project (ASB) | 8,129,474 | 5,414,998 | 3,798,051 | 3,798,051 |
| Parenting practitioners | 2,300,000 | 2,350,000 | 2,300,000 | 2,300,000 |

Building Schools for the Future Programme

Dr. Iddon: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what proportion of Building Schools for the Future funding has been spent on laboratories for practical science in each of the last four years; and whether he has plans to prioritise school science in the next Building Schools for the Future funding round. [306265]

Mr. Coaker: The Department for Children, Schools and Families does not collect information about the funding of particular types of space.

However, we know that over the last four years 81 new secondary schools have been built with the benefit of Building Schools for the Future (BSF) funding, at an average cost of £25 million. As each of these schools will have facilities for teaching practical science totalling on average 8 to 10 per cent. of the gross floor area, the cost of providing science accommodation at all these schools can be estimated at around £162 million to £203 million. In the same period, 27 schools have been refurbished and/or extended with BSF funding and many of these projects are likely to include improvements to science accommodation.

The aim of BSF, the largest capital investment programme for 50 years, is to provide world-class teaching and learning environments across the whole curriculum, including science. The Department does not intend, therefore, to prioritise school science in future BSF rounds.

The Department is committed to excellent science accommodation, demonstrated by Project Faraday which has developed exemplar designs for school laboratories to meet the needs of 21st century practical science teaching. These exemplar projects, many of which are already built, will inform and inspire all those involved in BSF.

For more information on Project Faraday see:

CAFCASS: Complaints

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what procedures the Children and Family Court Advisory and Support Service has in place for handling complaints received regarding the accuracy of its reports; and if he will make a statement. [305829]

Dawn Primarolo: CAFCASS has a formal complaints procedure, which includes complaints about the accuracy of reports. A copy of this procedure has been placed in the House Libraries. CAFCASS Cymru operate a parallel service in Wales on behalf of the Welsh Assembly Government and a copy of their representation and complaints procedure can be obtained from CAFCASS Cymru.

Children: Video Games

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what recent research his Department has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on the (i) level of access by people under the age of 18 years to video games featuring scenes of violence with an 18-rated classification and (ii) potential effects on the behaviour and development of such people of that access. [303010]

Dawn Primarolo: As part of her review of the effects of the internet and computer games on young people, Dr Tanya Byron commissioned extensive research into how video games impact children. This research looked at the issues such as addiction, violence and inappropriate content in games. The research concluded that there is no clear evidence either way about harmful impact on young people in terms of it creating violent behaviour.

The UK Council for Child Internet Safety (UKCCIS) is taking forward the review's recommendations, with special emphasis on the impact that online games have on children. The Byron review also recognised that more research into games is needed, especially given the pace of change in the medium. The Council has established an Experts' Research Panel to look at ways to deepen our understanding of the issues.

Classification formed an important part of the review and Professor Byron recommended a review of the classification of games and following the review this year we are strengthening the games classification system to extend statutory protection to all material suitable for those aged 12 or over. The recommendations also included working with Trading Standards officers on assessing underage sales of video games. Investigating the issue was accepted as a priority by the Executive Board of UKCCIS and the Council has commissioned work with local partners to investigate the issue.

Children's Centres

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what his most recent assessment is of the effectiveness of Sure Start children's centres in reducing child poverty; [306606]

(2) what recent assessment he has made of the effectiveness of Sure Start children's centres for low income families. [306625]

Dawn Primarolo: Sure Start children's centres both improve children's life chances and help parents into training and employment. All children's centres have links with Job Centre Plus, and in 10 local authorities Job Centre Plus advisers are placed full time in children's centres, helping parents on their journey into work. Children's centres are improving children's life chances: evidence shows that three-year-olds in areas with Sure Start Local Programmes displayed above-average levels of social development and positive social behaviour.

For more information on the evidence of the benefits of Children's Centres to low income families I refer my hon. Friend to the reply given on 10 November 2009, Official Report, column 354W, to my hon. Friend the Member for Wirral, South (Ben Chapman).

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what recent representations he has received on increasing the number of Sure Start children's centres; [306608]

(2) how many people use Sure Start children's centres in Leeds, West constituency. [306607]

Dawn Primarolo: Local authorities are responsible for rolling out Sure Start Children's Centre programmes in their areas. We are on track to achieve the national target for at least 3,500 centres by March 2010, offering access to services for all children under five and their families.

The Department does not collect information centrally about the numbers of children and families accessing individual Sure Start Children's Centres. We expect local authorities and children's centres to collect data on the take up of services as part of their local performance management arrangements. The Leeds, West constituency currently has seven Sure Start Children's Centres offering services to approximately 5,500 children under five and their families. There are no further centres planned for this constituency.

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families with reference to the answer of 12 October 2009, Official Report, column 201W, on children: social services, what the monetary value is of the contract met centrally by his Department for the Together for Children consortium to provide support for the delivery of Sure Start children's centres since October 2006. [306634]

Dawn Primarolo: Together for Children, a consortium of Serco, Tempus Resourcing Ltd., 4Children and Continyou, was contracted as the Department's delivery partner for Sure Start children's centres in October 2006 to provide support to local authorities to plan and deliver their children's centre programmes. The following table gives details of the monetary value of the contract for each year since its commencement which is met centrally by the Department.

| Financial year | Total cost (excluding VAT) (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 2006/07 | 3.4 |
| 2007/08 | 6.5 |
| 2008/09 | 7.2 |
| 2009/10[1] | 7.5 |
| 2010/11[1] | 3.7 |

Children's Centres: Barnsley

Jeff Ennis: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many people have children at Sure Start children's centres in Barnsley East and Mexborough constituency. [307163]

Dawn Primarolo: There are 19 designated Sure Start Children's Centres in Barnsley local authority, reaching just over 12,800 children under five and their families. Of these, two are in the Barnsley East and Mexborough constituency, reaching around 1200 children under five and their families.

Reach defines those children and families with the opportunity to access Sure Start Children's Centres. Figures for the number of people actually using children's centres are not collected centrally.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Hands: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many plasma screen televisions his Department has purchased since 2001; and what the cost has been of purchasing and installing such screens in each such year. [306074]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: Records show that the Department procured 17 plasma screens since 2001. The cost of purchasing and installing these screens (excluding VAT) in each such year was £28,281.75 in 2001; £11,764.01 in 2003; £19,134 in 2006 and £15,480 in 2007.

These were mainly purchased to provide a videoconferencing service to the Department's four sites and to stream internal content within the Department.

Departmental Freedom of Information

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many requests under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 his Department received in 2008; and how many of these received a substantive response within 20 days. [305497]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: Statistics published by the Ministry of Justice on Freedom of Information in central Government for 2008 show that of a total of 554 non-routine requests received by the Department (based on aggregated quarterly data) 88 per cent. (485) received a substantive response within 20 days. 92 per cent. (511) of requests were dealt with 'in time', that is within 20 days by meeting the deadline or other permitted extension deadline.

The statistics can be found on the Ministry of Justice website at:

http://www.Justice.gov.uk/publications/freedomofinformationquarterly.htm

and copies are available in the House Libraries.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many staff of his Department were in its redeployment pool on 1 (a) January, (b) April, (c) July and (d) October 2009. [306706]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The figures for staff in the Department that were without permanent posts on the dates specified are (a) 11 in January 09, (b) 9 in April 09, (c) 12 in July 09 and (d) 22 in October 09.

All individuals without permanent posts are actively engaged in work during this transition period, on either key projects or short-term business priorities. These individuals are known as priority movers and they are given individual tailored support to find suitable permanent posts.

Departmental Temporary Employment

Mr. Djanogly: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much his Department has spent on employing agency workers in each of the last five years. [307596]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The DCSF [illegible] created on 28 June 2007. Spend on agency staff [illegible] is set out in the following table:

| | Agency (£) |
|---|---|
| July 2007 to December 2007 | 333,000 |
| January 2008 to December 2008 | 1,219,000 |
| January 2009 to October 2009 | 1,263,000 |

Spend on agency staff is historically higher during the first half of the year due to, in part, to the need to recruit agency staff to work on the school census. This explains the lower than expected number for the six months of 2007.

Departmental Written Questions

John Mason: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many questions tabled for answer on a named day his Department received in each of the last 12 months; and to how many such questions his Department provided a substantive answer on the day named. [305378]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The information requested is in the following table.

1 December 2008 to 15 December 2009 inclusive

| | Tabled | Replied to on named day |
|---|---|---|
| December 2008 | 42 | 20 |
| January 2009 | 77 | 42 |
| February 2009 | 75 | 34 |
| March 2009 | 83 | 51 |
| April 2009 | 65 | 46 |
| May 2009 | 71 | 51 |
| June 2009 | 49 | 34 |
| July 2009 | 15 | 12 |
| August 2009 | n/a | n/a |
| September 2009 | 38 | 31 |
| October 2009 | 69 | 46 |
| November 2009 | 82 | 46 |
| December 2009 | 47 | 34 |

Central guidance on answering parliamentary questions is now available in the 'Guide to Parliamentary Work', at:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/parliamentary-clerk-guide.aspx

In the response to the Procedure Committee Report on written parliamentary questions, the Government accepted the Committee's recommendation that Departments be required to provide the Procedure Committee with sessional statistics in a standard format on the time taken to respond to written parliamentary questions, accompanied by an explanatory memorandum setting out any factors affecting their performance. This will be taken forward as soon as possible.

Ecosystem Project

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what recent estimate he has made of the cost of Becta's learning resources ecosystem project. [305711]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: Becta has allocated £150,000 for this initiative, which is designed to make it easier for learners, teachers and parents to access many millions of pounds worth of existing learning content. This will result in efficiency savings by reducing teacher workload, while improving the quality of the learning experience and value for money for schools.

Extracurricular Activities

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what plans his Department has to support the development of after-school clubs; [306610]

(2) what recent estimate he has made of the average number of after-school activity clubs in schools in Leeds, West constituency; [306613]

(3) what his most recent assessment is of the effectiveness of after-school clubs in reducing levels of youth crime; [306612]

(4) what his most recent assessment is of the effectiveness of after-school clubs in improving academic achievement. [306611]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department does not collect data on the number of after school clubs. However, over £1 billion in funding is being made available to ensure all schools are offering access to the core offer of extended services by 2010. This includes access to a rich and varied menu of before and after school activities from 8 am to 6 pm and during school holidays where there is demand. In England, over 19,800 (92 per cent. of) schools are already providing access to the core offer of extended services; the Government expect all maintained schools to be doing so by 2010.

In the constituency of Leeds, West, 30 schools (93 per cent.) are offering the full range of extended services.

The evidence to date points to the positive effect extended services are having on pupil motivation, behaviour, attendance and disposition to learning. Before and after school clubs not only offer extended learning opportunities but also provide children and young people with the opportunity to participate in diversionary activities which are fun and delivered in an environment which is safe.

The Department will continue to monitor the effectiveness of the policy as it beds in and more data become available. Previous evaluation from the Full Service Extended Schools research (Cummings C, Dyson A, Muijs D, Papps I, Pearson D, Raffo C, Tiplady L and Todd L 2007 "Evaluation of the Full Service Extended Schools Initiative"), as well as reports by Ofsted (Ofsted, 2006 "Extended services in schools and children's centres", Ofsted, 2008, "How well are they doing? The impact of Children's Centres and Extended Schools") provided some qualitative evidence of a positive impact on pupil attainment. These were based on case study evidence of views, perceptions and observations of practitioners and teachers in the context of individual school case studies.

Free School Meals

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what plans his Department has to extend the provision of free school meals. [306614]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: As part of the pre-Budget report, the Chancellor has announced a phased roll out of free school meals to primary children from low income families, who are in receipt of work-related benefits, starting with 50 per cent. of eligible children in September 2010, and with full roll out in 2011. He also announced an extension to the universal free school meal pilots for primary children so that there is a pilot in each English region.

Free School Meals: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many (a) primary and (b) secondary school pupils receive free schools meals in Leeds, West constituency. [306615]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The requested information is shown in the table, together with the numbers of children eligible for free school meals.

Maintained primary[1] and state-funded secondary[2, 3] schools: School meal arrangements as at January 2009 in Leeds, West parliamentary constituency

| | Number on roll[3] | Number of pupils taking free school meals[4] | Percentage taking free school meals | Number of pupils known to be eligible for free school meals[3] | Percentage known to be eligible for free school meals |

Freud Communications: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what the monetary value is of the communications contract his Department has awarded to Freud Communications; which Minister approved the contract; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments have been made. [305156]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The contract with Freud Communications to deliver the Year of Music, approved by the Secretary of State, is £1 million across the two financial years 2009-10 and 2010-11. This covers all costs associated with the project with Freud acting as the sole agency working with DCSF to delivery this initiative.

DCSF is aiming to reflect COI's new (to be standard) measures for assessing the impact of PR activity and so the contract is currently still in draft. A copy of the invitation to tender document against which the contract was drawn up has been placed in the House Libraries.

Homosexuality

Ben Chapman: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what guidance his Department issues to (a) primary and (b) secondary schools on educating pupils on tolerance of homosexuality. [305699]

Mr. Coaker: The Department has sent out a strong message that bullying is not acceptable in our schools, making it clear that all forms of bullying, including those motivated by prejudice, must not be tolerated and should always incur disciplinary sanctions. Homophobic bullying can negatively affect a young person's attainment and future life chances. In order to ensure that schools have the most practical and accessible tools at their disposal to prevent and tackle homophobic bullying, the Department published guidance, which gives schools the knowledge and expertise to tackle homophobic bullying.

The Department's "Sex and Relationship Education Guidance" (2004) issued to all schools makes it clear that schools should teach about all types of relationships that exist within society, including homosexual relationships. Both primary and secondary schools should address the underlying attitudes and values that underpin homophobic bullying as part of a well planned and age-appropriate programme of sex and relationships education (SRE).

We are issuing revised SRE guidance to schools next year and it is our intention that the revised guidance will reinforce this message.

MyCurriculum

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what recent estimate he has made of the cost of the Qualifications and Curriculum Development Agency's MyCurriculum initiative. [305712]

Mr. Iain Wright: There is no cost to the Qualifications and Curriculum Development Agency from the Mycurriculum.com initiative, which has been entirely funded from the revenue of the self-funding commercial arm of QCDA—the registered company QCA (Enterprises) Ltd. This is a pilot of an initiative intended to bring significant benefits to teachers in creating, developing and collaborating on learning resources and activities, allowing teachers to share best practice.

National Safeguarding Delivery Unit

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how often the National Safeguarding Delivery Unit has met since it became active on 1 July 2009; what work the Unit has undertaken since it became active; how many times the Unit has reported to (a) the Cabinet sub-committee on families, children and young people and (b) the Children, Schools and Families Select Committee; and on what dates those reports were made; [307261]

(2) who is employed on the National Safeguarding Delivery Unit; and at what pay scales; [307262]

(3) pursuant to his answer of 6 July 2009, Official Report, columns 594-95W, on the national safeguarding delivery unit, for what reasons the National Safeguarding Delivery Unit's work programme has not yet been published; and when he expects it to be published. [307263]

Dawn Primarolo: The new cross-Government National Safeguarding Delivery Unit (NSDU) became operational on 1 July 2009. The NSDU is an operational unit of 27 staff, co-located in the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF), drawn from the DCSF, the Ministry of Justice, Department of Health, and Home Office, as well as secondees from local authorities.

The unit was established to drive forward the implementation of the Government's response to Lord Laming, giving strong, co-ordinated national leadership across the safeguarding system and to provide support and challenge to local authorities and their partners in driving up the quality of front-line practice. The unit will continue to work with a wide range of partners, including front-line practitioners and their managers, to develop further and take forward the priorities, all of which are designed to help improve safeguarding practice and outcomes for children and young people.

The grades and associated pay scales of NSDU staff are set out in the following table.

| Grade | Number of people in the NSDU at this scale | DCSF pay scales[1] (£) |
|---|---|---|
| SCS pay band 1A | 1 | 67,600-128,900 |
| SCS pay band 1 | 2 | 57,300-80,000 |
| Grade 6 | 6 | 57,000-67,650 |
| Grade 7 | 7 | 47,625-56,100 |
| Senior executive officer | 4 | 35,629-40,062 |
| Higher executive officer | 3 | 29,571-32,666 |
| Executive officer | 4 | 24,298-26,713 |

[1] Pay scales vary between Government Departments as a result of devolved pay bargaining arrangements.

The work of the unit is overseen by a programme board of senior officials. The unit has submitted two progress reports to the DA(FCY) ministerial sub-group in July and December.

The unit works closely with, and supports, the chief adviser on the Safety of Children who is due to submit the first of his annual reports to Parliament by April 2010.

The NSDU's work programme will be published shortly and will include a summary of progress on the unit's work to date. It was decided to postpone the publication of this work programme in order to allow the new head of unit, who took up post on 7 December, to be consulted. The delay has not prevented the unit's work from being taken forward: significant progress has been made, as will be set out in the work programme that will be published.

Pupil Exclusions

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what support is provided by local authorities for children who have been excluded from school as a result of their Tourette syndrome; and if he will make a statement. [306531]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: School governing bodies have a statutory duty to do their best to ensure that the necessary provision is made for any pupil who has special educational needs. The Department's statutory guidance on exclusions states that schools should try every practicable means to maintain the pupil in school, including seeking local authority (LA) and other professional advice and support at "School Action Plus" or, where appropriate, asking the LA to consider carrying out a statutory assessment.

During the first five days of a permanent exclusion, the LA should arrange to assess the pupil's needs and how to meet them. From the sixth day of a permanent exclusion, the LA is statutorily responsible for ensuring that suitable full-time education is provided to pupils of compulsory school age. Tourettes is often treated with a combination of drugs and behavioural therapy, and any educational intervention needs to follow appropriate local professional advice.

Pupils: Bexley

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what estimate he has made of the number of pupils in the London borough of Bexley who attended secondary schools in (a) Dartford borough, (b) the London borough of Bromley and (c) the London borough of Greenwich in the last three years. [illegible]

Mr. Coaker: The requested data are set out in the following table.

Number of pupils[1] resident in the London borough of Bexley and attending secondary[2] schools in Dartford borough, Bromley and Greenwich

| | 2009 | 2008 | 2007[1] |
|---|---|---|---|
| Dartford borough | 546 | 520 | 577 |
| London borough of Bromley | 612 | 590 | [illegible] |
| London borough of Greenwich | 662 | 717 | 711 |

[1] For 2007[1] pupils age five to 15. For 2008 and 2009 pupils in national curriculum year groups R to 11.

[2] Secondary school includes maintained secondary schools, academies and CTCs.

School Meals: Finance

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what payments the School Food Trust has made to Tetra Strategy in the last 12 months; for what purpose; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments have been made. [305155]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The School Food Trust has paid Tetra Strategy £5,750 for the provision of desk research services during the financial year 2009/10. The terms of reference will be placed in the House Libraries.

Schools: Energy

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what advice and assistance his Department provides to schools to enable them to reduce their energy use. [306027]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: DCSF supports schools in reducing their energy in a number of ways. Under advice from the Department's Zero Carbon Task Force, DCSF has recently contracted with British Gas to provide display energy meters to all schools that wish to have one installed. The meters will enable schools to easily monitor their energy usage, and research shows that meters are an effective way of helping users of buildings to manage their energy demands.

The display meter offer builds on the Department's Sustainable Schools framework that has been promoted over a number of years by DCSF and through the Government Office network. The framework encourages action on energy reduction and provides guidance including top tips on how this can be achieved.

The Department also promotes to schools the use of energy contracts that are consistent with criteria considered value for money by the Office of Government Commerce.

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what (a) grants and (b) other assistance have been provided to schools in Leeds, West to help them reduce their energy bills; and if he will make a statement. [illegible]

Mr. Coaker: In December 2007 the Department set a requirement to reduce carbon emissions from new school buildings by 60 per cent. relative to the energy efficiency standards set out in the 2002 Building Regulations.

Additional funding (£50/m$^2$) was allocated to approximately 200 secondary schools to help meet this target. The Department has requested that completed carbon calculations are submitted for each of these projects so that proposed measures can be monitored and their effectiveness in meeting the target reduction can be evaluated in future. Currently West Leeds Academy is the only school to have completed the carbon calculation in Leeds, West. The school is therefore eligible to receive the additional funding. The planned opening date for West Leeds Academy is September 2011.

The Energy Savings Trust funding database[1] contains details of a wide range of funds relevant to local authorities, housing associations and community groups. This searchable database contains details of around 100 funds for energy efficiency improvements, the installation of renewable energy and other initiatives to reduce emissions of carbon dioxide.

The Low Carbon Buildings Programme[2] (LCBP) also gives grants for match funding of microgeneration technologies for schools. Phase 2 of this scheme continues on from the phase 1 scheme that provided funding to schools from March 2007. Two schools in Leeds, Garforth Community College and Kippax North Junior and Infants School have benefited from LCBP funding.

Schools: Lancashire

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families in how many (a) primary and (b) secondary schools in East Lancashire 80 per cent. or more pupils are from visible ethnic minorities. [illegible]

Mr. Coaker: Information on ethnicity of pupils is not available in the form requested.

The latest available information on ethnicity of pupils is published at national and local authority level at:

http://www.dcsf.gov.uk/rsgateway/DB/SFR/s000843/index.shtml

Schools: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how many (a) teachers, (b) teaching assistants and (c) support staff were employed in Leeds local education authority schools in each year since 1997; [illegible]

(2) how many teaching assistants there are in (a) Leeds, West constituency and (b) West Yorkshire. [306609]

Mr. Coaker: The information requested for Leeds local authority for January 1997, 2001 to 2009 is published in tables 19, 25 and 26 of the Statistical First Release (SFR) "School Workforce in England (including local authority level figures) January 2009 (Revised)" published on 29 September 2009. The SFR is available at the following web link:

http://www.dcsf.gov.uk/rsgateway/DB/SFR/s000874/Tables19to27_Vals.xls

The information requested for Leeds local authority for January 1998 to 2000 is published in tables 19, 25 and 26 of the Statistical First Release (SFR) "School Workforce in England (including local authority level figures) January 2008 (Revised)" published on 25 September 2008. The SFR is available at the following web link:

http://www.dcsf.gov.uk/rsgateway/DB/SFR/s000813/SFR262008_Tables_LA20081021-2.xls

In January 2009 there were 320 full-time equivalent teaching assistants in service in local authority maintained schools in Leeds, West constituency and 9,000 in West Yorkshire.

Schools: Rural Areas

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many rural (a) primary and (b) secondary schools were opened in each year since 1997. [305060]

Ms Diana R. Johnson: The following table provides details of the 22 additional new maintained mainstream schools that have been established since 2000 and designated as 'rural' at the time of their establishment. We do not have reliable information about decisions made prior to 2000.

| Types | 2000 | 2001 | 2002 | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 | 2008 | 2009 | Total |

Local authorities are responsible for school place provision. Where a new school is proposed a statutory process must be followed which is then decided locally under established decision making arrangements. Ministers have no direct role in the process.

Schools: Yorkshire and the Humber

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what plans he has to rebuild and refurbish (a) primary and (b) secondary schools in (i) Leeds, West constituency, (ii) Leeds City and (iii) West Yorkshire; [306017]

(2) how many (a) primary and (b) secondary schools in (i) Leeds, West constituency and (ii) West Yorkshire have been rebuilt or refurbished since 1997. [306018]

Mr. Coaker: In July the Department carried out a survey of all local authorities to gather data on how capital investment in schools has been spent and plans through to 2011. These data are now being validated and reconciled with a similar survey that was carried out in 2007. I will write to my hon. Friend by the end of February 2010 to provide the information requested.

[2] 'Other' includes classics, dance, economics, media, performing arts, social sciences and social studies. For 2008/09 onwards also includes diploma subjects.

[3] Number of places for individual technology subjects is not available before 2004/05.

[4] Places for vocational subjects in 2006/07 onwards are included with the allocation for related academic subject. Science includes places for applied science; design and technology includes both manufacturing and engineering; ICT includes applied ICT; business studies includes applied business; geography includes leisure and tourism; art includes applied art and other includes health and social care. In 2003/04 the margin of flexibility included places for a vocational subjects pilot. In 2004/05 places for vocational subjects were shown separately.

[5] The margin of flexibility/secondary reserve constituted places that the TDA could allocate to any secondary subject, to support providers whose baselines would otherwise be below economic levels, to ensure the appropriate denominational balance and to help providers with a high proportion of places in shortage subjects and who therefore had particular uncertainty of income.

Teachers: Training

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what provision is made in the training of teachers to enable them to recognise and support children with Tourette syndrome. [306530]

Mr. Coaker: Government have invested significant resources in relation to improving training for the school work force in relation to special educational needs. For teachers this includes training resources at both undergraduate and postgraduate level which include elements addressing Behavioural, Emotional and Social Difficulties, which encompasses Tourette Syndrome. The resources have been made available to all Initial Teacher Trainers and support is being provided to enable them to work together to share and improve their practice in this important area.

Furthermore, the national strategies have been funded by DCSF to develop and roll out an Inclusion Development Programme which will deliver specially designed training resources for the school work force that address areas of SEN that we know some find difficult—the third phase of this covers Behavioural, Emotional and Social Difficulties (BESD) and is due to be launched in March 2010.

Young Offenders

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many electronic tag restrictions on children aged (a) 10 or 11, (b) 12 to 14 and (c) 15 to 17 years old have been (i) issued and (ii) breached in each year since 1997. [302441]

Maria Eagle: I have been asked to reply.

The Electronic Monitoring service began in 1999. The information as follows provides data on the number of electronic monitoring orders received by the electronic monitoring service providers for juveniles since 2005.

We cannot provide details on how many electronic orders were received for juveniles in the age groups requested. Nor can we provide details on the number of breaches. During 1999-2004, the contactors recorded data in a different way and they are not recorded centrally. To obtain these data from the previous contractors could only be done at a disproportionate cost.

[1] Financial year. Under the current contracts, juveniles are defined as 10-17 year olds

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many children aged between 10 and 17 years old were first-time entrants to the criminal justice system through receiving their first caution or conviction in each of the last 10 years. [306684]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 14 December 2009]: Live Police National Computer (PNC) data were first collected in 1995. Between 1997 and 1999 work was ongoing to improve the quality of the data collection on first time entrants (FTE) to the criminal justice system aged 10 to 17 in order to bring them to a standard sufficient to support the publication of national statistics.

The first year these data became available for publication was for 2000-01. Data for 2000-09 are published here:

http://www.dcsf.gov.uk/rsgateway/DB/STR/d000895/index.shtml

Young People: Alcoholic Drinks

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what steps he plans to take to assist schools to encourage responsible alcohol consumption in young people. [306935]

Dawn Primarolo: Revised drug and alcohol guidance for schools was issued for consultation on 13 November. This new guidance includes a far greater emphasis on alcohol and sets clear expectations around both alcohol education and how schools deal with alcohol-related incidents. It also provides information on further sources of support.

We have also announced our intention to make drug and alcohol education statutory as part of PSHE education and subject to parliamentary approval. This will ensure all schools provide information and education about alcohol, supported by a clear curriculum.

BUSINESS, INNOVATION AND SKILLS

Apprentices: Bexley

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many small and medium-sized businesses in the London Borough of Bexley are employing apprentices. [306567]

Kevin Brennan: Data on the number and size of the employers supporting apprentices are not collected via the individualised leaner record (ILR) and hence the information requested is not currently available.

From the 2009/10 academic year, this information will be available on the ILR when a unique employer identifier will have to be provided by all employers of apprentices.

We can provide an estimate of the size of employers that offer and have recruited apprentices from the National Employer Skills Survey (NESS). These data are based on repeated surveys of around 79,000 employers across all business sectors in England. Table 1 shows information from the published 2007 National Employer Skills survey[1] on the number of organisations that had any staff undertaking an apprenticeship in the 12 months prior to interview, by size of employer.

[1] http://readingroom.lsc.gov.uk/lsc/National/nat-nessurvey2007 mainreport-may08.pdf accessed on 11 December 2009.

Table 1: Percentage of employers that have recruited an apprentice in the last 12 months (NESS 2007)

| | | Number of employees of employer | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | All employers | 2-4 | 5-24 | 25-99 | 100-199 | 200-499 | 500+ |
| Percentage of employers that have recruited an apprentice over the previous 12 months (NESS 2007) | 6 | 4 | 8 | 11 | 15 | 19 | 26 |

Apprentices: Finance

Mr. Benyon: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what arrangements his Department has put in place for funding for apprenticeships for those aged 19 or more during the transition period between the winding down of the Learning and Skills Council and the creation of the Skills Funding Agency. [304321]

Kevin Brennan: The transition of responsibilities from the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) to the Skills Funding Agency (SFA) will not have any impact on the funding of adult apprenticeships and will not affect the work of training providers in delivering apprenticeships in England. The National Apprenticeship Service, which was established earlier this year, will provide continuity in the promotion and delivery of apprenticeships to employers and to young people and adults.

Apprentices: Staffordshire

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many adult apprenticeships have been completed at the Tamworth campus of South Staffordshire College in each of the last five years; and how many he expects will be completed in (a) 2009, (b) 2010 and (c) 2011. [304169]

Kevin Brennan: Reliable information on apprenticeship achievements is not available for individual campuses.

Information on learner numbers at Tamworth and Lichfield College is available via the College Accounts at:

http://www.lsc.gov.uk/providers/pfm/fniancial-support/College+Accounts.htm

This provides information for Tamworth and Lichfield College in 2007/08 and earlier, before the creation of South Staffordshire College.

Information on success rates for South Staffordshire College can be found in the latest Ofsted inspection report at http://www.ofsted.gov.uk

Information on projected apprenticeship achievements is available at national level only.

Apprenticeship Framework achievements are published in a quarterly statistical first release (SFR). The latest SFR was published on 22 October 2009 at:

http://www.thedataservice.org.uk/statistics/sfroct09

This includes apprenticeship framework achievements by parliamentary constituency but does not contain information at provider level. The next SFR, with final data on apprenticeships for 2008/09, is due to be published on 17 December 2009.

Business: Essex

Bob Spink: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what recent estimate he has made of the proportion of businesses in (a) Essex and (b) Castle Point constituency which are involved in manufacturing. [307598]

Angela E. Smith: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

> As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question concerning what recent estimate has made of the proportion of businesses in (a) Essex and (b) Castle Point constituency which are involved in manufacturing. (307598)
> The table below contains counts of enterprises taken from the Inter-departmental Business Register in March 2009.

|---|---|---|---|
| Essex County | 3,730 | 53,270 | 7 |

Angela E. Smith: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Questions.

The estimates in the following table are taken from the Inter-Departmental Business Register and show the count of companies by requested classification as at March 2008, the latest date for which estimates are available. All classifications are based on the UK Standard Industry Classification 2003.

The table contains counts of companies held on the Inter-Departmental Business Register. The counts exclude units that are classified as sole proprietors, partnerships, and businesses classified to the non-profit or public sector.

Competition Commission: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what payments the Competition Commission has made to Euro RSCG Apex in each of the last three years; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments have been made. [302303]

Kevin Brennan: The Competition Commission has made payments totalling £16,690 to Euro RSCG Apex over the last three years—£11,867.50 in 2007/08, £3,701.25 in 2008/09 and £1,121.25 in 2009/10. The payments related to strategic communications advice provided to the CC on specific investigations and for the organisation in general. The advice has been provided under the terms of a three year contract which can be terminated by the CC at any point with a month's notice. The contract is subject to the normal considerations of confidentiality regarding a commercial agreement such as this and it would not be appropriate to place a copy in the Library.

Construction: Economic Situation

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what his most recent assessment is of the effects on the construction industry of the recession; and if he will make a statement. [305294]

Ian Lucas: According to data published on 3 December by the Office for National Statistics, total construction output in the third quarter of 2009 rose by 2 per cent. compared with the previous quarter. An increase in repair and maintenance of 10 per cent. over the previous quarter offset a fall in new work of 4 per cent.

Information on construction new orders is more volatile, but data published on 10 December showed infrastructure and public non-housing work holding up, with increases of 46 per cent. and 13 per cent. respectively in the 12 months to October 2009 when compared with the previous 12 month period. Overall, new orders were 5 per cent. down in the three months to October compared with the previous three months, and fell by 19 per cent. in the 12 months to October 2009 compared with the previous 12 month period.

Construction: Government Assistance

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what steps his Department intends to take to support the construction industry in the next two years. [307246]

Ian Lucas: On 1 December the Department and the Office of Government Commerce, HM Treasury, took a major step in appointing Paul Morrell as the Chief Construction Adviser. Key tasks for Paul include driving the implementation and further development of best value construction procurement; and leading the low carbon construction Innovation and Growth Team which will assess the key barriers to growth in the UK's low carbon construction sector to ensure the UK industry is well placed to serve developing needs and markets.

Dietetics

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many Masters of Dietetics degrees were awarded in each of the last five years. [307078]

Mr. Lammy: Information on Masters degrees awarded in dietetics is not available and the numbers of Masters qualifiers in Nutrition are given as an alternative in the table.

Nutrition is classified as a principal subject in the Higher Education Statistics Agency (HESA) Student Record and includes courses in nutrition and dietetics.

Figures for the 2008/09 academic year will be available from HESA in January.

Employment Schemes

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what proportion of participants in the Learning and Skills Council's Golden Hello scheme his Department estimates have not completed their training in the last 12 months. [304567]

Kevin Brennan: The main objective of the Further Education Golden Hello scheme is to provide an incentive to improve the retention of teachers in the sector. The scheme's eligibility criteria do not require teachers to have completed training at the point of application for or payment of the Golden Hello. Consequently the Department does not require the LSC to collect information on completion of training for the purposes of the scheme.

Applicants, who must be in their second year of teaching, must show that they either hold or are working towards a Diploma to Teach in the Lifelong Learning Sector (DTLLS) qualification. The Further Education Teachers' Qualifications (England) Regulations 2007 regulations require those who don't hold DTLLS as they commence teaching to complete their training within five years, during which time they can be employed in a full teaching role.

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what criteria the Learning and Skills Council applies for the selection of participants in its Golden Hello scheme. [304568]

Kevin Brennan: The full eligibility criteria and self assessment guidance for the Further Education Golden Hello Scheme are published each year via the Teachernet website:

www.teachernet.gov.uk.

In summary applicants must meet all of the following key criteria:

(a) be directly employed by, and in their second ever year of teaching in, an eligible FE institution.

(b) at the time the application is received by the LSC, have a teaching contract for at least one term.

(c) be teaching one or more of the designated shortage subjects.

(d) be qualified with or, at the time of application, be undertaking and working towards a Diploma to Teach in the Lifelong Learning Sector (DTLLS) qualification.

Higher Education: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many people applied for places at universities in Leeds for the academic year 2009-10; and how many studied at such universities in 2008-09. [306602]

Mr. Lammy: The latest figures are shown in the table. Each applicant can submit up to five applications, except those applying to Medicine, Dentistry and Veterinary Science courses who can submit up to four applications. The 2009-10 application numbers cover applicants who applied via the UCAS main scheme by 30 June.

Comprehensive data on students who studied at higher education institutions in 2008-09 will become available in January. Figures are therefore provided on accepted applicants to full-time undergraduate courses via UCAS in 2008-09.

Higher Education: Qualifications

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the targeted allocations provided by the Higher Education Funding Council for England for (a) foundation degrees, (b) old and historic buildings and (c) accelerated and intensive provision of postgraduate taught subjects in price band D, with specific reference to the contribution of each to (i) teaching and learning, (ii) widening participation in higher education and (iii) helping re-train people in the recession. [303748]

Mr. Lammy: The Department has made no assessment of the effectiveness of these three targeted allocations.

In July HEFCE launched a consultation on the future of these three targeted allocations. That closed on 14 October 2009. At their meeting on 27 November 2009, the HEFCE board considered proposals to reduce or phase out these allocations. Final decisions will be taken early in the new year, in the light of confirmed allocations for 2010-11.

Hospitality Industry: Training

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what recent progress has been made on the provision of skills training for those working in the hospitality industry; and if he will make a statement. [306516]

Kevin Brennan [holding answer 14 December 2009]: The Government are working in a number of ways to support the efforts of the hospitality industry to improve the skills of its workforce.

The National Skills Academy (NSA) for Hospitality forms a key part of the sector's skills strategy, and is backed by leading sector employers. The NSA provides the sector with quality assured training programmes to help to fill skills shortages.

A key priority for the sector is to upskill our domestic workforce to fill vacancies in the sector, and so reduce the sector's reliance on migration. Crucial to this is the roll out of the Government's Young Person's Guarantee. Hospitality, leisure and tourism is one of the first sectors to benefit from the 'Routes into Work' programme, which funds pre-employment training for 18 to 24-year-olds who have been long-term unemployed, with a guarantee of a job in the sector. We are also working with the sector on skills for the ethnic catering industry, where a review of qualifications is taking place and a long term strategy is being developed to reduce reliance on migration and upskill UK workers.

In addition, the industry's Sector Skills Council, People 1st, earlier this year received a new licence from Government, following a recommendation for relicensing by the UK Commission for Employment and Skills.

Learning and Skills Council for England

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills pursuant to the answer of 3 December 2009, Official Report, column 987W, on Learning and Skills Council for England: correspondence, when the review of processes will be completed. [306917]

Kevin Brennan [holding answer 14 December 2009]: I can confirm that the review of processes will be completed shortly, with a view to implementing any necessary changes early in the new year.

Office of Fair Trading: Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how much the Office of Fair Trading has spent on hotel accommodation for its officials in each of the last five years. [306041]

Kevin Brennan: The Office of Fair Trading's expenditure on hotel accommodation for the last three years was as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2008/09 | 100,932 |
| 2007/08 | 127,005 |
| 2006/07 | 88,900 |

Expenditure on hotel accommodation was not separately recorded in prior years, and it is not therefore possible to produce this information without disproportionate cost.

Travel by civil servants is undertaken in accordance with the "Civil Service Management Code".

Office of Fair Trading: Training

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Office of Fair Trading (OFT) buildings attended by civil servants in the OFT there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307455]

Kevin Brennan: OFT's expenditure on conferences since 2005 is shown in the following table.

| | £ |
|---|---|
| January 2005 - March 2005 | 22,445 |
| 2005-06 (April-March) | 108,562 |
| 2006-07 | 214,221 |
| 2007-08 | 80,495 |
| 2008-09 | 118,274 |

Information on the number of conferences attended, and on away days generally, is not available without disproportionate cost.

Older Workers: Vocational Training

David Simpson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many and what proportion of people over 55 years old have been assisted in learning new job skills in each of the last three years. [303573]

Kevin Brennan: Data are available from the Labour Force Survey on self-reported participation in training related to their current job or a job they might be able to do in the future for England.

These estimates will not include everyone obtaining new job skills as some people surveyed may be studying for relevant qualifications that they do not personally consider to be job related.

Table 1 shows the proportion of working age people over 55 years old who say they have participated in training related to a current or future job in Quarter 2 (April to June) for the last three years. Annual estimates are not available as the question is only asked on the Labour Force Survey in Quarter 2 and covers only the preceding three months.

Table 1: Training for working age people over 55 year-old in England

We also hold information on the number of learners that were participating in LSC-funded Further Education. Table 2 shows the number of learners aged 55 or over participating in some form of further education. Note that not all of these learners will be learning skills relevant to a new job.

Policy Objectives

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many regulatory impact assessments have cited peace of mind as a policy objective since 1997. [illegible]

Ian Lucas: Analysis has been carried out on impact assessments contained within the impact assessment library, published on the BRE website, which date between 1 January 2008 and 18 December 2009, totalling 450 impact assessments.

No impact assessments were found to cite peace of mind as a policy objective.

Putting the Frontline First: Smarter Government

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what assessment he has made of the effect on the national skills base of the proposed reduction in the number of publicly-funded bodies in the skills sector by 30 over the next three years, as referred to on page 54 of Putting the Frontline First: Smarter Government, Cm 7753. [illegible]

Kevin Brennan: This proposal was first outlined in "Skills for Growth—the National Skills Strategy" in November. It takes forward a recommendation made by the UK Commission for Employment and Skills (UKCES) and addresses employer concerns that the skills system continues to be over complicated, with too many separate bodies playing a role.

Simplifying the landscape through reducing the number of intermediary bodies will contribute to a more effective national skills system, and allow more resources to be focused on front-line delivery.

Part of the reduction includes consolidation of the UK-wide sector skills council (SSC) network, creating a better fit with the likely sector boundaries of the future. Government will look to UKCES to work with SSCs to bring forward proposals for this consolidation. As has been the case with the relicensing of SSCs, we will continue to work closely with the devolved Administrations and other departmental sponsors of the commission, to ensure that this process takes full account of the impacts on, and priorities of, the whole of the UK. This also ensures that employers are involved in the development and ownership of the bodies which emerge from this process.

Regulations: Audit

Mr. Brady: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what recent discussions he has had with the Financial Reporting Council on the regulation of audit firms. [306843]

Ian Lucas: This Department regularly has discussions with the Financial Reporting Council and its operating bodies about a range of issues, including the regulation of audit firms.

As part of this, I met Dame Barbara Mills QC, the Chair of the Professional Oversight Board, which oversees the regulation of audit firms, on 14 October, to discuss the Board's annual report.

Students: Disabled

Mr. Harper: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills pursuant to the answer to Lord Addington of 5 November 2009, Official Report, House of Lords, column 372, on disabled people: student loans, what arrangements the Government has with universities and colleges to ensure that there is financial support for disabled students in the event of delays in the assessment or payments of support; how many individual students have been supported using these arrangements in the academic year 2009-10; what the average period of support for disabled students has been; and what estimate he has made of the monetary value of the financial support given under such arrangements. [307712]

Mr. Lammy: This is an operational matter for which Postcomm has direct responsibility. I have therefore asked Postcomm's Chief Executive, Tim Brown, to reply direct to the hon. Member.

A copy of the response will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Students: Loans

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many enquiries have been made to the Student Loans Company (a) by telephone, (b) by email, (c) via its website and (d) by other methods in each of the last six years. [302502]

Mr. Lammy: The Student Loans Company has provided the information set out in the following table:

| Financial year | Telephone calls received by contact centre | Queries received via website | Correspondence received |
|---|---|---|---|
| | | | Number |
| 2004-05 | 2,743,665 | n/a | 252,566 |
| 2005-06 | 2,373,175 | n/a | 192,457 |
| 2006-07 | 2,504,190 | 52,107 | 187,300 |
| 2007-08 | 2,831,382 | 158,278 | 148,446 |
| 2008-09 | 3,298,052 | 70,780 | 157,076 |
| 2009-2010 to date | 3,233,622 | 70,105 | 103,699 |

Notes: 1. Figures in the table are those in relation to Student Finance England, Student Finance Northern Ireland and income contingent repayments for borrowers across the UK. It is not possible to break down the figures further.
2. 'Queries through website' refers to the secure messaging function on the Student Finance Direct/Directgov website.

Tax

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many regulatory impact assessments have included mitigation of the general reluctance to pay tax as an issue since 1997. [304842]

Ian Lucas: Analysis has been carried out on impact assessments contained within the impact assessment library, published on the BRE website, which date between 1 January 2008 and 18 December 2009, totalling 450 impact assessments.

From these it was found that five included mitigation of the general reluctance to pay tax as an issue:

Changes to rules on loan relationships;

Identifying users of disclosed tax avoidance schemes;

Impact assessment of ratification of the Council of Europe convention on action against trafficking in human beings;

Impact assessment of legal powers to support the creation of the UK Border Agency;

Final impact assessment of common travel area (CTA) reform.

Trade Agreements: Peru

Gregory Barker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what discussions his Department has had with the European Commission on its decision to continue multiparty trade agreement negotiations with Peru; and if he will make a statement. [304480]

Ian Lucas: The EU and Peru, Colombia and Ecuador began negotiations on a multiparty trade agreement in January 2009, after negotiations between the EU and the Community of Andean Nations had stalled. Ecuador has since dropped out of negotiations, but remains an interested observer.

Officials from the joint BIS/DFID Trade Policy Unit have been in continuous liaison with the European Commission throughout the negotiations, via routine representation to the Article 133 Committee (now the Trade Policy Committee, since entry into force of the Lisbon treaty) and associated meetings in Brussels.

UK Trade and Investment: Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how much UK Trade and Investment has spent on hotel accommodation for its staff in each of the last five years. [305710]

Ian Lucas: UK Trade and Investment (UKTI) does not directly employ staff but draws on resource from its two parent departments the Department for Business Innovation and Skills (BIS) and the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO). UKTI has offices in 98 different countries, the nine English regions, London and Glasgow.

UKTI holds financial information on travel and accommodation costs at the aggregate level centrally while detailed information is held locally. To provide the information requested would require obtaining detailed information from each location and therefore can be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Vocational Training: East of England

Bob Spink: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what funding under the (a) Train to Gain and (b) Skills for Life programme was provided to each college in the East of England in 2008-09; and how much such funding has been allocated under each such programme for 2009-10. [307599]

Kevin Brennan: Funding is allocated by the Learning and Skills Council to further education (FE) colleges and training organisations on an academic year basis. In the east of England, FE colleges were allocated a total of nearly £36 million in 2008/09 academic year for Train to Gain, and have maximum contract values worth £34 million in 2009/10 academic year.

We are unable to provide a breakdown of the funding allocated for Skills for Life provision. Skills for Life is a collective term, used to describe learning delivered to improve literacy, language and numeracy skills, which can be delivered through different programme lines eg Adult Learner Responsive and Employer Responsive. The amount of funding made available for Skills for Life at a national level is based on planned levels of activity for an academic year but funding to FE colleges and training organisations is not allocated at this level. Nationally, planned investment in adult (19+) Skills for Life courses delivered through Train to Gain and Adult Learner Responsive routes is nearly £600 million for 2008-09 financial year and around £630 million for 2009-10 financial year.

The proposed funding for 2010-11 for FE and Skills has recently been published in the Skills Investment Strategy, and further information and statistics regarding funding for individual FE colleges and geographical areas are available on the website of the Learning and Skills Council (www.lsc.gov.uk).

Vocational Training: Expenditure

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what estimate he has made of the cost to the public purse of professional education and training for (a) lawyers, (b) accountants, (c) plumbers and (d) electricians in the last 12 months. [303025]

Mr. Lammy: The Department continues to ensure that funds are deployed to support adults into sustainable employment and further learning. For the 2010-11 financial year we plan to invest £3.5 billion in adult training through the Skills Funding Agency, an increase of 3 per cent. compared with 2009-10. Investment routed through the Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE) is £7.8 billion in 2009-10. Figures for 2010-11 will be published in January 2010.

Funding is not allocated at an individual course level to Further Education (FE) colleges, Higher Education Institutions and other training institutions. The Learning and Skills Council (LSC) and HEFCE are able to provide estimates of funds directed towards specific qualifications based on enrolment information. The estimated funds for 2007/08[1] are provided in the following table.

[1] The data provided refer to 2007/08 academic year as this is the most recent academic year for which there is a complete set of data. The academic year 2008/09 has only just finished and data are not yet finalised.

Estimated funding for 2007/08 through LSC and HEFCE

£ million

| Public funding for qualifications in:[1] | LSC Levels 1-4[2] | HEFCE professional post-graduate[3] |
|---|---|---|
| (a) Law | 7.3 | 0.5 |
| (b) Accountancy | 31.1 | 3.4 |
| (c) Plumbing | 33.1 | — |
| (d) Electrician and related | 11.5 | — |

[1] It is expected that the primary source of funding for professional qualifications at post-graduate level will be the learner or their employer and for LSC-funded qualifications outside of national entitlements there is an expected learner or employer contribution.

[2] Data provided by the LSC; figures are theoretical funding derived from the number of learners enrolled on courses with "law," "accountancy," "plumbing" or "electrician" or related terms in the course title. This includes qualifications ranging from Level 1 (foundation learning) to Level 4 (degree equivalent) delivered through FE, Train to Gain and Apprenticeships). Professional qualifications at post-graduate level in law and accountancy would be funded, where public money is involved, by HEFCE.

[3] Data provided by HEFCE; notional grant funding which is the standard resource for 2007/08 minus the assumed fee income. These data include undergraduate courses that are explicitly returned as professional course aims to HESA data; this would not include general undergraduate courses (such as first degrees).

Voting Rights: Public Companies

Richard Ottaway: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills whether he plans to review the operation of company law in respect of the sale and purchase of shares for the purposes of restricting voting rights in respect of public companies. [306848]

Ian Lucas: I expect shareholders to take their responsibilities as company owners seriously. I welcome the Financial Reporting Council's agreement to take responsibility for a stewardship code for institutional investors, building on the work of the Institutional Shareholders' Committee. The Government believe that it is important for long term sustainable growth that there is effective engagement between companies and institutional shareholders, and want to see London as a centre of excellence in this area. My noble Friend the Secretary of State will be meeting leading companies and institutional shareholders on 11 January 2010 to explore with them how engagement in the UK market might be made more effective.

HOME DEPARTMENT

[306299]

Meg Hillier: As at 31 December 2008, in Wales, seven places were designated as user establishments under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986, one was designated as a supplying establishment and two were designated as breeding establishments.

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what the primary purpose was of each (a) procedure and (b) field of research carried out on animals in Wales in 2008 under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986 involving (i) fish, (ii) pigs and (iii) genetically modified animals; and what the reasons were for the increase in the number of procedures carried out on (A) fish, (B) pigs and (C) genetically modified animals in Wales in that year in relation to the previous year; [306302]

(2) what proportion of the regulated procedures under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986 which were conducted in Wales in 2008 were performed in (a) public health laboratories, (b) universities and medical schools, (c) national health service hospitals, (d) Government departments, (e) other public bodies, (f) non-profit making organisations and (g) commercial organisations; [306292]

(3) how many (a) genetically modified animals and (b) animals with a harmful genetic defect were used in regulated procedures under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986 which were conducted in Wales in 2008. [306290]

Meg Hillier: In line with the Code of Practice for Official Statistics (implementing the Statistics and Registration Act 2007), and the National Statistician's guidance "Confidentiality of Official Statistics", the information requested is not available. Providing the information requested would breach statistical confidentiality relating to individual establishments.

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many procedures carried out on animals in Wales in 2008 under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986 involved (a) New World primates and (b) Old World primates; and what the primary purposes of those procedures were. ### Antisocial Behaviour Orders: West Yorkshire

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many antisocial behaviour orders have been issued to residents of (a) Leeds, West constituency and (b) West Yorkshire since 2002. [306929]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The latest available published data on the number of antisocial behaviour orders (ASBOs) issued covers the period 1 April 1999 to 31 December 2007 and are not available below criminal justice system (CJS) area level.

The number of ASBOs issued at all courts in the West Yorkshire CJS area between 2002 and 2007 is 1,102.

The majority of these ASBOs will have been issued to persons resident in West Yorkshire, however it is possible for courts to issue an ASBO to a person whether or not they reside in the area served by the court. Centrally collected information on ASBOs issued does not include details of the location of ASBO recipients' residences. This information could only be ascertained by examination of individual court files, which could only be achieved at disproportionate cost.

Borders: Personal Records

Alan Johnson [holding answer 14 December 2009]: The UK Border Agency is not responsible for providing estimates of the number of passenger movements expected into or out of the UK, over the next five years.

We expect the e-Borders system to screen 95 per cent. of all passenger movements into and out of the UK by the end of December 2010, which will cover all major commercial traffic. The remaining 5 per cent. represents private aviation and the small craft category and we expect to have 100 per cent. coverage by the end of March 2014.

Christmas

Mr. Vaizey: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much his Department has budgeted for Christmas trees in 2009. [305716]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 19 December 2009]: The Department does not have a central budget for Christmas trees. At 2 Marsham street, the Christmas trees have been provided by the building's facilities management supplier at no additional cost to the Department.

Crimes of Violence: Schools

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many pupils in each region were (a) convicted, (b) permanently excluded and (c) temporarily excluded for (i) assaulting and (ii) sexually assaulting teachers or other school staff in each of the last three years. [305015]

Mr. Coaker: I have been asked to reply.

The Court Proceedings Database held by the Ministry of Justice contains information on defendants proceeded against, found guilty and sentenced for criminal offences in England and Wales on a persons basis. These data include information on the age of the defendant, their gender, the police force area and court where proceedings took place as well as the specific offence and statute for the offence. Other than where specified in a statute statistical information held does not identify the employment status of a victim of an offence.

Data on reasons for exclusion include information on physical assault, verbal abuse or threatening behaviour against an adult, and on sexual misconduct, but not specifically against teachers or school staff.

In 2005/06, data on fixed period exclusions and on reasons for permanent exclusion were collected from secondary schools only.

The available information on reasons for exclusion by local authority and Government office region is published as follows:

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much his Department spent on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in his Department's buildings in the last 12 months. [305692]

Departmental Freedom of Information

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many requests under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 his Department received in 2008; and how many of these received a substantive response within 20 days. [305493]

Mr. Woolas: The information is contained in annual statistics on the operation of the Freedom of Information Act in central Government, published by the Ministry of Justice (MOJ). The report for 2008 is available on the MOJ website at the following link:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/docs/foi-statistics-report-2008.pdf

Member for Horsham (Mr. Maude) of 5 March 2009, Official Report, column 1774W, on departmental ICT, what the job title and job specification is of each of the embedded communicators; and what the responsibilities are of (a) embedded communicators and (b) officials working in (i) his Department's press office and (ii) a communications department in one of his Department's agencies. [305169]

Mr. Woolas: The Home Office Crime Reduction and Community Safety Group (CRCSG) is now the Crime and Policing Group (CPG). The job titles and specifications of their communications staff are listed in Table 1. The communicators in the Office of Security and Counter Terrorism (OSCT) are listed in Table 2.

The UK Border Agency became an agency on 1 April 2009 meaning the communication team are no longer embedded in relation to the Home Office.

working closely with Ministers' private offices, officials and communications colleagues to plan and implement media strategies across a broad range of media outlets including specialist, lifestyle, online and other new media; and developing an understanding of issues across the Department.

The role of officials in the Press Office is to:

provide administration support to the senior management team;

lead on recruitment and training of staff;

manage press office systems ensuring press release statements and operational notes reach the target audience;

manage TV interviews; and book travel and accommodation on behalf of press officers.

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which (a) individuals other than ministerial colleagues and officials of his Department and (b) organisations he met in an official capacity in the week commencing 9 November 2009. [301168]

Mr. Woolas: In their response to a Report by the Public Administration Select Committee Lobbying: Access and influence in Whitehall, the Government agreed to publish online, on a quarterly basis, information about ministerial meetings with outside interest groups. Information for the period 1 October to 31 December 2009 will be published by Departments as soon as the information is ready.

Departmental Official Cars

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate he has made of the cost to his Department of providing official cars for the use of (a) Ministers and (b) officials in the last 12 months. [301176]

Mr. Woolas: I refer the hon. Member to the written ministerial statement about the cost of ministerial cars made by the Under-Secretary of State for Transport, my hon. Friend the Member for Gillingham (Paul Clark), on 16 July 2009, Official Report, columns 79-80WS.

For the cost of cars to officials, I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by the Under-Secretary of State for Transport, my hon. Friend the Member for Gillingham (Paul Clark) on 2 December 2009, Official Report, column 762W.

Departmental Public Expenditure

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the cost to his Department was of provision of office facilities to (a) special advisers and (b) press officers in the 2008-09 financial year. [302970]

Mr. Woolas: Although the costs of providing accommodation to press offices and special advisers is not separately attributed in our accounts, for two Marsham street the estimated outturn figure for financial year 2008-09 was in the order of £450,000.

Departmental Publicity

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much his Department has spent on (a) Ministerial photoshoots and (b) production of videos in which Ministers appear in the last three years for which figures are available. [305519]

Alan Johnson: Information relating to costs to the Department on (a) ministerial photoshoots and (b) production of videos in which Ministers appear in the last three years could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Security

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many security passes his Department has issued to contractors providing consultancy services in the last 12 months. [303944]

Mr. Woolas: It is not possible to provide detailed figures for security passes issued by the Home Office to contractors providing consultancy services over the past 12 months for the following reasons:

> The security pass database is regularly refreshed and details of expired passes issued are not retained.
> Application forms and pass records for contractors passes do not differentiate between the type of contractor and it is not therefore possible to distinguish from records which of those contractors were providing consultancy services and those that were delivering non-consultancy services (e.g. catering).

Departmental Taxis

Ian Stewart: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what contracts his Department has with private hire taxi companies; and what expenditure his Department has incurred against each such contract in each of the last three years. [300829]

Mr. Woolas: The Home Department held a contract with Black Cabs/Radio Taxi/A2B Radio Cars/Matrix which expired in November 2008. The Department currently has an agreement with the Government Car and Despatch Agency's Green Car service for the provision of cars and drivers. Available expenditure data are as follows:

| | | £ |
|---|---|---|
| | Taxi company | |
| Financial year | Black Cabs/Radio Taxi/A2B Radio Cars/Matrix | GCDA's Green Cars |
| 2007-08 | 257,000 | [1]— |
| 2008-09 | 259,000 | 115,000 |
| 2009 (April to September) | [2]— | 191,000 |

[1] Only available at disproportionate cost.

[2] Contract expired.

Departmental Telephone Services

Mark Lazarowicz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many telephone lines with the prefix (a) 0870, (b) 0845 and (c) 0800 his Department (i) operates and (ii) sponsors; how many calls were received to each number in the last 12 months; and whether alternative numbers charged at the BT local rate are available in each case. [305206]

Mr. Woolas: A number of Home Office business areas operate directly, fund or contribute to the running of telephone lines using 0870, 0845 and 0800 numbers via third sector partners and external groups.

Details of the operation of these telephone lines are not kept centrally. It is therefore not possible to provide information requested about the number of calls received in the last 12 months.

A breakdown of telephone lines is as follows:

Home Office headquarters

Home Office headquarters does not operate any telephone lines directly.

Identity and Passport Service

There are currently five Identity and Passport Service (IPS) telephone lines which all use 0300 numbers.

UK Border Agency

The UK Border Agency has a total of 12 telephone lines, six of which operate on 0870, 0845 or 0800 and the remaining six operate on local or 0300 numbers.

Criminal Records Bureau

The Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) has six telephone lines which use 0870 numbers.

The Home Office has undergone an exercise to rationalise its telephone line numbers. Many of its current telephone lines use the 03 prefix where the cost of the call, including those made from a mobile phone, is the same as a standard landline with an 01 or 02 code but not linked to a specific geographic area.

Until January 2009, all calls to 0845 numbers were charged at the local rate by all providers. BT announced that calls from BT lines to these numbers are now free. Ofcom has also ruled that from one August 2009 the cost of 0870 must be the same as an 0300 call.

Departmental Training

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the (a) date, (b) location and (c) cost was of each of the last four away days held by his Department's Departmental Board. [305464]

Meg Hillier: The date, location and cost of the last four Home Office Board away days are listed in the following table.

| | Location | Total cost[1] (£) | Number of attendees | Cost per head (£) |

| 27 March 2009 | Bramshill Police Training Centre, Surrey[2] | [3]3,409.31 | 13 | 262.25 |

[1] Costs include hire of room, facilities and refreshments throughout the day.

[2] Bramshill Police Training Centre is owned and operated by National Policing Improvement Agency (NPIA) which is funded by the Home Office. Therefore, this figure represents the internal cross-charging for the use of our own facilities.

[3] This away day included an overnight stay for all attendees.

Deportation

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the cost to the public purse has been of legal proceedings relating to the deportation of foreign nationals in each year since 1997. [305466]

Mr. Woolas: The information requested is not centrally collated and could be obtained only by examination of individual case files which would incur a disproportionate cost.

The type of legal costs incurred by the UK Border Agency in pursuing the deportation of foreign national offenders are those associated with judicial reviews, private law claims and the cost of defending deportation decisions before the Asylum and Immigration Tribunal and the High Court.

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 30 November 2009, Official Report, column 474W, on deportation, from what budget the cost of legal proceedings relating to the deportation of foreign nationals on grounds of national security are met; and how much such proceedings have cost in each year since 1997. [305479]

Mr. Woolas: The cost of the legal proceedings relating to the deportation of foreign nationals on grounds of national security are met from either the Special Cases Directorate of the UK Border Agency or from the Office for Security and Counter Terrorism based in the Home Office (or from another directorate of UK Border Agency which may have an interest).

With regard to the cost of proceedings in each year since 1997, the information requested is not centrally collated and could be obtained only by examination of individual case files which would incur a disproportionate cost.

The type of legal costs incurred by the UK Border Agency in pursuing the deportation of foreign national offenders are those associated with judicial reviews, private law claims and the cost of defending deportation decisions before the Asylum and Immigration Tribunal and the High Court.

Entry Clearances: Iran

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many visas were issued to Iranian nationals by posts in (a) Dubai and (b) Tehran in each of the last 10 years. [304654]

Mr. Woolas: The number of visas issued to Iranian nationals in (a) Dubai and (b) Tehran in each year since 2004 is shown in the following table. UKBA does not hold data prior to 2004.

| Report year | Nationality | Post Name | Issued |

Entry Clearances: Pakistan

Fiona Mactaggart: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many applicants resident in Pakistan who were granted entry clearance to the UK following an appeal have been waiting for over two months for a visa to be issued. [304957]

(2) what the longest period has been for which a visa applicant in Pakistan has waited for a visa to be issued following a decision on appeal in the last three months. [304958]

Mr. Woolas: The information requested is not available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

UKBA staff aim to process allowed appeals within eight weeks of receiving notification of the appeal outcome. There have, however, been delays in processing allowed appeals in Pakistan in recent months. UKBA sent additional staff to Pakistan in September. They have now contacted almost all successful applicants to process their visas.

Entry Clearances: Republic of Ireland

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what discussions (a) Ministers and (b) officials in his Department have had with their counterparts in the Irish Republic on the implications for the UK of the varying visa requirements of the UK and Irish jurisdictions in the last three years; and if he will make a statement. [304490]

Mr. Woolas: We have been working closely with the Government of the Republic of Ireland to strengthen the common travel area (CTA) for a significant period of time and remain committed to building on that relationship in the future.

No discussions have taken place between Ministers on the differing visa regimes of the UK and the Republic of Ireland. However, officials regularly meet through the bilateral Immigration and Counter Terrorism Group. This allows the two governments to explore and mitigate abuse of the immigration and asylum systems within the CTA. These meetings include discussions on the visa requirements.

We continue to work in partnership with the Republic of Ireland to explore ways of aligning our respective visa regimes and further increase cooperation in the field of visa regimes in the future.

Entry Clearances: Skilled Workers

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what recent assessment he has made of the effects of migrants in meeting the skills requirements of the economy; [300490]

(2) what research his Department has undertaken on the contribution of migrants to reducing skills deficits in the UK. [301399]

Mr. Woolas: The Migration Advisory Committee (MAC) is commissioned by the Government to recommend shortage occupation lists for the UK and Scotland. Recommended lists were published in September 2008, April 2009 and October 2009. The next update is scheduled for spring 2010. In its reviews the MAC considers the contribution migration makes to filling skilled labour shortages and meeting the skills needs of the economy.

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many economic migrants of each profession came to the UK from each country in South America, Central America and Europe in each year since 2006. [305768]

Mr. Woolas: Information on the profession of migrants entering the United Kingdom is not available.

However, statistics on passengers entering the United Kingdom by purpose of journey and country of nationality are published annually in the Home Office publications "Control of Immigration: Statistics United Kingdom" which are available from the library of the House and from the Home Office Research, Development and Statistics website at

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/immigration-asylum-stats.html

The statistics can be found in supplementary table 1a in the 2008 edition and in table 2.3 in the 2006 and 2007 editions.

Fraud: Internet

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent steps his Department has taken to reduce the incidence of internet fraud. [305102]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The Government are determined to tackle the problem of fraud, and it has signalled its commitment to tackling fraud with the allocation of £29 million in new money over three years to implement the National Fraud Programme. The National Fraud Authority (NFA) published the first National Fraud Strategy in March and will drive forward a comprehensive strategy for tackling fraud, bringing together the Government, criminal justice practitioners, business and the public. The funding also enabled the establishment of a National Fraud Reporting Centre (NFRC) which will provide a reporting mechanism for individuals and small businesses to report fraud where no other law enforcement or regulatory reporting mechanism exists. The National Fraud Intelligence Bureau (NFIB), which is linked to the NFRC, will develop intelligence from these reports, and pass it to law enforcement agencies. The intelligence gathered will also help form the basis of better prevention advice and alerts to fraud threats for business and the public.

In addition to the funding for the National Fraud Programme the Government are providing £3.5 million over three years to create the Police Central e-crime Unit (PCeU).

This will provide support to the Police Service in developing a structured response to online crime, and its initial focus will be on the area of fraud-related electronic crime, working with the NFRC to develop a response to reports on such matters.

Human Trafficking

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how often the Inter-Departmental Ministerial Group has met since the implementation of the Council of Europe Convention on Action against Trafficking in Human Beings. [306508]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 14 December 2009]: It has met once since the convention came into force on one April 2009.

Immigration

Dr. Evan Harris: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many and what proportion of applications for a residence card as the spouse of an EEA national had been decided within six months on the latest date for which figures are available on his Department's website. [303650]

Mr. Woolas: This information is not available as the UK Border Agency's Case information database records all family members of EEA nationals who apply for residence cards in one category (EEA2).

Immigration: Children

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many children aged (a) 17 years, (b) between 12 and 16 years, (c) between five and 11 years and (d) under five years who have been detained under immigration rules have (i) absconded and (ii) attempted to abscond from detention in each of the last 12 years. [302958]

Alan Johnson: There has been one escape by a minor aged 14 years of age from Oakington Immigration Removal Centre in 2004.

Internet

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 30 November 2009, Official Report, column 489W, on the internet, if he will issue guidance on the application of the (a) Privacy and Electronic Communications (EC Directive) Regulations 2003 and (b) Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 to trials of the CView Deep Packet Inspection technology developed by Detica. [306650]

Mr. Hanson [holding answer 14 December 2009]: I have no plans to issue guidance in respect of deep packet inspection generally or specifically in respect of the use of a particular product. It is for the users of such equipment to ensure that the way in which it is used is in accordance with the law as set out in the Privacy and Electronic Communications (EC Directive) Regulations 2003 and the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 or any other relevant legislation.

Internet: Advertising

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps his Department is taking to regulate online advertising. [306326]

Mr. Simon: I have been asked to reply.

All advertising in paid for space in the UK, including online advertising, is strictly controlled through a system of co-regulation and self-regulation, which is administered by the Advertising Standards Authority (ASA). This regulatory system is independent of Government and is ultimately responsible for setting the standards for all advertising.

The bodies responsible for writing and maintaining the advertising codes, the Committee of Advertising Practice (CAP) and the Broadcast Committee of Advertising Practice (BCAP), are currently finalising a full review of all the advertising codes to ensure they remain up-to-date.

In addition to this work, the industry has also been considering the extent of new media regulation, particularly in the light of the recommendations set out in the Byron Review—"Safer Children in a Digital World". The review recommended industry take steps to 'future proof' the current system for advertising regulation, taking account of new forms of online advertising outside the remit of the existing regulatory system.

It is anticipated that the new advertising codes and the industry's proposals to extend the scope of regulation to areas of new media marketing, will be published in the first quarter of 2010.

National Policing Improvement Agency: Public Relations

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much the National Policing Improvement Agency has spent on advertising and marketing in each of the last five years. [306358]

Alan Johnson: The National Policing Improvement Agency (NPIA) was established on 1 April 2007. The expenditure of the NPIA Marketing team for the past two years was:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 1,399,000 |
| 2008-09 | 1,074,000 |
| 2009-10 (forecasted outturn) | 1,071,000 |

Passports

Repatriation

Dr. Pugh: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much has been paid under the Facilitated Returns Scheme in each year since its inception. [303326]

Mr. Woolas: The chief executive of the UK Border Agency will provide this information to the Home Affairs Committee when she writes in January 2010 as the information is not yet available.

Serious Organised Crime Agency: Manpower

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many officers from regional crime squads have been transferred to the Serious and Organised Crime Agency in each of the last three years; [306392]

(2) how many officers of the Serious Organised Crime Agency were attached to regional crime squads on 1 December 2009. [306393]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Regional Crime Squads ceased to exist in 1998, when the Police Act 1997 amalgamated them to form the National Crime Squad. As a result of the Serious Organised Crime and Police Act 2005, the National Crime Squad (NCS) and its service authority ceased to exist. 1,875 NCS staff (including 1,070 former police officers) transferred into the Serious Organised Crime Agency on 1 April 2006.

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many warranted officers of the Serious Organised Crime Agency were based (a) in the UK and (b) overseas on 1 December 2009. [306626]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Officers in the Serious Organised Crime Agency are not designated as warranted. They are designated as having the powers of a police officer, an immigration officer or the customs powers of revenue and customs. As of 1 December 2009, 1,570 SOCA officers were designated with these powers; 88 of these officers are based overseas.

Sexual Offences

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent assessment he has made of the effect on victims of a serious sexual offence of the decision not to introduce national indicator 26, specialist support to victims of a serious sexual offence. [301708]

Mr. Alan Campbell: National Indicator (NI) 26 was deferred in 2009-10 to allow time for more development work on the indicator's definition and measurement processes.

During this deferred period, NI26 is being piloted in the three areas in the South West that had included NI 26 in their LAA (Bristol, Cornwall and Plymouth). A fourth area, Thurrock in Essex, had adopted this indicator as a local target and is also included in the pilot scheme.

The significance of including this indicator in the National Indicator Set (NIS) was to highlight the issue of sexual violence, and the need to provide support services, as an important local issue. We are continuing to work towards achieving this through our commitment in the recently published Violence Against Women and Girls (VAWG) Strategy to develop a comprehensive National Indicator relevant to all VAWG and to mainstream VAWG into other relevant national indicators where possible, while working to encourage more Local Strategic Partnerships to prioritise the issue.

Shoplifting

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people were reported to police on suspicion of shoplifting offences in (a) each division in Cambridgeshire and (b) England in each of the last 10 years. [306353]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The available data relate to shoplifting offences recorded by the police in England and in each Basic Command Unit (BCU) in Cambridgeshire.

UK Border Agency

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department from which 50 parliamentary constituencies, listed from highest to lowest, the UK Border Agency received the highest number of enquiries regarding (a) legacy migration cases, (b) non-legacy migration cases and (c) out-of-country visa applications in each of the last four years. [300997]

Mr. Woolas: The information requested is not available in the format required and could be obtained only by the detailed examination of individual records at disproportionate cost.

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the (a) budget and (b) outturn of the UK Border Agency was in respect of IT in 2008-09. [301242]

Mr. Woolas: The information requested is as follows:

(a) The resource and capital budgets for IT for UK Border Agency for the FY 2008-09 was £260 million including projects and programmes.

(b) The resource and capital outturn for IT for UK Border Agency for the FY 2008-09 was £227 million including projects and programmes.

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much the UK Border Agency (a) budgeted for and (b) spent on information technology in (i) 2008 and (ii) 2009. [303823]

Mr. Woolas: I am unable to provide the figures for the calendar years 2008 and 2009 as the accounts operate on a fiscal financial year basis.

Victim Support Schemes: Sexual Offences

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent assessment he has made of the outcomes of the pilot of national indicator 26, Specialist support to victims of a serious sexual offence. [301804]

Mr. Alan Campbell: A pilot of National Indicator 26 commenced in April 2009. Once we have made an assessment of the outcomes of the pilot, during 2010-11, this information will inform the refresh of the National Indicator Set for the next local area agreement period.

West Yorkshire Police

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people were employed in (a) armed response units and (b) specialist firearms officers teams in West Yorkshire regional police forces in each year since 1997. [306928]

Mr. Hanson: The information is as follows.

(a) While both data on the number of officers whose primary function is listed as "response" and the number authorised to use firearms is collected centrally, data on armed response units specifically are not collected centrally.

(b) The number of officers whose primary function is listed as "firearms—tactical" is restricted from the public domain following consultation with Association of Chief Police Officers. Under the Freedom of Information Act 2005, information can be withheld where disclosure would, or would be likely to, prejudice the prevention or detection of crime.

Work Permits

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many work visas have been issued to recipients with each level of qualification in each of the last five years. [305247]

Mr. Woolas: The information is not centrally recorded and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Carbon Emissions

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what proportion of (a) UK and (b) global carbon dioxide emissions were attributable to (i) aircraft, (ii) ships and (iii) cars in the latest period for which figures are available. [306921]

Joan Ruddock: Estimates of UK greenhouse gas emissions for 2007 were published on 3 February 2009.

The proportion of UK carbon dioxide emissions arising from (i) domestic aviation, (ii) shipping and (iii) cars in each of the last 10 years, are shown in the following table. These percentages are calculated on an 'End User' basis.

Contribution of specified transport categories towards total emissions of carbon dioxide, 1998-2007, by end-user

| Gas/Sector | 1998 | 1999 | 2000 | 2001 | 2002 | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | Percentage 2007 |

Climate Change: Publicity

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many visitors have visited the Act on CO2 website. [304034]

Joan Ruddock: From 17 September 2008 to 3 December 2009 there have been 1,106,253 unique visitors to the ACT ON $CO_2$ website.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many external consultants work for his Department. [303229]

Joan Ruddock: DECC currently has 135 external consultants.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many staff of his Department were in its redeployment pool on 1 (a) January, (b) April, (c) July and (d) October 2009. [306709]

Joan Ruddock: The Department of Energy and Climate Change was created on 3 October 2008. There were no staff in the redeployment pool in January, April or July 2009. On 1 October 2009, there were five individuals on DECC's re-deployment register.

Driving

Dr. Ladyman: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what mechanisms are in place to ensure that staff who drive (a) a vehicle for which his Department is responsible have valid driving licences and (b) their own vehicles in the course of their official duties have valid driving licences and insurance; what guidance is issued to those staff in respect of road safety while carrying out official duties; what steps are taken to monitor compliance with that guidance; what requirements there are on such staff to report to their line managers accidents in which they are involved while driving in the course of their official duties; and whether such reports are investigated. [302174]

Joan Ruddock: DECC's own policies for travel and use of vehicles are currently still under development. In the interim, DECC staff refer to legacy policies from their 'parent' Departments, BIS and DEFRA. DECC does not own a fleet of vehicles for use by staff but staff may continue to be covered by arrangements from 'parent' Departments. A summary of these are outlined as follows.

Procedure for BIS staff

(a) BIS lease vehicles: BIS has access fo a small number of vehicles (approx. five) which can be leased by staff from contracted providers. Procedures followed by staff and their managers (e.g. on driving licences, insurance etc.) comply with requirements from the individual contracted provider.

(b) Own car for business use/car hire: It is the responsibility of the driver to ensure that they have a current licence which covers the car being driven and adequate insurance to provide cover for business use. Before using their own vehicle for business use, staff must obtain prior approval from their line manager. For staff using hire cars for departmental business, line managers must ensure that the driver:

has no more than six penalty points on their driving licence; has not been disqualified from driving in the last three years;

has had no more than two 'at fault' accidents in the last 12 months;

Line managers should examine at least annually the driving licences of all staff that drive Department provided hired cars.

The guidance also reminds staff to ensure that they follow all advice, guidance and legislation relating to road safety—and that they will have to pay any fines incurred as a result of any driving offence (e.g. speeding, parking, failure to pay congestion charge).

Procedure for DEFRA staff

(a) DEFRA 'pool' of vehicles: to use a vehicle from the DEFRA pool, staff must obtain a valid driving permit. This can be obtained by faxing a copy of a current driving licence, which must be counter signed by their line manager, to the regional official vehicle manager.

(b) Own car for business use/car hire: Staff may only consider the use of a private vehicle if the journey is under 85 miles (unless a director signs off the use of a private vehicle and produces a business case). Staff are responsible for ensuring adequate insurance cover is held and no specific check of driving licences is made. For car hire, drivers must be 21 or over and have held a full licence for at least 12 months. Driving licences must not contain any endorsements for theft of vehicle or taking without consent. Line managers must ensure that drivers are eligible to drive by checking the driving licence before the first hire and thereafter on a six monthly basis. Drivers are also required to show their licence to the hire firm representative when the vehicle is delivered.

DEFRA also promotes safe driving by publishing Eco driving techniques on the intranet. Eco driving techniques have been shown to reduce collisions and driver stress.

Staff driving hire vehicles are required to report any accident as soon as they are able to the vehicle supplier. BIS staff are required to also report the accident to their line manager and the travel and subsistence policy unit. DEFRA staff also report the accident to the travel policy unit and the departmental health and safety unit. Road traffic accidents involving the individual's vehicle are not reportable under RIDDOR (Reporting of Injuries, Diseases and Dangerous Occurrences Regulations 1995).

Electricity

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the comparative average costs are of transmitting electricity to London from (a) Scotland and (b) Northern Ireland. [305737]

Mr. Kidney: In 2008 the average cost per megawatt hour of transmitting electricity to London was £3.33 from Scotland, £5.48 from Northern Ireland.

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what assessment has been made of the merits of changes to the transmission charging methodology in order to vary charges according to the load factors of a plant. [305738]

Mr. Kidney: National Grid are currently exploring the merits of the inclusion of load factors and other information in calculating transmission charges and if so how such a model could be implemented.

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change whether he has made an assessment of the merits of introducing incentives for pumped electricity storage in Scotland. [305739]

Mr. Kidney: The Department has made no assessment of the merits of introducing incentives for pumped storage electricity storage in Scotland.

Energy Efficiency Schemes

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he made of the number of households likely to receive assistance under his Department's energy efficiency schemes at the commencement of each such scheme. [307273]

Joan Ruddock: The Carbon Emissions Reduction Target (CERT is a market mechanism and suppliers are free to meet it through various approved measures. The numbers of households benefiting will therefore depend on both supplier actions, supply chain constraints, consumer demand and a range of other variables. Ofgem track supplier performance against targets, and report CERT delivery on a quarterly basis; their latest report shows that over 1.5 million insulation measures and 170 million high efficiency lights have been delivered in the period April 2008-June 2009.

Figures for the Community Energy Saving Programme (CESP) only commenced in September 2009. It is estimated that 90,000 households will benefit.

The total number assisted by the Warm Front scheme since its inception in June 2000 is, 2.1 million households.

Energy Supply

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what steps the Government are taking to encourage energy suppliers to assist their customers in avoiding arrears. [304496]

Mr. Kidney: The Government are keen to see that suppliers take a fair approach to debt management. Ofgem already publishes guidelines that set minimum standards for suppliers on debt and disconnection issues, including avoiding arrears.

Ofgem and Consumer Focus are currently carrying out a joint review looking at these issues. The review report will be published in the New Year.

Fuel Poverty: Pensioners

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will assess the susceptibility to fuel poverty of pensioners in sheltered housing accommodation. [305990]

Mr. Kidney: Fuel poverty is not measured for pensioners living in sheltered accommodation. To assess the susceptibility to fuel poverty of pensioners in sheltered housing would be particularly difficult. Firstly, the English Housing Survey, used as the main source for the fuel poverty calculation, is a survey of domestic households and does not cover most forms of sheltered housing. In addition, the concept of fuel poverty, defined as needing to spend more than 10 per cent. of income on energy to achieve the "adequate standard of warmth" would be difficult to interpret for those living in such shared accommodation, because rent, or residential fees, typically cover all forms of utilities as part of the sheltered accommodation.

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change (1) pursuant to the answer of 2 December 2009, Official Report, columns 819-20W, on fuel poverty: pensioners, what proportion of pensioner households in each local authority area were in fuel poverty (a) in 2003 and (b) at the latest date for which information if available; [307603]

(2) what proportion of pensioner households in each parliamentary constituency were in fuel poverty (a) in 2003 and (b) at the latest date for which information if available. [307604]

Mr. Kidney: Modelled levels of fuel poverty at sub regional level are not split by age group or any other form of demographic.

Gilmerton Core Store

Nigel Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change on what date in 2005 ownership of the Gilmerton Core Store was transferred from the Department of Trade and Industry to his Department. [305809]

Joan Ruddock [holding answer 14 December 2009]: There has been no change of ownership. The Gilmerton Core Store freehold continues to be under the ownership of the Department for Business Innovation and Skills.

Innovation Investment Fund and Carbon Trust's Venture Capital Scheme

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change pursuant to the statement of 9 December 2009, Official Report, columns 359-71, on the Pre-Budget Report, what criteria apply in respect of eligibility for financial support from the (a) Innovation Investment Fund and (b) Carbon Trust's Venture Capital Scheme; and for what time period these schemes will remain open to applications. [307625]

Joan Ruddock: The UK Innovation Investment Fund will operate on a Fund of Funds structure which means it will not invest directly in companies, but rather invest in a small number of specialist technology funds that have the expertise and track record to invest directly in companies. Investments in individual companies will ultimately be a commercial decision for the underlying fund manager based solely on the quality of the investment opportunity and the fund's investment strategy. First closing is expected to be in January 2010 with final closing following in 12 to 18 months. However, the funds invested in are likely to continue to invest in individual companies over a number of years.

The Carbon Trust (CT) have informed me that all investment proposals for the CT Venture Capital Scheme must clearly demonstrate how the investment will lead to material $CO_2$ emissions savings while also generating a commercial return. In addition, applicants should address the following:

Financial Position—The business plan must be accompanied by a financial outline that allows for a detailed appraisal of the organisation's economic viability.

Management Experience—Teams should demonstrate any relevant sector experience combined with the ambition to turn their business plans into reality.

Market Assessment—The business plan should detail what the key commercial market is and the critical market drivers.

Competitive Advantage—The business proposition should demonstrate a clear competitive advantage with respect to a specific need or market demand.

Other Funding—As Carbon Trust investments will only invest up to 50 per cent. in any one transaction, other private investors must be identified.

Technical and Innovation Evidence—The business plan will need to demonstrate innovation either through a step-change in technology design or in the application of a technology process.

Confirmation of Intellectual Property Protection—What intellectual property rights (IPR) already exist prior to the investment, and how any IPR arising during the investment will be protected and exploited.

All investments need to be UK-based.

The Carbon Trust fund remains open for the foreseeable future.

Nuclear Power

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change when his Department issued a notice to tender for the contract to prepare an appraisal of sustainability of the draft nuclear national policy statement; which companies made bids; by what criteria contractors were selected; what the total monetary value of the contracts was; and what assessment he made of the expertise of the contractors selected. [305329]

Mr. Kidney: The Department issued an invitation to tender on 21 August 2008 through the Office for Government Commerce.

Four companies bid for the contract—Drivers Jonas LLP, MWH UK Ltd. (with Enfusion Ltd.), Serco and URS Corporation. The companies who bid also indicated that they could draw upon the expertise of other organisations if required. The contractors were selected against criteria of value for money, and relevant experience and expertise in environmental and sustainability assessment, including strategic environmental assessment.

The Department has paid approximately £740,000 for work relating to the appraisal of sustainability. This includes:

Appraisal of sustainability main report;

11 appraisal of sustainability site reports—one for each nominated site;

Three additional appraisal of sustainability site reports—one for each site identified by the alternative sites study;

Ancillary documents such as technical appendices.

An environmental policy official was involved in the interview process and the selected contractor was judged to have the necessary expertise to prepare the appraisal of sustainability.

Nuclear Power Stations: Oldbury

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what additional infrastructure will be required to connect the proposed new nuclear power station at Oldbury to the National Grid; where it will connect to the National Grid; and if he will make a statement. [306662]

Mr. Kidney [holding answer 10 December 2009]: The connection of individual power stations to the electricity transmission system is a matter for the relevant developer and National Grid in its role as system operator for the GB transmission system. Contractual connection agreements between the relevant developer and National Grid will establish, amongst other things, what infrastructure is required and what the potential routes for that infrastructure might be.

Opinion Leader Research

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much his Department has paid to Opinion Leader Research since its establishment. [305237]

Joan Ruddock: The Department of Energy and Climate Change has not paid anything to Opinion Leader Research since its establishment.

Power Failures

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what recent discussions his Department has had with (a) Ofgem, (b) EDF Energy and (c) the Energy Ombudsman on the power cuts at Dartford Creek cable bridge on 20 July 2009. [306560]

Mr. Kidney: In October 2009 officials from the Department discussed the progress of their Interruption Incentive Scheme Audit with Ofgem and had further discussions with EDF Energy on the incident, recovery and follow up. No discussions have taken place with the energy ombudsman regarding this incident.

Renewable Energy

Mr. Grogan: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what plans he has to offer to other renewable technology projects the same grandfathering principles it is proposed to apply to offshore wind projects. [307614]

Mr. Kidney: Support under the Renewables Obligation is grandfathered at point of accreditation for all technologies except biomass.

The "Government Response to the Statutory Consultation on the Renewables Obligation Order 2009", published in December 2008 set out our decision not to grandfather existing biomass and waste plants following evidence from the biomass industry:

> "that grandfathering existing stations at 1 ROC/MWh while banding up new stations would be detrimental to a competitive market for the fuel stock."

We are currently carrying out work with the Renewables Advisory Board, the Renewable Energy Association and biomass stakeholders to assess whether moves in biomass fuel prices might warrant such action at the next banding review starting October 2010.

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change pursuant to the statement of 9 December 2009, Official Report, columns 359-71, on Pre-Budget Report how many households he expects to install (a) micro wind turbines and (b) solar panels. [307623]

Mr. Kidney: Based on the tariffs proposed in the Renewable Electricity Financial Incentives Consultation, our modelling suggests that by 2020 there will be approximately 20,000 small scale domestic wind turbines and 800,000 domestic scale solar photo voltaic (PV) installations.

These projections are based on modelling which relies on a number of assumptions which in reality will be uncertain. Therefore actual installation numbers may differ from projected installation numbers.

Renewable Energy: EU Law

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what recent discussions his Department has had with the European Commission on ensuring that the transmission charging methodology in the UK is in line with the EU Renewables Directive. [305735]

Mr. Kidney: My officials recently responded to a European Commission request for a paper explaining how the transmission charging methodology in the UK is compliant with the renewables directive. Officials also attended a hearing at the European Parliament on 1 December at which the Commission was represented. The Commission agreed with our conclusion that the methodology is compliant with the directive.

Sellafield

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change with reference to the answer of 12 October 2009, Official Report, column 490W, on Sellafield, if he will place in the Library a copy of the report from Sellafield Ltd regarding the contamination event which took place on 20 June 2008. [303510]

Mr. Kidney: Yes. The report is Sellafield Ltd's own document and certain information is being withheld at the company's request to ensure site security, and to protect personal identities and commercial interests.

Wind Power

Mr. Brazier: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what discussions his Department has had with (a) Vattenfall, (b) London Array Ltd. and (c) the Port of Ramsgate on the suitability of the local workforce for maintenance and support operations for Thanet Offshore and the London Array windfarms. [305097]

Mr. Kidney: The Department has not had any discussions with (a) Vattenfall (b) London Array Ltd. or (c) the Port of Ramsgate regarding the suitability of the local workforce for maintenance and support operations for the Thanet and the London Array offshore wind farms as this is a matter for the market.

The Government are supporting the development of the appropriate skills on a nationwide basis through the Sector Skills Councils and through providing support for the National Skills Academy for Power. We are also working with the British Wind Energy Association (BWEA) to develop a skills strategy for the sector. As part of this, the BWEA is developing a programme of apprentice training for the start of the next academic year which will provide training for a new generation of turbine technicians.

Mr. Brazier: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what assessment his Department has made of the potential employment opportunities represented by the maintenance and operation of Thanet Offshore and the London Array windfarms when completed; and what steps he has taken to put in place training arrangements for the local community to provide skills relevant to employment in windfarms. [305098]

Mr. Kidney: The Department has not made any assessment of the potential employment opportunities represented by the maintenance and operation of the Thanet and London Array offshore wind farms when completed.

We have not put in place training for the local community to provide skills relevant to employment in wind farms as this is a matter for the market. I refer my hon. Friend to my answer today to parliamentary question number 305097 in respect of action that the Government are taking to support the development of these skills on a nationwide basis.

CABINET OFFICE

Charity Commission: Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Charity Commission's buildings attended by civil servants in the Charity Commission there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307465]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the Charity Commission. I have asked the commission to reply.

Letter from Andrew Hind, dated 14 December 2009:

As the Chief Executive of the Charity Commission, I have been asked to respond to your written Parliamentary Question on how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Charity Commission's buildings attended by civil servants in the Charity Commission there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each (307465).

Our expenditure on conferences and away days for each financial year is set out below:

| | Conferences | Away days |
|---|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 88,681 | 27,639 |
| 2006-07 | 45,930 | 38,465 |
| 2007-08 | 55,247 | 47,387 |
| 2008-09 | 118,328 | 78,562 |

A proportion of expenditure on conferences is spent on our staff attending external conferences for professional development purposes. It is important to note that the conferences hosted by the Commission are attended by charity sector representatives to enhance the quality of governance across the charity sector. We do not have access to detailed data on attendance.

Generally, away days are attended by Charity Commission staff for training and strategic development purposes, with the occasional guest speaker who may be a civil servant. We do not hold data on the number of events held each year because these often occur at a divisional team level and budgetary control is exercised on the cost, not the volume of occurrence.

I hope this is helpful.

Charity Commission: Operating Costs

Mr. Leech: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what the cost of running the Charities Commission was (a) in the 12 months before the introduction of the Charities Act 2006 and (b) in the last 12 months; and what the projected costs to the Commission of implementing and enforcing compliance with the Act will be in the next 12 months. [307437]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the Charity Commission. I have asked the Commission to reply.

Letter from Andrew Hind, dated 14 December 2009:

As the Chief Executive of the Charity Commission, I have been asked to respond to your written Parliamentary Question on what the cost of running the Charity Commission was (a) in the 12 months before the introduction of the Charities Act 2006 and (b) in the last 12 months; and what the projected costs to the Commission of implementing and enforcing compliance with the Act will be in the next 12 months (307437).

The Charities Act 2006 received Royal Assent on 8 November 2006, although the introduction of many of its provisions has been spread over a series of Commencement Orders between February 2007 and January 2009. Several provisions of the Act have not yet been introduced and the timing and detail of these provisions have yet to be agreed and will go beyond 2010/11.

The Act places a number of statutory objectives on the Commission and our whole budget is, effectively, devoted to meeting these objectives:

(a) The total cost of running the Charity Commission in the year before the Royal Assent was received (2005/06) was £31.6m.

(b) The total cost of running the Charity Commission last year (2008/09) was £31.8m.

(c) The total cost of running the Charity Commission this year (2009/10) is forecast to be £30.9m.

(d) The Charity Commission's funding baseline for 2010/11 is £29.5m.

The overall regulatory nature of the Charity Commission's responsibilities means that it is not possible to differentiate between future costs relating purely to the provisions of the 2006 Act and other more general duties.

I hope this is helpful.

Death: Dietary Supplements

Lembit Öpik: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many deaths attributable to the use of food supplements were recorded in each of the last 10 years; and if she will make a statement. [307120]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many deaths attributable to the use of food supplements were recorded in each of the last 10 years. (307120)

The information requested is not available. The accurate reporting of deaths by specific causes depends on the complete recording of all relevant causes of death by medical practitioners and coroners. Medical practitioners are required to complete the Medical Certificate of Cause of Death (MCCD) to the best of their knowledge and belief. Internationally accepted guidance from the World Health Organisation requires only those conditions that contributed directly to death to be recorded. The MCCD is not designed to collect information on possible risk factors or exposures related to the development of disease.

ONS reports on mortality figures by cause using the International Classification of Diseases (ICD). There are no ICD codes for adverse reactions to food supplements.

Death: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what the main causes of death were for (a) men and (b) women living in Leeds, West constituency in each of the last 10 years. [306991]

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

Death: Pressure Sores

Anne Milton: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many death certificates included the words pressure sores in each of the last two years. [307727]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many death certificates included the words 'pressure sores' in each of the last two years. (307727)

The number of deaths where pressure ulcer was mentioned on the death certificate, in England and Wales, was 1045 in 2007 and 970 in 2008 (the latest year available).[1, 2, 3]

[1] Cause of death was defined using the International Classification of Diseases, Tenth Revision (ICD-10) code L89 (Decubitus ulcer, bedsore, plaster ulcer or pressure ulcer) where it appeared anywhere on the death certificate.

[2] Figures for England and Wales include deaths of non-residents.

[3] Figures are based on deaths registered in each calendar year.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much (a) her Department and (b) its agency spent on (i) alcohol and (ii) entertainment in the last 12 months. [305544]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested is not held centrally by the Cabinet Office and therefore is available only at disproportionate cost. Any expenditure on alcohol and entertainment is included in the Department's hospitality budget and is made in accordance with published departmental guidance on financial procedures and propriety, based on principles set out in "Managing Public Money" and the Treasury handbook on "Regularity and Propriety".

Departmental Publicity

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much her Department has spent on (a) Ministerial photoshoots and (b) production of videos in which (i) the Prime Minister and (ii) other Ministers appear in the last three years for which figures are available. [305523]

Angela E. Smith: This information could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Diseases: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what the (a) diagnosis and (b) mortality rate was for (i) chronic lung disease, (ii) coronary heart disease and (iii) cancer in Leeds, West constituency in each of the last 15 years. [306992]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked for to reply to your recent question asking what the (a) diagnosis and (b) mortality rate was for (i) chronic lung disease, (ii) coronary heart disease and (iii) cancer in Leeds, West constituency in each of the last 15 years. (306992)

Figures on newly diagnosed cases (incidence) of chronic lung disease and coronary heart disease are not readily available. Mortality and incidence rates for parliamentary constituencies which do not share boundaries exactly with a local authority can be calculated only from 2001 onwards. The tables below provide (a) the age standardised cancer incidence rate and (b) age standardised mortality rates for (i) chronic lung disease, (ii) coronary heart disease and (iii) cancer in Leeds, West parliamentary constituency for the years 2001 to 2007 (the latest available).

Parliamentary constituency population estimates on which these rates are based are experimental statistics, that is, statistics which are in a testing or consultation phase, and therefore should be treated with caution.

Table 1: Age-standardised cancer incidence rates,[1, 2] Leeds, West parliamentary constituency,[3] 2001 to 2007[4, 5]

| 2001 | 435 |
| 2002 | 441 |
| 2003 | 409 |
| 2004 | 457 |

| 2006 | 432 |
| 2007 | 400 |

[1] Age-standardised cancer registration rates per 100,000 population, standardised to the European Standard Population. Age-standardised rates are used to allow comparison between populations which may contain different proportions of people of different ages.

[2] Cancer incidence defined using International Classification of Diseases, Tenth Revision (ICD-10) codes C00-C97 excluding code C44: non-melanoma skin cancer.

[3] Based on boundaries and postcode allocation, as of 2009.

[4] Newly diagnosed cases registered in each calendar year.

[5] Parliamentary constituency population estimates used to calculate the incidence rates are experimental statistics.

Table 2: Age standardised mortality rates for chronic lung disease, coronary heart disease and cancer,[1, 2] Leeds, West parliamentary constituency,[3] 2001 to 2007[4]

|---|---|---|---|
| 2001 | 48 | 142 | 209 |
| 2002 | 59 | 152 | 243 |
| 2003 | 59 | 130 | 219 |

| 2006 | 34 | 116 | 209 |
| 2007 | 35 | 140 | 260 |

[2] Cause of death was defined using International Classification of Diseases, Tenth Revision (ICD-10) codes J40-J47for chronic lung disease, 120-125 for coronary heart disease and C00-C97 for cancer.

[3] Based on boundaries and postcode allocation, as of 2009.

[4] Parliamentary constituency population estimates used to calculate the incidence rates are experimental statistics.

Employment: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many people are employed in (1) the service sector in Leeds; [306583]

(2) the financial sector in Leeds; [306584]

(3) commerce in each industry sector in (a) Leeds, West constituency and (b) Leeds; [306585]

(4) manufacturing in each industry sector in (a) Leeds, West constituency and (b) Leeds. [306586]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Questions asking how many people are employed in the service sector in Leeds; how many people are employed in the financial sector in Leeds; how many people are employed in commerce in each industry sector in (a) Leeds, West constituency and (b) Leeds; and how many people are employed in manufacturing in each industry sector in (a) Leeds, West constituency and (b) Leeds (306583,306584, 306585 and 306586)

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles employment statistics for local areas from the Annual Population Survey (APS) following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions. Unfortunately the sample size does not support analyses of employment by industry for the Leeds, West Constituency.

Table 1 shows the number of persons in employment by each industrial sector for persons resident in Leeds for the latest available 12 month period, ending in March 2009 from the APS.

As with any sample survey, estimates from the APS are subject to a margin of uncertainty. A guide to the quality of the estimates is given in table 1.

National and local area estimates for many labour market statistics, including employment, unemployment and claimant count are available on the NOMIS website at: http://www.nomisweb.co.uk

Guide to Quality:

The Coefficient of Variation (CV) indicates the quality of an estimate, the smaller the CV value the higher the quality. The true value is likely to lie within +/- twice the CV—for example, for an estimate of 200 with a CV of 5 per cent. we would expect the population total to be within the range 180-220

Key Coefficient of Variation (CV) (%) Statistical Robustness

* 0 = CV≤5 Estimates are considered precise

 5 = CV ≤10 Estimates are considered reasonably precise

 10 = CV ≤20 Estimates are considered acceptable

Gift Aid

Mr. Brady: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office which charities claimed more from the Exchequer in Gift Aid than the sum spent on charitable purposes in the most recent year for which figures are available. [307644]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the Charity Commission. I have asked the commission to reply.

Letter from Andrew Hind, dated 14 December 2009:

As the Chief Executive of the Charity Commission, I have been asked to respond to your written Parliamentary Question on which charities claimed more from the Exchequer in Gift Aid than the sum spent on charitable purposes in the most recent year for which figures are available (307644).

The charity accounting framework does not require charities to account for Gift Aid as a separate item and we do not hold information on Gift Aid claims or receipts.

I am sorry I am unable to provide more information in respect of this question.

National Income: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what the gross domestic product per head of the resident population in the City of Leeds was in each year since 1992. [306589]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

The Office for National Statistics publishes regional GVA rather than GDP. GVA is measured at current basic prices, which is GDP less taxes on products, plus subsidies on products. GVA by NUTS3 regions, (principally individual counties and unitary authorities) has been calculated since 1995. The latest year for which GVA is published at NUTS3 level is 2007 and the earliest is 1995.

The headline GVA estimates for the Leeds NUTS3 area, shown as £ per head figures, for the period 1995-2007, are shown in the table below:

City of Leeds

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 1995 | 12,640 |
| 1996 | 13,466 |

Population: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what forecast she has made of the population of Leeds City Council area in (a) five, (b) 10 and (c) 15 years' time. [306985]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your question about the forecast of the population of Leeds City Council in (a) five (b) ten and (c) fifteen years time [306985].

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) does not produce population forecasts.

However, ONS does produce population projections for local authorities. The subnational population projections are demographic trend-based projections that indicate what the population levels of an area are likely to be if recently observed trends in fertility, mortality and migration were to continue. They take no account of future development policies which may affect trends.

These projections are provided in Table 1 below. They are 2006-based subnational population projections which were published by the Office for National Statistics on 12 June 2008.

Table 1: Population Projections for Leeds

| | | | Thousand |
|---|---|---|---|
| Local Authority | Mid-2014 | Mid-2019 | Mid-2024 |
| Leeds | 828 | 874 | 916 |

Private Life: Bexley

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what estimate she has made of the number of (a) marriages, (b) civil partnerships and (c) divorces in the London Borough of Bexley in the most recent period for which figures are available. [306897]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking what estimate has been made of the number of (a) marriages, (b) civil partnerships and (c) divorces in the London Borough of Bexley in the most recent period for which figures are available. (306897)

Using the most recent period for which figures are available for the London Borough of Bexley, the number of marriages in 2006 was 964 and the number of civil partnerships in 2008 was 24.

Divorce statistics are based upon information supplied to ONS by the courts in England and Wales. The fact that a divorce has taken place in a court in a particular region does not mean that either one or both parties are resident there. Therefore, divorce statistics have been historically presented at a national level only.

UK Statistics Authority: Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the UK Statistics Authority's buildings attended by civil servants in the UK Statistics Authority there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307447]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many (a) away days and (b) conferences outside the UK Statistics Authority's buildings attended by civil servants in the UK. Statistics Authority there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. 307447

The requested information is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Unemployment

Mrs. May: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office (1) how many and what percentage of economically inactive working age people would like a job; and how many and what percentage of economically inactive working age people would have liked a job in each year that the relevant dataset has been produced; [307062]

(2) how many discouraged workers there are; and how many discouraged workers there were in each year that the relevant dataset has been produced. [307064]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Questions asking (i) how many and what percentage of economically inactive working age people would like a job; and how many and what percentage of economically inactive working age people would have liked a job in each year that this data set has been produced (307062); and (ii) how many discouraged workers there are; and how many discouraged workers there were in each year that this data set has been produced (307064).

Estimates of economic inactivity are available from the Labour Force Survey (LFS). In accordance with the International Labour Organization (ILO) definition, people are classed as economically inactive if they are neither in employment nor unemployed.

The table provided contains estimates of the number of economically inactive people who would like a job, that is, people who when asked, report that they would like to have a regular paid job but had neither been looking for work in the last four weeks nor waiting to take up a job already obtained. Estimates of the number of discouraged workers, those whose main reason for being economically inactive is because they believe there are no jobs available, are also included.

These estimates are published in Table 13 of the Labour Market Statistical Bulletin. The historical figures in Table 13 are published in the Labour Market Statistical Bulletin Historical Supplement which is available on the National Statistics website via the following link:

http://www.statistics.gov.uk/OnlineProducts/LMS_FR_HS.asp

[2] The number of people of working age who are inactive and are a discouraged worker divided by the number of people of working age who are economically inactive.

Note:

It should be noted that the above estimates exclude people in most types of communal establishment (e.g. hotels, boarding houses, hostels, mobile home sites etc.).

Voluntary Organisations

Jenny Willott: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office which national infrastructure voluntary organisations operate in England; in what year each started operation; and if she will make a statement. [307186]

Angela E. Smith: The Cabinet Office does not hold information on which national infrastructure voluntary organisations are operating in England. National infrastructure organisations that have charitable status are registered with the Charity Commission, and the Register of Charities is available on their website. The Office of the Third Sector is committed to investing in national and local sector support organisations that assist front-line groups, through Capacitybuilders. The Office of the Third Sector also funds a variety of national strategic partners, listed on its website, many of whom provide capacity building support, advocacy and training to the wider third sector.

PRIME MINISTER

Central Ayrshire: Visit

Q13. Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Prime Minister when he next plans to visit Central Ayrshire. [307400]

My right hon. Friend has no current plans to do so.

Cabinet: Meetings

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Prime Minister what the (a) dates, (b) locations and (c) cost to the public purse have been of each meeting of the Cabinet held outside London since 27 June 2007. [306113]

The Prime Minister: I refer the hon. Member to my answers of: 29 October 2008, Official Report, column 1017W; 29 January 2009, Official Report, column 738W; 13 March 2009, Official Report, column 802W; 18 June 2009, Official Report, column 451W; 3 June 2009, Official Report, column 487W; and 7 May 2009, Official Report, column 378W.

The Cabinet met in Cardiff on July 23 2009. This was linked with a number of ministerial visits across the region; there was a public engagement event with around 203 people which was followed by a formal Cabinet meeting The cost of the public engagement event and the Cabinet meeting was approximately £77,433.61, excluding VAT. There are no separate figures for the Cabinet meeting. The figure includes the cost of hiring the venue, catering, associated security and delegate management. In addition, Departments and agencies will have incurred costs in terms of travel, staff time and other support. The cost of any security provided by the police is a matter for the relevant police force.

The visit of the Cabinet to Nottingham was on 20 November 2009. The final cost figures for this event are not yet available.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Prime Minister when he plans to respond to question 304527, on the 2009 Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting, tabled on 1 December 2009. [307609]

| April 2009 | 84 | 100 |
| May 2009 | 75 | 97 |
| June 2009 | 67 | 75 |
| July 2009 | 47 | 96 |
| August 2009 | 54 | 98 |
| September 2009 | 61 | 95 |
| October 2009 | 72 | 96 |
| November 2009 | 44 | 98 |

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside his Department's building attended by civil servants in his Department there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307510]

Mr. Hain: The Wales Office held one away day a year from 2006 until 2008 for the whole of the office. The cost of these venues was £8,055.40 in 2006, £13,526.04 in 2007 and £4,662 in 2008. In 2009, there were two events held for Legislation Branch and for Policy Branch. There was no cost for the venue for Legislation Branch and a charge of £596.75 for the venue for Policy Branch.

Departmental Legislation

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what criminal offences have been (a) created and (b) abolished by secondary legislation sponsored by his Department since 1 May 2008. [307792]

Mr. Hain: None.

Departmental Pay

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much funding his Department has allocated for (a) year end and (b) in year bonuses for its staff in 2009-10. [307022]

Mr. Hain: My Department does not allocate a budget specifically for bonuses.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many (a) year end and (b) in-year bonuses were paid to officials in his Department in each of the last three years; and how much was paid in such bonuses in each such year. [307105]

Mr. Hain: My Department paid the following in year bonuses:

One in 2006-07, nine in 2007-08 and two in 2008-09.

We paid the following year end bonuses:

Zero in 2006-07, five in 2007-08 and one in 2008-09.

The total amount paid in each year is as follows:

£862.30 in 2006-07, £5,200 in 2007-08 and £2,050 in 2008-09.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many and what percentage of parliamentary questions tabled for written answer by his Department on a named day in session 2008-09 received a substantive answer on that day. [307550]

Mr. Hain: There were 22 named day parliamentary questions tabled for answer representing 88 per cent. which received a substantive answer.

ELECTORAL COMMISSION COMMITTEE

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the hon. Member for South West Devon, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Electoral Commission's buildings attended by civil servants in the Electoral Commission there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307469]

Mr. Streeter: The Electoral Commission informs me that to provide the information in the format requested would incur disproportionate costs. However, its expenditure on conference attendance, annual staff conferences and team development and planning days for the years requested was as follows:

| Financial year | Expenditure on conference attendance | Annual staff conference | Expenditure on team development and planning days held off site |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 30,140 | 14,060 | — |
| 2006-07 | 26,720 | 16,650 | 14,020 |
| 2007-08 | 25,330 | 22,020 | 17,770 |
| 2008-09 | 30,920 | 5,260 | 18,270 |

The expenditure on conference attendance typically covers the attendance of Commissioners and Commission staff at the following types of events:

Political Party Conferences

Local political party events

Association of Electoral Administrators conferences

Local Government Association conferences

Continuous Professional Development (CPD) conferences.

The Electoral Commission is independent of Government and its 171 staff members are not civil servants.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Environmental Protection Flood Risk Regulations 2009

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will delay the entering into force of the Environmental Protection Flood Risk Regulations 2009 due to enter into force on 10 December 2009 until (a) all interested parties have been consulted and (b) both Houses of Parliament have scrutinised the Statutory Instrument. [307383]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Government consulted on provisions to implement the EU Floods Directive in the draft Flood and Water Management Bill (Cmnd 7582) published on 21 April. We received nearly 650 responses and these are summarised on DEFRA's website and are available from the DEFRA library. The EFRA Select Committee also scrutinised the draft Bill.

Specific reference was made to the regulations in the written ministerial statement on 19 November when the Flood and Water Management Bill was introduced and the Government response (Cmnd 7741) to the EFRA Select Committee report and to the consultation was published. All interested parties, including Parliament, have had an opportunity to scrutinise our plans for transposing the directive.

Laying the regulations on the day that the Flood and Water Management Bill was introduced provided an opportunity for each to be considered in the context of the other. The regulations have been considered by the House of Lords Select Committee on the Merits of Statutory Instruments and officials provided clarification to the committee.

Fishing Catches

Mr. Benyon: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) how much in tonnes and what percentage of UK fish catch was sent abroad for processing and then returned to the UK in the latest period for which figures are available; [307499]

(2) to which countries fish catch is sent for processing before being returned to the UK; and what weight of fish was sent to each country in the latest period for which figures are available. [307638]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Information on UK imports and exports of fish are published in UK Sea Fisheries Statistics, a copy of which is available in the Library of the House. Figures on the amount of fish exported for fish processing are not collected centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Floods: Property Development

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what his most recent assessment is of progress in the revision of Planning Policy Statement 25 since June 2009; and what estimate he has made of the number of houses to have a flood kit. [306810]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Government agree with Sir Michael Pitt's Review of the summer 2007 floods that found that the policy approach in Planning Policy Statement 25: Development and Flood Risk (PPS25) is sound and should be rigorously applied.

On 11 August 2009 the Department for Communities and Local Government (CLG) published proposals for public consultation to make a limited number of amendments to Annexe D of PPS25 to clarify how certain aspects of the policy should be applied. The public consultation period closed on 3 November and CLG is now considering the responses received.

No estimate has been made of the number of properties that have prepared a flood kit. As outlined in our recent Pitt progress report, we have always acknowledged this was up to individuals, but would be supported by communication campaigns taken forward by the Environment Agency. The Environment Agency has done this in its recent "Preparing for a Flood" guide, which promotes how flood kits should be made up.

Metals: Waste Disposal

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will bring forward proposals to amend the Environmental Permitting (England and Wales) (Amendment) (No. 2) Regulations 2009 in respect of their provision for the metal recycling sector. [306333]

Dan Norris: The Environmental Permitting (England and Wales) (Amendment) (No.2) Regulations 2009 will come into force in April 2010. The regulations will allow operators to benefit from new or revised exemptions that are free to register for, from that date. The regulations also include transitional provisions for those existing operations that will be required to obtain an environmental permit. In the case of the metal recycling sector, operators who need a permit will be required to apply for one by 30 September 2013. This period has been provided to allow operators sufficient time to fulfil the requirements for obtaining a permit. It would, therefore, be inappropriate to suggest revisions at this time as these changes are being implemented.

I would also refer the hon. Member to my written answer 14 December, Official Report, column 655W, on the subject of how we will subsequently review the 2009 Regulations.

Rights of Way

Mr. Letwin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many appeals regarding rights of way the National Casework team has under consideration; and for how long on average such appeals have been under consideration. [306815]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The National Rights of Way Casework Team has 99 Schedule 14 Appeal cases under consideration as at 15 December 2009, averaging 68.6 weeks handling period per case to date.

Seas and Oceans: Pollution

Mr. Benyon: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what recent assessment he has made of the effects on the marine and coastal environment of plastics that have been dumped at sea or on beaches. [307639]

Huw Irranca-Davies: DEFRA has been working with the Marine Conservation Society (MCS) to incorporate the MCS long-term dataset for beach litter levels and sources of litter in the UK to assess UK marine litter levels as part of the evidence collection process for the Charting Progress 2 report.

Charting Progress 2 is an integrated assessment of the state of the UK seas that will measure progress towards achieving the Government's marine vision and will be published in 2010. The report will form an important building block in the Initial Assessment of UK waters, required by 2012 under the Marine Strategy Framework Directive.

DEFRA is working with international colleagues in OSPAR (the Convention for the Protection of the Marine Environment of the North-East Atlantic) to support assessments of marine litter, and the OSPAR Quality Status Report (QSR) due to be published in 2010, will contain a regional assessment of litter levels.

Mr. Benyon: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the cost to (a) his Department, (b) local authorities and (c) non-governmental organisations of cleaning refuse from the coast in each year since 1997. [307640]

Huw Irranca-Davies: No estimate of the costs for cleaning refuse from coastal areas to DEFRA, local authorities or non-government organisations has been made.

Through the Environmental Protection Act (1990) local authorities have a statutory duty to keep their beaches clean down to the high water mark and many have beach management plans in place.

Beaches are regularly monitored through the National Indicator Set and many are signed up to such awards such as the international "Blue Flag" and England's "Quality Coast Award", both administered by Keep Britain Tidy.

Mr. Benyon: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what information his Department holds on the (a) area covered by and (b) in weight tonnes of the mass of plastic debris identified in the Pacific Ocean; and what discussions he has had with international agencies on steps to reduce the effect on the marine environment of that debris. [307660]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The published literature on the Pacific litter gyre indicates that the area concerned is found within the North Pacific Subtropical High, an area of international waters, between Hawaii and California. Researchers have pointed out that the weight of litter is very difficult to estimate due to the patchiness of debris in this expansive area, but could be in the order of 6 million tonnes.

My officials attend the meetings of several international agencies where the reduction of litter in the marine environment is discussed and where appropriate actions are considered, particularly the OSPAR Convention for the Protection of the Marine Environment of the North East Atlantic in which the UK is actively involved in the marine litter working group, which focuses on the North East Atlantic.

Whales: Conservation

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what representations he has made to the governments of other countries on whaling since the last meeting of the International Whaling Commission in June 2009; what plans he has to make further such representations before the next meeting of the Commission in June 2010; and if he will make a statement. [307191]

Huw Irranca-Davies: I wrote to the Japanese Minister of Fisheries on 24 October expressing the UK's continued opposition to the killing of whales in the Southern Ocean and the North west Pacific and to the hunting of small cetaceans in Japanese coastal waters.

On 2 October, the UK took part in a strong diplomatic protest (démarche) to Iceland expressing our extreme disappointment with the killing of almost 200 minke and fin whales this year and called upon the Icelandic Government to review Iceland's Whaling policy.

Before the next annual meeting of the IWC Foreign and Commonwealth Office posts will again lobby countries in support of the UK's position, seeking to encourage new anti-whaling nations to join the IWC and endeavouring to change the opinion of Governments which currently support whaling.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Capita

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether any contracts between Capita Group plc and her Department and its predecessors have been cancelled before completion since 1997; and whether Capita Group plc has been liable for any penalties arising from failings in the administration of contracts since 1997. [303093]

Jim Knight: In December 2007, Capita Health Solutions was successful in a competition to deliver an Occupational Health Service for DWP to commence in April 2007. DWP and Capita mutually agreed to disengage from this arrangement with effect from August 2007. No penalties were arising.

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions on how many occasions Capita Group plc tendered for contracts let by her Department in each of the last five years; how many such tenders were successful; how much her Department paid to Capita Group plc for the execution of contracts in each such year; how many contracts which terminate after 2010 Capita Group plc hold with her Department; and what the monetary value is of all outstanding contracts between her Department and Capita Group plc. [303149]

| Question | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 | 2008-09 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| How many occasions Capita Group Plc tendered for contracts with DWP in each of the last five years | 2 | 1 | 1 | 2 | 1 |
| How many such tenders were successful | 2 | — | — | 1 | 1 |
| How much DWP paid to Capita Group Plc for the execution of contracts in each such year (£ million) | 47.79 | 53.10 | 54.80 | 26.71 | 39.13 |
| How many contracts which terminate after 2010 that Capita Group Plc hold with DWP | 1 | — | — | — | — |
| What the monetary value is of all outstanding contracts between DWP and Capita Group Plc | The information requested is not collated centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. | | | | |

Details of the contracts captured in the table are in the background notes.

Conditions of Employment

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) what recent steps her Department has taken to protect employment rights (a) in Coventry and (b) nationally; [303866]

(2) whether her Department holds information for benchmarking purposes on employment rights in other EU member states. [303868]

Jim Knight [holding answer 3 December 2009]: These issues are a matter for my right hon. Friend the Minister for Business, Innovation and Skills.

Crime

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many reported crimes there were of each type in (a) her Department and (b) each of its agencies in each year since 1997. [306366]

Jim Knight [holding answer 14 December 2009]: Reports of crimes will normally be made to the local police forces. Consequently no central records are held, and to obtain the requested level of detail would involve disproportionate cost.

Departmental Data Protection

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many thefts of data from the Labour Market System database have been identified in each of the last five years. [303038]

Jim Knight [holding answer 30 November 2009]: The Department takes very seriously its responsibility to protect personal information. If individual employees are found to have misused their position (for example, by accessing without authority information that is recorded on any of the Department's databases), then such matters will be dealt with firmly, including dismissal and, where appropriate, prosecution.

Incidents will normally be investigated and dealt with locally. However, details of such incidents, and the action taken, are not recorded centrally, and to obtain this information in respect of the last five years would involve disproportionate cost.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many (a) page hits and (b) visitors her Department's website received in 2008-09. [301853]

Jim Knight: In 2008-09 the Department for Work and Pension website received:

68, 298,137 page views, and 9,498,849 unique visitors.

Departmental Legal Costs

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what expenditure her Department and its agencies have incurred on external legal advice and representation in each year since 1997; and for what purposes such professional services have been commissioned. [300578]

Jim Knight: The information is as follows:

DWP legal category spending by year

| | Spend (£) |
|---|---|
| 2009-10[1] | 12,434,882 |
| 2008-09 | 18,854,926 |
| 2007-08 | 18,864,410 |
| 2006-07 | 14,851,405 |
| 2005-06 | 18,564,671 |
| 2004-05 | 15,444,475 |
| 2003-04 | 17,263,198 |

[1] The 2009-10 spend is for the period 1 April to 31 October 2009.

DWP's costs for external legal advice and representation are captured under a range of existing commercial contracts that relate to the following areas. A more detailed breakdown of expenditure or the scope of previous contracts from 1997 onwards could be provided only at a disproportionate cost.

1. IS/IT

acts as the strategic legal adviser and provides project support to DWP and its corporate information technology directorate. A range of legal services for existing and prospective information service/technology contracts are provided.

2. Human Resources

provides advice, guidance and assistance for HR policy development, training and awareness products, risk assessment, private prosecution, banning and warning letters to customers, injunctions, international law and general legal matters as necessary. Where appropriate it conducts litigation proceedings for DWP in employment tribunal claims and personal injury compensation claims.

3. Estates

provides advice to the commercial estates function in support of the PRIME estates contract and associated advice in relation to general property law.

4. Commercial Legal Services provides legal advice and commercial guidance on DWP services delivered on behalf of welfare to work customers and on general commercial policy issues.

5. In House Lawyers

DWP's in house lawyers expenditure on external legal services comprises a range of payments, including those to meet other sides' costs, where these are required to be paid as a result of litigation; payments made to counsel from the Attorney-General's approved list for prosecutions, litigation or advisory services; and payments to local agent solicitors for prosecutions, some civil litigation and other occasional work.

Departmental Lost Property

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many (a) laptop computers, (b) desktop computers and (c) memory sticks her Department and its agencies have recorded as having been (i) lost and (ii) stolen from its offices in Scotland in each of the last 10 years. [306695]

Jim Knight [holding answer 14 December 2009]: Details of items reported as lost and stolen are recorded at departmental level and the information requested cannot be provided in respect of Scotland without incurring disproportionate cost.

Departmental Pay

John Mason: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what (a) bonuses and (b) incentives have been paid to (i) consultants and (ii) contractors engaged by executive agencies and non-departmental public bodies for which her Department is responsible in each of the last three years. [300634]

Jim Knight: It is not DWP practice for the Department or its agencies and non-departmental public bodies to pay contractors bonuses or incentives. DWP follows National Audit Office advice which recommends that a variety of payment mechanisms should be used in contract pricing. This approach is also endorsed by the Office for Government Commerce in their Guide to Consultancy Pricing.

Departmental Recruitment

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what proportion of jobs advertised by her Department in the last 12 months were online only applications; and what provision her Department makes for those wishing to apply for jobs in her Department who do not have access to the internet. [301540]

Jim Knight: None of the vacancies advertised in the last 12 months were limited to online applications. We encourage the majority of candidates to apply online however, where the candidate has a disability, or other reason for being unable to complete an online application, a paper application is accepted.

Departmental Telephone Services

Mark Lazarowicz: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many telephone lines with the prefix (a) 0870, (b) 0845 and (c) 0800 her Department (i) operates and (ii) sponsors; how many calls were received to each number in the last 12 months; and whether alternative numbers charged at the BT local rate are available in each case. [305212]

Jim Knight: The information is as follows:

(i) As at 7 December 2009, the Department for Work and Pensions operates the following lines.

| | Lines |
|---|---|
| (a) 0870 | 13 |
| (b) 0845 | 6,060 |
| (c) 0800 | 154 |

(ii) All lines are 'operated' by the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP); there are no 'sponsored' lines.

With reference to the number of calls received by each 08XX number, the complexity of the Department's telephony network and our current billing arrangement with our service provider, BT, does not provide us with this data as the Department does not require it. To provide it, the Department would need to submit a formal request to BT to give us an estimate of the cost of supplying this data. This could not be done within the time scales of this question.

Alternative numbers are not available. 0800/0845 numbers are integral to the Department's telephony strategy and underpin the delivery of good customer service. The 0800 and 0845 numbers are clearly signposted to customers for the services that they wish to access and the service is organised so that the customer is routed to the best agent to help with their call.

The Department's telephony strategy is that calls to claim benefit should be free to customers so it uses 0800 free phone numbers for these calls. The great majority of the Department's customers use landlines to contact the Department's 0800 free phone lines where the calls are free. The Department uses 0845 telephone numbers where its customers call for other reasons, and these are calls typically that take less time to resolve. The charges that apply to these calls will be set by the customer's telephone or mobile operator.

Where a customer calling our 0800 or 0845 services asks us, or raises concerns over the cost of the call, we offer to call them back.

Employment and Support Allowance

Mr. Betts: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people received support from an advocate when applying for employment and support allowance in the latest period for which figures are available. [304772]

Jim Knight: Information on claimants receiving support from an advocate is not available.

Employment and Support Allowance: Medical Examinations

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate she has made of the (a) unit cost and (b) cost to date of conducting the medical assessment process associated with employment and support allowance delivered under the Atos Healthcare contract; and if she will make a statement. [305269]

Jim Knight: The cost to date of conducting the medical assessment process associated with Employment and Support Allowance is £36.2 million covering the period up to 25 November 2009. This covers the costs of the medical assessments including Work Focused Health Related Assessments, gathering information from customers and health care professionals, investments in information technology and Estates infrastructure, overheads and set-up costs.

DWP is unable to disclose the unit cost of individual medical assessments as to do so would jeopardise the Department's commercial interests and dealings with Atos Healthcare or other service providers when negotiating future re-tenders.

New Deal Schemes

Dr. Pugh: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what percentage of jobseekers aged between 18 and 24 years old have gone off benefits without finding a job (a) before and (b) after completing a New Deal Gateway to Work course. [303029]

Jim Knight: The information requested is not available.

Scientists

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many (a) scientific advisers and (b) civil servants in scientific posts there are in her Department. [302021]

Jim Knight: There are no external scientific advisers in the Department for Work and Pensions, however, there are three civil servants within the Department employed in posts which require them to give scientific advice. The Department also employs a number of statisticians, economists, social researchers and operational researchers but these are not classified as scientific posts.

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions on how many occasions she has met (a) the Government Chief Scientific Adviser and (b) her Department's Chief Scientific Adviser in the course of her official duties in the last 12 months. [304004]

Jim Knight: The Department's chief scientific adviser is also the Department's chief medical adviser and health work and well-being policy director and in these different capacities has had numerous meetings with the Secretary of State during the last 12 months. During the same period, the Secretary of State has had no meetings with the Government's chief scientific adviser.

Unemployment Benefits

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many and what percentage of young people in each (a) region, (b) constituency and (c) local authority area are claiming out of work benefits. [306373]

Jim Knight [holding answer 14 December 2009]: The available information has been placed in the Library.

Unemployment: Essex

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) how many people in Castle Point constituency had been claiming jobseeker's allowance for (a) less than six months, (b) between six and 12 months, (c) between 12 months and two years and (d) more than two years on the latest date for which information is available; [307503]

(2) what the average length of time was for which a claimant resident in Castle Point constituency to be in receipt of jobseeker's allowance in each of the last (a) 12 months and (b) five years; [307504]

(3) how many people aged between 16 and 24 years in (a) Essex and (b) Castle Point had been unemployed for over (i) six and (ii) 12 months in each of the last six months; [307505]

(4) how many people aged between 16 and 24 years in (a) Essex and (b) Castle Point constituency were unemployed in (i) May 1997 and (ii) each of the last six months for which figures are available. [307509]

Angela E. Smith: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Questions asking how many people in Castle Point constituency have been claiming jobseeker's allowance for (a) less than six months, (b) between six and 12 months, (c) between 12 months and two years and (d) more than two years on the latest date for which information is available; what the average length of time was for which claimant resident in Castle Point constituency to be in receipt of jobseeker's allowance in each of the last (a) 12 months and (b) five years; how many people aged between 16 and 24 years in (a) Essex and (b) Castle Point have been unemployed for over (i) six and (ii) 12 months in each of the last six months and how many people aged between 16 and 24 years in (a) Essex and (b) Castle Point constituency were unemployed in (i) May 1997 and (ii) each of the last six months for which figures are available (307503, 307504, 307505, 307509).

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles unemployment statistics for local areas from the Annual Population Survey and its predecessor the annual Labour Force Survey (LFS) following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions.

However, estimates of unemployment for the requested age band, duration and geographies are not available. As an alternative, questions relating to unemployment have also been answered using Jobseeker's Allowance (JSA) data.

Table 1 attached, shows the number of persons resident in Castle Point constituency claiming JSA for (a) up to 26 weeks, (b) over 26 and up to 52 weeks, (c) over 52 and up to 104 weeks and (d) over 104 weeks in October 2009.

Table 2 attached, shows the median length of live claims during the last 12 months up to the latest available period in October 2009, and for October of each of the last 5 years.

Table 3 attached, shows the number of persons, aged 16 to 24, claiming JSA, in the requested geographies, for (a) over 26 weeks and (b) over 52 weeks in October 2009 and the previous 5 months.

Table 4 attached, shows the number of persons, aged 16 to 24, claiming JSA in the requested geographies in (a) May 1997 and (b) from May to October 2009.

National and local area estimates for many labour market statistics, including employment, unemployment and claimant count are available on the NOMIS website at:

Vacancies

Chloe Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many vacancies have been reported to Jobcentres in (a) Norwich North constituency and (b) each region (i) in each year since 1997 and (ii) in 2009 to date. [301697]

Jim Knight: The available information has been placed in the Library.

Vocational Training

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) what steps her Department is taking to promote re-skilling initiatives in (a) Coventry and (b) the UK; [304303]

(2) how many re-skilling initiatives there are; and how much funding her Department has allocated in support of such schemes in 2009-10. [304305]

Jim Knight: We are working with the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills and partners to implement a Government commitment to deliver a fully Integrated Employment and Skills (IES) service in England. The new integrated service will bring together and reform existing employment and skills services to better support skills acquisition, employment and career progression. IES trials are currently operating in 12 areas in England, one of which is in Coventry, and another four of which are in other parts of the West Midlands.

The vision and principles of IES are shared across Great Britain. However, as skills policy is devolved in Scotland and Wales, we are working with their Governments to explore how an integrated service can be piloted and delivered in the devolved Administrations.

The current challenging economic climate makes our focus on skills ever more important on an individual level for people who have been caught up in the downturn. As part of our response to the recession, we have intensified our support to help individuals identify skills needs and make more training available to jobseekers, through the response to redundancy package, the six month offer and the Young Person's Guarantee. The Government have allocated over £350 million in funding over two years for the training element of these programmes.

TRANSPORT

AP Braking

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport pursuant to the answer of 7 December 2009, Official Report, column 31W, on the Caparo Group, what the monetary value is of the contract his Department holds with AP Braking Ltd. [307647]

Chris Mole: The answer I gave to the hon. Member on 7 December 2009, Official Report, column 31W, about whether the Department for Transport holds contracts with each company of the Caparo Group was incorrect.

The Vehicle Certification Agency previously carried out approval work through a third party on AP Braking's products. However, there was no contract between the Department for Transport and AP Braking.

Aviation: Carbon Emissions

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what the average carbon emissions were per UK air passenger in each year since 1997. [306972]

Mr. Khan: The following table provides estimates of aviation carbon dioxide ($CO_2$) emissions per passenger for all domestic and international air passengers flying from UK airports in each year from 1997 to 2007.

2008 Air Passenger data are available but the 2008 $CO_2$ emissions data will be released in February 2010.

Table: Estimates of average $CO_2$ emissions per passenger flying from UK airports, 1997-2007

| | Domestic aviation | | | International aviation | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Carbon Dioxide (million tonnes) | Departing passengers (millions) | Average $CO_2$ per passenger (tonnes) | Carbon Dioxide (million tonnes) | Departing passengers (millions) | Average $CO_2$ per passenger (tonnes) |
| 1997 | 1.46 | 16.0 | 0.09 | 22.74 | 57.3 | 0.40 |
| 1998 | 1.59 | 16.7 | 0.10 | 25.30 | 62.7 | 0.40 |
| 1999 | 1.76 | 17.5 | 0.10 | 27.49 | 66.7 | 0.41 |
| 2000 | 1.90 | 18.6 | 0.10 | 30.31 | 71.3 | 0.42 |
| 2001 | 1.99 | 19.2 | 0.10 | 29.56 | 71.4 | 0.41 |
| 2002 | 2.00 | 21.0 | 0.09 | 29.01 | 73.3 | 0.40 |
| 2003 | 2.04 | 22.9 | 0.09 | 29.72 | 77.1 | 0.39 |
| 2004 | 2.18 | 24.3 | 0.09 | 32.53 | 83.6 | 0.39 |
| 2005 | 2.38 | 25.1 | 0.09 | 35.09 | 89.0 | 0.39 |
| 2006 | 2.29 | 24.9 | 0.09 | 35.65 | 92.7 | 0.38 |

Table: Estimates of average $CO_2$ emissions per passenger flying from UK airports, 1997-2007

| | Domestic aviation | | | International aviation | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Carbon Dioxide (million tonnes) | Departing passengers (millions) | Average $CO_2$ per passenger (tonnes) | Carbon Dioxide (million tonnes) | Departing passengers (millions) | Average $CO_2$ per passenger (tonnes) |
| 2007 | 2.14 | 24.4 | 0.09 | 34.97 | 96.0 | 0.36 |

Notes:

1. Domestic aviation includes all departures from UK airports flying to another UK airport. International aviation includes all departures from a UK airport flying to a destination outside of the UK. These will carry both UK and foreign passengers.
2. The aviation $CO_2$ emissions are derived from bunker fuel sales, which broadly equates to all departing aircraft (excluding military aircraft). Therefore the figures in the table do not reflect emissions from surface access nor emissions from airport buildings.
3. Emissions from freighter aircraft have been allocated to passengers in these illustrative figures.
4. The $CO_2$ emissions do not account for non-$CO_2$ climate change effects of aviation emissions.

Source:

Carbon dioxide emissions—AEA Energy and Environment/DECC.
Passengers—Civil Aviation Authority statistics.

The average $CO_2$ per passenger figures in the table have been calculated by dividing total $CO_2$ emissions from departing flights by the number of departing passengers. They do not therefore reflect a weighted average of emissions to account for the relative numbers of flights flying different trip lengths. The level of emissions per passenger will be affected by such factors as load factors, type of aircraft used and fuel efficiency changes.

Biofuels: Imports

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what percentage of biodiesel used in the UK was imported from the US in (a) 2007-08 and (b) 2008-09. [306975]

Mr. Khan: The Department does not hold information on biofuel supplied before the Renewable Transport Fuel Obligation (RTFO) began in April 2008.

Provisional data from the Renewable Fuels Agency show that 38 per cent. of the biodiesel supplied for use in the UK in 2008-09 was reported as coming from the US.

Bus Services: Fares

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what the percentage change in bus fares in (a) passenger transport executive areas, (b) other urban areas, (c) London and (d) other areas of England was from one year to the next in each year since 2007. [307039]

Mr. Khan: Figures are available for Passenger Transport Executive (PTE) areas and London, but it is not possible to separate other urban areas and other areas of England using published statistics. The available statistics are shown in the following table.

Year-on-year percentage change in bus fares index in England

| Financial year | London | PTE areas[1] | Rest of England[2] |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 8 | 1 | -4 |
| 2007-08 | 5 | 6 | 5 |
| 2008-09 | 0 | 7 | 6 |

[1] PTE areas are Tyne and Wear, Merseyside, Greater Manchester, West Yorkshire, South Yorkshire and the West Midlands.

[2] The negative fares growth in the "Rest of England" in 2006-07 is largely a result of the introduction of the free local bus travel concession for older or disabled people in April 2006. This generally had a greater impact on fares structures outside of London and the PTE areas.

These percentage changes are calculated using the differences in the average of the bus fares index over each year. They therefore reflect the change from the average fare level in the previous year to the average fare level in the current year.

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what formula is used to allocate national concessionary bus fare grants to local authorities. [307579]

Mr. Khan: The Department for Communities and Local Government (CLG) provides the majority of concessionary travel funding to local authorities through Formula Grant. This is a block grant, so it is not possible to say how much of this grant is provided for concessionary travel. Formula grant is largely distributed using the socio-economic and demographic characteristics of the authority, together with the number of band-D equivalent properties within the authority's area.

The Department for Transport provides the remainder through a special grant. This is funding solely to cover the extra costs brought about by the improvement to the statutory minimum concession which gives free off-peak local bus travel England-wide from April 2008.

The special grant formula takes into account the eligible local population, bus patronage, overnight visitors and retail space. It is designed to direct funding towards areas of greater demand, such as coastal towns and urban centres.

The Government recognise that there are some issues around the distribution of special grant and that some Travel Concession Authorities have genuine funding problems, so we are now consulting on changes to the distribution of the special grant for 2010-11. The proposed revised distribution is based on an analysis of the actual additional costs incurred in 2008-09 as a result of the improved concession.

Bus Services: Yorkshire

Jon Trickett: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport which bus companies his Department subsidises in Yorkshire; and how much funding it provided to each such company in each of the last 10 years. [307645]

Mr. Khan: The Government subsidise bus services in England through the Department's bus service operators grant (BSOG) which is paid to operators of local bus services.

The following table shows BSOG payments made to bus operators in Yorkshire in 2008-09 and 2009-10. Data are not available for years prior to 2008-09.

Cars: Carbon Emissions

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many cars with tailpipe carbon emissions below 110g/km were sold in (a) 2008 and (b) 2009; and what information his Department holds for benchmarking purposes on the number of such cars sold in each EU member state in each such year. [306965]

Mr. Khan: Data on carbon dioxide emissions per km ($gCO_2$/km) from new cars registered in the UK are only available up to the year 2008. These data are published on the Department for Transport's website at:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/statistics/datatablespublications/vehicles/licensing/

A total of 75,000 new cars with $CO_2$ emissions under 110g $CO_2$/km were registered in the UK in 2008. The Department does not collect any data on the number of similar cars registered in other EU member states.

Chief Executives: Pay

Mr. Leech: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what bonuses were paid to each agency chief executive within his responsibility in the last two years for which figures are available. [305948]

Chris Mole: Information on the remuneration of individual agency chief executives in the Department for Transport is included in their agency's annual report and accounts. Copies of these are available in the Libraries of the House.

Dartford Crossing: Fees and Charges

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what recent representations he has received on the local residents' discount scheme for the Dartford Crossing. [306899]

Mr. Khan: From 1 August 2008 to 11 December 2009, the Department for Transport has received three items of ministerial correspondence specifically categorised as being about the local residents' discount scheme for the Dartford crossing.

In addition the Highways Agency and their service providers have dealt with a further 108 e-mails, four letters, 15 inquiries to the Highways Agency information line, 14 telephone calls directly to staff at the Dartford crossing and three complaints in person from members of the public.

Departmental Computers

Mr. Goodwill: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what guidance is issued to employees of his Department and its agencies on the use of work computers for personal tasks. [306704]

Chris Mole [holding answer 14 December 2009]: Where the Department for Transport and its agencies allow staff to make use of work computers for personal tasks, advise and guidance is available via the intranet for all staff.

Staff are not permitted to make inappropriate use of departmental resources such as official time, materials, information and e-mail/internet system. Staff are advised to ensure that personal use does not place excessive demands on the Department's ICT facilities so that business use is impaired.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Baron: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport which conferences held overseas have been attended by civil servants based in his Department in the last three years; and what the cost to the public purse was of such attendance at each conference. [305860]

Chris Mole: The information requested is available only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Office of Rail Regulations buildings attended by civil servants in that office there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307453]

Chris Mole: Because of the format in which data about how the costs of such events are recorded, the total number of away days and conferences held outside Office of Rail Regulation (ORR) buildings is unavailable.

The independent Office of Rail Regulation only holds separate information on expenditure on away days and conferences since 2007. Any information prior to this date could only be retrieved and provided at disproportionate cost.

Since September 2007, the independent Office of Rail Regulation has spent the following on away days and conferences:

Table 1

| Financial year | Away days expenditure (£) | Conference expenditure (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2007-08[1] | 28,027.31 | 20,115.95 |
| 2008-09 | 16,667.53 | 59,427.44 |
| 2009-10[2] | 25,828.71 | 25,601.40 |

[1] From September 2007 (when ORR moved to a new accounting system).
[2] From April to November 2009.

Departmental Publicity

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how much his Department has spent on (a) Ministerial photoshoots and (b) production of videos in which Ministers appear in the last three years for which figures are available. [305525]

Chris Mole: During the last three financial calendar years for which figures are available, nothing was spent by the Department for Transport on ministerial photoshoots.

The Department has spent the following amounts on the production of videos in which Ministers appear: £2,752 in 2007-08 and £1,117 in 2008-09. The Department has not retained the figures for 2006-07.

Departmental Training

Mr. Baron: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many overseas training courses were attended by his Department's civil servants in the latest period for which figures are available; how many civil servants attended each course; and what the total cost to the public purse was of each course. [305892]

Chris Mole: The information requested can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Harper: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many and what percentage of Parliamentary Questions tabled for written answer by his Department on a named day in session 2008-09 received a substantive answer on that day. [307529]

Chris Mole: In Session 2008-09 the Department responded to 669 (72.7 per cent.) of named day parliamentary questions on the due date.

Central guidance on answering parliamentary questions is now available in the 'Guide to Parliamentary Work', at

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/parliamentary-clerk-guide.aspx

In the response to the Procedure Committee Report on written parliamentary questions, the Government accepted the Committee's recommendation that Departments be required to provide the Procedure Committee with sessional statistics in a standard format on the time taken to respond to written parliamentary questions, accompanied by an explanatory memorandum setting out any factors affecting their performance. This will be taken forward as soon as possible.

Driving: Research

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what recent research his Department has (a) undertaken and (b) commissioned comparing the risks associated with drink driving with those associated with driving while using a hand-held mobile telephone. [307765]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport has neither undertaken nor commissioned any research on this question.

Ferries: Safety

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what checks are in place to ensure that ferries servicing British ports do not sail with a dangerous load distribution. [306961]

Paul Clark: The Merchant Shipping (Weighing of Goods Vehicles and Other Cargo) Regulations 1988, as amended, require the owners of roll-on/roll-off passenger ships on short international voyages operating from United Kingdom ports to ensure that, with the exception of buses, all goods and other vehicles with an actual or maximum gross weight exceeding 7.5 tonnes, and any cargo items exceeding 7.5 tonnes, are individually weighed before loading. Those weights are then used to calculate the stability of the ship.

As part of the regular survey of UK registered ships and inspections of foreign ships operating out of UK ports, marine surveyors from the Maritime and Coastguard Agency may verify that the information required by the Merchant Shipping (Weighing of Goods Vehicles and Other Cargo) Regulations 1988 is supplied.

Heathrow Airport

John McDonnell: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what criteria apply in the determination of planning applications for a third runway at Heathrow airport. [307141]

Paul Clark: Any proposal for a third runway at Heathrow airport would be likely to meet the threshold for a nationally significant infrastructure project under the Planning Act 2008. The Government's intention is to switch on the new planning regime for transport infrastructure from 1 March 2010, and any application made after that date for a new runway caught by the threshold would be considered by the Infrastructure Planning Commission (IPC). Section 104 of the Act sets out the factors to which the IPC must have regard when determining an application. In the absence of a designated national policy statement at the point of decision, the application would be determined by the Secretary of State, based on a recommendation by the IPC.

Heathrow Airport: Air Traffic

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many short-haul flights landed at Heathrow airport in 2008, broken down by (a) internal and (b) near-Europe flights. [306976]

Paul Clark: The number of internal (UK domestic) flights that landed at Heathrow in 2008 was 30,000.

The number of near-Europe (short-haul international) flights that landed at Heathrow in 2008 was 118,000. Short-haul international flights include: EU-27 countries, Norway, Switzerland, Gibraltar, Iceland, Faroe Islands, Turkey and Former Yugoslavia.

Humber Bridge: Tolls

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport (1) what assessment he has made of the likely impact of freezing the levels of Humber Bridge tolls on (a) businesses, (b) jobs and (c) inward investment in the Yorkshire and Humber region; [306306]

(2) what his reasons were for rejecting proposed increases in toll charges on the Humber Bridge in 2010. [306309]

Mr. Khan: The decision not to accept the 2009 toll increase was taken in the context of the Government doing everything they can to protect communities and businesses from the economic downturn and to assist economic recovery.

We are undertaking a Department for Transport appraisal of the reports commissioned by the relevant local authorities in relation to the economic impact of the Humber Bridge tolls on the region.

Humberside Road Safety Partnership

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many people the Humberside Road Safety Partnership employed (a) in each year since its establishment and (b) at the latest date for which figures are available. [307253]

Paul Clark: This information is not held by the Department for Transport; however, the partnership itself may be able to supply the information requested.

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how much funding his Department provided for the Humberside Road Safety Partnership (a) in each year since its inception and (b) in 2009-10 to date. [307256]

Paul Clark: The Humberside Road Safety partnership has received the following net funding since its inception:

| | Net funding (£) |
|---|---:|
| 2003-04 | 2,367,151 |
| 2004-05 | 2,181,397 |
| 2005-06 | 2,406,449 |
| 2006-07 | 2,103,015 |

Further details of this funding can be found on the Department for Transport (DfT) website www.dft.gov.uk

For 2007-08 onwards the Department has not provided funding directly to the partnership. Instead it provides funding to the local highway authorities within Humberside and they decide about how to spend that funding, including for the Humberside partnership. Information about this funding is also on the DfT website in the form of letters to authorities.

Lorries

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport (1) how many miles UK and foreign-registered heavy goods vehicles over 3.5 tonnes travelled on UK (a) motorways and (b) trunk roads in the last 12 months for which figures are available; [306643]

(2) how many miles UK and foreign-registered heavy goods vehicles over 3.5 tonnes travelled on all UK roads in the last 12 months for which figures are available. [306644]

Paul Clark [holding answer 14 December 2009]: Statistics for miles travelled by UK and Foreign heavy good vehicles are not available for travel on UK roads. Figures are available for travel on roads in Great Britain.

Heavy goods vehicles (over 3.5 tonnes) travelled 17.8 billion vehicle miles on all roads in Great Britain in 2008, of which 7.5 billion vehicle miles were on motorways and 3.8 billion miles were on trunk roads.

In 2008, 3.5 per cent. of all HGV traffic in Great Britain was estimated to be driven by foreign registered vehicles.

The estimated miles travelled by UK and foreign registered heavy goods vehicles and road class is shown in the following table.

Billion vehicle miles

| | Registered heavy goods vehicles | | |
|---|---:|---:|---:|
| | UK | Foreign | Total |
| All roads | 17.2 | 0.6 | 17.8 |
| Of which: | | | |
| Motorways | 7.2 | 0.3 | 7.5 |
| Trunk roads[1] | 3.7 | 0.1 | 3.8 |

[1] The estimate of foreign registered heavy goods vehicles on trunk roads is calculated from the proportion of foreign registered HGVs on all A roads, which includes principle roads and trunk roads.

Lorries: Accidents

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many (a) deaths and (b) major injuries were caused in 2008-09 by objects from unsecured freight vehicle loads falling off vehicles. [306967]

Paul Clark: In 2008 there were two deaths and 22 serious injuries in reported personal injury road accidents involving a dislodged vehicle load in the carriageway. It is not known what types of vehicles the loads came from. This does not include cases where a dislodged vehicle load was in the carriageway as a result of a previous accident.

Lorries: Safety

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport in what circumstances heavy goods vehicles registered outside the UK are permitted to enter the UK where the weight and axle arrangements are such that they would not be permitted for UK-registered vehicles. [306963]

Paul Clark: Heavy goods vehicles registered outside the UK are not permitted to enter the UK with axle or gross weights exceeding those permitted for UK registered vehicles.

Motor Vehicles: Sales

John Battle: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many (a) low carbon road vehicles and (b) road vehicles were sold in the UK in each of the last five years. [306946]

Mr. Khan: Data on new vehicle registrations in the UK are collected by the DVLA (Driver & Vehicle Licensing Agency). Table 1 shows the number of new vehicle registrations in the UK from 2004 to 2008. These data are published on the Department for Transport's website which can be found at:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/statistics/datatablespublications/vehicles/licensing/

Table 1: Motor vehicles registered for the first time, 2004 to 2008

Thousands

| | Cars | Motorcycles | Vans | HGVs | Buses & coaches | Other | Total |

| 2008 | 2,112 | 142 | 291 | 53 | 12 | 63 | 2,672 |

Data on the C0$_2$ emissions from most road vehicles are not available. However, since 2001, DVLA has collected data on the C0$_2$ emissions (gC0$_2$/km) of new cars registered in accordance with EU Decision 1753/2000/EC. There is no precise definition of a low carbon vehicle. Table 2 shows the number of new cars registered in the UK over th[illegible]ve years with C0$_2$ emissions below 120gCO$_2$/km. These cars have significantly lower C0$_2$ emissions than the average for newly registered cars in 2008 of 158gC0$_2$/km and have risen as a share of all newly registered cars from 3 per cent. in 2004 to 11 per cent. in 2008.

Railways: Fares

Mr. Hollobone: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what role his Department has in defining peak and off-peak times in respect of the calculation of rail fares. [303922]

Chris Mole: The Department for Transport ensures that the maximum restrictions that may be placed on the validity of regulated off-peak fares are protected through provisions in franchise agreements.

Where commuter fares are regulated, the peak fares are regulated within the maximum restriction set by the Department, but it is possible for the start of the off-peak to be defined by operators as earlier than the maximum.

In London on oyster pay-as-you-go (PAYG) the off-peak has been agreed with Transport for London and is captured in the PAYG agreement.

Roads: Accidents

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many deaths there were in motor accidents in which a contributory factor was (a) consumption of illegal drugs, (b) consumption of alcohol and (c) tiredness of the driver during December in each year since 1997. [306973]

Paul Clark: Information about contributory factors to road accidents has been collected since 2005. The information requested is shown for each year since then in the following table:

Fatalities in road accidents in December with selected contributory factors reported[1]: GB 2005-2008

| | Contributory factor reported in accident | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | (a) Impaired by alcohol | (b) Impaired by drugs (illicit or medicinal) | (c) Fatigue |
| 2005 | 38 | 5 | 13 |
| 2006 | 36 | 10 | 7 |
| 2007 | 20 | 5 | 3 |
| 2008 | 16 | 4 | 3 |

[1] Includes accidents where the police attended the scene and reported a contributory factor.

Contributory factors reflect the police officer's opinion at the time of reporting, and where some factors may have contributed to the cause of an accident it may be difficult for a police officer attending the scene after the accident to identify them, so these factors may be underreported. Not all reported road accidents are included in the contributory factor analysis, only those where a police officer attended the scene and at least one contributory factor was reported.

Roads: Carbon Emissions

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what the average level of carbon dioxide emitted per mile driven was for road traffic in the latest year for which figures are available; what information he holds for benchmarking purposes on such levels in each (a) EU and (b) G8 country in that year; and if he will make a statement. [306970]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport publishes estimates of road traffic and $CO_2$ emissions from road transport in "Transport Statistics Great Britain". The latest edition can be found at:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/statistics/datatablespublications/tsgb

This data can be used to provide an estimate of the average level of carbon dioxide per mile for road traffic. For 2007, the latest year for which data are available, this figure is 379g$CO_2$/mile.

"Transport Statistics Great Britain" does include similar data for road traffic and $CO_2$ emissions for other EU-27 and some G8 countries, but the road traffic and $CO_2$ emissions data are not held for the same year and so a similar calculation of average $CO_2$ per mile can not be made.

Roads: Freight

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what the annual movement of freight by road in billion tonne miles was in each year since 1997. [306966]

Paul Clark: Domestic road freight transport performed by GB-registered vehicles is available in Table 4.1 in the publication 'Transport Statistics Great Britain 2009 Edition'. This is available on the DFT website at the following link:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/statistics/datatablespublications/tsgb/2009edition/

This table does not include the activity of foreign registered vehicles as this is not centrally collected.

A summary is provided as follows:

Domestic freight transport by road, Great Britain

| | Goods moved (billion tonne kilometres) |
|---|---|
| 1997 | 157 |
| 1998 | 160 |
| 1999 | 158 |
| 2000 | 159 |

| 2002 | 159 |
| 2003 | 162 |
| 2004 | 163 |
| 2005 | 163 |

| 2007 | 173 |
| 2008 | 163 |

Scientists

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport how many times the Secretary of State has met (a) the Government chief scientific adviser and (b) his Department's chief scientific adviser in the course of his official duties in the last 12 months. [303912]

Chris Mole: The current Secretary of State met the Government chief scientific adviser on several occasions in his former role as Minister of State through their joint attendance of the Cabinet Committee for Science and Innovation.

The then Secretary of State met the Department's chief scientific adviser on the 28 April 2009. In his former role as Minister of State, the current Secretary of State met the Department's chief scientific adviser five times in the last 12 months in the course of his official duties and has regular informal discussions with him in the margins of meetings and events.

Severn Bridge: Tolls

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what discussions (a) he and (b) his officials have had with the Severn River Crossing plc on toll charges in 2010. [306304]

Mr. Khan: While I have not had any discussions with Severn River Crossing plc (SRC) about toll charges for next year, officials for the Department for Transport have. As required under the Severn Bridges Act 1992, it is necessary to review toll levels each year in line with the retail price index. Departmental officials have corresponded with SRC in relation to the calculation of the toll levels following publication of the September RPI figure, as well as the reintroduction of the 17.5 per cent. VAT rate.

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what recent discussions he has had with Welsh Assembly Government Ministers on the level of toll charges on the Severn Crossing. [306305]

Mr. Khan: I have had no discussions with Welsh Assembly Government (WAG) Ministers on the level of tolls on the Severn Crossings. Department for Transport officials do have regular contact with staff from the WAG on various matters concerning the Severn River Crossings as part of normal Highways Agency operations.

Transport: Autism

Mr. Leech: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport whether his Department is developing a strategy for improving access to transport for people with autism. [307320]

Mr. Khan: The Department for Transport is aware that people with sensory sensitivities or who find it difficult to manage in crowds may also find difficulty in accessing transport. The Department will therefore be contributing to the design and delivery of the Government's Strategy for adults with Autistic Spectrum Conditions (ASCs).

The Department has already contributed to the Department of Health's Valuing People Now (VPN) strategy. A key feature for transport within the VPN strategy is travel training which helps to instil confidence in people to use public transport. We are looking at how best to encourage more travel training schemes across the country tailored to meet the needs of a wide range of people, including those with ASCs.

Transport: Carbon Emissions

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport what carbon dioxide emissions from the transport sector were in each year since 2000, broken down by mode of transport; and what measures he has in place to reduce those emissions. [306974]

Mr. Khan: The transport carbon dioxide ($CO_2$) emissions by mode and year up to 2007 are available in our transport statistics publication (Transport Statistics Great Britain 2009—table 3.7):

The measures set out in "Low Carbon Transport: A Greener Future", (July 2009) the Department's carbon reduction strategy, mean that transport will make a major contribution to meeting the Government's carbon reduction commitments.

There are three central themes to the carbon reduction strategy: supporting a shift to new technologies and fuels; promoting lower carbon choices and using market mechanisms to encourage a shift to lower carbon transport.

In the strategy we made a commitment to publish an implementation plan in spring 2010. The plan will set out the details of our delivery milestones and the mechanisms through which we will monitor progress.

Waterloo Station

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Transport when he expects the platforms formerly used for Eurostar services to Waterloo to come back into use. [300345]

Chris Mole [holding answer 23 November 2009]: Network Rail has been instructed by the Office of Rail Regulation to undertake the works necessary for Waterloo international station to be used by domestic train services from December 2011.

CULTURE, MEDIA AND SPORT

AS Biss: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what payments the Olympic Delivery Authority has made to Mandate/AS Biss in the last 12 months; for what purpose; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments have been made. [305137]

Mr. Sutcliffe: I refer the hon. Member to the answer provided by the Minister for the Olympics on 14 December 2009, Official Report, column 641W.

Chief Information Officer

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport on what pay band his Department's Chief Information Officer (CIO) is employed; whether the CIO is employed on a fixed-term or permanent contract; and what the size is of the budget for which the CIO is responsible in the period 2009-10. [307569]

Mr. Simon: The Department's current Chief Information Officer (CIO) is a Deputy Director (Senior Civil Service Pay Band 1), is employed on a permanent contract and for 2009--10 is responsible for a budget of £5.2 million.

Departmental Billing

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many and what proportion of invoices submitted to his Department have been paid within 10 days in each month since October 2008, and if he will make a statement. [307954]

Mr. Simon: In October 2008 the Prime Minister announced that all central Government Departments will pay valid invoices within 10 (working) days.

The Department's performance for payment of invoices in each month since November 2008 against this commitment is set out in the table. There was no requirement to gather and maintain data on this basis prior to November 2008. To provide this information would incur disproportionate cost.

| | Number of invoices paid | Percentage of invoices paid within 10 working days |
|---|---|---|
| November 2008 | 454 | 43 |
| December 2008 | 492 | 77 |
| January 2009 | 410 | 80 |
| February 2009 | 434 | 87 |
| March 2009 | 538 | 88 |
| April 2009 | 437 | 87 |
| May 2009 | 355 | 85 |
| June 2009 | 407 | 84 |
| July 2009 | 633 | 91 |
| August 2009 | 506 | 94 |
| September 2009 | 512 | 91 |
| October 2009 | 553 | 95 |
| November 2009 | 562 | 94 |

Gambling Commission: Standards

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what recent discussions he has had with the Gambling Commission on increases to its efficiency. [305120]

Mr. Sutcliffe: My most recent meeting with the chair and chief executive of the Gambling Commission was held on 18 November where we discussed a range of issues relating to gambling regulation, including the Gambling Commission's costs and priorities.

Horserace Totalisator Board

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what the monetary value was of funds held by the Tote in unpaid winnings in each of the last 10 years. [307407]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The Tote has advised that gross figures for uncollected winnings recorded at the relevant financial year ends are:

| Financial year | Total dividends unclaimed (£) |
|---|---|
| 2009 | 1,041,131 |
| 2008 | 1,169,293 |
| 2007 | 1,033,620 |
| 2006 | 1,069,281 |
| 2005 | 943,604 |
| 2004 | 968,536 |
| 2003 | 858,503 |
| 2002 | 746,833 |
| 2001 | 667,401 |

For winning Tote pool bets that are uncollected, the liability to pay the winning ticket holder remains with the Tote as a contractual debt for six years (until a claim is time barred under the statute of limitations).

Accounting policies allow these unpaid dividends, less a provision based on the Tote's experience of likely volumes of late claims, to be counted into the Tote pool's yearly profit. This is, in turn, entirely paid through to Racing within the Tote's "Contribution to Racing" that is described in the Tote's annual report and accounts.

Public Expenditure

Mr. Mark Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much funding for (a) the arts, (b) heritage, (c) active leisure and (d) museums (i) his Department and (ii) each publicly-funded body within his Department's responsibility has provided for (A) England, (B) the South West Region and (C) each local authority area within the South West Region from 1997 to 2009. [307366]

Mr. Bradshaw: My Department does not hold the information in the format requested, however, it holds information on cultural recreational and sporting services by region as shown in the following table. These figures were published by HM Treasury in the Public Expenditure Statistical Analysis (PESA).

£ million

| | Cultural services | | Recreational and sporting services | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | England | South West | England | South West |
| 2003-04 | 858.2 | 77.7 | 131.7 | 6.8 |
| 2004-05 | 822.0 | 91.4 | 160.7 | 9.4 |
| 2005-06 | 880.0 | 80.6 | 129.3 | 3.9 |
| 2006-07[1] | 1,326.6 | 153.7 | 327.9 | 28.0 |
| 2007-08 | 1,240.5 | 123.0 | 331.9 | 27.1 |

[1] In 2006-07 HM Treasury adopted a functional analysis based on the United Nations Classification of the Functions of Government (COFOG). This means that lottery spending is allocated to specific areas of spend when it was previously recorded as a separate line.

Information for previous years is not available on a consistent basis.

Sports: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what steps his Department has taken to encourage the development of sports centres in Leeds city area. [306978]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Through Sport England, our non-departmental public body with responsibility for community sport, we provide a range of facilities and planning services that are designed to develop strategic planning for sports facilities across England. Sport England ensures that the development of new sports facilities is underpinned by a robust needs and evidence base.

Sport England also aim to improve facility design and modernisation to raise standards across the sector, with a series of detailed design guidance notes.

From 2002-03 to the first six months of 2009-10 the total value of capital awards to Leeds was £731,464. This includes two awards to modernise swimming facilities within Leeds through the Free Swimming programme, and awards made to six projects to develop community clubs.

From 1994-95 to the first six months of 2009/20-10 the total value of capital awards to Leeds was £13,611,140.

Sports: Obesity

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what steps his Department is taking to encourage participation in sport in order to reduce levels of obesity. [306980]

Mr. Sutcliffe: My Department is promoting sport for people of all ages and backgrounds, both as something enjoyable and worthwhile in itself and as something that has a vital role to play in tackling obesity. This is why we are working to get one million more people doing more sport, as part of a wider joint target with the Department of Health to get two million more people more physically active.

In addition, through the PE and Sport Strategy for Young People as part of Olympic PSA 22, we are creating a world-class system of PE and sport aiming to offer all young people five hours per week of PE and sport.

The strategy is jointly owned by DCMS and DCSF, and delivered by Sport England (community sport), and the Youth Sport Trust (school sport) through the network of 450 School Sport Partnerships.

In 2002 an estimated one in four children aged five to 16 were doing two hours of high quality PE and school sport each week; following £1.5 billion investment in 2003-08, 90 per cent. of pupils now do at least two hours in a typical week.

The strategy links closely with other cross-Government policies and investment, notably Change4Life, active play, combating childhood obesity, and Positive Activities for Young People.

Another example of our drive to reduce levels of obesity is the free swimming initiative whereby Departments across Government—DCMS, and the DH; Work and Pensions; Children, Schools and Families; and Communities and Local Government—joined together to provide a £140 million funding pot.

Our aim is that this provision, for over 60s and under 16s, should contribute to reducing levels of obesity and bring long-term benefits to health and well-being.

Television: Licensing

Mark Hunter: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what plans he has to enable British troops serving in Afghanistan to claim a rebate on their television licence fee for the time they are serving away from home. [307740]

Mr. Simon: Provision exists in the current legislation for refunds in certain circumstances. The interpretation and enforcement of the legislation on television licensing is a matter for the BBC.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Children: Day Care

Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many children aged (a) three and (b) four years old are receiving 15 hours a week of free nursery education in Hampstead and Highgate constituency. [304127]

Dawn Primarolo: Latest available data as at January 2009 show there are no three and four year old children receiving 15 hours a week of free nursery education in Hampstead and Highgate constituency.

Currently, all three and four year old children are entitled to 12.5 hours of free early education a week for 38 weeks per year. Since September 2009, all local authorities have been delivering an extended offer of 15 funded hours a week to their 25 per cent. most disadvantaged three and four year olds. This is in addition to 34 pathfinder local authorities already delivering an extended offer of 15 hours a week to all children in their area. Camden local authority, in which the Hampstead and Highgate constituency falls, is not one of the pathfinders.

From September 2010 all eligible three and four year old children will be entitled to 15 hours a week free provision over no fewer than 38 weeks of the year offered on a more flexible basis to better meet families' needs.

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many childcare places were provided in Leeds West constituency since 1997. [306939]

Jeff Ennis: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many childcare providers are based in Barnsley East and Mexborough constituency. [307162]

Dawn Primarolo: Information on the number of registered childcare providers and places is not available below local authority level.

Co-operative Schools

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what assistance his Department is providing for the expansion of the co-operative schools network; by what mechanism schools become co-operative schools; and what target he has set for the number of co-operative schools. [307656]

Mr. Coaker: A pilot of co-operative trust schools involving up to 100 schools was announced on 11 September 2008. The pilot provides up to an additional £5,000 for each school seeking to become a co-operative trust school (above and beyond the usual £10,000 support funding currently available for schools seeking trust status) to fund consultancy services, training and support to develop the membership model. The pilot will run for two years. The Secretary of State announced an aspiration of up to 200 co-operative schools at the co-operative conference on 11 September 2009.

The pilot is testing a particular model of trust school and any individual or organisation seeking to develop a co-operative membership trust is welcome to participate once we are satisfied of their ability of running a membership model. It is for the Governing Body of a school to decide whether or not trust status is right for the school, however, to access the support funding and advice and guidance on the technical processes around acquiring a trust, schools can submit an expression of interest to the Trust Schools programme. It is also possible for an academy to be established using the co-operative model.

Earlier this year, the Department published "Co-Operative Schools—Making a Difference", which marks the first time we have produced a guide on co-operative schools. It shows the wide range of ways that schools can embed co-operative values into the ethos through a range of schools models and offers practical advice on how schools can do this, and the support available.

The Department is working with the Co-operative Group and college to set up a network to support and develop co-operative trust schools, academies and other educational institutions and is providing £25,000 of funding to help establish the new network.

Departmental Correspondence

Janet Anderson: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families when the Minister of State for Further Education plans to reply to the letters of 7 August 2009 from the Director General of the Alliance against intellectual property theft and the Chief Executive of the Trading Standards Institute on intellectual property. [303092]

Kevin Brennan: I responded on 8 December. I apologise for the delay.

Departmental Travel

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families on what date he last travelled by (a) bus and (b) taxi in the course of his official duties. [302729]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Secretary of State last travelled by taxi in the course of his official duties on 8 December. We do not have any records of travel by bus in the course of official duties, but his last journey by London underground in the course of official duties was on 26 November.

SCOTLAND

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many (a) page hits and (b) visitors his Department's website received in 2008-09. [301843]

Ann McKechin: We do not hold the information requested.

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what redesigns of websites held by his Department have taken place since 27 June 2007; what the cost to the public purse was of each redesign; and when each redesign was conducted. [305953]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office and the Office of the Advocate-General jointly tendered for the redevelopment of both their websites in 2008. We went through a competitive tendering process following the principles of Government procurement. The cost for both websites was £12,880 plus VAT.

The redevelopment of the sites includes a comprehensive in-house content management system which represents considerable value for money and costs savings for both offices, both now and in the future.

SOLICITOR-GENERAL

Crown Prosecution Service

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how much the Crown Prosecution Service in (a) London and (b) each of its 42 regional offices spent on expenses for witnesses in cases that were adjourned or abandoned in each of the last five years for which figures are available. [305415]

The Solicitor-General: The Crown Prosecution Service does not maintain records of the value of witness expense payments by reference to case outcomes. It is unable to say, therefore, how much it spent on witness expenses in relation to cases which were subsequently adjourned or abandoned.

The CPS can report on total expenditure on ordinary professional and foreign witness expenses by CPS area for each of the last five financial years, and separately on the proportion of cracked and ineffective trials by CPS Area for each of the last five years.

Cracked and ineffective trials are cases listed by the court for trial in which witnesses are warned to attend court, but are not required to give evidence because the defendant pleaded guilty, or the prosecution offered no evidence, (cracked trial); or the trial had to be adjourned to another day, (ineffective trial).

Comparative 42 area and national CPS data showing witness expenses payments and cracked and ineffective trials can be found at tables A, B and C:

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how many cases were discontinued by the Crown Prosecution Service at (a) committal and (b) a later stage for reasons of (i) a lack of preparation and (ii) delay in each of the last five years; and how many cases were dismissed by (A) magistrates courts and (B) Crown courts for those reasons in each of those five years. [305445]

The Solicitor-General: Cases are rarely discontinued at committal for reasons of lack of preparation or delay. If a committal is not ready, the CPS tends to seek an adjournment to enable the file preparation to be completed. If the adjournment is not granted, the CPS will have to offer no evidence and the committal is 'discharged'.

Table A shows all reasons for which cases were discharged at committal during the four years for which data available. Each applicable reason is also expressed as a proportion of all completed cases in magistrates courts. Table B shows the reasons for which case were dropped in the Crown court following committal for trial, both by volume and as a proportion of completed Crown court cases.

No comparable analysis is maintained of the reasons why cases result in dismissal by the magistrates or acquittal by the jury, as these outcomes are the decision of the court rather than of the prosecution.

Proceedings for an offence that has been discharged at committal because the prosecution is unable to proceed may be re-instituted. After a committal has been discharged, the prosecutor will liaise with the police to consider whether the proceedings can be re-instituted.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Solicitor-General how many employment tribunals are considering cases relating to Crown Prosecution Service staff. [305509]

The Solicitor-General: There are currently 20 employment tribunal cases, lodged against the Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) by CPS staff.

Serious Fraud Office: Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Solicitor-General how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Serious Fraud Office's (SFO) buildings attended by civil servants in the SFO there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307448]

The Solicitor-General: The Serious Fraud Office has held three away days since 2005 at a total cost of £37,473.21 (including VAT).

DEFENCE

Hebrides Range

Mr. MacNeil: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will replace the surveillance and tracking equipment in use at Hebrides Range. [307042]

Mr. Quentin Davies: My officials are developing plans with the range operator, QinetiQ, for new investment in the Hebrides Range including the possible replacement or upgrade of surveillance and tracking equipment. The plans are at an early stage and no decisions have yet been taken. These plans will not involve redundancies.

Mr. MacNeil: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will upgrade the electricity generation facilities at St. Kilda in respect of Hebrides Range. [307043]

Mr. Quentin Davies: My officials are currently considering whether the existing electricity generators on St. Kilda should be replaced due to their age. This assessment will take into account the affordability and relative priority of any replacement compared with other potential investments. These plans will not involve redundancies.

Afghanistan: Armed Forces

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what steps have been taken to form local auxiliary forces outside the Afghan National Security Forces in Helmand province. [304351]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The main focus for Afghanistan to be able to take responsibility for its own security has been in developing the Afghan national Army and Afghan national police.

While there have been several initiatives by the Government of Afghanistan to form local auxiliary forces outside the Afghan National Security Forces, including plans for an Afghan national auxiliary police and an Afghan public protection programme, these have not been adopted in Helmand.

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what information his Department holds on the tribal origins of the (a) officers and (b) other ranks in the (i) present and (ii) expected future Afghan National Army; and what proportion are (A) currently serving and (B) expected to serve in Helmand province. [306746]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The tribal origins of the Afghan National Army are provided in the following table.

Percentage

| | Pashtun | Tajik | Hazara | Uzbek | Others |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Officer | 43 | 40 | 8 | 4 | 5 |
| Non commissioned officers | 42 | 40 | 8 | 6 | 4 |
| Enlisted | 39 | 33 | 12 | 9 | 7 |
| Overall ANA | 41 | 36 | 11 | 7 | 5 |

We expect the future tribal origins of the Afghan National Army to be consistent with the tribal targets for the Afghan National Army set by the Government of Afghanistan in 2002 which are Pashtums—42 per cent; Tajiks 27 per cent; Hazara—9 per cent; Uzbek—9 per cent; Other—13 per cent.

As announced by the Prime Minister on 14 October 2009, last year there were only 4,200 Afghan soldiers in Helmand; this year numbers have increased by an extra 50 per cent, to more than 6,000.

As announced by the Prime Minister on 30 November extra Afghan soldiers have started to arrive in Helmand this month with 600 arriving which equates to an extra company for each Afghan battalion there. A further 10 Afghan companies (1,000 more troops) will soon reinforce the Afghan army's 205 corps across southern Afghanistan.

We will continue to work closely with the Government of Afghanistan and the international community to build the capacity of the Afghan national security forces.

Afghanistan: Census

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many population censuses have been carried out in Britain's area of responsibility in Helmand province since 2005. [304352]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The last official population census carried out in Afghanistan, which included Helmand Province, was in 1970. A number of population estimates have been undertaken since then by international organisations and forces. For example in 2003 the Afghan Central Statistical Office/United Nations Population Fund conducted a Socio-Economic Demographic Profile which included a population estimate.

Afghanistan: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the Prime Minister's Statement of 30 November 2009, Official Report, columns 831-6W, on Afghanistan and Pakistan, on what date it was agreed with the Afghan government that the number of Afghan police in Helmand would increase to 4,100; and how many Afghan police were deployed in Helmand prior to that agreement. [304939]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: I have been asked to reply.

The decision to uplift the number of Afghan police in Helmand to 4,100 was announced by Afghan Minister of the Interior Hanif Atmar in July 2009. It followed discussion and agreement with the international community, including the UK, at the International Policing Coordination Board, chaired by Minister Atmar. It was part of a review of the Afghan national police by the Interior Ministry, which resulted in the decision to increase the number of police by 10,000 for 14 high-threat provinces ahead of the Afghan elections in August. Prior to that the Helmand allocation for Afghan national police was 3,500.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the average annual cost is of deployment of servicemen and women in Afghanistan since 2001. [306453]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The operational costs in Afghanistan are prepared and audited on an annual basis for the whole of the operation and do not separately identify information regarding the cost of each individual deployed in theatre. This is because deployed troops conduct many different tasks, using different equipment, which results in varying consumption rates.

The current forecast of costs for military operations in Afghanistan during the financial year 2009-10 is £3,754 million, as published in Winter Supplementary Estimates, 24 November 2009, Official Report, column 45-46WS. The cost of military operations (Request for Resources 2) is based on the net additional costs incurred for the full cost of items such as transport/movement, consumption, operational equipment and equipment support, operational allowances and welfare, utilities, infrastructure, communications, food, training, medical supplies, as well as non-cash costs such as depreciation and cost of capital charge. The costs that the Department would have incurred regardless of the operation taking place, such as payroll costs, are recorded against the core (Request for Resources 1) Defence budget.

However, a benchmark, based on the total level of expenditure against the total number of troops deployed in theatre in any given period, would equate to approximately £390,000 per service person as set out by the Prime Minister on 4 September 2009.

Lindsay Roy: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what recent discussions he has had with his US counterpart on the security situation in Afghanistan; and if he will make a statement. [306468]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth [holding answer 10 December 2009]: I discuss the security situation in Afghanistan with my US counterpart regularly. I spoke to Secretary Gates on 1 December ahead of President Obama's announcement that the United States would send an additional 30,000 troops to Afghanistan. Most recently, I met Secretary Gates in Afghanistan on 10 December 2009.

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when he expects 8 Squadron Royal Air Force to deploy as part of the NATO Airborne Early Warning and Control Force; and what estimate he has made of the cost of the deployment. [306835]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The deployment of personnel and equipment from 8 Squadron, Royal Air Force started on 8 December 2009. The estimated additional cost to the UK of the deployment of the Boeing E3D Sentry detachment is about £1.5 million.

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether the UK aircraft deployed as part of the NATO Airborne Early Warning and Control Force will fly over Afghan airspace. [306836]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The UK's Boeing E3D Sentry aircraft assigned to support the International Security Assistance Force will operate in Afghan airspace to meet the need for improved air traffic control in Afghanistan.

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence where the UK aircraft deployed as part of the NATO Airborne Early Warning and Control Force will be based. [306837]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: As I told the House on 8 December, Official Report, columns 14-15WS, the UK's Boeing E3D Sentry detachment that will operate in support of the International Security Assistance Force will be based in the middle east. I am not prepared to be more specific as to do so could harm our international relations.

Mr. Holloway: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what plans are in place to ensure that Christmas cards and gifts reach British troops serving in Afghanistan in time for Christmas; [307737]

(2) what proportion of Christmas cards and gifts sent to British troops in Afghanistan are expected to reach the troops in time for Christmas. [307741]

Bill Rammell: Mail posted before the last date of posting (4 December) will already have arrived in Afghanistan. All mail is expected to be with service personnel by Christmas subject to the availability of space within the supply chain in Afghanistan.

To ensure that mail reaches HM Forces in time for Christmas, MOD published last posting dates via the MOD, BFPO and Royal Mail websites. In addition, extra space on aircraft was allocated to move mail to Afghanistan and additional seasonal staff were employed by BFPO to process the Christmas mail surge.

Armed Forces: Mental Health Services

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what steps his Department has made to provide support for soldiers with mental health problems following active service in Iraq. [306949]

Mr. Kevan Jones: MOD takes very seriously its responsibility to provide high-quality mental health care to its personnel. Diagnosis and treatment of mental health disorders in members of the armed forces are performed by trained and accredited mental health personnel. In Iraq, we deployed uniformed mental health nurses to provide in-theatre care and treatment for our personnel. If personnel needed to leave the operational environment, then their care continued either on an out- or in-patient basis in the UK or their permanent base overseas.

In the UK, our mental health services for military personnel are configured to provide community-based mental health care, primarily through our 15 military Departments of Community Mental Health (DCMH) across the UK (plus centres overseas), which provide out-patient mental health care. The DCMH mental health teams, comprising psychiatrists, mental health nurses, clinical psychologists and mental health social workers, have particular expertise in treatments for psychological injury.

For the relatively small number of military patients who need it, in-patient care is currently provided by a group of seven NHS trusts located throughout England and Scotland, led by South Staffordshire and Shropshire NHS Foundation Trust (SSSFT) through a central MOD contract.

Armed Forces: Training

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many tactical training areas there are in the West Yorkshire region. [306956]

Bill Rammell: The term "tactical training area" is not recognised by the Ministry of Defence. However the term air tactical training is recognised and refers to the three areas of the UK where operational low flying is permitted.

There are no air tactical training areas in West Yorkshire

There are however three training areas in the West Yorkshire area (Ellingham Banks, Laver Banks and Ripon Parks) which are primarily used for low level dry training which does not involve live ammunition.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many members of the Officer Training Corps joined (a) the regular army and (b) the Territorial Army in 2008; and what percentage of the establishment of the corps this represented in each case. [307271]

Bill Rammell: In 2008, 271 members of the Officer Training Corps joined the Regular Army Commissioning Courses at Royal Military Academy Sandhurst; 86 members of the Officer Training Corps joined the Territorial Army Commissioning Courses at Royal Military Academy Sandhurst; and 129 members of the Officer Training Corps enlisted as soldiers. These numbers equate to, respectively, 9 per cent., 2.9 per cent. and 4.4 per cent. of the overall establishment of the Corps. In total, just under 50 per cent. of those leaving the Corps as graduates in 2008 went on to embark on a career in the Army.

Armed Services: Helicopters

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many helicopters belonging to each of the armed services are in (a) the United Kingdom, (b) Afghanistan and (c) each other location. [illegible]

Bill Rammell: The total number of Army, Royal Air Force (RAF) and Royal Navy helicopters based in the UK (as at 31 October 2009) is shown in the following table.

| Service | Total number of UK-based helicopters |
|---|---|
| Army | 182 |
| RAF | 167 |
| Navy | 128 |

There are a further 24 helicopters permanently based in Germany, Canada, Belize, Brunei and Oman.

A proportion of the UK-based Army, Navy and Royal Air Force helicopter fleets are currently deployed on expeditionary operations. We do not disclose the exact number of aircraft deployed on operations as to do so would, or would be likely to, prejudice the capability, effectiveness and security of these forces.

Cadets

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence which overseas nationalities are permitted to serve in the UK Combined Cadet Force. [illegible]

Mr. Kevan Jones: All boys and girls over the age of 13 who are pupils of the school are eligible to join the Combined Cadet Force (CCF); there are no nationality restrictions.

There are three different types of adult instructors in the CCF:

1. CCF officers who are part of the Reserve Forces and must meet at least one of the following criteria:

> at all times since birth been a British subject or a citizen of the Irish Republic;
>
> be permanently domiciled in the UK;
> have been born in a country or territory which is, or then was, within the Commonwealth or the Irish Republic;
> both parents were born in a country or territory which, is or then was, within the Commonwealth or the Irish Republic, or was at death, a British subject or a citizen of the Irish Republic.

2. School Staff Instructors; where there are no nationality restrictions but applications have to be approved by the Brigade.

3. Civilian Instructors; where there are no nationality restrictions but applications have to be approved by the Brigade.

Caparo Group

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the answer of 3 December 2009, Official Report, column 906W, on Caparo Group, what contracts his Department holds with the Caparo Group and its companies; and what the monetary value of each is. [illegible]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Department currently holds six contracts with the Caparo Group and its companies, totalling £488,784, mainly for automotive parts such as brake products, including discs, fluid and hoses for military support vehicles. I am withholding the breakdown of this information, as its disclosure would prejudice commercial interests.

Civil Servants: Compensation

Dr. Murrison: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) how much has been paid out to civil servants in his Department under the Civil Service no-fault compensation scheme in each year since the scheme was established; [306212]

(2) what the 10 highest payments made to civil servants in his Department under the Civil Service no-fault compensation scheme have been on each ground for payment since the scheme was established. [306213]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: There is no "civil service no-fault compensation scheme". However, the civil service injury benefits scheme (CSIBS) pays benefits regardless of whether injury or death of an employee results from the negligence of the Crown as the employer. For this reason, benefits are sometimes described as being paid on a no-fault basis. This answer is therefore based on the CSIBS.

The aim of the CSIBS is to provide a guaranteed level of income to the civil servant (or a dependant) where an injury (or death) at work results in the loss of earnings or earnings capacity. No compensation is paid for pain or suffering and benefits are reduced or expunged where damages are awarded for the same accident. Benefits are not payable where the injury or death is wholly or mainly due to the person's own serious and culpable negligence or misconduct.

Departmental records do not provide the value of CSIBS payments in such a way as to allow the questions to be answered as presented and to do so would incur disproportionate cost. However, in the period April to October 2009 the overall value of permanent awards was £378,622.51. By comparison, in the same period the armed forces compensation scheme paid out £19 million to members of the armed forces injured due to service, and the dependents of those killed due to service.

Defence: Procurement

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the answer of 23 November 2009, Official Report, column 22W, on defence: procurement, by what mechanism lessons learned from the procurement of the new sniper rifle sight will be applied to future procurement exercises. [307773]

Mr. Quentin Davies: There were no specific lessons learned from procurement of the Sniper Thermal Imaging Capability. This capability was procured as an Urgent Operational Requirement and met the needs of the users within the expected delivery date.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence which conferences held overseas have been attended by civil servants based in his Department in the last three years; and what the cost to the public purse was of such attendance at each conference. [illegible]

Mr. Kevan Jones: This information is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Expenditure on conferences must be incurred in accordance with the principles of the Treasury publications Managing Public Money and Regularity, Propriety and Value for Money.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Hands: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many plasma screen televisions his Department has purchased since 2001; and what the cost has been of purchasing and installing such screens in each such year. [illegible]

Mr. Quentin Davies: This information is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

All expenditure has to be incurred in accordance with the principles of the Treasury publications Managing Public Money and Regularity, Propriety and Value for Money.

Departmental Finance

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) approved budget for the 10-year equipment budget and (b) expenditure on the 10-year equipment programme was in each year since 1997. [illegible]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The MOD does not have an approved equipment budget for the 10-year planning horizon. The most recent comprehensive spending review set the Department's budget for the financial years 2008 to 2011 and departmental expenditure plans after 2010-11 have not yet been agreed. The Department does however have a 10-year Equipment Plan which is used for internal planning purposes only. As a general rule we do not currently comment on the plan as it is based upon internal planning assumptions which are inevitably subject to a significant amount of variation, and their availability could prejudice our commercial interests. In the future, as part of implementing the Bernard Gray recommendations we plan to provide an annual statement of the affordability of the programme against the defence budget.

Expenditure on the 10-year Equipment programme is published in the UK Defence Statistics 2009, Chapter 1—Finance, Table 1.4 and UK Defence Statistics 2002, Chapter 1, Table 1.7.

The UK Defence Statistics 2009, Chapter 1—Finance, Table 1.4 explains the omission of figures for 2001-02 and 2002-03.

Departmental Information and Communications Technology

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence on what pay band his Department's Chief Information Officer (CIO) is employed; whether the CIO is employed on a fixed-term or permanent contract; and what the size is of the budget for which the CIO is responsible in the period 2009-10. [307568]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Department's chief information officer (CIO) is employed at the senior civil service pay band 2 level, on a permanent contract. The CIO budget is £86.5 million, a significant proportion of which (£55 million) is allocated for spectrum usage charges paid to Ofcom for the frequency bands assigned to MOD.

Departmental Official Cars

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the cost to his Department of providing official cars for the use of (a) Ministers and (b) officials in the last 12 months. [301171]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The Government Car and Despatch Agency is responsible for providing the official car for use by the Secretary of State. Its cost was included in a ministerial statement on the Cost of Ministerial Cars for 2008-09 by my hon. Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Transport, the hon. Member for Gillingham (Paul Clark) on 16 July 2009, Official Report, columns 79-80WS. The Secretary of State has a car provided as part of the security necessary for the post holder.

The figures for SCS have been published on the MOD website at:

www.mod.uk

Departmental Publications

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when he expects to publish his Department's review of the work undertaken by the Royal Fleet Auxiliary; and if he will make a statement. [307745]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: This review is at an early stage. Progress updates will be provided twice a year alongside the Budget and pre-Budget reports.

Departmental Sick Leave

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many days of sickness absence were taken by staff in his Department and its agencies in each of the last 12 months for which figures are available; and what the cost to his Department was of such absence. [305551]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The information is not held in the format requested. MOD sickness figures are published in annual report available in the Library of House and quarterly on the MOD website at the following link:

www.mod.uk

Departmental Standards

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when he expects to publish his Department's Autumn Performance Report. [307356]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Department's Autumn Performance Report was published on 8 December. It can be found at the following link:

www.mod.uk/NR/rdonlyres/CB53888A-8BF0-40B4-827D-541DB9C44C9D/0/modpsa_20091201_q2_autumn.pdf

Departmental Training

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies spent on away days in the last 12 months; and what the (i) subject and (ii) location of each away day was. [306755]

Mr. Kevan Jones: MOD is dedicated to developing its staff and provides training and development opportunities to help employees realise their full potential and support the achievement of business objectives. Away days can be a vital part of that process.

Information on away days attended by civil servants is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. However, the organisation of meetings outside the Department's buildings is based on sound planning and adheres to our policies on propriety and value for money where accommodation costs and other charges are involved.

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside his Department's building attended by civil servants in his Department there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307520]

Mr. Kevan Jones: MOD is dedicated to developing its staff and provides training and development opportunities to help employees realise their full potential and support the achievement of business objectives. Away days and conferences can be a vital part of that process.

Information on away days and conferences attended by civil servants is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. However, the organisation of meetings outside the Department's buildings is based on sound planning and adheres to our policies on propriety and value for money where accommodation costs and other charges are involved.

Efficiency Savings

Linda Gilroy: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what efficiency savings have been achieved by his Department in each of the last 10 years; and how much of those savings has been spent on defence. [307406]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Efficiency commitments for financial years 1998-09 to 2001-02 were set out in the 1997 Strategic Defence Review. Further efficiency or value for money targets were set in each subsequent spending review. The way in which savings were measured varied over the period, and so direct comparisons between spending reviews is not possible.

Savings throughout the period were either used to relieve cost pressures or to allow more to be spent on Defence priorities.

Comprehensive spending review period 1998-99 to 2001-02

| | Cumulative savings (cash and resource, £ million) |
|---|---|
| 1998-1999 | 594 |
| 1999-2000 | 1,126 |
| 2000-01 | 1,549 |
| 2001-02 | 2,012 |

2002 spending review efficiency programme 2002-03 to 2005-06

The MOD's spending review 2002 included a target of year-on-year output efficiency gains of 2.5 per cent. from 2002-03 to 2005-06. No overall financial target was set, as savings were measured as the weighted average of performance against a set of process-related supported targets. MOD achieved the overall target of 10 per cent. savings, realised by several specific major change programmes.

Spending review 2004 for the period 2004-05 to 2006-07—'Gershon' efficiency programme

| | Cumulative annual savings (£ million) against April 2004 baseline |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 1,485 |
| 2006-07 | 2,376 |
| 2007-08 | 3,045 |

Comprehensive review period 2007-08 to 2010-11—value for money programme

| | Annual savings (£ million) against April 2008 baseline |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 650 |

Further information on all these savings, including details on how they were measured, can be found in MOD's Annual Report and Accounts, which can be found at the following link:

http://www.mod.uk/DefenceInternet/AboutDefence/CorporatePublications/AnnualReports

Electronic Warfare

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will require his Department to put in place sufficient resilience policy and practical measures to prevent cyber-attacks on the bases it operates. [303797]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Ministry of Defence has technical and procedural measures in place to protect it from, and mitigate, the impact of cyber attacks, as it does other threats and risks. The MOD conducts exercises to test these measures both internally, and with other Government agencies and our allies. Technical and procedural measures are constantly reviewed to reflect the dynamic nature of the threats. We do not comment on the detail of such protective measures in order not to provide information that could be exploited by a potential attacker.

Enhanced Learning Credit Scheme

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will allow service personnel who were unable to sign up to the Enhanced Learning Credit scheme due to operational service to sign up to the scheme with retrospective effect. [307231]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Where the reason for non-registration is as a result of their service in an operational theatre, members are already able to submit an application for consideration. If it is accepted to be beyond the individual's control then retrospective registration will be given.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the qualification criteria are for service personnel to be entitled to participate in the Enhanced Learning Credit scheme. [307232]

Mr. Kevan Jones: To be eligible to participate in the Enhanced Learning Credits scheme, service personnel must register for scheme membership either on enlistment or on the anniversary of their 8th year of service.

For service personnel who were serving prior to 1 April 2003, registration had to be completed by 1 April 2004. Where for service reasons they could not, applications can be submitted for retrospective registration.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much his Department spent on hotel accommodation for (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) civil servants in each of the last five years. [305664]

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) for how many nights hotel rooms were booked by (a) his Department, (b) its agencies and (c) the armed forces in each year since 2007; [304827]

(2) how much (a) his Department, (b) its agencies and (c) the armed forces have spent on hotel accommodation in each year since 2007. [304828]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The information is not held in the format requested and could be provided in that format only at disproportionate cost.

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much (a) his Department, (b) its agencies and (c) the armed forces have spent on hotel costs other than accommodation in each year since 2007. [304829]

Mr. Kevan Jones: This information is not distinguishable from other types of subsistence cost, whether related to hotels or not. It could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much (a) his Department, (b) its agencies and (c) the armed forces paid in fees to third-party agents in relation to booking hotel accommodation in each year since 2007. [304830]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Information is not held in the format requested and could be provided in that format only at disproportionate cost.

Joint Rapid Reaction Force

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence which brigade forms the Joint Rapid Reaction Force (JRRF); whether it is presently fully equipped; whether the present JRRF is deployed; and when the future JRRF will take over from the present JRRF. [304362]

Bill Rammell: The Army commitment to the Joint Rapid Reaction Force (JRRF) was originally centred on the Spearhead Land Element (SLE), the lead Airborne Task Force (ABTF) and the High Readiness Mechanised or Armoured Brigade. In February 2008, due to the deployment of 16 Air Assault Brigade to Afghanistan, the ABTF was replaced by the Small Scale Focused Intervention Battlegroup (SSFI BG). Due to our commitment to prioritise operations in Afghanistan, the ABTF has not yet been re-established. Instead the land elements of the JRRF that are currently held at high readiness are the Spearhead Land Element (SLE) and Small Scale Contingent Battle Group (SSC BG). The SLE is based on 1st Battalion the Royal Irish Regiment. The SSC BG is provided by 42 Commando, Royal Marines.

Both the SLE and the SSC BG are equipped according to their readiness states and neither is currently deployed.

Military Aircraft

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) Army, (b) Royal Air Force and (c) Royal Navy (i) fixed wing aircraft and (ii) helicopters are deployed in (A) Iraq and (B) Germany. [302827]

Bill Rammell: There are no UK fixed wing aircraft or helicopters deployed in Iraq.

There are 12 Lynx helicopters from the Army Air Corps based in Gutersloh, Germany, but no UK fixed wing aircraft.

Military Aircraft: Helicopters

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many aircraft in the UK helicopter fleet are contracted from the private sector; how many of each type; and what the duration of each hire is. [306459]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The contracts for the contractor owned military registered (COMR) helicopter fleets with UK armed forces are let on the basis of a contracted number of flying hours and availability. The actual numbers of airframes and specific aircraft types used in the fulfilment of the contract are a matter for the contractor to decide, based on their commercial and technical judgement.

The following table gives the unit that utilises the contracted helicopters, the aircraft type currently provided by the contractor, the number of hours per annum required by the contract and the dates the contract commenced and when it is currently due to expire. Some of the contracts have clauses to provide extensions to that expiry date, subject to the agreement of both parties.

| Unit | Type of aircraft | Flying hours per annum | Contract commenced | Contract expires |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Defence Helicopter Flying School (DHFS) | Eurocopter Squirrel and Bell Griffin HT1 | 28,000 (Squirrel); 8,500 (Griffin) | November 1996 | 31 March 2012 |
| Flag Officer Sea Training (FOST) | Eurocopter AS 3 65 Dauphin | 1,500 | 1 September 2004 | 31 March 2011 |
| 25 Flt AAC, Belize | Bell 212 | 1,200 | 1 October 2008 | 30 September 2013 |
| 7 Flt AAC, Brunei | Bell 212 | 1,200 | 1 October 2008 | 30 September 2013 |
| 670 Sqn AAC, Middle Wallop | Bell 212 | 225 | 1 October 2008 | 30 September 2013 |
| 32 Sqn, RAF Northolt | Agusta A109E | 900 | 1 April 2006 | 31 March 2011 |
| 84 Sqn, RAF Akrotiri, Cyprus | Bell Griffin HAR2 | 1,600 | 1 April 2003 | 31 March 2010 |

DHFS consists of 705NAS, 660 Squadron AAC, 60(R) Sqn RAF and Central Flying School (Helicopter) all based at RAF Shawbury, Search and Rescue Training Unit at RAF Valley and elements of 668 and 670 Squadrons AAC at Middle Wallop.

In addition the following contracts for civilian registered and crewed helicopters are let.

| Unit | Type of aircraft | Flying hours per annum | Contract commenced | Contract expires |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| British Forces South Atlantic Islands (BFSAI) | Sikorsky S61N | 1,800 | 1 July 2005 | 30 June 2011 |
| FOST | Sikorsky S61N | 200 | Awarded as extension to Dauphin contract | 31 March 2011 |

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what his most recent assessment is of helicopter availability to the armed forces; what equipment assessment was made in each of the last five years; and what forecast he has made of changes to helicopter availability in the next five years; [306543]

(2) what assessment he has made of the helicopter availability requirements of the armed forces in the next 18 to 60 months. [306546]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The Department plans its current and future helicopter force on the basis of an assessment of the capability required to achieve military success in a range of military tasks and operational scenarios. For instance our helicopter force is currently required to support: overseas expeditionary operations in Afghanistan, anti-piracy and other maritime operations and support to the civil authorities within the UK. The Royal Navy and RAF Sea King fleets also contribute to the provision of Search and Rescue Capability. A proportion of the fleet is at all times engaged in providing live training to crews, ensuring they are fully prepared for deployment on current operations and contingent tasks.

Our helicopter requirements are kept under constant review. The requirement for helicopter capability on operations is set by the Permanent Joint Headquarters. Our current fleet is meeting the operational requirement but we recognise we can always do more with more, and this is why Secretary of State for Defence, right hon. Bob Ainsworth announced on 15 December 2009 a new Future Rotary Wing Strategy, of which the key element is the procurement of at Chinook helicopters delivering some 40 per cent. more support helicopters suitable for operations in demanding environments such as Afghanistan by 2016. The new strategy will also see the retirement of the whole Sea King fleet by early 2016 allowing the MOD to operate, by around 2022 four broadly equal sized core helicopter fleets of Chinook, Apache, Wildcat and Merlin.

Nuclear Weapons

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment was made in the best practical environmental options selection study for the Enriched Uranium Project of the merits of the purchase from the US of enriched uranium components for (a) the naval nuclear propulsion programme and (b) the nuclear warhead programme. [305748]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: A wide range of factors were taken into account in identifying a preferred means of meeting the enriched uranium requirements of the Defence

Nuclear Programme. These included safety, the environment, risk, cost-effectiveness, security of supply and security classification considerations. I am withholding further details for the purpose of safeguarding national security.

Project Catara

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether an Airspace Study has been completed in connection with Project Catara. [307118]

Bill Rammell: The airspace issues relating to Project Catara were considered as part of the Strategic Review of RAF Brize Norton, RAF Lyneham and RAF St. Mawgan, the primary outcome of which was a decision to collocate air transport assets at RAF Brize Norton. It was considered that airspace implications did not preclude such a move.

However, consideration of potential airspace issues relating to the expansion of RAF Brize Norton's role remains ongoing.

RAF Bases

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether the RAF liaison officer is the commanding officer at (a) RAF Croughton, (b) RAF Barford St. John, (c) RAF Menwith Hill, (d) RAF Fairford, (e) RAF Welford (f) RAF Alconbury, (g) RAF Molesworth, (h) RAF Lakenheath and (i) RAF Mildenhall. [307288]

Bill Rammell: RAF Croughton, RAF Barford St. John, RAF Menwith Hill, RAF Fairford, RAF Welford, RAF Alconbury, RAF Molesworth, RAF Lakenheath and RAF Mildenhall are all made available to the United States Visiting Force (USVF). These sites are commanded by a US officer, usually a United States Air Force officer, at colonel rank.

An RAF commander is present at the main USVF sites, at a lower rank, normally squadron leader. The role of the RAF commander is to liaise with the US base commander and act as head of establishment for Ministry of Defence employees. There are no RAF commanders at RAF Barford St. John, RAF Welford and RAF Molesworth as these sites are administered by other USVF sites.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) US forces personnel, (b) US civilians, (c) US contractors, (d) UK military personnel and (e) UK civilians are based at (i) RAF Blenheim Crescent, (ii) RAF Digby and (iii) RAF St. Mawgan; and whether the RAF liaison officer in the commanding officer at each base. [307289]

Bill Rammell: The numbers of UK personnel at RAF Digby, RAF St. Mawgan and Blenheim Crescent as at 1 October 2009 are shown in the following table:

| Site | MOD civilian personnel | Military personnel |
|---|---|---|
| RAF Digby | 160 | 510 |
| RAF St. Mawgan | 180 | 210 |
| Blenheim Crescent | — | — |

Notes:
1. MOD civilian figures are based on headcount. Figures include MOD main industrial (skill zone) and non-industrial staff.
2. The military personnel figures represent the number of service personnel that are stationed at that location. This may differ from the actual number of people working at that location at that time e.g., due to deployments.

There are 40 UK civilian personnel and contractors employed by the US at Blenheim Crescent.

The numbers of US personnel at RAF Digby, RAF St. Mawgan and Blenheim Crescent as at 1 December 2009 are shown in the following table:

| Site | US military | US civilians | US contractors |
|---|---|---|---|
| RAF Digby | 50 | 5 or less | [1]— |
| RAF St Mawgan | [1]— | 5 or less | [1]— |
| Blenheim Crescent | 20 | 40 | 5 or less |

[1] Denotes a count of zero.

Note:
Numbers are rounded to the nearest 10. Numbers ending in "5" have been rounded to the nearest multiple of 20 to prevent systematic bias.

Blenheim Crescent is made available to the United States visiting force and is commanded by a US officer. RAF Digby and RAF St. Mawgan are commanded by an RAF Station Commander.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence for what reasons there are no RAF personnel at (a) RAF Barford St John, (b) RAF Blenheim Crescent, (c) RAF Welford, (d) RAF Molesworth, (e) RAF Upwood, (f) RAF Feltwell, (g) RAF Brampton and (h) RAF Henlow; and who the commanding officer is at each base. [307290]

Bill Rammell: RAF Barford St. John, RAF Welford, RAF Molesworth, RAF Upwood, RAF Feltwell and Blenhiem Crescent are all made available to the United States visiting force (USVF). These bases are all administered by other USVF sites, and as such, there are no RAF personnel at these sites with the exception of RAF Molesworth where there is one RAF officer present. As with all RAF stations where the USVF are present, the base commander is usually a United States Air Force officer, at colonel rank.

With regard to the numbers of RAF personnel at RAF Brampton and RAF Henlow, I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave on 7 December 2009, Official Report, column 90W.

RAF Fairford

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what emergency services will be maintained at RAF Fairford following the withdrawal of the US Air Force in 2010. [306812]

Bill Rammell: The current planning intent is to retain 24-hour fire and rescue services making use of Defence Fire Risk Management Organisation (DFRMO) personnel. Details surrounding shift patterns and numbers of personnel are being progressed with DFRMO and US Fire Service personnel at RAF Croughton, with formal trade union consultation expected to commence in January 2010.

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the effect on emergency plane diversion plans from RAF Brize Norton of the US Air Force's withdrawal from RAF Fairford in September 2010. [306813]

Bill Rammell: The withdrawal of the United States Air Force from RAF Fairford will have no effect in the event of an aircraft having to make an emergency diversion from RAF Brize Norton.

RAF Lyneham

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the cost of decontamination at a vacated RAF Lyneham were the site to be sold for (a) commercial development, (b) agricultural purposes and (c) continuing military use. [307119]

Bill Rammell: It is the Department's policy to undertake a Land Quality Assessment (LQA) in advance of disposal of any site. Until an LQA to support disposal has been completed, it is not possible to give an estimate of costs relating to land contamination. We currently anticipate that an initial LQA of the site will be undertaken in financial year 2010-11.

If no further defence or wider government use can be found for RAF Lyneham, the site will be handed over to Defence Estates late 2012 for disposal on the open market or to former owners. However, it is too early to speculate at this stage what alternative non-military uses of the site might be.

RAF Welford

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether there are Ministry of Defence Police Agency staff based at RAF Welford. [307291]

Bill Rammell: There are currently both MOD police officers and members of the MOD Guard Service based at RAF Welford.

Rescue Services: Pembrokeshire

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the likely effects of reduced operational hours at RMB Chivenor on search and rescue operations in Pembrokeshire. [306657]

Bill Rammell: With regard to current helicopter Search and Rescue: RMB Chivenor are due to provide 12-hour daytime cover only between 31 December and 7 February as part of a short-term programme of rotating night time closures. However, it is hoped that recent increases in trained SAR personnel may enable a return to 24-hour cover during this period. Arrangements are in place for all UK SAR helicopter units to provide temporary cover if required. The provision of adjacent SAR cover is standard practice and occurs routinely when a SAR helicopter is airborne on a search and rescue sortie or is unserviceable.

When the new Search and Rescue Helicopter (SAR-H) service takes over sometime after 2012, the service provided from RMB Chivenor will operate in the daytime only. In reaching this decision very careful consideration was given to ensuring that the future coverage would still be able to fully meet our national requirement for a night-time SAR Helicopter service to be able to reach all very high, high and 75 per cent. of medium risk areas within one hour from take off. The future SAR Helicopter service will benefit from new modern helicopters which will enable faster transit times to incidents in and from take off. The future SAR Helicopter service will benefit from new modern helicopters which will enable faster transit times to incidents in and around the UK including Pembrokeshire. These helicopters will be some 30 per cent. faster than the current MOD Sea Kings. As a result, the average transit time to all incidents in the Pembrokeshire area and its surrounding coastal waters during the night time (when it would be served by an adjacent base) will be comparable to the current transit times. Historically, over the last five years, RMB Chivenor has responded to a maximum of five incidents per year at night off the coast of Pembrokeshire.

Security Companies

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) complaints and (b) reports of human rights abuses in relation to activities of private military and security companies have been received by his Department awarded contracts by his Department in each of the last five years. [307010]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: No complaint or reports of human rights abuses have been received in connection to the activities of private security companies contracted by the MOD in the last five years.

Translation Services

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Punjabi speaking translators were available to (a) British and (b) coalition forces in (i) Iraq and (ii) Afghanistan in 2004. [305846]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Punjabi was not identified as an operational language in 2004 and has not been identified as such subsequently. There is therefore no record of Punjabi speaking translators available to British forces in 2004 in Iraq or Afghanistan. The MOD does not hold information on the number of Punjabi speaking translators available to coalition forces in either country.

Trident

Willie Rennie: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much his Department has paid Rolls-Royce for extending the life of the reactors for the Trident submarines. [305482]

Mr. Quentin Davies [holding answer 9 December 2009]: The Department has spent around £7 million with Rolls-Royce to assess the implications and undertake research work required to support the planned design life extension of the reactor plants, as advised in the 2006 Defence White Paper: The Future of the United Kingdom's Nuclear Deterrent (Cm 6994).

Mrs. Cryer: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence with reference to his letter of 28 August 2009 to the hon. Member for Keighley, ref: D/Min(AF)/BR

MC03817/2009, on Trident replacement programme, when he expects to make the initial gate decision on the replacement of the Trident nuclear weapons system; and if he will make a statement. [307605]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: We had originally planned to consider the Concept Phase in autumn, but further time has been required to ensure that we take decisions based on robust information. We are aiming to be in a position to make an announcement early in the new year.

OLYMPICS

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside her Office's buildings attended by civil servants in her Office there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307466]

Tessa Jowell: Information on away days and conferences attended by civil servants in the Cabinet Office and the Department for Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS) will be covered in the answers provided by the Minister of State for the Cabinet Office and the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State at DCMS, respectively.

Olympic Games 2012: Culture

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many programmes have been launched in each region as part of the Cultural Olympiad. [307133]

Tessa Jowell [holding answer 14 December 2009]: The London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games (LOCOG) works with the Cultural Olympiad Board and delivery partners throughout the cultural sector to deliver the Cultural Olympiad.

Many of the Major Projects that form the centerpiece of the Cultural Olympiad will have a regional dimension. Three of these have already launched—'Artists Taking The Lead', 'Stories of the World' and 'Unlimited'.

There is also a grassroots programme of cultural celebration led by LOCOG. This forms two parts. Firstly, London 2012 Open Weekend was held in September 2008 to launch the Cultural Olympiad, and then again in July 2009 to mark '3 Years To Go'. Secondly, LOCOG has developed the 'Inspire Mark', a version of the London 2012 brand for community use to launch or support local and legacy projects genuinely inspired by the Games. Details of these appear in the following table.

Grassroots Cultural Olympiad projects by region, December 2009

| Region | Open weekend 2008 | Open weekend 2009 | Inspire mark |
|---|---|---|---|
| Northern Ireland | 20 | 19 | 11 |

Olympic Games 2012: Security

Tom Brake: To ask the Minister for the Olympics (1) what estimate she has made of the cost of the installation of the biometric hand and iris scanners for workers at the Olympic Park; [304865]

(2) how many biometric hand and iris scanners (a) have been and (b) are planned to be installed at the Olympic Park; [304918]

(3) what recent estimate she has made of the unit cost of obtaining iris information from an individual scanned at the Olympic Park; [304919]

(4) what the cost is of each biometric (a) hand and (b) iris scanner installed at the Olympic Park. [304864]

Tessa Jowell: The Olympic Delivery Authority (ODA) is committed to ensuring that the Olympic Park, venues and the work force engaged there are protected through proportionate security measures. Access controls, including the use of the latest technology, enable properly authorised, equipped and trained workers to enter and leave the Olympic Park quickly and safely.

To date, 43 hand readers and nine iris readers have been installed on the Olympic Park. The total number planned for installation is 65 and 13 respectively. The cost of each biometric hand and iris scanner is £1,416 for hand readers, and £2,824 for iris readers.

The estimated total cost of the installation of both hand and iris readers will be approximately £180,000, including installation and maintenance costs.

The iris biometric is an alternative to the hand geometry biometric, to facilitate the biometric enrolment of those workers on the Olympic Park who may have difficulty using the hand geometry system. Biometric access controls are routinely used on many major UK construction sites. The Olympic Park is the largest construction site in Europe, and we take our responsibility for the health and safety of the work force, and local residents very seriously.

Biometric checks are used to control access to the site only after the identity of individuals has been verified, including by the UK Borders Agency. After verification of identity, individuals go through an enrolment process, a small part of which is the capture of biometric data, which carries no additional cost. When individuals are then scanned upon entry to the park site, biometrics are checked against the data captured during the enrolment process.

Olympic Games 2012: West Midlands

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many new sporting facilities are to be created in (a) the West Midlands and (b) Staffordshire arising from the London 2012 Olympics. [301614]

Tessa Jowell: Exchequer funding for sport has almost doubled since London's Olympic win in Singapore. In the three years up to the IOC vote in 2005 the amount of Exchequer funding from DCMS was £313 million, in the three years following it was £580 million.

Sport England is investing £480 million of Exchequer and lottery funds through 46 national governing bodies over the next four years to deliver this target and increase participation throughout the country. A proportion of the £480 million will be invested into capital facilities throughout the country.

The Government have provided £140 million for Free Swimming. This has helped deliver 10.4 million free swims for under 16s and over 60s around the country between April and September 2009. There are two new swimming pools in the West Midlands that have received funding from the Free Swimming Capital Modernisation Fund which will be completed in the next few months. Between June and September 2009 there have been 1,414,817 free swims in the West Midlands.

In the West Midlands the percentage of adults participating in sport at least three times a week increased from 14.5 per cent. in 2005-06 to 14.9 per cent. in 2007-08. In Staffordshire the percentage of adults participating in sport at least three times a week increased from 15.8 per cent. to 17.4 per cent. (The national average was 15.5 per cent. in 2005-06 and 16.5 per cent. in 2007-08).

The London Organising Committee of the Olympic and Paralympic Games is actively seeking a games-time football venue in the Midlands.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Afghanistan

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many (a) British and (b) Afghan speakers of each Afghan language are employed in Afghanistan by his Department. [301942]

Chris Bryant: Language training requirements for staff working in Afghanistan are kept under regular review. We work to balance cost-effectiveness of training with the need to support high-quality diplomatic engagement in country. For many jobs in-country, such as those which require little or no contact with Afghans outside the embassy, no local language skills are necessary. It is more cost effective to employ locally-recruited Afghan staff in many positions which require local language skills.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) currently has six UK based officers with a relevant language proficiency deployed in Afghanistan, five with Dari and one with Pashtu. We employ locally-recruited Afghan staff in many positions which require local language skills. For example, where we need to engage in Helmand Province at high levels, we will always use one of our 10 qualified locally engaged Pashtu interpreters to ensure that both sides fully understand the issues being discussed. In Kabul there are 66 Afghan staff working alongside staff from the UK, in Lashkar Gah 18 and in Helmand's district centres a further 11 who between them all speak Dari and Pashtu.

Angad Paul

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what meetings (a) he, (b) other Ministers and (c) officials in his Department have had with Angad Paul in each of the last three years. [302870]

David Miliband: Ministers and officials meet a variety of individuals in the public and private sectors as part of the process of policy development and delivery. There is no central record of all individuals met by officials. A list of organisations met by Ministers is regularly placed on the FCO website at http://foi.fco.gov.uk/en/released-documents/view-releases/releases-date-2009.

Anti-Semitism

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what progress has been made in implementing the Final Declaration of the London conference on combating anti-Semitism, with particular reference to (a) establishing an international taskforce of internet specialists to measure anti-Semitism online and propose international responses and (b) exposing and isolating (i) governments and (ii) politicians engaging in anti-Semitism; and if he will make a statement. [305397]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Government are committed to tackling anti-Semitism. We condemn all instances of persecution and discrimination against individuals and groups wherever they occur.

The recommendations of the London Declaration has informed activity both within cross-Government hate crime programmes and in our international work, particularly within the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE). My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister became the first world leader to sign the London Declaration on Combating Anti-Semitism on 25 February 2009 and on signing the declaration he said

> "So many of the principles it enshrines are already things we are doing here in Britain and while I'm proud of the bold action Britain has taken to combat anti-Semitism such as improved reporting, prosecutions for anti-Semitic internet hate and the funding of Holocaust Education in schools, there is no room for complacency."

The Cross-Government Hate Crime Action Plan includes activity in support of the declaration and was launched on 14 September. It can be viewed at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/documents/hate-crime-action-plan

More recently in December the OSCE Ministerial Council agreed a Decision on Combating Hate Crimes. It contains helpful UK-inspired language on addressing "the increasing use of the Internet to advocate views constituting an incitement to bias-motivated violence including hate crimes". It also encourages OSCE participating states to seek opportunities to co-operate and tasks the OSCE's Office of Democratic Institutions and Human Rights to undertake some exploratory work.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much his Department spent on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in his Department's buildings in the last 12 months. [305683]

Chris Bryant: In the last 12 months the cost of work undertaken in the offices allocated to two Ministers has totalled £6,973. This has covered the scheduled redecoration and re-carpeting of one office last redecorated more than 10 years ago at a cost of £5,385 (£2,762 for redecoration, £2,226 for re-carpeting and £398.96 for management of the works) and the repainting of walls in a second office at a cost of £1,588. Costs were met from existing maintenance budgets.

Departmental Contracts

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs with reference to the answer of 14 July 2009, Official Report, columns 320-324W, on departmental contracts, what the purpose was of the contracts worth (a) £103,885 and (b) £131,684, listed as Staff Replacements; when those funds were disbursed to TPS consult; what assessment was made of the benefits to his Department of that expenditure; and if he will make a statement. [305477]

Chris Bryant: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) has a framework agreement for construction consultancy services with 15 companies, one of which is TPS Consult. In 2008, Estate and Security Group of FCO Services (an executive agency of the FCO operating as a trading fund) used this framework for two security cleared technical staff from TPS Consult to fill vacant slots whilst a recruitment process was carried out to fill the vacancies permanently.

Since question 285289 on 14 July, updated figures for contract (a) show that a total of £117,675 has now been paid in fourteen separate payments for the services of an electrical engineer between May 2008 and September 2009. This contract has since been terminated and a permanent incumbent recruited. Details of individual payments are contained in the attached spreadsheet for contract (a), a copy of which will be placed in the Library.

Updated figures for contract (b) show that a total of £138,612 has been paid in 12 separate payments for the services of an architectural technician between May 2008 and September 2009. This contract remains extant and is under constant review. Details of individual payments are contained in the attached spreadsheet for contract (b), a copy of which will be placed in the Library.

Assessments of benefits were made by FCO Services, in the form of the business plan and their ability to continue to provide the services they had been contracted to deliver.

Departmental Freedom of Information

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many requests under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 his Department received in 2008; and how many of these received a substantive response within 20 days. [305502]

Chris Bryant: Statistics published by the Ministry of Justice on freedom of information in central Government for 2008 show that of a total of 1,019 non-routine requests received by the Department (based on aggregated quarterly data) 80 per cent. (815) received a substantive response within 20 days. 98 per cent. (994) of requests were dealt with 'in time', that is within 20 days by meeting the deadline or other permitted extension deadline.

The statistics can be found on the Ministry of Justice website at:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/freedomofinformationquarterly.htm

and copies are available in the Library of the House.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many staff of his Department were in its redeployment pool on 1 (a) January, (b) April, (c) July and (d) October 2009. [306716]

Chris Bryant: The corporate pool is a valuable source of short-term cover for urgent operational demands, for example the recently announced Afghanistan conference, where corporate pool resources have been essential. However, it is kept under constant review to ensure that the number of people in the pool is kept at the optimum level.

The size of the pool during 2009 was as follows.

| | Total |
|---|---|
| January | 228 |
| April | 232 |
| July | 218 |
| October | 215 |

Over 90 per cent. of staff in the corporate pool were deployed to departments or on language or other pre-posting training. The October figures represent 4.6 per cent. of total UK-based staff.

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs with reference to the FCO-DfID Shared Services Plan of November 2006, which body is responsible for assessing in each instance whether sharing services represent value for money; and what criteria are used in making such an assessment. [307055]

David Miliband: Under the 2006 Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO)-Department for International Development (DFID) Shared Services Plan the two Departments have agreed to work together to share services wherever it represents value for money.

Work to date has focused on increasing co-location of FCO and DFID operations in countries where both departments have a presence, harmonising the pay and conditions of support staff, increasing collaboration in procurement, coordinating ICT plans, and improving practical cooperation in the UK and overseas.

The two Departments meet quarterly at senior official level to review progress. They seek in these discussions to make joint assessments of whether co-operation in a given area is delivering value for money and the other practical benefits which the plan aims to achieve.

Departmental Official Gifts

Mr. Holloway: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what official gifts he and his predecessors have received from the President of Afghanistan and other Ministers in the Pakistani government in each year since 2001. [307743]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Government have published annual lists of gifts given and received by Ministers in an official capacity valued at over £140 since 2001. Copies of the lists are available in the Libraries of the House. The 2008-09 list was published on 16 July 2009.

Departmental Training

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many officials within his Department received training other than language training in financial year (a) 2006-07, (b) 2007-08 and (c) 2008-09; and how many he expects to receive such training in 2009-10. [307048]

David Miliband: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) provides a wide range of developmental and skills training to staff in the UK and overseas. This includes face-to-face training in the UK and through regional training centres overseas (RTCs) and e-learning courses. In financial year 2008-09 human resources directorate offered about 1,929 face-to-face training places in the UK and 10,231 places through RTCs. More than 4,450 staff in the UK and overseas used e-learning courses.

Directorates and posts in the FCO also provide subject specific training, for example on economic reporting, counter terrorism, security, information technology, climate change. It would incur a disproportionate cost to provide details of the number of staff trained by directorates and posts as this information is not held centrally.

The number of training places we offer in financial year 2010-11 will depend on the budget available. Providing appropriate training for staff in the UK and overseas will remain an important tool in helping staff deliver the FCO's departmental strategic objectives effectively.

Departmental Travel

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs on what date he last travelled by (a) bus and (b) taxi in the course of his official duties. [302735]

Chris Bryant: In the course of his official duties, the Foreign Secretary normally travels by car, consistent with the Ministerial Code:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/media/cabinetoffice/propriety_and_ethics/assets/ministerial_code_current.pdf and security requirements.

Hezbollah

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs for what reasons the Government will be holding discussions with Hezbollah; whether there are any preconditions attached to these discussions; who will be attending these discussions on behalf of the Government; and if he will make a statement. [306093]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Government policy towards Hezbollah is one of limited and considered contacts with some Hezbollah politicians. We will be taking a pragmatic approach by speaking to known moderate political figures who, to the best of our knowledge, have no links with acts of violence.

Other than these, there are no established preconditions at present.

There has only been one specific meeting between our ambassador in Beirut and an Hezbollah MP, Mohammad Raad, on 18 June 2009. During this meeting the ambassador discussed the formation of the new Lebanese Government, and implementation of United Nations Security Council Resolution 1701. Our ambassador pressed for full implementation of 1701, especially in relation to arms.

In the future, where we have contacts, members of our embassy in Beirut will represent the Government accordingly.

Libya

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his US counterpart on the (a) amount and (b) technological sophistication of biological and chemical material shipped from Libya to the US for evaluation. [306916]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The UK and US have regular discussions about Libya's progress towards its 2003 commitment to destroy all remaining weapons of mass destruction. The US report that there have been no shipments of chemical and biological material and there are no plans to do so.

Members: Correspondence

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he plans to reply to the letter from the hon. Member for Hemel Hempstead dated 28 October 2009, on a difficulty experienced in corresponding with the Embassy of the Republic of Bulgaria. [307319]

Chris Bryant: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office did not receive the original letter from the hon. Member for Hemel Hempstead. Following a call to the hon. Member's parliamentary office on 11 December 2009, a copy has now been received and will be dealt with as soon as possible.

Middle East: Armed Conflict

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports the Government have received in respect of (a) military activity at al-Quads hospital in Gaza on 15 January 2009, (b) the use of white phosphorous shells during the attack by Israeli forces on (i) al-Quads hospital and (ii) al-Wafa hospital and (c) the use made of the site of (A) the el-Bader flour mill and (B) the Atta Abu Jubbah cement packaging plant in the Gaza Strip prior to their targeting by Israeli forces during January 2009. [306677]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: There have been various reports conducted into the Gaza conflict, some by human rights organisations such as Human Rights Watch and Amnesty International. However, these specific issues are covered in the Government of Israel's July 2009 report "The Operation in Gaza: Factual and Legal Aspects" and the UN Fact Finding Mission on Gaza Report.

Copies of these reports can be found at:

http://www.mfa.gov.il/MFA/Terrorism-+Obstacle+to+Peace/Hamas+war+against+Israel/Operation_in_Gaza-Factual_and_Legal_Aspects.htm

and

http://www2.ohchr.org/english/bodies/hrcouncil/docs/12session/A-HRC-12-48.pdf.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has been clear from the beginning of the Gaza conflict that all allegations of violations of international humanitarian law committed by anyone during the conflict should be properly investigated.

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports his Department has received on the directions given to civilians in Gaza by Palestinian armed groups in respect of going to or remaining at sites targeted for attack under Operation Cast Lead. [306679]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: There have been various reports conducted into the Gaza conflict, some by human rights organisations such as Human Rights Watch and Amnesty International. However, the specific issue of directions given to civilians in Gaza by Palestinian armed groups is documented in the Government of Israel's July 2009 report "The Operation in Gaza: Factual and Legal Aspects" (paragraphs 186 to 189) and the UN Fact Finding Mission on Gaza Report.

Copies of these reports can be found at:

http://www.mfa.gov.il/MFA/Terrorism-+Obstacle+to+Peace/Hamas+war+against+Israel/Operation_in_Gaza-Factual_and_Legal_Aspects.htm

and

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has been clear from the beginning of the Gaza conflict that all allegations of violations of international humanitarian law committed by anyone during the conflict should be properly investigated.

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports his Department has received on the use of (a) hospital facilities and (b) ambulances by (i) the authorities in Gaza and (ii) Palestinian armed groups during Operation Cast Lead. [306680]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: There have been various reports conducted into the Gaza conflict, some by human rights organisations such as Human Rights Watch and Amnesty International. However, the specific allegations of misuse of medical facilities and ambulances is documented in the Government of Israel's July 2009 report "The Operation in Gaza: Factual and Legal Aspects" (pp64-67, paragraphs 171 to 180) and the UN Fact Finding Mission on Gaza Report (page 117).

Copies of these reports can be found at:

http://www.mfa.gov.il/MFA/Terrorism-+Obstacle+to+Peace/Hamas+war+against+Israel/Operation_in_Gaza-Factual_and_Legal_Aspects.htm

and

The Foreign Secretary has been clear from the beginning of the Gaza conflict that all allegations of violations of international humanitarian law committed by anyone during the conflict should be properly investigated.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on (a) the number of incidents in which Israeli military forces have fired on Gazan (i) farmers and (ii) fishermen in each of the last four quarters and (b) the resultant injuries. [306776]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: According to the UN in 2009 (to November) one fisherman has been killed, 24 fishermen and six farmers have been injured as a result of warning shots fired by Israeli forces.

The UK recognises Israel's right to defend itself but calls upon the Israeli Government to act with restraint and in accordance with international law.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what his policy is on Israeli naval restrictions on Gazan fishermen. [306784]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Israeli restrictions on Gaza, including those on Gazan fisherman, continue to have a detrimental effect on the Gazan economy. We are clear in our call for Israel to relax its restrictions on Gaza.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether the Prime Minister has received a response to his joint letter of 16 October 2009 with President Sarkozy to his Israeli counterpart on the report of the UN Fact Finding Mission to Gaza; and whether the Israeli Government has taken any of the actions requested in the letter. [306798]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The joint letter was the culmination of substantive discussions between my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister, President Sarkozy and Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu ahead of an important vote in the Human Rights Council on the serious issues raised by the UN Fact Finding Mission on Gaza report. Ministers have followed-up with further discussions, notably my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary with his Israeli counterpart on 25 November 2009 and the Secretary of State for International Development with Defence Minister Barak on 1 December 2009.

On 25 November 2009, the Israeli Government announced a 10-month moratorium on settlement construction in the West Bank. The Foreign Secretary made clear in a statement that same day that we want this announcement by Israel to become a step towards resuming meaningful negotiations to achieve the vision of two states living side by side in peace and security, based on 1967 borders, with Jerusalem as a shared capital, and a fair settlement for refugees.

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the role of the Iranian Qods force in terrorist activity in the Middle East; and if he will make a statement. [307117]

David Miliband: The Qods Force (QF) is a branch of the Iranian Revolutionary Guards Force (IRGC). We have previously expressed concern that the IRGC and the IRGC-QF are involved in training, equipping and supplying, to varying degrees, Iraqi armed militia groups, the Taliban, Hezbollah, Hamas and other Palestinian Rejectionist Groups. This further undermines international confidence in the Iranian regime's intentions, and is at odds with the regime's claims to the international community and its own people to want to work for stability, security and prosperity.

Morocco

Mark Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will discuss with the Moroccan Ambassador to the UK the matter of the movement of Moroccan settlers to occupied Western Sahara. [304824]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Government have not discussed the movement of population between Morocco and Western Sahara with the Moroccan ambassador to the UK and have no plans to discuss the matter with Her Highness at this time.

The Government see the status of Western Sahara as undetermined and continue to believe that progress towards a negotiated solution to the dispute, providing for the self-determination of the people of Western Sahara, is best achieved under the auspices of the UN. To this end the UK fully supports the efforts of the UN Secretary-General and his Personal Envoy, Christopher Ross.

Origin Marking: Morocco

Ms Katy Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what his policy is on the labelling of produce originating from territories occupied by (a) Morocco and (b) Israel. [305506]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: On 10 December my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs tabled a written ministerial statement concerning technical advice on the labelling of produce from the Occupied Palestinian Territories. That advice has been issued in response to consumer and retailer conce[illegible] about a lack of clarity on whether such produce comes from Israeli settlements or Palestinian producers.

We do not regard the two situations as comparable and there is no technica[illegible]ice in place for commercial products originating from the territory of Western Sahara. For example the Government regard the status of Western Sahara, as distinct from the Occupied Palestinian Territories, as undetermined pending resolution under the auspices of the UN.

Palestinians

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what evidence his Department has evaluated on the uses to which the Palestinian Legislative Council building in Gaza was put before December 2008. [306678]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We have no reports of the use of the Palestinian Legislative Council building, other than by Hamas as an administrative building.

Palestinians: International Assistance

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will request his Israeli counterpart to allow aid items into Gaza. [illegible]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We continue to press the Israeli authorities, both at an official and ministerial level, to ease border restrictions into Gaza and allow the passage of essential humanitarian aid and reconstruction material. My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary raised this, during a telephone conversation, with his counterpart on 25 November 2009. These concerns were also highlighted by the EU Foreign Ministers at their meeting on 8 December 2009.

Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when the Armstrong Formula was introduced in relation to peacekeeping costs; and when and for what reasons its usage was withdrawn. [307051]

David Miliband: The Armstrong formula was introduced in 1984 during a period of relative stability in UN peacekeeping. Vote responsibility for all peacekeeping operations rested with the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) and money was annually allocated to the FCO in the public expenditure survey to meet these costs. Under the Armstrong formula, in the event of an unforeseen increase that could not be met in-year from within existing funds, and subject to Treasury agreement, the FCO had recourse to Treasury's central contingency reserve.

Peacekeeping activities increased sharply in the early and mid 1990s, and peace support operations became more complex, requiring a broader range of political, military, development and economic activities. In 2001 two new tri-departmental Conflict Prevention Pools (the Africa and Global Conflict Prevention Pools) were established with strands for both peacekeeping and programme activity. Under current arrangements, the first £374 million of assessed contributions are met by HM Treasury and costs above that are borne by FCO, the Ministry of Defence and the Department for International Development from the Conflict Pools and/or from within departmental expenditure limits.

Russia: Detainees

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has had with the Russian government on President Medvedev's aim to reduce the level of legal nihilism in that country; and if he will make a statement. [307492]

Chris Bryant: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary had detailed and wide ranging discussions with Foreign Minister Lavrov when he visited Moscow from 1-3 November 2009 including on the importance of the rule of law. I also discussed these issues during my recent meetings with Deputy Foreign Ministers Karasin and Grushko.

We welcome President Medvedev's focus on the need to strengthen the rule of law in Russia, including his focus on tackling corruption and promoting the independence of the judiciary. Promoting the rule of law, including the independence of the judiciary, is a key element of the UK's and EU's engagement with Russia. These issues were raised in the last EU/Russia human rights consultations on 5 November 2009. The annual UK/Russia bilateral human rights talks have enabled us to raise our concerns and we will do so again at the next talks planned for early 2010.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office currently provides funding for work on preventing false charges from being made by law enforcement agencies and increasing awareness of the importance of complying with international human rights standards across the criminal justice system.

Security Companies

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he expects to respond to the public consultation on promoting high standards of conduct by private military and security companies. [306914]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) launched a public consultation on the Government's proposed policy to promote high standards of conduct in the Private Military and Security Companies industry internationally on 24 April 2009.

We received detailed responses from over 20 organisations and individuals. Officials have analysed these in detail. We will publish the final summary of responses, including a Government response to the contributions received, today, 16 December 2009, on the FCO website. This will be announced by a written ministerial statement laid before the House on the same day.

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions his Department (a) has had and (b) is planning to have with US officials on regulation of private military and security companies in Iraq and Afghanistan; and if he will make a statement. [307012]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office has maintained a regular dialogue with US officials on the question of international regulation of private military and security companies (PMSCs), since June 2008. The US, UK and Swiss Governments in conjunction with industry representatives, relevant trade associations and non-governmental organisations have been working together to agree a set of draft international standards for the PMSC industry. We hope to agree these standards in the course of next year.

Sudan: War Crimes

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent assessment he has made of the International Criminal Court's citation of Sudan's President al-Bashir. [307659]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We have a long-standing position of support for the work of the International Criminal Court (ICC) as an independent judicial body, and also of not commenting substantively on its decisions. We have consistently urged the Government of Sudan to co-operate with the Court, and reiterated our support for peace in Sudan. We continue to monitor the situation closely, and to make clear our expectation that all countries should cooperate with the ICC investigation, in accordance with UN Security Council Resolution 1593 of 2005, and the particular legal obligations of States Party to the ICC.

Travel Information

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he has commissioned from (a) within and (b) outside his Department studies of the likely effectiveness of (i) his Department's Know Before You Go campaign and (ii) subsidiary campaigns undertaken since 2001. [305475]

Chris Bryant: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office's Know Before You Go campaign (including its subsidiary campaigns) is evaluated by external agencies on a six monthly basis to ensure targets are being met and that it effectively reaches the population. For example, in 2008-09 the campaign reached an estimated 64 per cent. of UK adults in some cases up to 28.5 times. The report also evaluates value for money, such as number of people reached per £1 spent, and the advertising value equivalent of the campaign. The most recent evaluation showed the return on investment for the campaign as a whole to be over 16:1, i.e. every £1 spent achieved £16 worth of value. In addition, every 6 months a qualitative and quantitative survey is commissioned to monitor changes in travellers' behaviour and attitudes, as well as providing guidance for the future direction of the campaign.

Uganda: Armed Conflict

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs in what countries the Lords Resistance Army is active; and what recent representations he has made to try to effect a ceasefire in those areas.

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We assess that the largest concentration of the Lords Resistance Army (LRA) is in the Central African Republic, with smaller numbers in the Democratic Republic of Congo and Sudan.

The UK will contribute $400,000 to the existing UN Mission to the Democratic Republic of Congo disarmament, demobilisation and repatriation activities, which will be targeted towards encouraging the LRA to end hostilities. We continue to press for greater coordination between peacekeeping operations in the region in pursuing the LRA and to prioritise civilian protection activities.

WOMEN AND EQUALITY

Departmental Legislation

Chris Huhne: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what criminal offences have been (a) created and (b) abolished by secondary legislation sponsored by the Government Equalities Office since 1 May 2008. [307798]

Maria Eagle: Since 1 May 2008, there have been no criminal offences, (a) created or (b) abolished by secondary legislation sponsored by the Government Equalities Office.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Devolution: Criminal Justice and Policing

7. Mr. Dunne: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what progress has been made on the devolution of responsibility for criminal justice and policing to the Northern Ireland Assembly; and if he will make a statement. [306256]

Mr. Woodward: Significant progress has been made by the political parties in Northern Ireland to address both the outstanding issues in relation to the completion of devolution of policing and justice and also, in parallel, those other issues arising from St. Andrews—most of which the House will know have already been completed.

Presbyterian Mutual Society

11. Mr. Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what recent discussions he has had with the Chief Secretary to the Treasury on the Presbyterian Mutual Society. [306260]

Paul Goggins: The Chief Secretary and the Secretary of State are both members of the ministerial working group set up by the Prime Minister.

They, along with Ministers from the Northern Ireland Executive, have been in regular contact in an attempt to find ways to assist members of the Society whose investments were affected by the Society's entry into administration.

Police Intelligence Gathering

12. Sammy Wilson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what recent discussions he has had with the Police Ombudsman for Northern Ireland on intelligence gathering by the police. [306261]

Paul Goggins: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland has discussions with the ombudsman on a range of issues from time to time, but has had no recent discussions on intelligence-gathering.

Dissident Republicans

13. Mr. Robathan: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what estimate he has made of the proportion of dissident republicans in Northern Ireland who were previously members of the Provisional IRA. [306262]

Mr. Woodward: The most recent IMC report indicated that a small number of ex-PIRA members are providing support to dissident groups. It is however clear from the report that PIRA as an organisation remains committed to a peaceful path.

People Trafficking

14. Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland whether he has made a recent assessment of the extent to which people are trafficked between Northern Ireland and England. [306263]

Paul Goggins: Since the 1 April 2009 the PSNI have recovered 15 victims of human trafficking in Northern Ireland. Victims have travelled to Northern Ireland from other parts of the UK, from the Republic of Ireland and directly via international transit.

Irish Government Commission: Child Abuse

15. Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what representations he has received on the implications for Northern Ireland of the outcome of the Irish Government's commission to inquire into child abuse and other related inquiries; and if he will make a statement. [306264]

Paul Goggins: I have received a letter from the Northern Ireland Minister for Health, Social Services and Public Safety about this matter which I am currently considering. My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State has also received an email about this matter from a solicitor in Northern Ireland.

Christmas

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many Christmas trees were purchased by his Department and its agencies in each of the last five years; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of. [305617]

Paul Goggins: The following table shows how many Christmas trees were purchased by the Northern Ireland Office (NIO), including its arms length bodies but excluding its agencies, NDPBs and the Public Prosecution Service Northern Ireland, in each of the last five years; the cost of those trees; and the process by which the trees were disposed of.

The names of suppliers cannot be disclosed for security reasons. Sustainability of the source of the trees is in the remit of the suppliers.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland which conferences held overseas have been attended by civil servants based in his Department in the last three years; and what the cost to the public purse was of each attendance at each conference. [illegible]

Paul Goggins: Conferences held overseas that have been attended by civil servants in the Northern Ireland Office (NIO), including its arms length bodies and the Public Prosecution Service Northern Ireland (PPS) but excluding its agencies and NDPBs, in the last three years, and the cost to the public purse of attending these conferences, is shown in the following table.

All expenditure has to be incurred in accordance with the principals of Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Hands: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many plasma screen televisions his Department has purchased since 2001; and what the cost has been of purchasing and installing such screens in each such year. [306069]

Paul Goggins: The Northern Ireland Office (NIO), including its arms length bodies and the Public Prosecution Service Northern Ireland but excluding its agencies and NDPBs, had expenditure on plasma screen televisions in two financial years since 2001. The expenditure, including installation costs, is as follows:

| | Number of plasma screen televisions | At cost of £ |
|---|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 2 | 3,195 |
| 2008-09 | 1 | 645.00 |

All expenditure has to be incurred in accordance with the principles of Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Departmental Sick Leave

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many days sickness absence were taken by staff in his Department in each of the last 12 months for which figures are available; and what the cost to his Department was of such absence. [305546]

Paul Goggins: The following table shows the number of working days lost from April 2009 to October 2009 and the cost to the Northern Ireland Office based on figures provided by Northern Ireland Statistics Research Agency.

| | Total number of working days lost overall | Overall cost (£) |
|---|---|---|
| April 2009 | 972.8 | 83,837 |
| May 2009 | 920.7 | 77,723 |
| June 2009 | 1,075.2 | 108,357 |
| July 2009 | 916.1 | 93,572 |
| August 2009 | 1,050.7 | 101,502 |
| September 2009 | 1,303.4 | 122,897 |
| October 2009 | 1,198.3 | 117,459 |

Departmental Taxis

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many miles (a) Ministers and (b) officials in his Department have travelled by taxi in the course of their official duties in each year since 1997; and at what cost to the public purse in each such year. [302708]

Paul Goggins: The Northern Ireland Office (NIO), including its arms length bodies and the Public Prosecution Service Northern Ireland but excluding its agencies and NDPBs, does not record information on miles travelled by taxi so cannot provide an answer to this part of the question.

The NIO Departmental Disposal policy states that financial records do not have to be held longer than seven years. The following table shows the expenditure on taxi fares where costs have been charged to the taxi expenditure code used for invoiced taxi costs from 2003-04 to 2008-09, the last six complete financial years.

Each member of staff is advised that, before any business related journey is made, the most cost-effective means of transport must be considered. Where the use of public transport or private car is not possible or economic, then the journey may be made by taxi.

| | Ministers | Officials |
|---|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 1,090 | 18,123 |
| 2004-05 | 754 | 24,102 |
| 2005-06 | 31 | 24,234 |
| 2006-07 | 0 | 28,031 |
| 2007-08 | 0 | 42,455 |
| 2008-09 | 34 | 77,736 |

The increase in expenditure on taxis in the NIO followed a review in 2007 when the Department adopted a policy which made greater use of taxis rather than private hire cars. While this change in policy has led to an increase in the cost of taxis, it has generated estimated whole year net savings of £ 150,000.

Further taxi fares were claimed as reimbursable expenses but due to the processes involved in making these payments, costs can only be provided at disproportionate cost.

The NIO keeps the cost of travel on official business under regular review.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much his Department spent on hotel accommodation for (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) civil servants in each of the last five years. [305656]

Paul Goggins: The following table shows how much the Northern Ireland Office, including the Public Prosecution Service Northern Ireland, and excluding its agencies and NDPBs has spent on hotel accommodation for (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) civil servants in each of the last five years.

| | | | | | £ |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 | 2008-09 |
| Ministers | [1]— | [1]— | [1]— | 1,889 | 5,852 |
| Special Advisers | [1]— | [1]— | [1]— | 230 | 806 |
| Civil servants | [1]— | [1]— | [1]— | 198,482 | 200,335 |

[1] Figures not available prior to 2007-08.

Up until 2006-07, hotel expenditure was included within night subsistence costs. To extract only hotel costs in these years would exceed the disproportionate cost threshold of £750.

Travel by Ministers, special advisers and civil servants is undertaken in accordance with the Ministerial Code and the Civil Service Management Code respectively.

Details on overseas visits undertaken by Ministers costing over £500 can also be found on the Cabinet Office website by using the following link:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/propriety_and_ethics/ministers/travel_gifts.aspx

Human Rights Commission: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what payments the Northern Ireland Human Rights Commission has made to Stratagem in the last 12 months; for what purpose; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments have been made. [305159]

Mr. Woodward: No payments have been made by the Northern Ireland Human Rights Commission to Stratagem in the last 12 months. On 27 October 2008 the Commission paid Stratagem the sum of £411.25 (£350 plus VAT) for an annual subscription for monthly political updates covering the period 1 August 2008 to 21 July 2009. The service included updates on parliamentary business supplied to staff members by email and SMS. This subscription was not subsequently renewed at the expiry date.

Terrorism

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what recent assessment he has made of the level of activity of dissident Republicans in Northern Ireland; and if he will make a statement. [305849]

Paul Goggins: As the most recent IMC report confirmed, Dissident Republicans continue to pose a serious threat. However, the devolution of policing and justice has been recognised as a potent intervention in allowing Northern Ireland to move forward.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland when he plans to respond to question (a) 304525 and (b) 304526 on devolution of criminal justice and policing, tabled on 1 December 2009. [307611]

Paul Goggins: These questions were both answered on 10 December 2009, Official Report, column 533W.

JUSTICE

Cemeteries: Islam

Mr. Pelling: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what conclusions his Department drew from its 2007 Survey of Burial Grounds regarding cemetery provision for Islamic burial sites in London; [306266]

(2) what plans there are for future burial site provision for Islamic people in London; [306275]

(3) what steps his Department has taken following its 2007 Survey of Burial Grounds in respect of cemetery provision for Islamic burial sites in London. [306276]

Bridget Prentice: Provision of burial space in general is a matter for decision by local authorities and other local providers. This Department has no role in that process, but our Guide for Burial Ground Managers encourages consideration to be given, wherever possible, to setting aside areas within cemeteries for use by particular faith communities. Responses to the burial ground survey did not permit any valid conclusions to be drawn as to the level or adequacy of burial space for Muslims either in London, or in England and Wales as a whole, but that was not its primary purpose.

Convictions: Young People

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many children under the age of 16 years have been convicted of criminal offences in each of the last five years. [306449]

Maria Eagle: The number of persons aged 10 to 15 years found guilty of criminal offences in all courts in England and Wales, from 2003 to 2007 (latest available) is provided in the following table.

Data for 2008 are planned for publication on 28 January 2010.

The number of persons aged 10 to 15 years found guilty at all courts for all offences, England and Wales 2003-07[1, 2]

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2003 | 33,484 |
| 2004 | 35,656 |
| 2005 | 37,121 |
| 2006 | 37,300 |
| 2007 | 38,761 |

[1] The statistics relate to persons for whom these offences were the principal offences for which they were dealt with. When a defendant has been found guilty of two or more offences the principal offence is the offence for which the heaviest penalty is imposed. Where the same disposal is imposed for two or more offences, the offence selected is the offence for which the statutory maximum penalty is the most severe.

[2] Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Crime

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice with reference to the answer of 11 November 2009, Official Report, column 470W, on crime, how many people were (a) found guilty at all courts and (b) cautioned for all offences in (i) 1987 and (ii) 1988. [306415]

Maria Eagle: I refer the hon. Member to the answer provided by the Under-Secretary of State for Justice, my hon. Friend (Claire Ward) on 11 November 2009, Official Report, column 470W.

Data Protection

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice if he will bring forward legislation to make custodial sentences mandatory for serious offences of breach of privacy and confidentiality through negligent loss, sale or abuse of personal data. [306539]

Mr. Wills: There are no plans to do so. The Government do not believe that mandatory custodial sentences are appropriate other than in exceptional circumstances: it is the function of the Court to decide the sentence in each individual case, subject to the maximum that Parliament has provided and any guidelines that may be laid down by the Sentencing Guidelines Council or the Court of Appeal.

However, the Government are consulting on the introduction of custodial sentences as a potential sanction for individuals who commit offences relating to the knowing or reckless misuse of personal data under section 55 of the Data Protection Act 1998 (DPA). The consultation also seeks views on introducing a defence for those who can show that they acted for journalistic, artistic or literary purposes with a view to publishing journalistic, literary or artistic material, in the reasonable belief that they acted in the public interest. The consultation closes on 7 January 2010 and can be viewed at:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/consultations/misuse-personal-data.htm

The Government have also recently launched a consultation on setting the maximum level for a Civil Monetary Penalty that the Information Commissioner could serve on data controllers who commit serious contraventions of the data protection principles, as set out in the DPA. The consultation closes on 21 December 2009 and can be viewed at:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/consultations/civil-monetary-penalties-consultation.htm

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many staff of his Department were in its redeployment pool on 1 (a) January, (b) April, (c) July and (d) October 2009. [306713]

Mr. Wills: All staff seeking redeployment are gainfully employed and undertaking roles within the Ministry. They are engaged in work contributing to the delivery of public services, including core frontline activities, policy and project work and other operational roles. The number of staff who were actively seeking permanent redeployment are shown in the following table:

| Reporting month | Total number of staff actively seeking permanent redeployment[1] |
|---|---|
| January 2009 | [2]33 |
| April 2009 | [2]23 |
| July 2009 | 246 |
| October 2009 | 219 |

[1] The figures above comprise both full-time and part-time staff

[2] The data provided for 1 January and 1 April 2009, excludes redeployees from the National Offender Management Service (NOMS) because during this period there was at the time no system in place for recording such staff.

Jersey: EC law

Dr. Iddon: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when officials of his Department last met representatives of the authorities in Jersey to discuss the implementation of the (a) Food Supplements Directive and (b) Nutrition and Health Claims Regulation. [307052]

Mr. Wills: Ministry of Justice officials last met representatives of the authorities in Jersey to discuss the implementation of the Food Supplements Directive and the Nutrition and Health Claims Regulation on 14 September 2009.

Judges: Sentencing

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what training judges receive on consistency in sentencing; what steps he (a) has taken in the last three years and (b) plans to take to encourage consistency in sentencing; and if he will make a statement; [306107]

(2) what guidelines his Department has issued to judges on consistency of sentencing since December 2008; and if he will make a statement. [306108]

Maria Eagle: The responsibility for judicial training lies with the Lord Chief Justice as head of the judiciary and is exercised through the independent Judicial Studies Board (JSB).

Sentencing is an independent function and judges and magistrates are responsible for making decisions in individual cases subject to the statutory framework laid down by Parliament. All those who pass a sentence will also consider relevant case law, Court of Appeal decisions and any guidelines issued by the independent Sentencing Guidelines Council.

Training for both judges and magistrates seeks to promote a consistent approach to decision making, and uses sentencing exercises to give judges the opportunity to discuss the issues involved.

Responsibility for issuing sentencing guidelines rests with the Sentencing Guidelines Council, not the Government. The Council was set up under the provisions of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 and is an independent body chaired by the Lord Chief Justice. In framing or revising sentencing guidelines the Council must have regard to the need to promote consistency in sentencing. The Sentencing Council for England and Wales, created by the Coroners and Justice Act 2009 as an independent body, will replace the Sentencing Advisory Panel and the Sentencing Guidelines Council with a significantly expanded remit.

Subject to Parliament's approval of the relevant orders provided for in the Coroners and Justice Act, it is expected that the Sentencing Council for England and Wales will be established by April 2010. The Sentencing Council will encourage greater consistency in sentencing as courts will be obliged to follow relevant guidelines published by the Council unless it would be contrary to the interests of justice to do so, and must include reference to those guidelines when explaining why a sentence given is significantly different from that guideline.

Legal Services Commission: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what payments the Legal Services Commission has made to Positif Politics Ltd in the last 12 months; for what purposes; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305422]

Bridget Prentice: The Legal Services Commission in Wales (as a non devolved body) has a contract with Positif Politics Ltd to track Welsh Assembly Government business. The purpose of the contract with Postif Politics is to ensure that the Legal Services Commission is kept up to date with developments in the National Assembly and Welsh Assembly Government (WAG) that might have an impact on the provision of legal aid services for Welsh citizens. The LSC jurisdiction is across England and Wales and most changes in law and process that have an impact on legal aid derive from Westminster. However, many of the issues that can have an impact on social welfare law services are devolved matters for the Assembly Government.

The current contract covers the period 1 January 2009 to 31 December 2009 at a total cost of £4,365.

A copy of the contract will be placed in the Library.

Police Cautions and Convictions

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people (a) were convicted and (b) received a caution for offences of (i) perverting the course of justice, (ii) attempting to pervert the course of justice and (iii) wasting police time in England and Wales in each of the last 10 years; and how many and what proportion in each such category were convicted or cautioned as a result of having been found to have made false complaints of rape or other sexual assault. [307767]

Maria Eagle: The number of persons found guilty at all courts in England and Wales for perjury, attempting to pervert the course of public justice, and wasting police time, from 1998 to 2007 (latest available) is given in Table 1. The number of cautions issued for these offences is given in Table 2.

Statistical information held centrally by the Ministry of Justice on the Cautions and Court Proceedings Database for England and Wales does not identify the circumstances of the offence. Therefore it is not possible to separately identify those cautions or convictions that have arisen from complaints of rape or other sexual assault.

Cautions and court proceedings data for 2008 are planned for publication on 28 January 2010.

Police: Sentencing

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what (a) representations he has received from and (b) discussions he has had with police forces on sentencing policy since December 2008; and if he will make a statement. [306091]

Maria Eagle: The Green Paper "Engaging Communities in Criminal Justice", published in April 2009, contained questions relating to sentencing policy (e.g. reviews of community sentences, and content of those sentences). Responses on those points were received from police forces. There are also ongoing discussions with police forces of criminal justice issues, including sentencing where relevant, across the range of criminal justice forums on which the police are represented.

Prisons: Television

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prisoners have access to satellite television broadcasts in their cells. [306660]

Maria Eagle: No public sector prisoners have access to satellite television in their cells as no public sector prisons have in cell satellite television. Five contracted prisons have access to a limited number of satellite television channels in cell: Altcourse, Dovegate, Lowdham Grange, Parc and Rye Hill. In these establishments, satellite television in cell is generally only available to prisoners who are on the Enhanced or Standard level of the Incentives and Earned Privileges scheme. This means that numbers of prisoners with access may change on a daily basis. At 10 December 2009 this figure was approximately 4,070.

Public Contracts Regulations 2006

Sir Menzies Campbell: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what assessment his Department has made of the implications of the new plea negotiations guidelines for implementation of regulation 23 of the Public Contracts Regulations 2006, with regard to mandatory exclusion. [307445]

The Solicitor-General: I have been asked to reply.

The Attorney-General's Guidelines on Plea Discussions in cases of Serious or Complex Fraud, which provide a framework within which prosecutors and defence can discuss the issues in a case from an early stage to narrow issues or to reach agreement about acceptable pleas of guilty to criminal offences, do not affect the operation of the law.

Reoffenders

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many offences have been committed by those on home detention curfews since 1997. [306664]

Maria Eagle: The table gives the number of offences committed by offenders while on HDC between 2003-04 and 2007-08.

| | Number of offenders on HDC[1] | Number of reoffences[2] |
|---|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 20,802 | 2,307 |
| 2004-05 | 18,587 | 1,533 |
| 2005-06 | 15,443 | 1,176 |
| 2006-07 | 12,626 | 822 |
| 2007-08 | 11,316 | 820 |

[1] Offenders starting HDC during the quarter; excludes offenders who were listed in the prison data but could not be found on the PNC.

[2] The total number offences committed whilst on HDC that resulted in a conviction or caution within nine months of the end of the quarter.

Data prior to 2003-04 are not available.

The latest figures on reoffending while on home detention curfew were released by this Department in a written ministerial statement on 14 September 2009, Official Report, columns 142-44WS, and can be found at http://www.parliament.the-stationery-office.co.uk/pa/cm200809/cmhansrd/cm090914/wmstextV90914m0001.htm

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many (a) murders and (b) other crimes of violence against the person have been committed by those released from prison on early release since 1997. [306666]

Maria Eagle: Determinate sentenced prisoners may be released into the community earlier than the halfway point of their sentence only under either the End of Custody Licence (ECL) Scheme or the Home Detention Curfew Scheme (HDC). Indeterminate sentenced prisoners are not eligible for early release.

Data on ECL releases, recalls and alleged re-offending is published every month on the following website:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/endofcustodylicence.htm

From 29 June 2007 to 31 October 2009, 1,098 offenders released on ECL have been notified as alleged to have committed a further offence. These offenders were alleged to have committed 1,458 offences, of which 306 were violent offences. These figures include two offenders released on ECL who were subsequently convicted of murder.

The number of violent offences committed by offenders while on HDC between 2003-04 and 2007-08 is shown in table 2 as follows.

Number

| Offence Category | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Violence against the person | 74 | 47 | 50 | 40 | 60 |

In addition to the cases shown in the table above, there were two prisoners released onto the HDC scheme and who were subsequently convicted of murder.

Data prior to 2003-04 is not available in a comparable audited format. To provide the full set of information from 1997 would require manual checking of files, which could be undertaken only at disproportionate cost.

The latest figures on reoffending while on HDC were released by this Department in a written ministerial statement on 14 September 2009 and can be found at:

http://www.parliament.the-stationery-office.co.uk/pa/cm200809/cmhansrd/cm090914/wmstext/90914m0001.htm

The figures relate to offenders who have committed an offence during their period on HDC resulting in a caution or conviction. The figures relate only to those offences where the caution or conviction was given within nine months of the end of the quarter in which the offender commenced the HDC scheme.

There are cases of further serious offending whereby the nature of the offence leads to court cases taking longer than nine months to conclude.

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people charged with offences since 1997 had previously been released from prison on parole. [306663]

Maria Eagle: The data held by the Ministry of Justice does not enable us to identify people who have been charged with an offence and who had previously been released from prison on parole.

Young Offender Institutions: Social Workers

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many social worker posts there are in young offender institutions; and how many such posts are vacant. [300252]

Maria Eagle: There are currently 22.5 social worker posts in young offender institutions and dedicated units for young women. 11.5 of these posts are vacant.

Youth Offending Teams: Finance

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how much his Department has spent on youth offending teams since their inception. [301321]

Maria Eagle: Youth offending teams (YOTs) receive funding from a number of sources. The following table shows financial contributions made to YOTs via the Youth Justice Board (YJB). Funding from the YJB includes Ministry of Justice, Department for Children Schools and Families and Home Office Funding.

| | Funding to youth offending team (£) |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 138,557,446.44 |
| 2007-08 | 126,762,030.45 |
| 2006-07 | 118,481,712.61 |
| 2005-06 | 98,333,746.98 |
| 2004-05 | 85,794,467.01 |
| 2003-04 | 84,308,627.49 |
| 2002-03 | 83,332,631.38 |
| 2001-02 | 61,598,291.02 |
| 2000-01 | 28,599,649.69 |
| 1999-2000 | 27,786,283.98 |

YOTs also receive funding from other Government sources at local level (including police, probation, social services and via local authorities).

The data contained in this answer are supplied by the YJB and is taken from their annual accounts.

CABINET OFFICE

Central Office of Information: Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much the Central Office of Information has spent on hotel accommodation for its staff in each of the last five years. [305707]

Tessa Jowell: I have asked the chief executive of the Central Office of Information to reply to the hon.

Letter from Mark Lund, dated December 2009:

As Chief Executive of the Central Office of Information (COI), I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question [305707] on hotel accommodation.

The Central Office of Information (COI) spent £83,643 on hotel accommodation for the last financial year that is available, 2008/9.

Central records for the preceding years do not specifically separate hotel accommodation from the rest of travel and subsistence and could only be provided at disproportionate cost.

COI have offices throughout the UK. It also organises events nationwide as well as abroad which increases the need for overnight accommodation. This is undertaken in accordance with the Ministerial Code and the Civil Service Management Code respectively.

Charities Act 2006

Mr. Leech: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what estimate has been made of the cost of (a) the time of civil servants in her Department of the introduction of the Charities Act 2006 and (b) (i) consultation and (ii) publication of guidance in association with the Act. [307436]

Angela E. Smith: Disaggregated costs associated with the introduction of the Charities Act 2006 are not held centrally, and no estimate has been made of the costs to the Cabinet Office of implementing the Act. There are currently three civil servants in the Office of the Third Sector, working on the implementation of the Act, which has included several consultations on secondary legislation, and the preparation of guidance. The Charity Commission, as independent regulator of charities in England and Wales has a significant role in implementing the Charities Act 2006 and has updated its guidance to reflect the Act.

The Act contains a statutory requirement for a review of its operation to begin within five years of Royal Assent. The review, which will include an assessment of the Act's implementation, must also be laid in Parliament.

Charities: Fraud

Mr. Brady: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what recent steps her Department has taken to stop the activities of bogus charity collectors. [307612]

Angela E. Smith: The issue of bogus charity collectors is something this Government take very seriously. While enforcement action is a matter for the police and local authorities, we co-ordinated a Give With Care campaign through the Office of the Third Sector to increase awareness of bogus clothing collections in 2007, and we are planning a further campaign in the near future. In addition we funded the start up of the Fundraising Standards Board and work closely with them to promote responsible fundraising practice.

Charity Commission: Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much the Charity Commission for England and Wales has spent on hotel accommodation for its staff in each of the last five years. [305708]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the Charity Commission. I have asked the Commission to reply.

Letter from Andrew Hind, 9 December 2009:

As the Chief Executive of the Charity Commission, I have been asked to respond to your written Parliamentary Question on how much the Charity Commission for England and Wales has spent on hotel accommodation for its staff in each of the last five years (305708).

We keep figures for hotels booked through our central procurement system, which are as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 176,910 |
| 2006 | 136,998 |
| 2007 | 116,796 |
| 2008 | 102,986 |
| 2009 | 176,181 |

However, not all Commission staff use this system as it is also possible to book hotels directly. These costs are included in travel and subsistence claims and Government Procurement Card payments, which we do not routinely break down. This would have to be calculated manually and could only be provided at disproportionate cost.

In the past year we have encouraged staff to make more use of the central procurement system, which accounts for the recent increase in costs shown above.

I hope this information is helpful.

Death: Obesity

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many people between (a) 35 and 45, (b) 46 and 55 and (c) 56 and 65 years old died of diseases related to obesity in (i) England and [illegible]) Milton Keynes in each year since 2000. [308084]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many people between (a) 35 and 45, (b) 46 and 55 and (c) 56 and 65 years old died of diseases related to obesity in (i) England and (ii) Milton Keynes in each year since 2000. (308084)

The tables attached provide the number of deaths where obesity was the underlying cause of death (Table 1), and where obesity was mentioned anywhere on the death certificate, either as the underlying cause or as a contributory factor (Table 2), for persons aged between (a) 35 and 45 years, (b) 46 and 55 years and (c) 56 and 65 years, in (i) England and (ii) Milton Keynes unitary authority, for the years 2000 to 2008 (the latest year available).

It is not possible to identify all deaths 'related' to obesity. For example, obesity may play an important role in deaths due to heart disease or diabetes, but it is rarely recorded on the death certificate. The figures presented in Tables 1 and 2 are therefore likely to underestimate the actual number of deaths in which obesity is involved.

Table 1: Number of deaths where obesity was the underlying cause of death[1] by age group[2], England[3] and Milton Keynes unitary authority[4], 2000-08[5]

Death: Smoking

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many people have died of smoking-related diseases in (a) England and (b) Milton Keynes in each year since 2000. [308083]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Jil Matheson, dated December 2009:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many people have died of smoking-related diseases in (a) England and (b) Milton Keynes in each year since 2000. (308083)

Deaths due to smoking-related diseases cannot be directly calculated, as smoking status is not recorded on the death certificate. However, research published by the then Health Development Agency in 2004[1] suggested that, in the period 1998 to 2002, an annual average of 86,500 deaths among persons aged 35 and over were estimated to be attributable to smoking in England[1].

From 2007 onwards, the NHS Information Centre has published an annual report containing similar estimates for England. These reports state that in 2005[2], an estimated 81,900 deaths among persons aged 35 and over in England were attributable to smoking. In 2007[3] the equivalent estimated number of deaths was 82,900, and in 2008[4] it was 83,900. Comparable figures for 2003, 2004 and 2006 are not available.

Figures for the number of people dying of smoking-related diseases in Milton Keynes unitary authority are not available for any years.

Mr. Baron: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much was spent on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in the Leader of the House's Office in her Department's buildings in the last 12 months. [305680]

Angela E. Smith: No expenditure has been incurred on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in the Leader of the House of Commons' office in the last 12 months.

Mr. Baron: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much her Department spent on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in her Department's buildings in the last 12 months. [305688]

Tessa Jowell: No expenditure on works or refurbishment to offices allocated to the Minister for the Olympics has been made in the last 12 months.

Departmental Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside her Department's building attended by civil servants in her Department there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307522]

Angela E. Smith: The information requested is not held centrally and therefore is available only at disproportionate cost.

All Cabinet Office expenditure on away days is made in accordance with published departmental guidance on financial procedures and propriety, based on principles set out in "Managing Public Money" and the Treasury handbook on "Regularity & Propriety".

The Cabinet Office does not have a specific financial policy on the attending of conferences. The budget for such expenditure is delegated to Heads of Groups/ Management Units. As with awayday spend any expenditure on conferences is also based on principles set out in "Managing Public Money" and the Treasury handbook on "Regularity and Propriety".

Sarah Teather: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many requests under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 her Department received in 2008; and how many of these received a substantive response within 20 days. [305498]

Angela E. Smith: Statistics published by the Ministry of Justice on Freedom of Information in central government for 2008 show that of a total of 870 non-routine requests received by the Department (based on aggregated quarterly data) 86 per cent. (748) received a substantive response within 20 days. 95 per cent. (823) of requests were dealt with 'in time', that is within 20 days by meeting the deadline or other permitted extension deadline.

The statistics can be found on the Ministry of Justice website at:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/freedomofinformationquarterly.htm

and copies are available in the Library of the House.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many staff of her Department were in its redeployment pool on 1 (a) January, (b) April, (c) July and (d) October 2009. [306718]

Angela E. Smith: The Cabinet Office operates a brokerage service to provide support to staff who are without a permanent role as a result of organisational change or because they have reached the end of work on a project. All staff without a permanent role are allocated to project or interim work while they are seeking a permanent role.

| Cabinet Office staff without a permanent role at: | Number |
|---|---|
| (a) 1 January 2009 | 15 |
| (b) 1 April 2009 | 13 |
| (c) 1 July 2009 | 36 |
| (d) 1 October 2009 | 22 |

Departmental Responsibilities

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what the official engagements of the Parliamentary Secretary to the Treasury were on 21 November 2009. [306701]

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what progress has been made in implementing the Government Action Plan Open Source, Open Standards and Re-Use; and what (a) metrics and (b) delivery mechanisms she has established to monitor implementation of the action plan. [307322]

Angela E. Smith: The Open Source, Open Standards and Re-use Action Plan was published in February 2009 as Government policy—focussing on ensuring value for money for taxpayers. Cabinet Office does not gather centralised data regarding software procurement, as this is the responsibility of individual Accounting Officers.

The Office of Government Commerce (OGC) is currently developing guidance for the procurement of open source and is working with departments and local authorities that have successfully implemented open source applications, to share best practice and effective methods for procurement.

A recent survey undertaken by OGC and Buying Solutions (the national Public Buying Organisation) highlighted that progress on implementation is already being made. For example:

Over 25 per cent. of secondary schools use the Linux operating system on at least one computer.

35 per cent. of NHS organisations (over 300,000 users) are supported on a Linux infrastructure as the NHS 'Spine' uses an open source operating system, and

All staff and public PCs in Birmingham City Council's library services now have a mixture of open source and proprietary software.

Government Departments: Telephone Services

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what responses the Contact Council received to the enquiries which it made of each [illegible]ment Department in June 2009 on departm[illegible]or using 030 numbers in place of 084 numbers for helplines; and if she will make a statement. [302367]

Tessa Jowell [holding answer 30 November 2009]: The Contact Council has not directly asked departments to outline their plans for using 030 numbers in place of 084 numbers for helplines. It has, however, issued to all Contact Council members (representatives of central departments, local authorities and other bodies) a clarification statement on telephone number ranges in May this year. This statement explained the characteristics of the 084, 087 and 03 number ranges so that central departments in particular might make their own informed choice about which range(s) best meets the needs of all their customer groups.

Specifically in connection with this statement, the Council asked its central department representatives to confirm whether they retain any additional revenue as a result of using 084/087 numbers and to outline which ranges (not necessarily 03) best suit the services they provide to their customers.

Most major customer facing departments have answered these questions, and the remaining departments is in process of doing so. Once the outstanding response has been received the Council will analyse all response with a view to recommending ways of increasing the uptake of the 03 range where appropriate.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much was spent on hotel accommodation for (a) the Prime Minister and (b) No. 10 Downing Street (i) special advisers and (ii) civil servants in each of the last five years. [305650]

Angela E. Smith: The Prime Minister's Office is an integral part of Cabinet Office. The information requested for the Cabinet Office is not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Ministerial Appointments

Mr. Bone: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office pursuant to the answer of 8 December 2009, on the list of Ministerial Responsibilities, and with reference to the answer from the Secretary of State for Defence of 9 November 2009, Official Report, column 83W, on Ministers, on what date (a) the Secretary of State for Justice and Lord Chancellor, (b) the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, (c) the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government and (d) the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families were first appointed to the Cabinet; how the List of Ministerial Responsibilities reflects these dates of appointment; and if she will make a statement. [306647]

Tessa Jowell: The dates of appointments of Ministers to the Cabinet are a matter of public record, details of which are available from the Library of the House. I refer the hon. Gentleman to my answer to the hon. Member of 8 December, Official Report, column 251w about the listing of Cabinet Ministers in the List of Ministerial Responsibilities.

National School of Government: Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the National School of Government's buildings attended by civil servants in the National School of Government there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307456]

Angela E. Smith: This is a matter for the National School of Government. I have asked the principal and chief executive to assist by writing to you.

National School of Government: Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office how much the National School of Government has spent on hotel accommodation for its officials in each of the last five years. [306039]

Angela E. Smith: This is a matter for the National School of Government. I have asked the principal and chief executive to assist by writing to you.

Letter from Rod Clark, dated December 2009:

In the Written Ministerial Statement to the House on 9 January 2007 (Official Report Col 5WS), the then Parliamentary Secretary for the Cabinet Office (Pat McFadden MP) announced that the National School of Government was now a Non Ministerial Department. Consequently, the Minister for the Cabinet Office has asked me to reply to your Parliamentary Questions about the National School of Government.

The National School's finance system does not separately identify the amount of expenditure on hotel accommodation for the School's staff. We can identify the amount of subsistence that we have paid in respect of staff split between the United Kingdom and overseas. This will include hotel accommodation plus also the cost of meals and any incidental allowances paid within HMRC rules. The expenditure was incurred in the normal course of the School's business of providing learning and development and consultancy services on a cost-recovery basis to the civil service, wider public sector, voluntary and private sectors and overseas.

| | UK | Overseas | Total |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2004/05 | 104,046 | 62,184 | 166,230 |
| 2005/06 | 121,172 | 54,423 | 175,595 |
| 2006/07 | 58,170 | 51,413 | 109,583 |
| 2007/08 | 71,620 | 87,565 | 159,186 |
| 2008/09 | 118,053 | 52,348 | 170,402 |
| 2009/10 part year | 47,284 | 32,406 | 79,690 |

In addition to the above amounts we have also paid hotels, conference centres and other venues for the accommodation of students on learning and development events. Inclusive in some of these payments would be the costs of staff necessarily staying with the students - these costs are not separately identified.

National School of Government: Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what redesigns of websites operated by the National School of Government have been carried out since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306197]

Angela E. Smith: This is a matter for the National School of Government. I have asked the principal and chief executive to assist by writing to you.

Letter from Rod Clark, dated December 2009:

In the Written Ministerial Statement to the House on 9 January 2007 (Official Report Col 5WS), the then Parliamentary Secretary for the Cabinet Office (Pat McFadden MP) announced that the National School of Government was now a Non Ministerial Department. Consequently, the Minister for the Cabinet Office has asked me to reply to your Parliamentary Questions about the National School of Government.

The National School of Government's internet website has been re-designed once since 27th June 2007 and was completed by March 2008. The cost was £27,683.

Voluntary Work: Religion

John Battle: To ask the Minister for the Cabinet Office what recent steps her Department has taken to encourage volunteering with faith organisations. [306083]

Angela E. Smith: The Office of the Third Sector is committed to working towards a society where all individuals and communities are enabled to volunteer.

Through the Capacitybuilders programme the Office of the Third Sector is providing Volunteering England with £1.4 million between 2008 to 2011 to deliver improved support to volunteer involving organisations. Part of Volunteering England's work is to support volunteering within faith based organisations. Volunteering England is working with the youth volunteering charity v to fund six volunteering projects within faith based organisations. The aim of these projects is to improve the way that faith based organisations receive support in the areas of volunteer recruitment and retention.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Affordable Housing

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many completed Rent to Homebuy transactions there have been to date. [305932]

John Healey: Provisional data from the Homes and Communities Agency show that there were 1,899 rent to homebuy completions up to end September 2009.

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many completed sales there have been under the Social Homebuy scheme since April 2006; and how much had been spent on that scheme on the latest date for which figures are available. [306727]

John Healey: Between April 2006 and 30 September 2009, there were 328 completed social homebuy sales.

Social homebuy is a voluntary demand-led scheme. Registered social landlords who choose to offer the scheme to their tenants bid to the Homes and Communities Agency for grant to cover the discount offered to the tenant. From April 2006 to end September 2009, spend through the National Affordable Housing programme totalled £3.6 million.

No funding is provided to local authorities offering the scheme other than £132,770 given to help early pilots with development and set-up costs in 2006-07.

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what definition his Department uses of a Rent to HomeBuy (a) sale and (b) completion. [306731]

John Healey: A rent to homebuy completion is recorded when the building is ready for occupation, and a sale is recorded when a rent to homebuy tenant buys a share of the property, following an initial rental period which can be up to five years.

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many new affordable housing units were completed in (a) Leeds West, (b) West Yorkshire and (c) England in each year since 2001. [306061]

Affordable Housing: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what plans he has to increase the number of dwellings available for low-cost home ownership in Leeds West constituency. [306062]

John Healey: There is substantial investment in the Leeds city area in low cost home ownership to deliver additional affordable homes, data are not available by constituency only by local authority. The Homes and Communities Agency (HCA) has two principal products for low cost home ownership, homebuy direct which is an equity share model and new build homebuy which is shared ownership with a housing association or other provider. In addition to the National Affordable Housing programme, provision of these homes has also been accelerated through the additional funding made available through the Building Britain's Future initiative, notably Kickstart.

HCA published half year performance statistics to end September 2009, this showed 44 units of homebuy direct delivered in Leeds city area in the financial year. In addition, 20 low cost homeownership units have been delivered in Leeds this financial year through the National Affordable Housing programme. Outturn completions for 2008-09 also showed 110 units in Leeds.

Kickstart round 1 allocated over £50 million in Yorkshire and Humber subject to funding conditions. This includes substantial schemes in Leeds including elements of shared ownership or homebuy direct.

Kickstart round 2 will allocate over £30 million in Yorkshire and Humber subject to funding conditions. There are a total of 23 schemes in the region, with one in Leeds supporting the delivery of approximately 1,488 homes by March 2012.

Affordable Housing: Leeds and West Yorkshire

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what steps he plans to take to increase the number of dwellings available for low-cost home ownership in the Leeds city area; [306574]

(2) what steps he plans to take to increase the number of dwellings available for low-cost home ownership in the West Yorkshire area. [306573]

John Healey: There is substantial investment in West Yorkshire and the Leeds City area to deliver additional affordable homes, including both rented and low cost home ownership homes. Homes and Communities Agency (HCA) has two principal products for low cost home ownership, Homebuy Direct, which is an equity share model and Newbuild Homebuy which is shared ownership with a housing association or other provider. In addition to existing programmes such as the National Affordable Housing Programme, the provision of these homes has been accelerated through the additional funding made available through the Building Britain's Future initiative, notably Kickstart and the Local Authority Newbuild Programme.

Low cost home ownership is a valuable tool in securing a mix of tenures in sustainable communities, and in providing wider access to home ownership. HCA works very closely with local authorities and partners to determine the most appropriate and sustainable mix of tenures in a given location and actively encourages the provision of low cost home ownership choices.

75 units of Homebuy Direct have been completed in West Yorkshire, including 44 in Leeds local authority area. (HCA published half year performance statistics). In addition, outturn completions of low cost home ownership units delivered through the National Affordable Housing Programme 2008-09, was 313 units in West Yorkshire of which 110 were in Leeds.

Kickstart Round 1 allocated over £15 million to West Yorkshire subject to funding conditions. This includes £9 million allocated to four schemes in Leeds, and a further £6 million to one scheme in Kirklees and two in Wakefield. All but one of these schemes will include an element of Homebuy Direct or shared ownership.

Kickstart Round 2 has allocated in excess of £6 million to West Yorkshire with one scheme in Leeds and a further five schemes across West Yorkshire.

Al-Muhajiroun

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment his Department has made of the effect of the re-establishment of the Al-Muhajiroun organisation in the UK on community relations. [302510]

Mr. Malik: The Department of Communities and Local Government does not carry out assessments on the effect of the activity of extremist groups. These issues are a matter for the police both in their assessment of risk in communities and in tackling individuals that break the law.

Audit Commission: Procurement

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the names and addresses are of each organisation that supplied goods or services to the Audit Commission in 2008-09. [306706]

Ms Rosie Winterton: This is an operational matter for the Audit Commission, and I will ask the chief executive of the Audit Commission to write to the hon. Member direct.

Letter from Steve Bundred, dated 16 December 2009:

Parliamentary Question: what the names and addresses are of each organisation that supplied goods or services to the Audit Commission in 2008-09.

Your Parliamentary Question outlined above has been passed to me to reply.

The Audit Commission was supplied with goods and services from 1,175 suppliers in 2008-09.

The names and addresses of these suppliers are attached to this letter.

A copy of this letter will be placed in Hansard and the table will be available in the House of Commons Library.

Christmas

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many Christmas trees were purchased by his Department and its agencies in each of the last five years; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of. [305645]

Barbara Follett: The Department for Communities and Local Government and its agencies purchased the following number of Christmas trees over the last five years:

| | Number of trees | Cost (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2004 | 5 | 4,602 |
| 2005 | 6 | 5,296 |
| 2006 | 6 | 5,444 |
| 2007 | 4 | 4,909 |
| 2008 | 5 | 2,034 |

The trees are provided by local suppliers from a sustainable source and where possible disposed of by conversion to wood chips for composting and mulching.

Community Development

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to his Department's press release of 14 October 2009, on connecting communities, what practical actions will be funded under the programme. [307104]

Mr. Malik: Each area taking part in the Connecting Communities programme has drawn up individual plans which address specific challenges and practical actions for their area. These plans focus on giving people a bigger say in local issues, addressing specific local concerns and increasing access to local services and opportunities.

In Speke, in Liverpool there was concern about a lack of jobs and whether jobs were going to local people. Through the Connecting Communities programme local agencies are now working with young people and single parents in particular to link them up with opportunities under the Future Jobs Fund. Further practical actions taken forward by other areas have included forming a neighbourhood's first ever community group (Stanney, Ellesmere Port), developing neighbourhood agreements (Felling, Gateshead), setting up a Youth Action Group (New Parks, Leicester).

Council Housing

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether he expects the new duty to tackle socio-economic disadvantage proposed in the Equality Bill to require local authorities to (a) adjust their housing waiting list policies and (b) complete an equality impact assessment of changes they propose to make to their housing waiting list policies; and whether he has made an assessment of the likely effects on the powers of local authorities in respect of the priority given to local residents in such policies. [306752]

Mr. Ian Austin: The provision in the Equality Bill would require local authorities to give due regard to the desirability of tackling socio-economic inequalities when making strategic decisions about how to exercise their functions. We would expect this duty to apply to authorities when framing their allocation scheme and the new statutory guidance on social housing allocation issued to local authorities on 4 December made this clear. However, this will not be the only factor authorities will need to take into consideration when developing their allocation policies; local authorities will need to balance several strategic objectives, such as promoting the local economy, and promoting community cohesion.

We would expect and strongly recommend that local authorities carry out an equality impact assessment of any significant change to their allocation policies to ensure compliance with the authority's legal equality duties.

We recognise that local authorities may wish to adopt allocation policies which give greater priority to people with a local connection to the district. We do not believe that the duty to tackle socio-economic inequalities should affect a local authority's power to do so. Indeed authorities may decide that local disadvantage should be addressed by giving more priority to local people with housing needs.

Council Housing: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many people were registered for rehousing with Leeds City Council in each year since 2000. [illegible]

Council Housing: Property Transfer

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when he expects the Minister of State for Housing to make a decision on whether First Choice Homes Oldham will be allowed to ballot its tenants on a stock transfer to a Registered Social Landlord. [illegible]

John Healey: Today, I have laid a written ministerial statement in which I confirmed the position on Oldham council's housing transfer proposals.

Council Tax Benefits

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government in what circumstances homeowners with a mortgage are eligible for council tax benefit. [illegible]

Helen Goodman: I have been asked to reply.

Council tax benefit is a non-contributory, income-related, social security benefit that provides help to people with low incomes to pay their council tax. It is administered by local authorities. People may qualify if they are liable for council tax in respect of the home they are resident in and are aged over 18. Entitlement is based on financial circumstances and may be paid to people in or out of work. Homeowners, as well as people who rent, may be eligible on this basis.

Councillors

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much public funding has been provided to political parties and their associated political groups under the 'Be a Councillor' programme. [306395]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The 'Be a Councillor' programme is run by the Leadership Centre for Local Government, a registered charity. Communities and Local Government has contributed £50,000 to the programme in 2009-10. Under the programme, the Leadership Centre gives advice and support to all of the main political parties in England plus smaller parties and independents as defined by the LGA Independent Group, to assist them in attracting a wider and more diverse range of people to become local councillors.

Councillors: Fraud

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 15 June 2009, Official Report, column 17W, on councillors, how many cases of housing benefit fraud by councillors have been identified as a result of the National Fraud Initiative of the Audit Commission. [306831]

John Healey: This is an operational matter for the Audit Commission, and I will ask the chief executive of the Audit Commission to write to the hon. Member direct.

Letter from Steve Bundred, dated 16 December 2009:

Parliamentary Question: with reference to the Answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 15 June 2009, Official Report, column 17W, on councillors, how many cases of housing benefit fraud by councillors have been identified as a result of the National Fraud Initiative of the Audit Commission.

Your Parliamentary Question outlined above has been passed to me to reply. I am afraid that we are unable to answer your question as the data submitted does not automatically allow the Audit Commission to distinguish between employees and councillors. This is because the payroll details do not contain the status of the individual.

A copy of this letter will be placed in Hansard.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much his Department spent on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in his Department's buildings in the last 12 months. [305689]

[307570]

Barbara Follett: The Chief Information Officer (CIO) is employed on a permanent contract in the Senior Civil Service Pay Band 2 (£82,900 to £162,500). The CIO and his team have a budget of £30.442 million (administration and capital expenditure) for 2009-2010. This covers central expenditure for CLG and Government Offices.

Departmental Pay

Dr. Cable: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many staff in his Department received bonus payments in each of the last five years for which information is available; what proportion of the total work force they represented; what the total amount of bonuses paid was; what the largest single payment was; and if he will make a statement. [300285]

Barbara Follett: The following table shows the number of 'end of year' performance payments that have been paid to staff in CLG over the last five years.

The Department also operates a scheme for all staff below the senior civil service under which individuals or teams may receive a small non-consolidated award in recognition of an outstanding contribution over a limited period. The maximum payment made under these arrangements is £600. Records are only available for the three years to 31 March 2006 and are shown in the following table.

Departmental Responsibilities

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which of its strategic objectives his Department did not meet in 2008-09. [307071]

Barbara Follett: The Department agreed three year strategic objectives covering 2008-09 to 2010-11 in the 2007 Comprehensive Spending Review. We have not reported final assessments for any of these but our 2009 Autumn Performance Report reports 'strong progress' for DSO 2 (housing) and DSO 6 (fire); 'some progress' for DSO 1 (local government), DSO 4 (cohesive, active and empowered communities) and DSO 5 (planning); and 'not yet assessed' for DSO 3 (economic performance and regeneration). [306555]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The data source used to calculate DSO 3.7 'Overall Employment rate (working age population) at neighbourhood level (in deprived areas)' is the Office of National Statistics' (ONS) sample survey the Annual Population Survey (APS). Due to the small sample size of the Annual Population Survey at neighbourhood level (lower super output area) we are unable to provide estimates for individual deprived neighbourhoods.

Emergency Calls

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many calls were made to the 999 emergency number in each of the last three years; how many calls were dropped by the system in each of the last three years; what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the 999 emergency system; and if he will make a statement. [305922]

Mr. Malik: The 999 and 112 emergency number system provides a very effective means for the public to contact the police, fire, ambulance and coastguard services rapidly in an emergency.

The figures for emergency calls received by the Call Handling Agents and connected (after filtering for false/accidental calls) to the emergency services in the three years since 1 July 2006 are:

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when each regional fire control room will be fully functional; when rent became or will become payable on each regional control room; and what estimate he has made of the rental cost of each regional fire control room over the full period of its lease. [305841]

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government on what date each regional fire control room lease expires; and what steps he has taken to ensure the continuation of a national network on expiry of the leases. [305844]

Mr. Malik: The date on which each Regional Control Centre lease is due to expire are:

| Region | End date of Lease |
|---|---|
| North East | 28 June 2027 |

Decisions would need to be taken well in advance of lease expiry under the Landlord and Tennant Act.

Fire Services: Finance

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much had been spent under each budget heading on the FiReControl Project on the latest date for which figures are available. [305842]

Mr. Malik: The current estimated project cost is £420 million of which approximately £190 million has been spent to date.

Fire Services: Risk Assessment

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many project risks there are on the FiReControl Risk Register; how many are currently rated high or above; and what the nature is of those risks currently rated high or above. [305845]

Mr. Malik: As we published in the FiReControl Business Case, there are a 176 risks on the project risk register of which sixteen are rated 'high' or 'very high'.

These risks fall into three main categories:

Timely completion of FiReControl and Firelink project activities (critical dependencies)

Timely decision making within local authorities and local authority controlled company's (governance and management capacity)

The pace of change within the service (strategic change/impact).

Fire Services: Safety

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the purpose is of Integrated Risk Management Plans (IRMPs); what role his Department plays in monitoring and assessing the effectiveness of IRMPs; and if he will make a statement. [305418]

Mr. Malik: Integrated Risk Management Planning (IRMP) underpins the reforms to the Fire and Rescue Service that flowed from the White Paper 'Our Fire and Rescue Service' published in June 2003. Since then, fire and rescue authorities have shifted their focus from intervention to put a greater emphasis on fire prevention. The aim is to improve community safety, reduce the commercial, economic and social impact of fires and other emergency incidents, and make a more productive use of fire and rescue service resources to meet today's risks. That approach means that each authority now determines its policies and standards for prevention, protection and intervention in the light of the risks identified, which enables it to target those areas or sections of the community that are at particularly high risk. The Fire and Rescue Service National Framework 2008-11 requires IRMPs to be regularly reviewed and revised and to reflect up to date risk information and evaluation of service delivery outcomes.

The Government are committed to enabling local authorities and local communities to make appropriate decisions at the local level. It is therefore not the role of Ministers to intervene in, or even comment upon, the operational proposals of an individual fire and rescue authority's IRMP; that is for elected members of the authority concerned to determine following full consultation with the local community The fire authority is best placed to act on the professional advice of principal officers and to balance the competing local demands on available resources for the benefits of the communities they serve.

A comprehensive review of the adequacy and impact on a nationwide basis of IRMP policy and implementation has been carried out on the Department's behalf by Mott Macdonald, and a report will be published. The report will be considered in discussion with stakeholders.

The Audit Commission takes account of individual fire and rescue authorities' IRMPs in drawing up annual assessments as part of the Comprehensive Area Assessment.

Fire Services: Vehicles

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent assessment he has made of the adequacy of the technology with which enhanced command support vehicles supplied by his Department to fire and rescue authorities are equipped; what recent work has been undertaken on the vehicles; and if he will make a statement. [307182]

Mr. Malik: The enhanced command support (ECS) vehicles provide a multi-technology communication platform to support the co-ordination of large, complex deployments of fire and rescue service (FRS) resources. Capabilities include connectivity with other FRSs, emergency service resources and control rooms through radio, mobile phones and land lines. This capability is available for operational use if needed and has already been used to good effect, most recently during last month's floods in Cumbria.

Minor technical issues have been encountered with the satellite communications capability which provides a basic level of communications in the event of an unlikely, but serious and protracted, disruption of other communications systems. We are reasonably confident that these can be resolved and hope to be in a position to deploy the full capability to the FRS by March 2010.

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many enhanced command support vehicles have been supplied by his Department to fire and rescue authorities in the last 12 months; what the total purchase cost of those vehicles was; at how many incidents they have been used; and where each is currently located. [307193]

Mr. Malik: The Department has procured nine enhanced control vehicles for use by the fire and rescue service, as part of its new dimension project to provide enhanced response capability to the fire and rescue service. The total purchase cost of these vehicles was £1,459,500. Although the vehicles are not yet fully operational or permanently located with individual FRSs, they have been used to good effect in three incidents and exercises, most recently during last month's floods in Cumbria.

Fires: Safety

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which recommendations made by the Business and Community Safety Forum in their ministerial submission to the Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Communities and Local Government on 2 April 2009 on dangers of fires in timber-framed construction were (a) implemented and (b) rejected prior to the Peckham fire in November 2009. [306904]

Mr. Malik: I refer the hon. Member to the answers I gave him on 8 December 2009, Official Report, columns 302-03W. A copy of the letter of 28 May by my right hon. Friend the Member for Tooting (Mr. Khan) has been placed in the Library.

Floods

Mr. Todd: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will bring forward proposals to add flooding to the list of hazards enforceable under the Housing Act 2004. [307361]

Mr. Ian Austin: There are no plans to revise the 29 categories of hazard contained in the housing health and safety rating system. The underlying principle of the housing health and safety rating system is that any residential premises should provide a safe and healthy environment for any potential occupier or visitor. It is primarily concerned with those matters which can properly be considered the responsibility of the owner (or landlord).

Government Office for the East of England: Training

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the cost to the public purse was of the Government Office for the East of England staff away day in Chilford Hall in November 2009; how many staff attended that away day; and for what reason that location was chosen for that away day. [306730]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The Government Office for the East of England (GO-East) held an event at Chilford Hall in November 2009. Chilford Hall conference centre was selected as it offered good value for money. The cost for the event was £7562.45 (including VAT). Approximately 180 people attended; including 150 GO-East staff, non-executive directors and speakers and regional partners invited to participate.

Home Information Packs: Finance

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much his Department has budgeted for supporting the home information pack programme between 2008 to 2011; and how much of that funding will go to local authorities. [306412]

John Healey: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given by my right hon. Friend the Member for Derby, South (Margaret Beckett) to the hon. Member for Falmouth and Camborne (Julia Goldsworthy) on 6 November 2008, Official Report, column 723W.

Homelessness

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what percentage of households in (a) each region and (b) England classified as homeless left the homeless list in each of the last two years; [303453]

(2) how many households in each region in England left the homeless list in each of the last three years. [303454]

Mr. Ian Austin: Information about English local housing authorities' actions under the homelessness legislation (part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) is collected at local authority level, and published by the Department in the quarterly Statistical Release on Statutory Homelessness, available both in the Library and via the CLG website:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/housing/housingresearch/housingstatistics/housingstatisticsby/homelessnessstatistics/publicationshomelessness/

Data collected include the number of households accepted by local housing authorities as eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and in priority need, and therefore owed a main homelessness duty to secure that suitable accommodation are available ("homeless acceptances"). If a settled home is not immediately available, the authority must secure temporary accommodation (TA) until a settled home becomes available.

The data include the number of homeless acceptances not immediately provided with settled accommodation, for whom a main homelessness duty was ended during the quarter. A duty can be ended in a number of circumstances, for example, where an offer of settled accommodation is accepted or refused. National figures for the number of homeless acceptances not immediately provided with settled accommodation for whom a main homelessness duty was ended can be found in Table 8 of the latest Statistical Release, accessible from this link:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/corporate/statistics/homelessnessq22009

National and regional figures for the number of households in temporary accommodation or remaining in their existing home, on 31 March 2007 and 31 March 2008, who were homeless acceptances and not immediately provided with settled accommodation are shown in Table 1:

Homelessness: Children in Care

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether he has made an estimate of the number of homeless people who were formerly children in care in each of the last 10 years. [307491]

Mr. Ian Austin: Information about English local housing authorities' actions under the homelessness legislation (part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) is collected at local authority level, and published by the Department in the quarterly Statistical Release on Statutory Homelessness, available both in the Library and via the CLG website:

http://wwwcommunities.gov.uk/housing/housingresearch/housingstatistics/housingstatisticsby/homelessnessstatistics/publicationshomelessness/

Data collected include the number of households accepted by local housing authorities as eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and in priority need, and therefore owed a main homelessness duty (to secure that suitable accommodation is available). If a settled home is not immediately available, the authority must secure temporary accommodation until a settled home becomes available.

The data include the number of applicants accepted by local authorities aged 18 to 20 and previously in care and the number of applicants aged 21 or over and vulnerable as a result of time spent in care. The total number of acceptances in these two categories since 2003-04 is given in the table below.

| Year[1] | Number of homeless households in priority need accepted by local authorities who were formerly children in care |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 1,560 |
| 2004-05 | 1,500 |
| 2005-06 | 1,270 |
| 2006-07 | 980 |
| 2007-08 | 820 |
| 2008-09 | 770 |

[1] The table does not give figures for 2002-03 as data are only available from July 2002: to March 2003, thus we do not have a figure for the entire 2002-03 financial year.

Homelessness: Young People

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what information his Department holds on the level of financial assistance provided by each London borough to young people seeking permanent accommodation in each year since 2005. [307014]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Department provides a homelessness grant to local authorities and the voluntary sector to help them prevent and tackle homelessness in their areas. This grant helps assist people of all ages and a proportion of this money will be spent on young people based on a local authority's need. We cannot disaggregate actual spend on young people, but in England in the last quarter, 39 per cent. of households accepted as owed a main homelessness duty were aged 16 to 24 years.

The Supporting People programme provides revenue funds for local authorities to commission housing-related support services for vulnerable people in their area, to enable them to develop independent living skills.

It is a locally managed and delivered programme. Local authorities are responsible for making the strategic decisions regarding the programme including deciding what services to commission to meet local needs and priorities.

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what guidance his Department has issued to local authorities on their role in assisting young people to secure permanent accommodation. [307020]

Mr. Ian Austin: Government have issued guidance focussed on helping local authorities and the third sector assist young people in securing settled accommodation.

The Homelessness Code of Guidance for Local Authorities (July 2006)—provides a summary of the homelessness legislation and the duties, powers and obligations on housing authorities and others towards people who are homeless or at risk of homelessness. In addition to this we have published:

Joint working between Housing and Children's Services: Preventing homelessness and tackling its effects on children and young people (May 2008)

Making a difference: Supported lodgings as a housing option for young people (October 2008)

An accommodation self assessment toolkit for the Socially Excluded Adults Public Service Agreement (November 2009)

Homelessness prevention and meeting housing need for (ex)offenders: A guide to practice (November 2009)

Preventing Homelessness: A Strategy Health Check (September 2006)

Homelessness Prevention—a guide to good practice (June 2006)

Local authorities are legally required to prepare a pathway plan setting out the support that will be provided to care leavers so that they can make a positive transition from their care placement to more independent accommodation. This plan will include details of any services that the individual young person might need so that they are able to successfully manage a future tenancy.

Regulations and Guidance setting out the responsibilities of local authorities to support care leavers so that they have the best chance to succeed in their accommodation was issued in 2001, at the time of the introduction of the provisions of the Children (Leaving Care) Act 2000.

As well as producing and publishing this guidance we make available other local authority prevention tools and good practice information aimed specifically at assisting young people on our National Youth Homelessness website.

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what mechanisms exist for (a) his Department, (b) its agencies and (c) local authorities to assist young people in securing permanent accommodation. [307047]

Mr. Ian Austin: CLG employ a team of homelessness advisors, seconded from local authorities, to advise and support local authorities with their homelessness strategies. In particular, identifying and promoting good practice and opportunities to improve efficiency in tackling and preventing homelessness effectively.

The Supporting People programme also funds housing-related support to vulnerable people, including young people, to help them to live more independently. For example, Supporting People funded services might support a vulnerable young person or teenage parent to develop life skills which enable them to maintain a tenancy, such as understanding a tenancy agreement, or budgeting; or they might provide support to access training, education or employment which can help young people to develop a more stable home life. In 2007-08, over £136 million was spent on housing-related support services for vulnerable young people, and over £23 million was spent on services for teenage parents.

The homelessness legislation (Part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) provides a safety net for vulnerable young people who become homeless through no fault of their own. Under the legislation, local housing authorities must secure suitable accommodation for applicants who are eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and fall within a priority need group. The priority need groups include young people aged 16 or 17, young people aged between 18 and 20 who were previously in care, and young people aged 21 or over who are vulnerable as a result of having spent time in care. The duty continues until an offer of a settled home can be made.

Local authorities are responsible for allocating settled social (either within their own stock or by nomination to housing associations in their district) to those on the waiting list, including young people, who have appropriate priority under the authority's allocation scheme.

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what support (a) his Department and (b) its agencies provide to young people leaving foyer schemes to assist them in securing permanent accommodation. [307054]

Mr. Ian Austin: Foyer schemes and other forms of supported accommodation are designed to help young people gain the skills they will require to live independently and to secure their own settled accommodation.

The Supporting People programme provides revenue funds for local authorities to commission housing related support services for vulnerable people in their area, to enable them to develop these essential independent living skills. Data relaying to the supply of and spend on supporting people housing related support services is collected retrospectively. The following table shows the amount spent on three young people client groups by service type and accommodation type for 2007-08.

Some young people may yet still require additional help and that is why Communities and Local Government allocated over £220 million to local authorities and the voluntary sector between 2008-09 to 2010-11 to help them prevent and tackle homelessness in their areas.

The homelessness legislation (Part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) provides a safety net for vulnerable young people who become homeless through no fault of their own. Under the legislation, local housing authorities must secure suitable accommodation for applicants who are eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and fall within a priority need group. ### Homes and Communities Agency: Assets

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government to which third parties the Homes and Communities Agency is liable for the additional consideration on development assets referred to on page 87 of its Annual Report 2009; and if he will make a statement. [307134]

John Healey: Further to the information provided in note 31(c) on page 87 of the Homes and Communities Agency's (HCA) financial statement 2008-09, the third party referred to in the note is the Department of Health. The surplus public sector land referred to as being transferred to the agency in 2005-06, was a portfolio of 96 sites.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much land was owned by the Homes and Communities Agency in each of the last three years; what percentage of the land currently owned by the agency has been granted planning permission; and what percentage of the land is expected to be developed within the next (a) six and (b) 12 months. [307135]

John Healey: The HCA came into existence on 1 December 2008, it therefore held no land in 2007.

For 2008 and 2009, figures are as follows:

| | Hectares |
|---|---|
| 2008 | 7982.1713 |
| 2009 | 8028.0811 |

It is not possible to provide an answer to the remaining parts of this question other than at disproportionate cost.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government to which third parties the Homes and Communities Agency is liable to for the community related asset transfers listed on page 87 of the Homes and Communities Agency Annual Report 2009; and if he will make a statement. [307267]

John Healey: To disclose this information would prejudice the commercial interests of the Homes and Communities Agency, as the transfer of these assets may take time and will be subject to ongoing financial negotiations.

Homes and Communities Agency: Contracts

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Welwyn Hatfield of 30 November 2009, Official Report, column 499W, on departmental contracts, which bodies are recorded as having contracts with the Homes and Communities Agency. [306722]

John Healey: A list of all the bodies having contracts with the Homes and Communities Agency has been deposited in the Library of the House. There are over 1,000 entries on the list which do not include non-contractual commitments, multiple entries for the same firm, or details of contracts entered into with individuals.

Housing

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will assess the effect on the housing market of Government policy on the provision of social care; and if he will make a statement. [305991]

Mr. Ian Austin: The National Strategy for Housing in an Ageing Society, "Lifetime Homes, Lifetime Neighbourhoods", recognises the challenges of an ageing society, and the impact on the demand for housing which is adaptable to people's changing needs and enables people to live more independently at home. The housing target of 240,000 new homes a year from 2016 onwards reflects long-term needs and changes in the age and type of households projected over the next 20 years.

"Lifetime Homes, Lifetime Neighbourhoods" also recognises the increasing need for specialised housing such as care homes and extra care housing, and we welcome the recent report from the Housing our Ageing Population Panel for Innovation, which makes recommendations which aim to improve the choice and availability of specialised housing for older people.

Housing: Carbon Emissions

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment he has made of the merits of proposals for a fabric energy efficiency standard for zero carbon homes. [306328]

John Healey: I announced in a written ministerial statement on 16 July 2009, Official Report, columns 42-49WS, the formation of a specialist task group to advise on the minimum energy efficiency standard for zero carbon homes. Following the work of that task group, the report of which I have placed in the Library of the House, I announced in a further written ministerial statement on 24 November 2009, Official Report, columns 42-44WS, that:

> I am satisfied the task group's recommendations strike the right balance between a high level of ambition and a standard that can be realised in practice by 2016;
> I intend to use this standard within the definition of zero carbon homes; and
> I will be using our forthcoming consultation on updating the Code for Sustainable Homes to confirm that there are no unintended consequences from this standard and to seek views on the energy efficiency standard to be adopted in 2013.

Housing: Energy

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the average (a) current energy efficiency rating band and (b) potential energy efficiency rating band is for homes in each local authority area. [307115]

Mr. Ian Austin: The information requested is not currently available centrally to respond to the question in the format requested.

Housing: Finance

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how much of the £50 million of social housing grant to allow local authorities to deliver new social housing announced in April has been spent in each region; [307006]

(2) how much of the £400 million of funding through Kickstart announced in April 2009 has been spent in each region; [307007]

(3) how much of the £250 million to allow local authorities to deliver new social housing referred to in the Prime Minister's Building Britain's Future announcement has been spent in each region; [307015]

(4) how much of the £660 million for Kickstart referred to in the Prime Minister's Building Britain's Future announcement has been spent in each region; [307016]

(5) how much of the £750 million to be allocated via the Homes and Communities Agency's National Affordable Housing Programme referred to in the Prime Minister's Building Britain's Future announcement has been spent in each region. [307017]

John Healey: The Budget 2009 and Housing Pledge funding for Kickstart and LA New Build are treated as single spending programmes. The additional funding provided for NAHP as part of the Pledge is treated as part of the mainstream NAHP programme. The announced funding for each region listed as follows is given against these total budgets.

Announcements 2009-10 (in £ millions)

| Region | NAHP | Kickstart round 1 (approved including approved subject to conditions) | LA New Build (approved) |

| West Midlands | 94 | 68 | 8 |
| Yorkshire and Humber | 61 | 56 | 27 |
| Total | 1,230 | 449 | 141 |

Note:
Figures may not sum due to roundings.

We have on 16 December 2009 also announced short-listed projects for round two of Kickstart for a share of up to £550 million. All the projects will now go through a rigorous final assessment by the Homes and Communities Agency to determine which will get the green light. As this funding is intended to support the housebuilding industry when it needs it most, one of the key factors will be the ability to complete building work by March 2012.

Kickstart round 2 announcement of short-listed projects

The 2009-10 budget for each of these programmes is available in the Homes and Communities Agency's Corporate Plan 2009-10.

Housing: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps he plans to take to provide accommodation in Leeds to meet the city's projected population increase. [306926]

Mr. Ian Austin: Current market conditions are challenging, but there is strong pent-up demand for new homes. Therefore we remain committed to achieving a step-change in housing supply whilst recognising the scale of the challenge this entails, and want to see a swift and sustainable recovery in housing. A sufficient, suitable supply of land for housing, which responds to market signals and rising demand, will be critical to achieving this. We therefore announced a proposal to improve the quality of the five-year supply of economically viable sites that are required under PPS3 in the pre-Budget report, as well as other work to improve the delivery of housing.

We are keen to see all local authorities put in place an adopted Core Strategy. Leeds city council has the highest housing requirement figure in the country. Provision for this will be demonstrated in their emerging Core Strategy. The council has recently ended a round of formal consultation on this document, which has an expected publication date of September 2010 and submission in January 2011. It is hoped that the Core Strategy will be adopted by November 2011.

The scale of its housing requirements means that Leeds city council is a national priority. The Government Office for Yorkshire and the Humber, the Planning Inspectorate, the Planning Advisory Service and the Department are giving as much aid and assistance as possible to ensure a prompt production of the Core Strategy to put in place the delivery mechanisms for housing to meet the requirements.

We have also taken measures to support the construction industry, including the biggest council house building programme for nearly two decades, from which I am pleased that Leeds has benefited. I am also pleased to be working with the Leeds City Region Partnership on its Urban Eco Settlement initiative, which includes the Aire Valley in Leeds where we are already investing Kickstart funding and which has further potential to contribute to the delivery of the housing that Leeds needs.

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the average house price in Leeds West constituency was (a) five, (b) 10 and (c) 15 years ago. [306037]

Mr. Ian Austin: House price information is not available by constituency only by local authority. The average house prices for Leeds are as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| January 1995 (earliest available data) | 57,747 |
| January 2000 | 60,499 |
| January 2005 | 133,378 |
| October 2009 (latest available data) | 129,565 |

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps he is taking to enable Leeds housing associations to access funds provided by his Department for new housing development. [307430]

John Healey: The Homes and Communities Agency (HCA) allocates funds through a process of Continuous Market Engagement (CME) whereby bids for funding can be submitted through this ongoing process following discussions with local authorities and HCA Investment and Regeneration Managers. Monthly clinics are held at which bids from housing associations are discussed and prioritised.

At the end of November 2009, £50.9 million had been allocated in Leeds for 1,609 homes under the 2008-11 National Affordable Housing Programme.

In addition, £3.5 million has been allocated to Leeds city council under the local authority Newbuild Round 1 programme for 63 homes.

Funds under the Kickstart round 1 programme worth £7.2 million, for 235 homes (subject to funding conditions) were announced in Leeds area in October 2009.

Kickstart Round 2 will allocate over £30 million across Yorkshire and Humber over 23 schemes including one in Leeds. This investment will support the delivery of approximately 1,488 homes in the region by March 2012.

Housing: Valuation

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many properties in England have a value of over £2 million. [307087]

Mr. Ian Austin: Information in the form requested is not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

However the Land Registry does publish information on the number of residential house sales over £2 million. These data are for England and Wales only and are published in their monthly House Price Index report.

In August 2009 there were 71 properties sold for over £2 million. This is 0.1 per cent. of the 53,236 transactions for the month.

Housing: Water

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent discussions he has held with housebuilders on the merits of including grey water recycling systems in new build homes. [306329]

Mr. Ian Austin: Officials have an ongoing dialogue with representatives of the house building industry on a wide range of issues including on building standards for new homes.

Infrastructure Planning Commission: Pay

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the (a) basic salary, (b) bonus structure, (c) employers' pension contribution and (d) benefits in kind are for each commissioner and director, including the Chief Executive, of the Infrastructure Planning Commission; and what their contracted hours per week are in each case. [305943]

John Healey: The remuneration packages and range for the Infrastructure Planning Commission's (IPC) commissioners, chief executive officer and directors are provided in the following table:

Infrastructure planning Commission (IPC)

| Title | Basic salary | Bonus structure | Employer's pension contribution | Benefits in kind | Contracted hours |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chair | £184,000 | None | Not pensionable | None | 4 days |
| Interim CEO (on secondment from CLG) | £105,000 | An annual non consolidated bonus up to 10 per cent. based on performance | CLG pension scheme PCSPS | None | 42 hours |
| Deputy chairs | £425 day rate | None | Not pensionable | None | Day rate |
| Commissioners | £385 day rate | None | Not pensionable | None | Day rate[1] |
| Directors | £90,000 to £100,000 | | LGPS contribution 14 per cent. | Relocation expenses up to £8,000 max for two directors | 42 hours |

[1] Commissioners will work between three to five days per week.

[2] Directors have an opportunity to earn a non consolidated, performance related bonus, details of which will be developed as part of future pay remits and in line with SCS arrangements.

Local Democracy, Economic Development and Construction Act 2009

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the timetable is for the commencement of each of the substantive provisions of the Local Democracy, Economic Development and Construction Act 2009. [illegible]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The arrangements for the commencement of provisions contained in the Local Democracy, Economic Development and Construction Act 2009 are set out in sections 148 and 149 of the Act. A number of provisions will come into force on a day specified by the Secretary of State.

Commencement Order No. 1 (2009 No. 3087 (C.137)) was made on 24 November 2009. This commenced a number of minor provisions relating to the local authority economic assessment duty and the regional strategy.

We plan to make a further commencement order shortly. The likely details of this are set out in the following table:

| Provision | Commencement date |
|---|---|
| Economic prosperity boards/combined authorities (Sections 88 to 113, sections 118 to 120 & Schedule 6) | Day after the order is made |
| Economic prosperity boards/combined authorities (Sections 114 to 117) | 12 January 2010 |
| Duty of public authorities to secure involvement | 1 April 2010 |
| Scrutiny officers (section 31) | 1 April 2010 |
| Local government boundary and electoral change | 1 April 2010 |
| Remaining provisions relating to the local authority economic assessment duty | 1 April 2010 |
| Remaining provisions relating to the regional strategy | 1 April 2010 |

My Department published a consultation on draft statutory guidance and secondary legislation to support the petitions duty on 2 December. The consultation includes questions about the most appropriate timescale for bringing the provisions into force. Ministers will take a decision about when to commence the petitions duty after the consultation closes on 24 February.

The Government recognise the importance of embedding the promotion of democracy and engagement of local people at the heart of local government. We have recently consulted on how best to engage with and strengthen the role of local people, to influence decisions in their local area and restore the status of the town hall by boosting the status, powers and accountability of local councils. We will be responding to the "Strengthening Local Democracy" consultation in due course.

The duty to promote democracy is important in helping take this work forward and we want to ensure that its introduction has a positive and proactive response from local government given the likely costs involved in implementing it effectively. We have therefore been looking at when the duty should be implemented. We have concluded that given the current economic situation implementation of the duty should be considered as part of the next spending review.

In respect of the audit and mutual insurance provisions in Part 2, it will be necessary to prepare and consult on draft regulations and guidance before we commence the provisions. Any final decision on commencement will depend on the outcome of this consultation.

The commencement date for construction contract provisions in Part 8 is dependent on the revision of the Scheme for Construction Contracts (England and Wales) Regulations 1998. The Department for Business, Innovation and Skills will consult on the necessary changes in the new year.

Local Development Frameworks

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether local planning authorities will be required to amend their Local Development Frameworks to bring them in line with National Policy Statements. [307269]

Mr. Ian Austin: Local planning authorities must have regard to national policy, including National Policy Statements, when preparing development plan documents in their local development framework.

When National Policy Statements are adopted local planning authorities should have regard to them when they next review their LDF documents.

Local Government

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will place in the Library a copy of the recent protocol to the Charter of Local Self-Government; and what steps will be required to implement the Charter's provisions in England. [306554]

Ms Rosie Winterton: I have today placed in the Library a copy of the Additional Protocol to The European Charter of Local Self-Government on the Right to Participate in the Affairs of a Local Authority which I signed on behalf of the United Kingdom at the recent conference of Ministers responsible for local and regional government at Utrecht. We intend, subject to Parliament not disagreeing, to ratify the Protocol as soon as practicable after consultation with the Local Government Association and other stakeholders and formally laying it before Parliament. As will be explained in the White Paper that we will present to Parliament when laying the Protocol, we believe that the United Kingdom already complies with the Protocol and no new legislative provision is required.

Local Government Finance

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will make an assessment of the potential efficiency savings which could be achieved through closer integration of local authority and national park authority (a) planning, (b) personnel and payroll, (c) democratic services and (d) marketing functions. [302197]

Mr. Ian Austin: The English National Park Authorities and the Broads Authority are expected to operate as efficiently as possible. This includes sharing services with local authorities or other organisations whenever that is cost-effective and when they can do so without impeding their ability to deliver the statutory National Park purposes.

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much gross revenue has been raised from the parish precept on council tax in each year since 1997-98. [307218]

Barbara Follett: The information requested is in the following table.

Parish precepts: England

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 1997-98 | 144 |
| 1998-99 | 154 |
| 1999-2000 | 165 |

Budget Requirement (BR) returns from local authorities.

Mr. Mark Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how much (a) in total and (b) per capita is planned to be provided through the (i) provisional local authority formula grant and (ii) adjusted provisional local authority formula grant in (A) England, (B) the South West Region, (C) each local authority in the South West Region in financial year (1) 2009-10 and (2) 2010-11; [307363]

(2) how much (a) in total and (b) per capita was provided through the (i) local authority formula grant and (ii) adjusted local authority formula grant for (A) England, (B) the South West Region and (C) each local authority in the South West Region in each year from 1997-98 to 2008-09. [307364]

Barbara Follett: A table showing the year-on-year change on a like-for-like basis for all local authorities for the period 1998-99 to 2010-11 has been placed in the Library.

The Department only holds data on adjusted formula grant from 1997-98. This is because it only became necessary to make these adjustments when guarantees were introduced that ensured that no authority could lose grant, year-on-year, on a like-for-like basis. Consequently it is not possible to provide the increases on a like-for-like basis for 1997-98.

The previous year's formula grant is adjusted for changes in function and funding to enable a like-for-like comparison. This is the only purpose of the adjustment: the local authority's grant for the previous year is not changed.

Formula Grant comprises Revenue Support Grant, redistributed business rates, principal formula Police Grant, SSA Reduction Grant (SSA Review), SSA Reduction Grant (Police Funding Review) and Central Support Protection Grant where appropriate.

Before 2006-07, support for schools was paid through formula grant. In 2006-07 funding for schools was transferred to the Dedicated Schools Grant. That is why all authorities which have responsibility for schools will see a large decrease in their grant between 2005-06 and 2006-07 on an absolute (non like-for-like) basis.

Before 2006-07, the main measure of population used in the Local Government Finance Settlement was the sub-national estimates. From 2006-07 onwards, sub-national population projections were used instead. The per head figures have been calculated using the main measure of population used for each settlement.

Local Government Services: Fees and Charges

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what guidance his Department has issued to local authorities on the application of the provisions of the Supply of Goods and Services Act 1982 to charged-for discretionary services. [307085]

Barbara Follett: The Department has not issued guidance to local authorities on the application of the provisions of the Supply of Goods and Services Act 1982 where the local authority charges for discretionary services provided by it.

Guidance to local authorities and other best value authorities on the general power to charge for discretionary services is given in guidance issued in 2003 and found at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/documents/localgovernment/pdf/151291.pdf

Local Government: Compensation

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what requirements there are on local authorities to have a policy on redress and compensation for failure of their services. [307076]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Local authorities are expected to have an effective complaints system that achieves redress for citizens if things go wrong. An independent review into redress for local authority services, which reported in June 2009, identified that clearly setting out what will happen if things go wrong alongside service standards was one of the areas that makes the biggest difference to the customer experience. The evidence considered by the review team showed that the key factor for people in feeling that their concern had been adequately dealt with was not receiving compensation, but having their problem effectively resolved.

A copy of the review is available on the Communities and Local Government website at http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/communities/gettingitrightreport

Local Government: Disabled People

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many claims for compensation against Chorley Borough Council for failure to comply with disability equality schemes have been upheld in the last two years. [305342]

Ms Rosie Winterton: This information is not held centrally.

Local Government: Pensions

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether an assessment has been made of the effect of the reduction of gilt yields resulting from quantitative easing on the levels of Local Government Pension Scheme pension deficits. [306414]

Barbara Follett: The actuarial valuation exercise by Local Government Pension Scheme administering authorities due in March 2010 will take full account of this, and all the other factors which are relevant to each of the scheme's pension funds.

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 16 February 2006, Official Report, column 2211W, on advanced corporation tax relief, what the monetary value is of the additional sum that has been provided to mitigate the effect of the abolition of advanced corporation tax relief on the local government pension scheme in each year since 1998. [306753]

Barbara Follett: The reply given to the h[illegible]ember for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) on [illegible]ebruary 2006, Official Report, column 2211W, confirmed that the value of the £130 million provided in 1998 to offset the impact of the abolition of advanced corporation tax on the Local Government Pension Scheme has been fully protected through indexation.

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will place in the Library a copy of the most recent annual report of each individual administering authority of the Local Government Pension Scheme that is held by his Department. [307116]

Barbara Follett: This information is not held centrally. However, administering authorities are required to publish their annual report locally. A copy of each authority's report can be obtained from that authority and, in some cases, from their website.

Local Government: Per Capita Costs

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the average central Government grant per capita was to (a) district councils, (b) unitary councils, (c) county councils, (d) metropolitan councils, (e) London boroughs, (f) police authorities and (g) fire authorities in each year since 1997-98. [306890]

Barbara Follett: The average central Government grant per capita for the classes of authority specified since 1997-98 is as follows:

Communities and Local Government Revenue Outturn (RO) returns from 1997-98 to 2008-09

The definition of central Government grant used here is the sum of Formula Grant (revenue support grant, redistributed non-domestic rates and police grant), Greater London Authority (GLA) grant and specific grants inside Aggregate External Finance (AEF), i.e. revenue grants paid for council's core services. In past years, where applicable the SSA reduction grant and Central Support Protection Grants have also been included. From 2008-09 it also includes Area Based Grant (ABG).

Figures exclude grants outside AEF (i.e. where funding is not for authorities' core services, but is passed to a third party, for example, rent allowances and rebates), capital grants, funding for the local authorities' housing management responsibilities and those grant programmes (such as European funding) where authorities are simply one of the recipients of funding paid towards an area.

Per capita figures are calculated using Office for National Statistics' (ONS) Mid-Year Population estimates from 1997 to 2008.

From 2000-01 onwards Metropolitan Police Authority and London Fire and Civil Defence Authority data are collected within Greater London Authority returns. Hence separate data are not available.

From 2004-05 Combined Fire Authorities (CFA) became precepting authorities. Prior to this CFAs levied on county councils' budget requirements.

Comparison across years may not be valid owing to changing local authority responsibilities.

Local Government: Reorganisation

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what timetable has been set for the restructuring of local government in Norfolk, Suffolk and Devon. [306751]

Mr. Swire: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when he expects to lay before Parliament an order to implement unitary local government in Devon, Norfolk or Suffolk. [306471]

Ms Rosie Winterton: As I told the House on 8 December, Official Report, column 13WS, until 19 January 2010 representations may be made to my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State about the Boundary Committee's advice on unitary proposals for Devon, Norfolk and Suffolk, and about the unitary proposals made by Exeter, Ipswich and Norwich.

Thereafter, recognising the need to end uncertainty, the Secretary of State intends to move forward as quickly as practicable. Having regard to the Boundary Committee's advice, all the representations he receives, and all other relevant information available to him, he intends to take his statutory decisions as to whether to implement, with or without modification, any of the unitary proposals before him, or to take no action.

If the Secretary of State decides to implement a proposal, he will lay before Parliament a draft of an order which, if approved, he will make to give effect to his decision.

Local Government: Standards

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate he has made of the cost to (a) the Audit Commission and (b) local authorities of the Comprehensive Area Assessment regime to date. [306749]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Comprehensive Area Assessment (CAA) is a joint inspectorate assessment framework that replaces several preceding assessments and the annual cost of delivering it spans the relevant inspectorates, and their sponsoring Departments.

The cost to the Audit Commission of its work on CAA is covered by a mixture of the fees paid by local authorities and direct grant from the Department for Communities and Local Government (CLG). In 2009-10, the first year of CAA, the cost is estimated to be £26.9 million. This is funded by £6.7 million inspection fees paid by local authorities, and £20.2 million grant from CLG which includes Fire and Rescue Authority work. The Use of Resources element of CAA is included in the work of auditors appointed by the Commission which is funded by audit fees paid by local authorities.

The Audit Commission, on behalf of the joint inspectorates responsible for CAA, has commissioned an independent evaluation of CAA. This will look at implementation and delivery of the new arrangements, co-ordination across inspectorates and the initial cost to inspected bodies. A report is expected in March 2010.

Local Government: Suffolk

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the cost to the public purse has been of legal costs associated with the High Court and Court of Appeal cases on the Boundary Committee's Structural Review of Suffolk. [306808]

Ms Rosie Winterton: All the legal costs of all the parties in this case will fall on the public purse. The Court of Appeal has made an order requiring the councils which initiated the case—Forest Heath district council, St. Edmundsbury borough council and Suffolk Coastal district council—to pay all of the Boundary Committee's costs in the administrative court and the Court of Appeal, in addition to their own costs. Whilst we do not hold information as to the amount of the costs of the authorities or of the Boundary Committee, we assess that the Secretary of State's legal costs, to be met by him as an interested party in the case, are some £34,300.

Mass Media

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much has been spent by (a) the Homes and Communities Agency, (b) the Tenant Services Authority, (c) the National Housing and Planning Advice Unit and (d) his Department on media monitoring since the start of 2009-10. [305967]

John Healey: Since the start of financial year 2009-10, the Homes and Communities Agency, has spent £22,658.20 (not including VAT) on media monitoring. The Tenant Services Authority has spent £13,747.70 (including VAT) and the National Housing and Planning Advice Unit has identified costs of £756.0 (not including VAT). The Department has spent £266,835 (including VAT) on media monitoring. The figure for the Department comprises the subscription charges to the Central Office of Information's Media Monitoring Service and externally procured contracts for national and regional press cuttings.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much was spent by (a) the Homes and Communities Agency, (b) the Tenant Services Authority, (c) the National Housing and Planning Advice Unit and (d) his Department on media monitoring in each of the last three years. [305968]

John Healey: The Homes and Communities Agency and the Tenant Services Authority were both created on the 1 December 2008. Between 1 December 2008 and 31 March 2009, the Homes and Communities Agency spent £8,475.30 (not including VAT) on media monitoring. Over the same period, the Tenant Services Authority spent £10,160.34 (including VAT) on media monitoring. The National Housing and Planning Advice Unit were established in February 2007. It did not subscribe to a media monitoring service in that financial year. For financial years 2007-08 and 2008-09 figures are not separately identifiable.

In financial year 2008-09, the Department spent a total of £335,935.13 on media monitoring. The figure for the Department comprises the subscription charges to the Central Office of Information's Media Monitoring Service and externally procured contracts for national and regional press cuttings.

In respect of monitoring for financial years 2006-07 and 2007-08, I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by the Minister of State for Transport, my right hon. Friend the Member for Tooting (Mr. Khan) to the hon. Member for South-West Surrey (Mr. Hunt) on 29 October 2008, Official Report, columns 1138-39W.

Mortgages: Government Assistance

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how many and what proportion of mortgage lenders have declined to participate directly in the Homeowner Mortgage Support Scheme; [306892]

(2) which sub-prime lenders have refused to take part in the Homeowner Mortgage Support Scheme. [307142]

John Healey: We have acted rapidly to put in place a range of help and support at every stage for households struggling with their mortgage. Homeowners Mortgage Support provides a valuable backstop if repossession cannot be prevented in other ways by giving struggling borrowers a breathing space to recover their finances. Lenders covering over 90 per cent. of the residential mortgage market (based on 2008 data from the Council of Mortgage Lenders) have committed to offering this level of extended forbearance: of these, lenders representing over 50 per cent. of the market are offering the Government-backed scheme and over 40 per cent. of the market are offering similar levels of support through their own forbearance without the need for Government guarantee. A list of these lenders can be accessed at:

www.direct.gov.uk/hms

The Government are continuing to engage with those lenders who have not yet made a clear commitment to offer Homeowners Mortgage Support. The Financial Services Authority published the conclusions of its Mortgage Markets Review in October, setting out plans to strengthen regulation of arrears management and charges. This is to include converting their current guidance on forbearance into binding rules that prescribe a non-exhaustive list of tools that firms must employ to help consumers in arrears, including consideration of Government schemes put in place to help borrowers.

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many of the accepted offers by households under the Mortgage Rescue Scheme between January and September 2009 have been recorded as completed. [306919]

John Healey: All accepted offers reported by local authorities between January and September 2009 had also been recorded as completed by the end of September 2009 by the Homes and Communities Agency following draw down of grant by the registered social landlord.

The data on the Mortgage Rescue Scheme are official statistics, under which an accepted offer is recorded once contracts between the household, lender and registered social landlord have been signed and finalised.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much of the £80 million for the Mortgage Rescue Scheme announced in April has been spent in each region. [307005]

John Healey: We have acted rapidly to put in place a range of help and support for households struggling with their mortgage at every stage, and launched a campaign to ensure households have clear information about the help available.

In April's Budget we announced increased help for homeowners facing repossession, including an expansion of the mortgage rescue scheme to include households in negative equity.

Data published in November for the July to September period show that there were over 1,100 'live' cases, of which 690 cases had benefited from action to stop the immediate threat of repossession and almost 100 households had completed the process and been able to remain in their homes. Regional spend to end September is broken down as follows:

| Region | Total spend (£) |
|---|---|
| East Midlands | 324,128 |
| Eastern | 1,577,092 |
| London | 803,878 |
| North West | 997,539 |
| South East | 950,950 |
| South West | 275,159 |
| West Midlands | 2,090,657 |
| Yorkshire and Humberside | 268,866 |
| Total | 7,288,269 |

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when figures for the take-up of the (a) Mortgage Rescue Scheme and (b) Homeowner Mortgage Support Scheme will next be published. [307073]

John Healey: We have acted rapidly to put in place a range of help and support for households struggling with their mortgage at every stage, and launched a campaign to ensure households have clear information about the help available.

Mortgage Rescue Scheme summary monitoring statistics are published on a quarterly basis on the Department's website. Figures can be accessed using the following link:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/corporate/statistics/mortgagerescuestatistics

Statistics for the October—December period will be published on 11 February 2010.

Management information on Homeowners Mortgage Support was released by the Department on 9 December 2009. Figures can be accessed using the following link:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/news/corporate/1408110

Information on Homeowners Mortgage Support will next be published by spring 2010.

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many households in City of York Council area have participated in the Government's temporary scheme to reduce the number of mortgage repossessions during the economic downturn. [307384]

John Healey: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Members for Ashford (Damian Green), Meriden (Mrs. Spelman) and Preseli Pembrokeshire (Mr. Crabb) on 14 December, Official Report, columns 914-915W.

Non-Domestic Rates

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which local authorities have exercised their powers under section 49 of the Local Government Finance Act 1988 to reduce or remit the payment of business rates in cases of hardship in (a) 2008-09 and (b) 2009-10 on the latest date for which figures are available. [306894]

Barbara Follett: The following local authorities have reported to Communities and Local Government that they granted hardship relief in 2008-09, the latest date for which figures are available:

Aylesbury Vale, Barnsley, Basingstoke and Deane, Bedford, Berwick-upon-Tweed, Blyth Valley, Bradford, Brighton and Hove, Bristol, Broxbourne, Cannock Chase, Castle Morpeth, Charnwood, Crewe and Nantwich, Daventry, Derby, Derwentside, Easington, East Devon, East Hampshire, East Lindsey, East Riding of Yorkshire, East Staffordshire, Eastleigh, Exeter, Forest Heath, Forest of Dean, Greenwich, Hackney, Harrogate, High Peak, Horsham, Huntingdonshire, Ipswich, Kennet, Kensington and Chelsea, Kerrier, Kings Lynn and West Norfolk, Kirklees, Knowsley, Leeds, Leicester UA, Lewes, Luton UA, Macclesfield, Mansfield, Mendip, Mid Bedfordshire, Mid Sussex, Middlesbrough, Milton Keynes, North Cornwall, North East Derbyshire, North East Lincolnshire, North Tyneside, North Warwickshire, Norwich, Purbeck, Redcar and Cleveland, Richmondshire, Rother, Rotherham, Salisbury, Sandwell, Scarborough, Sedgemoor, Selby, Sevenoaks, Sheffield, Shepway, Slough, South Bedfordshire, South Derbyshire, South Gloucestershire, South Lakeland, South Northamptonshire, South Ribble, St. Albans, Stevenage, Stratford-on-Avon, Stroud, Sutton, Tendring, Tewkesbury, Thanet, Tower Hamlets, Tynedale, Vale Royal, Wandsworth, Warrington, Waveney, West Devon, West Dorset, West Wiltshire, Westminster, Weymouth and Portland, Wigan, Woking, Wolverhampton, Wychavon, Wycombe, Wyre Forest.

The information was reported on the annual national non-domestic rates (NNDR3) form completed by all billing authorities in England.

Data for 2009-10 will not be available until the autumn of 2010.

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which 50 individual hereditaments in Greater London have the greatest percentage increase in rateable values from the 2005 rating list to the draft 2010 rating list; what the rateable value was in each case (a) before and (b) after revaluation; and what the (i) address and (ii) local billing authority is in each case. [305815]

Barbara Follett: The table shows the billing authority and the rateable values on the 2005 Rating List and on the draft 2010 Rating List of the 50 individual hereditaments in Greater London which saw the biggest percentage increase in the period between the two lists, as at 29 May 2009. These data are consistent with the consultation document titled: "The Transitional Arrangements for the Non-Domestic Rating Revaluation 2010 in England", published on 8 July 2009. A copy of this can be found at the following link:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/localgovernment/nndrrevaluation2010

No address information other than postcode is held in the dataset used for the analysis. The address, 2005 list rateable value and 2010 draft list rateable value from the live database for each hereditament in the central and local rating lists are published on the Valuation Office Agency's website and this information is updated weekly:

Note:

The figures are rounded to the nearest thousand.

Rateable values are based on rental value at a set valuation date—1 April 2003 and 1 April 2008 for the 2005 and the new 2010 rating lists respectively. At each revaluation a completely fresh valuation of each property is made and it is to be expected that values will change at differential rates reflecting the change in demand for property over time.

The five-yearly business rates revaluations make sure each business pays its fair contribution and no more by ensuring the share of the national rates bill paid by any one business reflects changes over time in the value of their property relative to others. The 2010 revaluation will not raise a single extra penny for Government.

Over a million properties will see their business rate liabilities come down as a result of revaluation. The Government intend to put in place a £2 billion relief scheme to limit the impact on the minority with bill increases. That is on top of the wider support available to help ease business pressures including discounted rate bills for small businesses and deferring tax payments.

Non-Domestic Rates: Ports

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Liverpool, Riverside of 9 November 2009, Official Report, column 75W, on non-domestic rates: ports, if he will place in the Library a copy of the communication received from the trade association. [306548]

Ms Rosie Winterton: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst on 20 July 2009, Official Report, column 823-24W.

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government in respect of how many individual hereditaments in each port he expects backdated payments of business rates to be required. [307041]

Barbara Follett: As of 26 October 2009, there are 727 hereditaments within the 45 large statutory ports and container terminals in England with a liability for business rates backdated to 1 April 2005.

The Government have listened to the concerns of businesses with significant and unexpected backdated bills, including some within ports. It has legislated to allow such bills to be repaid over an unprecedented eight years period rather than in one single instalment. This will help affected businesses to manage their cash flows during the downturn by reducing the amount they are required to pay immediately by 87 per cent.

As at 8 October 2009, local authorities have reported that ratepayers occupying 221 properties within ports had fully discharged their backdated liability and ratepayers occupying a further 200 business properties within ports had been granted a schedule of payments.

Non-Domestic Rates: Valuation

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what primary description codes the Valuation Office Agency uses for classifying hereditaments for business rates. [306386]

Ian Pearson: I h[illegible] been asked to reply.

The primary description codes contained within the Rating Lists will be placed in the Library.

Non-Domestic Rates: York

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many empty commercial properties in City of York Council area were exempt from commercial rates under the Government's temporary exemption scheme in 2009; what the monetary value was of the rate income foregone; and what the financial effects of such relief on City of York Council were. [307385]

Barbara Follett: Data about the number of empty commercial properties in 2009 have not yet been collected. It is planned that these data will be requested from all billing authorities in England as at 31 December 2009.

Data on the value of the empty property rate relief granted in 2009-10 will be collected on the annual national non-domestic rates (NNDR3) form completed by all billing authorities in England after the end of the current financial year.

Any non-domestic rate relief granted because properties are empty has no financial effect on a billing authority. Any relief granted reduces the amount of national non-domestic rates an authority will be able to collect and subsequently required to contribute to the national non-domestic rates pool. If an authority awards more relief than envisaged at the budget stage, and consequently collects less non-domestic rates, measures are available to the authority to reduce its contribution to the pool either within year or after the year has ended.

North East Economic Forum

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what funding (a) his Department, (b) the Government Office for the North East and (c) the North East Assembly has provided to the North East Economic Forum in each year since 2005. [305924]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The Department for Communities and Local Government, Government Office for the North East and the North East Assembly (and its successor body) have not made any payments to the North East Economic Forum.

Ordnance Survey

Mr. Arbuthnot: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if he will limit the free release of Ordnance Survey data to that, in respect of which the Government is a monopoly supplier. [307755]

Mr. Ian Austin: The Prime Minister proposed on 17 November to release for free and for reuse, including commercially, some Ordnance Survey data relating to administrative and electoral boundaries, mid-scale mapping and postcode areas. The purpose of the forthcoming consultation is to set out the proposal in greater detail and to hear feedback, including on the impact on the wider market in which Ordnance Survey operates.

Planning

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the written statement of 24 November 2009, Official Report, column 38WS, on departmental expenditure limit (2009-10), what the unfunded legal challenges on planning that have required the £400,000 of funding were; and for what reasons each such challenge was made. [307215]

Mr. Ian Austin: In 2008 appeals were submitted against non-determination of three planning applications for sustainable urban extensions in Daventry. Funding was provided to enable West Northamptonshire Development Corporation (WNDC) to be represented at the inquiry. Further details of the appeals are published on the WNDC website; http://www.wndc.co.uk/whats_happening_in_my_area/daventry/daventry_planning_appeals/daventry_planning_appeals_home.aspx

Property Development: Floods

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what progress is being made on the revision of building regulations to ensure that new or refurbished buildings in high flood-risk areas are flood resistant and resilient. [305074]

Mr. Ian Austin: We continue to take forward policy development, including on flood resilience and resistance, in preparation for a wider public consultation on Parts A (Structure) and C (Site preparation and resistance to contaminants and moisture) as set out in the "Future of Building Control—Implementation Plan".

In advance of this, we will also be consulting in the spring of 2010 on issues that might be reflected in future flood performance standards for new buildings and repairs and how they might be incorporated in the Building Regulations. This consultation will also inform decisions on any legislative changes that may be needed in advance of those planned in the "Future of Building Control".

Public Bodies: Pay

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to his Department's publication Amending the accounts and audit regulations 2003 (SI 2003 No. 533) to improve the transparency of reporting of remuneration of senior officials in public bodies: Summary of responses and Government response, if he will place in the Library a copy of the full response from the (a) Association of Council Secretaries and Solicitors, (b) Association of Local Authority Chief Executives, (c) Association of Principal Fire Officers, (d) Audit Commission, (e) Broads Authority, (f) Chartered Institute of Public Finance and Accountancy, (g) Fire Officers' Association, (h) GMB-Britain's General Union, (i) Greater Manchester Pension Fund, (j) Information Commissioner's Office Institute of Chartered Secretaries and Administrators, (k) Local Government Employers, (l) Merseyside Pension Fund, (m) National Association of Local Councils and

Somerset Association of Local Councils, (n) North Yorkshire Pension Fund Committee, (o) Police Authority Treasurers' Society, (p) Society of County Treasurers, (q) Society of District Council Treasurers, (r) Society of Local Authority Chief Executives Enterprises and (s) UNISON. [306437]

Barbara Follett: The responses on the consultation to amend the Accounts and Audit Regulations 2003 (SI 2003 No. 533) in order to improve the transparency of reporting of remuneration of senior officials in public bodies were published on the Department for Communities and Local Government website on 30 November this year at the following link:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/localgovernment/1364495

Public Houses: Valuation

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many public houses of special category codes 226 and 227 and primary description code CL were on the Valuation Office Agency's Rating List in each local authority area in (a) 1997 and (b) 2009. [306556]

Ian Pearson: I have been asked to reply.

Special category codes 226 and 227 did not refer to Public Houses in the 1995 Rating Lists. However, I have deposited a table in the Library of the House which includes the number of public houses in the Rating Lists for each local authority in England, with primary description code CL, at April 1997 and primary description code CL and special category codes 226 and 227 at April 2009.

Regional Government

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for North Dorset of 26 November 2009, Official Report, column 314W, on regional government: South West, what the successor body to each regional assembly is; how much funding is being allocated in (a) 2009-10 and (b) 2010-11 to each such body; and what structure and powers each such body will have that regional assemblies do not. [307213]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Regional assemblies were designated as regional planning body with responsibility for drafting the regional spatial strategy. Following the commencement of the Local Democracy Economic Development and Construction Act the single regional strategy will be jointly prepared by local authority leaders' boards and regional development agencies.

The funding allocated to regional assemblies or local authority leaders' boards in 2009-10 was:

| | Funding (£) |
|---|---|
| North East Regional Assembly | 1,747,000 |
| North West Regional Leaders Forum (4NW) | 2,605,910 |
| Yorkshire and Humber Assembly | 1,969,000 |
| West Midlands Regional Assembly | 2,113,946 |
| East Midlands Regional Assembly | 2,105,100 |
| East of England Regional Assembly | £2,077,500 |
| South East of England Regional Assembly | 3,166,628 |
| South West Regional Assembly | 2,070,148 |

Allocations for 2010-11 have yet to be made however regional assemblies or local authority leaders' boards have been told that overall resources need to be reduced by 10 per cent.

The structure of local authority leaders' boards is a matter for each region. Local authorities in a region are required to consult with stakeholders and submit a scheme establishing the structure to the Secretary of State for approval. Local authority leaders' boards do not have additional powers beyond those in respect of the single regional strategy.

Regional Planning and Development

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the answer of 14 October 2009, Official Report, column 1070W, on the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act, what the timetable is for the other regional assemblies to be redesignated as new regional planning bodies. [306542]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The Local Democracy Economic Development and Construction Act provides for participating authorities to make a scheme for the establishment and operation of Local Authority Leader's Boards. The Regional Development Agencies and the Leader's Boards will become the Responsible Regional Authority in each region who will be responsible for the future revision of their Regional Strategy.

On the 25 November 2009 the Commencement Orders implementing provisions establishing Leader's Boards came into effect. Following consultation with stakeholders the participating local authorities will submit schemes for establishing Local Authority Leader's Boards to the Secretary of State for approval.

There is no fixed timetable but the Regional Strategy elements of the Local Democracy Economic Development and Construction Act will commence on the 1st April 2010 at which point the designated Regional Planning Body role ceases to exist. We would hope that Leaders Board schemes would be received and approved by then.

Repossession Orders

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many homes in (a) City of York constituency, (b) Yorkshire and the Humber region and (c) the UK were repossessed in each year since 1979. [307387]

Mr. Ian Austin: There are two independent sources of data on actual numbers of mortgage possessions: The Council of Mortgage Lenders (CML) and the Financial Services Authority (FSA). However, both are only available for the United Kingdom as a whole.

The Council of Mortgage Lenders latest press release on repossessions is on their website at:

http://www.cml.org.uk/cml/media/press/2357

The Financial Services Authority data is available on their website at:

http://www.fsa.gov.uk/pages/Doing/Regulated/Returns/IRR/statistics/

Shared Ownership Schemes: Yorkshire and the Humber

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps he is taking to encourage the development of shared ownership housing schemes in (a) Leeds and (b) West Yorkshire; and if he will make a statement. [306933]

John Healey: We support people's aspirations to sustainable home ownership and have introduced a number of measures for first time buyers in response to current market conditions. The Homes and Communities Agency's (HCA) principal product for shared ownership is Newbuild Homebuy. This is shared ownership with a housing association or partner available to households on annual income of £60,000 or less.

In this financial year, so far Yorkshire and the Humber has delivered 211 units of low cost home ownership principally through the National Affordable Housing Programme. Of these 117 are in West Yorkshire, 20 in Leeds. The outturn figures for 2008-09 show 723 units of low cost home ownership across Yorkshire and the Humber, 313 in West Yorkshire, 110 in Leeds.

Provision of low cost home ownership is a valuable tool in providing a mix of tenures in sustainable communities. HCA works closely with local authorities and partners to determine the most appropriate and sustainable mix of tenures in any given location.

Sheltered Housing

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether the provisions of the Decent Homes Standard apply to residents of almshouses who are not in properties managed by registered social landlords. [303518]

Mr. Ian Austin: The decent homes standard only applies to social housing providers registered with the Tenant Services Authority. The standard does not apply to charitable organisations but the Almshouses Association can provide advice about accessing funding for improvements.

In order to tackle the worst housing conditions, in April 2006, we introduced the housing health and safety rating system. This is a new way of assessing properties to make homes safer and applies to all residential properties. If a local authority considers that there is a serious (Category 1) hazard, it has a duty to take the most appropriate action. This can include serving an "improvement notice" on the landlord to remove the Category 1 hazard within a reasonable period of time. It is believed that responsible landlords will need, and want to be able to identify those factors that may cause hazards and carry out improvements accordingly.

Sleeping Rough and Homelessness

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what data his Department holds on the age profile of (a) rough sleepers and (b) homeless households; and if he will make a statement. [307211]

Mr. Ian Austin: The annual headline figure for rough sleeping published by the Department, based on local authority street counts, does not include information on age profile.

Some information on the age profile of rough sleepers, covering London only, is available from the Combined Homelessness and Information Network (CHAIN) database which records information about rough sleepers and contacts made by outreach services with rough sleepers.

Data from the CHAIN database show that of the rough sleepers contacted by outreach services during 2008-09, 8 per cent. are 18-25 years; 26 per cent. are 26-35 years; 35 per cent. are 36-45 years, 20 per cent. are 46-55 years and 11 per cent. are over 55 years.

For part (b) of the question above, I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave him on 15 December 2009, Official Report, column 991W.

Social Rented Housing: Finance

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many funding streams to local authorities and social landlords for housing there are (a) in total and (b) managed by the Homes and Communities Agency. [306410]

John Healey: Information on Communities and Local Government and Homes and Communities Agency (HCA) programme funding streams on housing are set out in the Department's published annual report 2009, and for the HCA in its published annual report and financial statement for 2008-09 and its published corporate plan for 2009-10.

The CLG annual report can be found at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/corporate/annualreport09

The HCA report can be found at:

http://www.homesandcommunities.co.uk/Annual-Report-2009

Social Rented Housing: Standards

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate he has made of the number and proportion of homes which have not reached the decent homes standard referred to in the Green Paper on Housing published by his Department's predecessor in 2000 by 2010. [306750]

Mr. Ian Austin: The HCA have estimated using the latest landlord statistics that we expect 304,700 (8 per cent.) of social homes to be classed as non-decent by the end of 2010.

Swimming Pools: Valuation

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many local authority swimming pools were on the Valuation Office Agency's rating list in England in (a) 1997 and (b) 2009. [306390]

Ian Pearson: I have been asked to reply.

The Valuation Office Agency data did not differentiate between local authority and private swimming pools in the 1995 Rating Lists. As at 1 April 1997 a total of 710 swimming pools were included in the rating lists for England, against special category code (SCAT 282).

A special category code (SCAT 272), specific to local authority swimming pools exists in the current Rating Lists. As at 1 April 2009 there were 490 swimming pools recorded against this SCAT code.

Local authority swimming pools may also be included in hereditaments listed under other special category codes, such as that for local authority sports and leisure centres. Information on the number of pools within hereditaments listed under other special category codes could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Tenant Services Authority: Public Relations

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government who in his Department authorised the Tenant Services Authority to enter into a contract with the public affairs company APCO. [307035]

John Healey: The Tenant Services Authority did not seek authorisation from this Department because it was not required to do so.

Part 2, Chapter 2 of the Housing and Regeneration Act 2008 (2008 Act) establishes that there will be a corporate body known as the regulator for social housing. The regulator is the Tenant Services Authority (TSA); the 2008 Act establishes that it is not a servant of the Crown and can therefore determine its own procedures.

Thames Gateway Delivery Unit: Public Appointments

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government on what date each chief executive of the Thames Gateway Delivery Unit took up the appointment. [306747]

Mr. Malik: Judith Armitt, the former chief executive of the former Thames Gateway Executive took up her appointment on 1 November 2006.

Town Centres: Government Assistance

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether (a) rural villages and (b) market towns are eligible for funding from the Town Centre Initiative Fund. [306833]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Funding for the initiative was allocated by considering areas in England within the top half of the index of multiple deprivation that also had higher shop vacancy rates. We recognise that rural areas have also been affected by the downturn and 30 per cent. of local authorities receiving grants under the recent announcement earlier this month are from rural areas.

HEALTH

Accident and Emergency Departments: Greater London

Lynne Featherstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of people resident in each constituency who have used accident and emergency services at (a) Whittington Hospital, Islington, (b) North Middlesex Hospital, Haringey, (c) Royal Free Hospital, Camden and (d) University College London Hospital in each of the last five years; and if he will make a statement. [307506]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: This information is not collected centrally.

Ambulance Services: Crimes of Violence

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many physical assaults on staff of NHS ambulance service trusts were reported in each of the last three financial years; [307430]

(2) how many (a) prosecutions were brought and (b) cautions or conditional cautions were issued following assaults against NHS staff in ambulance service trusts in each of the last three financial years; [307431]

(3) what the average cost per unit is of protective anti-stab vests suitable for use by NHS ambulance trust frontline emergency response personnel; [307580]

(4) which NHS ambulance trusts (a) do and (b) do not issue protective anti-stab vests as standard to their frontline emergency response personnel; [307581]

(5) what guidance has been issued to NHS ambulance trusts on the provision of protective anti-stab vests for frontline emergency response personnel. [307582]

Ann Keen: Since 2004-05, the number of physical assaults against staff reported by national health service bodies in England has been collected annually by the NHS Security Management Service (SMS). The number of physical assaults on staff of NHS ambulance service trusts in England reported in each of the last three financial years is shown in the following table.

| | Assaults |
|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 1,006 |
| 2007-08 | 1,465 |
| 2008-09 | 1,240 |

Information on the numbers of prosecutions, cautions and conditional cautions issued following assaults against NHS staff in ambulance service trusts in each of the last three financial years is not available centrally in the format requested and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. Since 2004-05, the SMS has collated annual figures on all types of reported criminal sanctions following cases of assault. The number of such sanctions reported in each of the last three financial years is shown in the following table.

| | Criminal sanctions |
|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 142 |
| 2007-08 | 237 |
| 2008-09 | 241 |

Criminal sanctions include:

- cautions and conditional cautions;
- community rehabilitation or punishment orders;
- imprisonment, including suspended sentences;
- conditional discharges; and
- fines.

Information on the average cost per unit is of protective anti-stab vests suitable for use by NHS ambulance trust frontline emergency response personnel is not available centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Decisions on providing protective equipment for ambulance service staff, whether as standard or following risk assessment, are for the employing trusts to make. Information on which NHS ambulance trusts issue protective anti-stab vests as standard to their frontline emergency response personnel is not available centrally.

The SMS can assist employers through guidance on assessing risks and acting to protect staff and, where incidents do occur, on taking action against offenders. The SMS also works with stakeholders, including the Social Partnership Forum, to promote the safety and security of NHS staff. In 2006 the SMS issued the results of a study into the use of protective equipment for ambulance staff, conducted as part of the "Safer Hospitals Project". The information provided in this study informs ambulance trusts on the issues they should consider when assessing whether to provide protective anti-stab vests for frontline emergency response personnel.

Ambulance Services: Standards

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what guidance has been issued to NHS ambulance trusts on establishing criteria to use in setting target response times for Category C patients who require an ambulance response. [307429]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Since 1 October 2004, local national health service organisations have had responsibility for managing and monitoring the ways in which local services respond to Category C calls (i.e. those presenting conditions that are not immediately serious or life threatening).

Autism

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what plans he has for the future role of the External Reference Group on autism strategy following the submission of its report to his Department. [307321]

Phil Hope: The External Reference Group (ERG) has made an invaluable contribution to the development of the autism strategy and we look forward to continuing to work with them in the delivery of that strategy.

Consultation with the ERG is a vital part of the development process, we will be looking for them to comment on the draft strategy, as well as discuss how the recommendations from the ERG report will be taken forward.

We will also be looking for their input into the communications plan for the launch and dissemination of the strategy, and the consultation on guidance for commissioners and providers, due in late 2010.

Mr. Walker: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps his Department is taking to ensure that the implementation of New Horizons will help meet the needs of people with autism who also have mental health problems. [307310]

Phil Hope: The New Horizons document recognises that there are many social groups who either engage less well with services or those who are at higher risk of developing mental health problems and of social exclusion.

The needs of people with mental health conditions who also have other issues such as those with a learning disability or autism will be further addressed as part of the developing programme of work.

"Valuing People Now" sets out the importance of enabling people with learning disabilities who have mental health support needs to get the appropriate assessment and treatment they require delivered in the right place. In particular, they need to be able to access mainstream mental health services. Strategic health authorities, primary care trusts and providers need to ensure that they commission services and develop care pathways that address the needs of people with learning disabilities who also have mental health support needs.

The Department is currently drafting a strategy for adults with autistic spectrum condition and will seek to ensure that this work is closely aligned to "New Horizons".

Copies of both documents have already been placed in the Library.

Basildon and Thurrock University Hospitals NHS Trust

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many visits members of his Department have made to Basildon and Thurrock NHS Trust in the last five years; and what the date and purpose of each visit was. [307700]

Phil Hope: The Department keeps records of ministerial visits dating back to January 2007. The following ministerial visits were undertaken during the period January 2007-December 2009. To provide figures for visits by departmental officials would be possible only at disproportionate costs.

| | Visits |

Cancer: Health Services

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what auditing procedures are used to verify the quality and the consistency of the head and neck cancer treatment data received by the Three Counties Cancer Network from Gloucestershire Royal hospital. [307240]

Ann Keen: The information requested is not held centrally. The hon. Member may wish to approach Gloucestershire primary care trust, which is acting on behalf of the three counties cancer network, for this information directly.

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the merits of a two-site head and neck cancer surgical centre model, based at Worcestershire Royal hospital and Gloucestershire Royal hospital; and if he will make a statement. [307241]

Ann Keen: No such assessment has been undertaken by the Department. It is for the three counties cancer network to plan and develop appropriate cancer services, including those relating to head and neck cancer, in the Gloucestershire, Herefordshire and Worcestershire areas.

Cancer: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the survival rate for patients with cancer at each hospital in Leeds was in each of the last 20 years. [306954]

Ann Keen: The information is not available in the format requested. Information on one-year and five-year survival rates for all cancers combined are not routinely produced. The "Cancer Reform Strategy's" second annual report, "Achieving Local Implementation", includes the latest one-year survival information on the number of cancer patients alive one year after diagnosis for the three major cancers, breast, colorectal and lung. A copy of the report has already been placed in the Library. The information that is available is shown in the following table:

Leeds primary care trust (PCT)

| | One-year survival rates (percentage) 2006 |
|---|---|
| Breast cancer | 95.4 |
| Colorectal cancer | 70.8 |
| Lung cancer | 28.5 |

Notes:

1. The second annual report of the "Cancer Reform Strategy: Achieving Local Implementation", can be accessed via:
www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Publications/PublicationsPolicyAndGuidance/DH_109338
2. The figures are for 2006, as this is the latest available from the national cancer information service.

Cannabis: Misuse

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) people and (b) people under 18 years old were treated for cannabis-induced psychosis in each of the last five years. [307362]

Phil Hope: Data are not collected centrally about how many people were treated for cannabis-induced psychosis each year because data counts patient episodes, not individual patient numbers, and individual patients may be seen more than once during each year.

Data are collected centrally about the number of finished hospital admission episodes for patients with a primary diagnosis of mental and behavioural disorders due to use of cannabinoids, under the care of a mental health consultant. This information is shown in the following table.

Data are not collected centrally about the numbers treated for cannabis-related mental illness in primary care.

Finished admission episodes with a primary diagnosis of mental and behavioural disorders due to use of cannabinoids: activity in English national health service hospitals and English NHS-commissioned activity in the independent sector 2004-05 to 2008-09 under consultant mental health specialties

Care Homes: Fees and Charges

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to Local Authority Circular (2001)10 on charges for residential accommodation, under what circumstances a local authority is permitted to terminate its contract with the care provider for the 12-week property disregard; and whether the disregard continues to qualify for an individual who sells their home before the end of the 12-week period. [307697]

Phil Hope: Local authorities have a duty to provide residential care for people who are assessed as needing such care but are unable to pay for it. Under regulation 20 of the National Assistance (Assessment of Resources) Regulations 1992, no one shall be assessed as being unable to pay for their own residential care if their capital exceeds £23,000. It is for each local authority to decide whether it has a duty to provide care for an individual, taking all the available information into account and taking its own legal advice where appropriate.

For up to 12 weeks from the date a person is provided with local authority supported permanent residential care for the first time, the value of the dwelling the person would otherwise normally occupy as their only or main residence is disregarded from the financial assessment. If a person sells their home within the 12-week period, the disregard ceases to have effect from the date of the sale.

If the resident has more than £23,000 in capital, including the money from the sale of their main or only residence, they will be assessed as being able to pay and should contract for their own residential care. If the resident has less than £23,000, the local authority contract should continue and the money from the sale will be taken into account in the financial assessment for charging purposes.

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department spent on art works in the last 12 months. [306442]

Phil Hope: Works of art displayed in the Department are from the Government Art Collection (GAC), which publishes an annual list of acquisitions. The most recent details of acquisitions made by the GAC were published on 5 October 2009 and are available on the GAC website:

- www.gac.culture.gov.uk/information/publications.asp

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many staff of his Department were in its redeployment pool on 1 (a) January, (b) April, (c) July and (d) October 2009. [306715]

Phil Hope: The numbers of displaced staff in the Department on the requested dates are presented in he following table.

| Month | Number of displaced staff |
|---|---|
| January 2009 | 16 |
| April 2009 | 23 |
| July 2009 | 12 |
| October 2009 | 14 |

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what payments NHS Blood and Transplant has made to Fishburn Hedges in the last 12 months; for what purpose; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments have been made. [305167]

Gillian Merron: NHS Blood and Transplant (NHSBT) has paid £94,458.18 to Fishburn Hedges over the past 12 months for a project manager recruited through that company. The project manager has developed and manages NHSBT's organ donation public awareness campaign, which was launched in November 2009, and which is due to run until spring 2010. A copy of the job description for this post has been placed in the Library.

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what payments the NHS Information Centre has made to Grayling Political Strategy in each of the last three years; for what purposes such payments were made; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract under which such payments were made. [305252]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Payments were made to perform a range of duties relating to media and communications services, including relations with trade and general media, events, press work and general public affairs advice:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 2,796.50 |
| 2008-09 | 68,776.95 |
| 2009-10 | 32,086.10 |

The NHS Information Centre will liaise with the Department's sponsor to ensure the relevant contracts are placed in the Library.

Departmental Training

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have spent on away days in the last 12 months; and what the (i) subject and (ii) location of each away day was. [illegible]

Phil Hope: The Department is strongly committed to developing its staff and equipping them with the skills, knowledge and expertise they need to carry out their work. Away days make a significant contribution to such development.

Away days are typically arranged by individual teams in the Department and involve activities such as work planning, skills development and strategic thinking. No central records of these events are kept and extracting the necessary data from local sources would entail contacting approximately 200 teams and asking them to search for and retrieve the necessary information.

To collect this information task in the core Department would incur disproportionate costs.

The NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency has arranged the following away days in the last 12 months:

| Date | Subject | Location | Spend (£) |
|---|---|---|---|

Dietetics: Training

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many four year dietetics degrees were funded by his Department in each of the last five years. [307077]

Ann Keen: The number of training places on four year dietetics degree courses which were commissioned by the strategic health authorities in the last five years are shown in the following table.

Training places commissioned

| Academic year | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004/05 | 306 |
| 2005/06 | 306 |
| 2006/07 | 413 |
| 2007/08 | 384 |
| 2008/09 | 388 |

Dieticians: Vacancies

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many vacancies for registered dieticians at band 5 were advertised by NHS trusts in each of the last 10 years. [304165]

Ann Keen: It is not possible to identify band 5 dieticians from the NHS Vacancy Survey. The following table gives the total number of vacancies for the whole dietetic speciality for 2007, 2008 and 2009. It is not possible to identify this speciality for earlier years.

| England | Total vacancy numbers |
|---|---|
| 2007 | 30 |
| 2008 | 12 |
| 2009 | 186 |

Food Standards Agency: Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Food Standards Agency's buildings attended by civil servants in that Agency there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307460]

Gillian Merron: The Food Standards Agency (FSA) has spent approximately £581,117.74 on conference and away days since 2004-05.

Away days and conference attendance are not accounted for separately in the FSA, and to provide this breakdown would incur disproportionate cost as the information is not held centrally.

Health Education: Internet

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the cost to his Department was of developing the NHS Drinks Counter application for the iPhone. [307254]

Gillian Merron: NHS Choices developed the iPhone drinks tracker application as part of a package of interactive tools that also included a universal mobile phone tool. The total cost for the universal mobile phone and iPhone applications was £10,000.

Between launch on 1 December and 9 December the iPhone application has been downloaded by over 35,000 individuals and has remained in the top 10 most popular iPhone applications on iTunes. It is number one in the health and fitness category.

Hospital Beds: Greater London

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many intensive care beds are available at each London acute hospital; and what recent estimate he has made of their rate of occupancy. [305082]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Tables showing the requested information have been placed in the Library. Table 1 lists the latest published data for critical and intensive care bed occupancy at trust and strategic health authority level for London. Table 2 lists the latest published data for adult critical care bed availability for London, which is more recent than the data for bed occupancy and availability in table 1.

Hospital Wards: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) male-only wards, (b) female-only wards, (c) mixed sex wards and (d) wards divided by partition into sexes there are in each hospital in Leeds. [306579]

Ann Keen: The information requested is not collected centrally. Information on the different types of ward in each hospital in Leeds may be obtained from local national health service organisations in the Leeds area.

Kidney Dialysis: Yorkshire and the Humber

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many hospitals in (a) West Yorkshire and (b) Leeds provide kidney dialysis treatment. [306995]

Ann Keen: The information requested is not collected centrally. Information on hospitals that provide kidney dialysis treatment is collected by the UK Renal Registry. The annual reports containing analysis of data from 1997 to 2008 can be found on the Renal Registry's website:

www.renalreg.com/Reports/reports.html

Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how much capital spending his Department has made in Leeds West constituency in the last three years; [306940]

(2) how much capital spending his Department has made in the Leeds city area in the last three years. [306941]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The information is not available in the format requested. Information is available at national health service organisation level. The following table shows the charge against the capital resource limit for the years shown for the NHS organisations in Leeds.

£000

| Name | 2006-07 | 2007-08 | 2008-09 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Leeds Teaching Hospitals NHS Trust | 43,853 | 46,852 | 43,523 |
| Leeds Partnerships NHS Foundation Trust | 1,352 | 268 | n/a |
| Leeds Primary Care Trust | 829 | 2,511 | 4,245 |

Notes:

The charge against the capital resource limit is calculated as follows:

(a) Gross capital expenditure in accruals terms for the period;

(b) Less the net book value of assets disposed of;

(c) Plus any loss on disposal of donated assets;

(d) Less capital grants received; and

(e) Less donations.

The Leeds Partnerships NHS Foundation Trust was authorised as a foundation trust on 1 August 2007. The figure for 2007-08 is consequently for the part of the year that the organisation was a NHS Trust. The 2006-07 figure is for the Leeds Mental Health Teaching NHS Trust (as it was known prior to obtaining foundation trust status). The Department does not collect data from foundation trusts, so there is no figure for 2008-09.

Audited summarisation schedules.

Mentally Ill: Homicide

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what recent estimate he has made of the cost of conducting a mental health homicide investigation. [307265]

Phil Hope: Strategic health authorities commission independent investigations into adverse events in mental health services, including homicides committed by mental health service users. The Department does not collect routine information or cost data on such local investigations, and nor has there been a national estimate of their cost.

NHS Connecting for Health: Consultants

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much Connecting for Health spent on each of its consultancies in each financial year since 2003-04. [304242]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Comprehensive information is not available in the form requested and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

NHS: Essex

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he was first informed of the Care Quality Commission's concerns about the (a) Basildon and Thurrock NHS Foundation Trust and (b) Colchester Hospital NHS Foundation Trust. [303860]

Andy Burnham: The Department was informed by the Care Quality Commission (CQC) on 13 October that it would issue Basildon and Thurrock NHS Foundation Trust with a warning notice following a healthcare associated infection inspection by CQC on 8 October. CQC continued discussions with the trust, the primary care trust and Monitor regarding wider concerns about the trust, including persistently high mortality rates and issues relating to the trust's accident and emergency department. Subsequently, the Commission formally invited Monitor to use its powers of intervention to address the failings identified. CQC informed the Department on 25 November that it had invited Monitor to intervene at the trust.

The CQC did not contact the Department regarding Colchester NHS Foundation Trust. The intervention at Colchester has been taken by Monitor.

NHS: Information and Communications Technology

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the evidential basis is for his determination that the NHS National programme for IT is not essential; and when his Department was first informed of this evidence. [307059]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The national programme for information technology in the national health service is a key part of delivering modern, safe, joined-up healthcare, without which the NHS could not now function. It is always right to look for efficiencies and value for money on all major projects.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to his contribution of 7 December 2009, Official Report, column 21, what estimate he has made of the proposed £500 million efficiency saving for the National programme for IT will be derived from (a) the Local Service Provider Detailed Care Record Service managed by BT for London and the South of England, (b) the Local Service Provider Detailed Care Record Service managed by CSC for the North, Midlands and East of England, (c) Choose and Book, (d) the Electronic Prescription Service, (e) the Summary Care Record, (f) the Additional Supply Capacity and Capability Framework, (g) GP Systems of Choice, (h) GP2GP transfer, (i) HealthSpace and (j) the interoperability toolkit. [307208]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: These decisions remain to be taken. They will depend partly on the outcome of discussions with suppliers about the potential for reductions to the scope of the systems. We will also look carefully at the savings that can be made from the costs of managing delivery of the programme.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the National programme for IT in the NHS: Project Progress Report of 16 May 2008, how much of the National programme for IT £3.6 billion budget for local costs has been spent in each local service provider region; and whether he plans to amend the budget for the programme in the next 12 months. [307277]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Expenditure information is not available in the form requested. The figure of £3,586 million for local costs is an estimate that was made by the National Audit Office (NAO) in their report The National programme for IT in the NHS : Progress since 2006'. The NAO did not provide an estimate of the costs incurred by individual local service providers.

NHS: Ministers of Religion

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what funding is available for the support and recruitment of multi-faith chaplains in hospitals in 2009-10. [306924]

Ann Keen: National health service trusts are responsible for delivering religious and spiritual care in a way that meets the diverse needs of their patients. We are committed to the principle of ensuring that patients and staff in the NHS have access to the spiritual care that they want, whatever faith or belief system they follow. The Department recognises the important role played by faith communities in supporting the NHS and has made available a total of £186,000 from central funding to support a multi-faith based approach to chaplaincy.

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what his Department's policy is on support for multi-faith chaplaincy in hospitals; and if he will make a statement. [307001]

Ann Keen: The Department recognises that we live in a diverse society and is committed to responding sensitively and appropriately to the needs of patients and staff of diverse backgrounds, including faith communities. All national health service organisations must take account of the religious, cultural and dietary requirements of the multi-cultural and spiritually diverse communities they serve. The delivery of multi-faith chaplaincy in hospitals is a matter for local determination. However, we expect NHS trusts to follow the guidance "NHS Chaplaincy: Meeting the Religious and Spiritual Needs of Patients and Staff (November 2003)", a copy of which has already been placed in the Library.

Pharmacy: Health Services

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what recent representations he has received on proposals to allow general practitioners to sell over-the-counter medicine. [306482]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: None.

Social Services

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to Annex B, footnote 4 of the Impact Assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill; for what reasons data from West Berkshire was used; and whether his Department holds equivalent data for other local authorities. [304806]

Phil Hope: The model referred to in paragraphs 5.12, 5.13 and Annex B of the impact assessment is still under development. For this reason, its output has not been incorporated into any of the figures reported in the impact assessment. The model will continue to be updated and refined as more information becomes available.

The experience of West Berkshire was used because its clients have been assessed as having high needs under "Fair Access to Care Services". The Department does not hold equivalent data for other councils.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 3.1 of the Impact Assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, in what ways he expects the policy to encourage better working between the health and social care systems. [304811]

Phil Hope: The Personal Care at Home Bill is a step towards setting up a new national care service. Our Green Paper, "Shaping the Future of Care Together", which has already been placed in the Library, set out our vision for a national care service that promotes better joined-up working between health, housing and social care services.

The consultation on the Green Paper closed on November 13, 2009 and we will publish a White Paper early in 2010. Also feeding into the White Paper will be the work of the ministerial group on integration of health and social care services, which has met four times with a purpose of identifying what has worked well in different parts of the country, as well as what the evidence tells us, to help push forward joined-up working.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 7.3 of the Impact Assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, whether local authorities with significant rural populations would receive a proportionate uplift in funding if the Personal Care at Home Bill were enacted; if he will place in the Library a copy of the outcomes of the screening equality impact assessment; and if he will publish the full equality impact assessment before the end of December 2009. [304857]

Phil Hope: Questions on both funding formulae for councils and equality are included in the current consultation and comments are invited. The consultation will close on 23 February 2010 and a response to the document will be published subsequently. The equality impact assessment screening template has been published alongside the consultation document. Both documents are available on the Department's website at:

www.dh.gov.uk/en/Consultations/Liveconsultations/DH_109139

A copy has already been placed in the Library.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to Tables 1 and 2 of the impact assessment for the Personal Care at Home Bill, from which paragraphs of the report by the Personal Social Services Research Unit the figures were taken; and which figures in the impact assessment were taken from modelling which has not yet been published. [306479]

Phil Hope: Table 1 of the Impact Assessment is derived from the English Longitudinal Study of Aging. For further detail of how the figures in table 1 were produced, I refer the hon. Member to the replies I gave to him on 8 December 2009, Official Report, column 290W, 9 December 2009, Official Report, column 495W, and 14 December 2009, Official Report, column 762W.

The figures for older people in table 2 of the Impact Assessment are derived from the figures in table 1 and the output of Personal Social Services Research Unit's (PSSRU) micro-simulation model for older people. The specific output from the model used to produce the figures in table 2 is not included in the PSSRU technical report and has not otherwise been published.

I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave to him on 14 December 2009, Official Report, column 763W for detail on the derivation of the numbers of residential care and informal care switchers. The simple model used to determine the flows into and out of residential care has not been published. The logistic regression model used to estimate the number of informal care switchers is explained in the reply I gave to the hon. Member on 8 December 2009, Official Report, column 290W.

The estimate of 110,000 younger adults eligible for free personal care at home is based principally on the Referrals, Assessments and Packages of care (RAP) data from councils for 2007-08[1].

Fair Access To Care Services (FACS) guidance on eligibility for local authorities establishes four levels of eligibility for services. These are critical, substantial, moderate and low, with critical representing the highest level of social care need.

The RAP data shows 82,000 younger users of local authority home care and 35,000 younger users of direct payments on 31 March 2008—out of 395,000 younger recipients of community-based services. It is not known what proportion of the 117,000 who receive personal care and are in the critical need group, but it is expected that they would be the majority.

Therefore, for the purposes of the impact assessment, it is assumed that there could be some 100,000 younger adult local authority funded users receiving personal care in the critical category. It is likely that most of them receive their care free, as their incomes are generally low. It has therefore been assumed that 90 per cent., already receive free personal care at home and that 10 per cent., make a means-tested contribution towards the cost.

Little is known about the number of younger adults who currently fund their own care at home. It has been assumed that approximately a further 10,000 younger adults may be brought under state funding following the introduction of the Personal Care at Home Bill.

No specific estimate of a margin of error has been made. However, the figures have been rounded to the nearest 10,000 to reflect the uncertainty. The figure of 110,000 should therefore be treated as an estimate.

For information on the derivation of the estimated additional administration costs, I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave him on 14 December 2009, Official Report, column 765W.

[1] The RAP data for 2007-08 can be found at:

www.ic.nhs.uk/statistics-and-data-collections/social-care/adult-social-care-information/community-care-statistics-2007-2008:-referrals-assessments-and-packages-of-care-for-adults-england-provisional-council-data

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether the regulatory impact assessment for the Personal Care Bill assumes that 14,815 people per month are to be given access to reablement. [307687]

Phil Hope: A flow of 14,815 per month is derived from the modelling assumptions listed in Annex B of the impact assessment. However, since we do not know for certain what proportion of people already benefit from re-ablement, for the purposes of the impact assessment we have assumed that 130,000 people will receive re-ablement over the course of a year. In addition, since we have not formally incorporated the anticipated benefits of re-ablement services in the impact assessment's headline figures, we believe we have been conservative about the number of people that may actually receive re-ablement.

The model referred to in paragraphs 5.12, 5.13 and Annex B of the impact assessment is still under development. For this reason, its output has not been incorporated into any of the figures reported in the impact assessment. The model will continue to be updated and refined as more information becomes available.

We cannot reasonably make these extrapolations because of the levels of uncertainty. Such uncertainties include the unknown detail of any future national care service and the unknown future economic climate.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 7 December 2009, Official Report, column 166W, on social services, (1) if he will extrapolate the cost in each year to 2030 to the Exchequer of free personal care on the basis that there are no uncertainties and the assumptions of the regulatory impact assessment remains applicable in each year; [307688]

(2) what areas of uncertainty the Department has identified; and whether each one is likely to result in (a) increased or (b) decreased costs; [307689]

(3) pursuant to the answer of 9 December 2009, Official Report, column 497W, on social services, what the figure for personal care funded from the public purse in (a) 2015, (b) 2020, (c) 2025 and (d) 2030 for each year is if the assumptions of the impact assessment of the Personal Care at Home Bill are applied regardless of uncertainty. [307725]

Phil Hope: We cannot reasonably make these extrapolations because of the levels of uncertainty. Such uncertainties include the unknown detail of any future National Care Service and the unknown future economic climate.

It is not possible to reasonably extrapolate what effects such uncertainties may have on costs at the present time.

Swine Flu: Vaccination

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 5 November 2009, Official Report, columns 1170-1W, on influenza: Herefordshire, how many H1N1 influenza vaccines were delivered (1) to Herefordshire by (a) the end of November 2009 and (b) the latest date for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement; [307281]

(2) into his Department's central warehouse by (a) the end of November 2009 and (b) the latest date for which figures are available; how many of the H1N1 influenza vaccines were distributed to locations nationwide; and if he will make a statement. [307282]

Gillian Merron: 31,000 doses (30,000 Pandemrix and 1,000 Celvapan) of H1N1 influenza vaccine had been delivered to Herefordshire by the end of November 2009. As at 9 December 2009, 38,500 doses (37,500 Pandemrix and 1,000 Celvapan) had been delivered to Herefordshire.

16.3 million doses (14 million Pandemrix and 2.3 million Celvapan) of H1N1 influenza vaccines were delivered into the Department's central warehouse by the end of November 2009. As at 9 December 2009, 19.2 million doses (16.1 million Pandemrix and 3.1 million Celvapan) had been delivered into the Department's central warehouse. At midday on 9 December 2009, 13.2 million doses (12.6 million Pandemrix and 0.6 million Celvapan) of H1N1 influenza vaccines had been distributed to locations nationwide.

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what his estimate is of the number of health service staff eligible for the H1N1 influenza vaccine; and how many health service staff have received the H1N1 influenza vaccine to date. [307283]

Gillian Merron: The estimated number of frontline national health service health care workers involved in direct patient care in England eligible for H1N1 swine flu vaccination is about one million.

By week ending 6 December 2009, an estimated 300,000. NHS frontline health care workers involved in direct patient care had received H1N1 vaccine.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he plans to respond to Question 300313, on commissioning of elective health service treatments, tabled on 18 November for answer on 25 November 2009. [307608]

Gillian Merron: I refer the right hon. Member to the answer given on 15 December 2009, Official Report, column 1049W.

ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Biofuels

Nia Griffith: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the monetary value of the average annual allocation of renewables obligation certificates to each of the biomass power stations which are under construction. [307627]

Joan Ruddock: The monetary value of ROCs is dependent on the buy out price and recycle value. However, the actual amount a generator sells a ROC for is subject to commercial negotiation between a generator and supplier. The buy out price for each ROC per MWh is announced in February prior to the obligation period it applies to and the recycle value is determined by the compliance level for that obligation period.

Generators will receive ROCs for each MWh of eligible renewable electricity generated, once they are accredited, depending on the technology type and fuel used. Details can be found on the RO website:

http://www.decc.gov.uk/en/content/cms/what_we_do/uk_supply/energy_mix/renewable/policy/renew_obs/renew_obs.aspx

Biofuels: Power Stations

Nia Griffith: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the monetary value was of the renewables obligation certificate allocated to each biomass power station in operation in 2009-10. [307628]

Joan Ruddock: The 2009-10 obligation period finishes on 31 March 2010. Records for the number of renewables obligation certificates issued to biomass power stations can be found on the Renewable and CHP Register at:

https://www.renewablesandchp.ofgem.gov.uk/Public/ReportManager.aspx?ReportVisibility=1&ReportCategory=0

From 1 April 2009 banding of renewable technologies was introduced. As a result of this, dedicated biomass stations using regular biomass will receive 1.5 ROCs per MWh, while those using energy crops will receive two ROCs per MWh.

The monetary value of ROCs is dependent on the buy out price and the recycle value. However, the actual amount a generator sells a ROC for is subject to commercial negotiation between a generator and supplier. The buy out price for each ROC per MWh issued in 2009-10 is £37.19. The recycle value will be determined by the compliance level for the 2009-10 obligation period.

Nia Griffith: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what recent estimate he has made of the monetary value of the average annual allocation of renewables obligation certificates to each biomass power station in operation. [307629]

Joan Ruddock: The 2009-10 obligation period finishes on 31 March 2010. Records for the number of renewables obligation certificates issued to Biomass power stations can be found on the renewable and CHP Register at:

The monetary value of ROCs is dependent on the buy out price and recycle value. However, the actual amount a generator sells a ROC for is subject to commercial negotiation between a generator and supplier.

The buy out price for ROCs per MWh and the recycle value per ROC in the current and preceding obligation periods can be found in the following table.

Capita

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what meetings (a) each Minister and (b) officials in his Department and its predecessors have had with Capita Group plc on the administration of the miners' compensation schemes since the inception of those schemes. [303417]

Mr. Kidney: Capita became the Department's claims handling contractor for the Coal Health Compensation schemes in 2004 following their acquisition of the contract from another supplier. Capita secured the current contract for a further period following a competitive process and that contract commenced in August 2006. The current contract is due to end on 30 July 2011.

Ministers have not been directly involved in operational meetings with Capita but are kept up dated on progress.

At official level the core governance arrangements for managing the contract and Capita's role are by monthly contract and scheme management meetings chaired by the Head of the Coal Liabilities Unit (CLU) in DECC. In addition a range of operational and contract compliance meetings are also held regularly between CLU officials and Capita representatives.

In addition the High Court Judges overseeing the Coal Health Compensation schemes have taken a direct interest in all aspects of the administrative handling of the claims.

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change (1) with reference to the answer of 12 November 2009, Official Report, column 669W, on industrial diseases: compensation, on which occasions Capita Group plc has not received one hundred per cent. of the Service Level Agreement payments which could have been paid to it; and what the reasons were in each case; [303418]

(2) with reference to the answer of 12 November 2009, Official Report, column 671W, on industrial diseases: compensation, who has responsibility for reviewing Capita's performance; which contractual terms Capita has (a) met and (b) not met; how frequently Capita's performance is assessed; and what performance measures are used in such assessments. [303420]

Mr. Kidney: The Coal Liabilities Unit (CLU) within DECC has the responsibility for reviewing Capita's performance, with most of the Service Level Agreements (SLA) also audited by our external auditors, PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC).

In addition to the SLA regime, the Department's contract with Capita also provided milestone payments linked to claim settlement performance. For the Vibration White Finger Scheme, Capita earned 42.5 per cent. of the bonus available over three milestones. For the Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD) Scheme, Capita have to date achieved 100 per cent. of the bonus available from two of the three milestones.

The following table sets out Capita's performance under the SLA regime, which commenced in August 2006. The SLA measures listed are those that have been utilised over the contract up to February 2009.

Since February 2009, the arrangements have changed and whilst all criteria continue to be measured and monitored, the financial incentive is only in place for the COPD quality measure.

| SLA | Description | SLA Performance (%) | SLA Incentive (%) Payment | Audited by PwC | Comments |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| COPD Quality | Representatives of Capita's Technical Team and PwC's Audit Team use a comprehensive scoring check list to verify the information Capita adjusters have used, on a random sample of claims. If an error is identified, whether it affects the final offer value or not, or whether the error results in a potential overpayment or underpayment, the SLA score is reduced. | 97 | 91 | Audited on a quarterly basis | Capita's actual SLA performance was over 97% but due to the effect of a quality sliding scale (NB. SLAs have different sliding scales), any decrease in performance accelerates the loss of payments achieved, so Capita obtained 91% of the SLA incentive payment. The reason why they achieved 97% rather than 100% performance is because Capita's Technical Team and PwC identified errors in the information. |
| VWF Quality | As with COPD Quality (above), the Capita Technical Team and PwC Audit Team use a comprehensive scoring check list to verify the information Capita adjusters have used on a claim. | 99.5 | 100 | Audited on a quarterly basis | Capita achieved 99.5% for performance, but due to the sliding scale, they obtained 100% of the incentive payments. |
| COPD and VWF Disputes | This SLA measures Capita's handling of COPD and VWF disputes within the timescales stated in the relevant Claims Handling Agreement. | 99 | 97 | Audited on a six monthly basis | Capita achieved over 99% for performance, but obtained 97% of the incentive payments. The slight drop in performance from 100% to 99% was because Capita did not deal with all disputes within the required timescale. |
| VWF Stalled Claims | This SLA measures Capita's handling of the Stalled Claims process: Stage 1 - trigger for stalled claims process Stage 2 - no substantive response received Stage 3 - No correspondence received since Stage 1 and 2 | 65 | 67 | Audited on a six monthly basis | Capita's systems could not automatically report the 3 different stages of the stalled claims process with the additional complexities brought about by the exceptions applying to cohorts such as Grant of Probate and DWP Schedule, etc. As such, this SLA is potentially under-reported. |

|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Keystage Data Accuracy | This SLA measures the accuracy of the indicators on Capita's IT system which shows where the claim is in the claims process (i.e. the key stage). It does not measure any other aspect of data accuracy | 90 | 71 | Audited on a quarterly basis | Capita achieved over 90% for performance, but due to the sliding scale, obtained 71% of the incentive payments. The main reason why Capita achieved 90% rather than 100% performance is because the PwC auditors took their sample from all the claims including the very oldest claims which had not always been updated with new key stage indicators on the system. |
| Scan Post Received | This SLA measures the timescale that post received by Capita is electronically scanned onto their document management system. | 100 | 100 | Audited on a six monthly basis | No drop in performance. All post was scanned within the 3 days SLA timescale. |
| Complaints | This SLA measures the volume of complaints received by Capita (or expression of dissatisfaction in some way, or chasing for a response from Capita) as a percentage of the total volume of correspondence received by Capita in the same period. | 1.2 of correspondence | 55 | Audited on a six monthly basis | An average of 1.2% of correspondence Capita received were classified as complaints. Many of the complaints were chasing letters (e.g. what is happening with the claim or when will we get a response) generated automatically on a regular basis by solicitors IT systems. Such correspondence did not take into account issues in the Court process that delayed the progression of claims. On the sliding scale, Capita achieved 55% of the incentive payments. For Capita to have been able to achieve 100% for this SLA, there would have to be less than 0.5% of the correspondence received as complaints. |
| Management Information Reports | This SLA measures the timescale to produce high priority and medium priority reports for the Department. | 100 | 100 | Not audited by PwC as this was monitored by the Department when reports were requested. | No drop in performance. The contract defined different timescales for different priority reports. |

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change with reference to the answer of 12 November 2009, Official Report, column 669W, on industrial diseases: compensation, whether the terms of the contract between his Department and Capita Group plc allow his Department to levy fines on Capita Group plc. [303419]

Mr. Kidney: The contract is designed to incentivise Capita to perform to a high standard, especially in terms of the quality and accuracy of claim offers and the timely settlement of claims. While the contract does not specifically mention the levying of fines, the comprehensive Service Level Agreement performance regime contained within the contract allows Capita to achieve a range of incentive and bonus payments. If Capita do not meet the targets, they do not earn the full amount available.

In addition to the incentive and bonus payments structure, Capita are required to reimburse the Department for not meeting the required timescale for payments to claimants which attract judgement debt rate of interest (JDRI).

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change with reference to the answer of 12 November 2009, Official Report, column 671W, on industrial diseases: compensation, what data were taken into account in his Department's value for money assessment of the contract with Capita Group plc. [303421]

Mr. Kidney: In the context of the most recent retender of the Department's claims handling contract in 2005-2006, the value for money (VFM) assessment was made on both financial and non-financial measures. Data was taken from Capita's bid, references with other Government Departments and the Department's knowledge of the incumbent service provider and the associated contractual arrangements.

The financial assessment represented 40 per cent. within the scoring system. The non-financial assessment represented the remaining 60 per cent. as set out in my reply to my right hon. Friend on 12 November 2009, Official Report, columns 671W and 672W.

Carbon Emissions: Conferences

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change with reference to the answer of 12 October 2009, Official Report, column 457W, on departmental conferences, how many (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) officials from his Department attended the EU-China Near Zero Emissions Coal Initiative phase I Final Conference. [303508]

Mr. Kidney: Three DECC officials attended the China-EU NZEC Phase I Conference in Beijing on 28-29 October 2009. No Ministers or special advisers attended. The Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change delivered a pre-recorded video message congratulating all those involved in NZEC and setting out his views more broadly on CCS internationally at:

http://www.actoncopenhagen.decc.gov.uk/en/global-action1/asia/china/nzec-meets-in-beijing

Carbon Emissions: Housing

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much his Department plans to spend on the Social Housing Energy Saving Programme in (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11, (c) 2011-12, (d) 2012-13 and (e) 2013-14; and what estimate he has made of the (i) proportion of such expenditure to be incurred in England, (ii) the carbon savings to be achieved, (iii) the number of properties affected and (iv) the number of jobs created from such expenditure in each year. [300476]

Mr. Kidney [holding answer 23 November 2009]: The information is as follows:

(a) 2009-10—£54.5 million of funding has already been allocated

(i) 100 per cent. of the funding is allocated to social housing providers in England.

(ii) 52,000 tonnes estimated carbon saving

(iii) 65,000 homes

(iv) 1,300 Jobs

(b) 2010-11—£29.3 million of funding has already been allocated

(i) 100 per cent. is allocated social housing providers in England

(ii) 34,400 tonnes estimated carbon saving

(iii) 43,000 homes

(iv) 900 Jobs

(c, d and e) Currently no funding has been allocated to the programme post 2011.

Climate Change: Publicity

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much his Department had spent on the Act on CO2 Campaign on the latest date for which figures are available. [304032]

Mr. Kidney: The invoiced cost of the ACT ON C02 campaign from September 2008 to 10 December 2009 is £15 million. This includes all fees, and covers production, media, digital activity, research, events and other campaign-related spend.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much his Department has spent on television advertising for the Act on CO2 Campaign to date. [304037]

Joan Ruddock: From April 2009 to December 2009, the Department for Energy and Climate Change is expected to spend approximately £2.2 million (exclusive of VAT) on TV advertising media space.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much the Act on CO2 Campaign has spent on promotion on (a) Facebook and (b) other social networking websites since its establishment. [304038]

Mr. Kidney: The information is as follows:

(a) Expenditure for promotion (advertising) on Facebook to date is £10,750 as part of the first phase of the ACT ON CO2 campaign.

(b) No expenditure for promotion on other exclusively social networking sites has occurred to date.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much the Act on CO2 advice line for advice on saving money has cost since its inception. [304052]

Joan Ruddock: The Act on $CO_2$ Advice Line is part of a comprehensive service provided by Energy Saving Trust's network of advice centres. This service not only covers the provision of telephone advice on energy and water saving, waste minimisation and domestic microgeneration but also incorporates proactive outreach, support for local authorities and communities, and capacity building with local energy efficiency related trades. The network was rolled out during 2008-09 and has been fully operational during 2009-10. The disaggregated cost of the advice line to date is approximately £5.9 million.

Coal Authority: Information and Communications Technology

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Tunbridge Wells of 12 October 2009, Official Report, columns 459-60W, on departmental ICT, what the terms of reference of the Coal Authority's Inferis IT project are. [307197]

Mr. Kidney: In my answer of 7 December 2009, Official Report, column 131W, I advised that a copy of the invitation to tender in respect of the Coal Authority's Inferis IT project was being placed in the Libraries of the House. I refer the hon. Member for Wealden to that document, in particular sections 5 (Background), 6 (Objectives and Aspirations) and 7 (Scope of Requirements).

Departmental Advertising

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Perth and North Perthshire of 12 October 2009, Official Report, columns 453-55W, on departmental advertising, if he will place in the Library a copy of each of the advertisements his Department placed in (a) What's on TV magazine and (b) Take a Break magazine. [303504]

Mr. Kidney: We do not keep hard copies of publications. I have sent examples of the Act on $CO_2$ advertisements in What's on TV and Take a Break to the hon. Member.

Departmental Billing

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many and what proportion of invoices submitted to his Department have been paid within 10 days in each month since October 2008; and if he will make a statement. [307968]

Mr. Kidney: The following table lists the number of invoices submitted and the proportion paid within 10 days.

| Month | Number of invoices submitted | Proportion paid within 10 days (percentage) |
|---|---|---|
| 2008 | | |
| November | 528 | 73 |
| December | 647 | 88 |
| 2009 | | |
| January | 672 | 98 |
| February | 575 | 99 |
| March | 730 | 97 |
| April | 617 | 98 |
| May | 746 | 97 |
| June | 652 | 98 |
| July | 877 | 97 |
| August | 527 | 94 |
| September | 710 | 85 |
| October | 750 | 93 |
| November | 802 | 92 |

Departmental Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what redesigns of websites operated by the Office of Gas and Electricity Markets have been carried out since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306208]

Mr. Kidney: Ofgem's corporate website has not been redesigned since June 27, 2007. However, a range of new features have been added to increase accessibility and usability, to meet a number of new standards for websites operated by Government Departments applicable from 1 April 2009 and to reflect the recent restructuring of Ofgem. There has been no cost to the public purse as Ofgem recovers costs from license fee payers.

Departmental Travel

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much his Department has spent on travel for Ministers undertaken by (a) car, (b) train, (c) air and (d) other means since its establishment. [303404]

Mr. Kidney: This information could only be provided at disproportional cost.

Departmental Working Hours

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many and what proportion of staff of his Department and its non-departmental public bodies work flexibly or part-time; and what his Department's policy is on making jobs available on a job-share or flexible basis. [301323]

Joan Ruddock: DECC operates a flexible working policy so that all staff are able to request to work flexibly including part-time and job-share if they wish, subject to business need and with the prior approval of their manager. The guidance for staff is available on the HR intranet.

Records are not held centrally of all the flexible working patterns of staff. DECC currently has 6 per cent. (59) staff working on a part-time basis.

DECC has four non-departmental public bodies, all staff are able to request to work flexibly but again records are not held centrally of all the flexible working patterns Coal Authority—9 per cent. (16) work part-time; Nuclear Decommissioning Authority—5.3 per cent (19) work part-time; Civil Nuclear Constabulary—16 per cent. (41) work part time, all staff work flexibly. Committee on Climate Change all staff (30) work full-time; three staff work flexibly.

Energy: Disconnections

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change (1) how many (a) pre-payment meter and (b) billed energy customers have been disconnected by their supplier in each quarter in the last three years; [304493]

(2) how many energy customers were disconnected in error by their provider in each quarter of the last three years; [304494]

(3) how long on average energy customers disconnected by their provider were without a connection in each quarter of the last three years; [304495]

Mr. Kidney: Ofgem collect figures on the number of gas and electricity customers disconnected due to debt, and the average time until reconnection. Ofgem also publish the proportion of disconnections within each quarter that were reconnected within the same quarter, for each of the main six domestic energy providers. This information is available at:

http://www.ofgem.gov.uk/Sustainability/SocAction/Monitoring/SoObMonitor/Pages/SocObMonitor.aspx

Figures for the number of disconnections made in error and figures by payment method are not available.

I will be depositing tables showing the number of household disconnections due to debt, and the proportion of disconnections reconnected within the same quarter by the main six energy suppliers in the Libraries in the House.

Energy: Meters

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much on average a household in (a) Jarrow constituency, (b) South Tyneside, (c) the North East and (d) the UK with a pre-payment meter paid for (i) electricity and (ii) gas in each of the last three years. [303645]

Mr. Kidney: The Department's latest estimates for the average annual domestic energy bills and provisional estimates for the year to 2009 and are published in Quarterly Energy Prices, published in September 2009. Figures are not available at constituency or local authority level.

For an average consumer using 18,000 kWh of gas per year and paying their bills by pre-payment meter, the average bill in the North East for gas was £593 in 2007, £623 in 2008 and £744 in 2009. The average bill in Great Britain for gas customers on pre-payments was £589 in 2007, £618 in 2008 and £744 in 2009. Figures are not available for the UK.

For an average consumer using 3,300 kWh of standard electricity per year and paying their bills by pre-payment meter, the average bill in the North East for standard electricity was £401 in 2007, £424 in 2008 and £465 in 2009. The average bill in the UK for standard electricity customers on pre-payment meters was £401 in 2007, £424 in 2008 and £465 in 2009.

Energy: National Policy Statements

Mr. Truswell: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change with reference to section 3.3.12 of the Energy National Policy Statement, what proportion of the 20.5 gigawatt capacity (a) has recently been constructed, (b) is under construction and (c) has both planning consent and agreement to connect to the National Grid; and what proportion is renewable under the definition given in that section. [307771]

Mr. Kidney: Our most recent figure for forthcoming capacity is 21.6GW. This is based on the most recent data from the National Grid which have been updated since the drafting of the National Policy Statements. Of this 21.6GW, 8 per cent., has recently been constructed, 42 per cent. is under construction and 50 per cent. has planning consent and agreement to connect to the National Grid. The following table provides further details on the proportions of this 21.6GW which is renewables and have grid connection agreements. These figures are regularly revised following periodic updates and revisions issued by the National Grid.

| | Total forthcoming capacity (GW) | Of which renewables (GW) | Percentage renewables |
|---|---|---|---|
| Constructed | 1.8 | 0 | — |
| Under construction | 9 | 4 | 44 |
| With planning consent and grid connection | 10.8 | 3.3 | 31 |
| Total | 21.6 | 7.3 | 34 |

Fuel Poverty: Pensioners

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the number of pensioners living in fuel poverty in (a) December 1997 and (b) each of the last three years; and if he will make a statement. [305700]

Mr. Kidney: Fuel poverty is not measured at individual person level. Detailed splits of fuel poverty on a consistent methodology basis are only available since 2003. The following table shows the number of fuel poor households in England, containing somebody over the age of 60, in each of the last three years for which figures are available.

Number of fuel poor households containing somebody over the age of 60

| | Thousand |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 794 |
| 2006 | 1,285 |
| 2007 | 1,462 |

Gas Fired Power Stations: Carbon Emissions

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what recent estimate he has made of the likely carbon dioxide emissions per unit electric output from a modern (a) combined cycle gas turbine, (b) open cycle gas turbine and (c) integrated gasification combined cycle power station. [303516]

Mr. Kidney: The rate at which power stations emit carbon dioxide are determined by individual plant efficiencies which vary considerably in actual operation. DECC uses a range of reference values which are kept under review. These are based on the estimated likely efficiency achieved in the actual generation market, including efficiency degradation following commissioning. Such estimates will differ from those available in the technical literature which do not always reflect actual performance.

The figures shown in the following table for technologies are representative values based on electricity supplied to the grid after allowing for own use and transmission and distribution losses. The values represent emissions of carbon dioxide in kilograms per kilowatt hour unit of electricity.

| Technology | kg $CO_2$/kWh |
|---|---|
| Combined cycle gas turbine (CCGT) | 0.43 |

| Technology | kg $CO_2$/kWh |
|---|---|
| Open Cycle Gas Turbine (OCGT) | 0.60 |
| Integrated gasification combined cycle power station (IGCC) | 0.73 |

Geothermal Power

Mr. Clifton-Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change whether his Department has had discussions with the governments of Iceland and Germany on the laying of a cable between those countries for the transfer of geothermal power. [303880]

Mr. Kidney: There have been no such discussions, although my officials have had general discussions with representatives of the Icelandic power industry on the potential for geothermal energy in Iceland and the practicality of interconnection with the UK.

Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much his Department spent on hotel accommodation for (a) Ministers, (b) special advisers and (c) civil servants in each year since its establishment. [305662]

Joan Ruddock: The information requested can only be obtained at disproportionate cost.

Immobilisation of Vehicles

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much his Department and its predecessors have paid in vehicle clamping charges incurred on (a) privately-owned and (b) publicly-owned land in each of the last 10 years; and if he will make a statement. [302746]

Joan Ruddock: We have no record of any such costs being paid by the Department.

Departmental policy is that the driver of the vehicle is responsible for following all advice, guidance and legislation in relation to road safety and is therefore also responsible for meeting the cost of any fines incurred (including parking fines), as a result of any driving offence. The Department will not meet those costs.

Industrial Diseases: Compensation

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what hospitality Ministers in his Department and its predecessors with responsibility for the two miners' compensation schemes have received from Capita Group plc since 1997; and if he will make a statement. [302088]

Mr. Kidney: Capita became the claims handling contractor to the Coal Health Compensation schemes in 2004. No hospitality has been received by Ministers responsible for the Coal Health Compensation schemes from Capita.

Members: Correspondence

Sir Gerald Kaufman: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change when he plans to reply to the letter of 22 October 2009 from the right hon. Member for Manchester Gorton on Mr A Gibson. [305112]

Joan Ruddock: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State replied to my right hon. Friend the Member for Manchester, Gorton on 11 December 2009. Such a delay is obviously unacceptable. My officials have investigated the reasons for the error.

Ofgem: Training

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Office of Gas and Electricity Markets (Ofgem) buildings attended by civil servants in Ofgem there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307454]

Mr. Kidney: Ofgem do not normally collate this information and to do so would incur disproportionate cost.

However, during 2008-09, Ofgem held eleven team building events at a total cost of £14,930.31.

Tidal Power

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what research his Department has funded on wave generated power in the last three years. [307257]

Mr. Kidney: Since 2005 the remit of the pan-government Research Advisory Group (RAG) has included wave and tidal technologies, with a budget of up to £2 million to concentrate on these emerging technologies. For details of the resultant work of RAG including guidance documents and reports, on a range of issues such as aerial bird surveys, navigation risk assessment and seascape assessment, see the following web link http://www.decc.gov.uk/en/content/cms/what_we_do/uk_supply/energy_mix/renewable/policy/offshore/rag/rag.aspx

Since 2007 the former DTI Technology programme, now transferred to the Technology Strategy Board (TSB), has supported five wave R and D projects. Further details on these projects can be found on the TSB website http://www.innovateuk.org/_assets/pdf/other-publications/aea_tsb_annual_report_final_7%20september_09.pdf

The Carbon Trust has funded research into wave generated power through the Marine Energy Accelerator. Details on the Marine Energy Accelerator programme can be found at http://www.carbontrust.co.uk/emerging-technologies/current-focus-areas/marine-energy-accelerator/pages/default.aspx

In 2009 the Carbon Trust launched the Marine Renewables Proving Fund. This fund will provide up to £22 million of grant funding for the testing and demonstration of pre-commercial wave and tidal stream devices.

High quality basic science research that is relevant to, though not always specific to, wave generation is funded through the Engineering and Physical Sciences Research Council's 'Supergen Marine' consortium http://www.supergen-marine.org.uk/news.php

The Department has undertaken the following research on wave generated power in the last three years:

The development of protocols for

"Assessment of the performance of wave energy conversion systems in open sea test facilities"

"Preliminary Wave energy device performance protocol".

Both protocols can be downloaded from the DECC website

http://www.decc.gov.uk/en/content/cms/what_we_do/uk_supply/energy_mix/renewable/explained/wave_tidal/wave_tech/wave_tech.aspx

Tidal Power: River Severn

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what steps have been taken to ensure that the results of the Strategic Environmental Assessment of short-listed options for the generation of tidal power in the Severn Estuary have been made available to the developers of proposals under the Severn Embryonic Technologies scheme. [307584]

Mr. Kidney: The Strategic Environmental Assessment (SEA) is still underway and results will not be available until it completes next year. The SEA work is at this stage specific to five shortlisted schemes and its findings do not necessarily apply to the fundamentally different embryonic technologies being considered by the Severn Embryonic Technologies scheme.

Severn Embryonic Technologies scheme proposers have been briefed on the findings from the scoping stage of the SEA and are using this information and the range of published feasibility study reports as they progress in further defining their emerging designs. Proposers have also benefited from advice from the Parsons Brinckerhoff consortium, who are conducting the SEA.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what mechanisms are in place to ensure that delays in completion of the Strategic Environmental Assessment of short-listed options for the generation of tidal power in the Severn Estuary will not adversely affect the development of proposals under the Severn Embryonic Technologies Scheme; and if he will make a statement. [307585]

Mr. Kidney: We are not anticipating delays to the Strategic Environmental Assessment (SEA) that would impact on the proposals under the Severn Embryonic Technologies Scheme (SETS). The final reports from the proposals supported under the scheme are expected to be received from the project proposers before completion of the SEA.

The SEA work is at this stage specific to five shortlisted schemes and its findings do not necessarily apply to the fundamentally different embryonic technologies being considered by the Severn Embryonic Technologies Scheme.

United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the ad hoc working group on Long-Term Co-operative Action of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change. [307371]

Mr. Kidney: The ad hoc working group on Long-Term Co-operative Action of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change has provided an effective process for ensuring the input of the 194 parties to the convention.

Utilities

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if his Department will take steps to require energy utility companies to put in place resilience measures sufficient to prevent cyber-attacks rendering their services temporarily ineffective. [307798]

Mr. Kidney: The Department of Energy and Climate Change works closely with the Home Office and the Centre for Protection of National Infrastructure (CPNI), incorporating input from the UK Office of Cyber Security, to identify proportionate security measures to mitigate cyber and other threats, and to maximise the resilience of the Energy sector.

The Department has strong relationships with the energy sector. It has not been necessary for the Government to take steps to require such mitigations to be put in place. Rather we have adopted a partnership approach to enhance security and resilience which recognises that it is in all of our interests, both from a national security perspective and from a commercial perspective, to work together to continually improve the resilience of the UK's energy sector.

Warm Front Scheme: Derbyshire

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many households applied to receive grants under the Warm Front Scheme in (a) Chesterfield and (b) Derbyshire in each year since the inception of the scheme. [307244]

Mr. Kidney: The requested data for the present phase of the scheme (2005 to present) are shown in the following table. Prior to 2005, the scheme was managed by a different delivery body in Derbyshire and the data retained by the current scheme manager are not sufficient to provide a consolidated response.

Waste Management

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change at what location on his Department's website can the United Kingdom's third national report on compliance with the obligations of the joint convention on the safety of spent fuel management and on the safety of radioactive waste management be found; how the information contained in this report has been conveyed to the public; and when the national reports from member states to the convention were last reviewed under IAEA auspices. [304684]

Mr. Kidney: The United Kingdom's third national report on compliance with the IAEA Joint Convention on the Safety of Spent Fuel Management and on the Safety of Radioactive Waste Management can be freely accessed by the public on DECC's website at:

http://www.decc.gov.uk/en/content/cms/what_we_do/uk_supply/energy_mix/nuclear/radioactivity/government/international/iaea_jointconv/iaea_Jointconv.aspx

The last review of national reports from contracting parties to the joint convention was undertaken at the joint convention review meeting in Vienna in May 2009.

Wind Power

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many offshore wind turbines became operational in UK waters in each of the last five years. [303527]

Mr. Kidney: The following table sets out the number of offshore wind turbines that became operational in UK waters in each of the last five years.

| | Number of turbines | Installed capacity (MW) |
|---|---|---|
| 2004 | 30 | 60 |
| 2005 | 30 | 90 |

Wind Power: Offshore Structures

Mr. Truswell: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many gigawatts of (a) renewable and (b) non-renewable energy in applications receiving consideration under (i) section 36 of the Electricity Act 1989 and (ii) the Transport and Works Act 2002 relate to offshore wind farms in English waters. [307772]

Mr. Kidney: The Department is dealing with five consent applications under section 36 of the Electricity Act for proposed wind farms in English waters. The total generating capacity of these applications is nearly 2.25GW. There are currently no TWA applications under consideration for wind farms in English waters. There are no applications under either regime for non-renewable energy projects in English waters.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many staff of his Department were in its redeployment pool on 1 (a) January, (b) April, (c) July and (d) October 2009. [306714]

Mr. Michael Foster: It was unnecessary for the Department for International Development (DFID) to maintain a Redeployment Pool prior to 1 October 2009.

Departmental Pay

Mr. Scott: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much has been paid in bonuses to civil servants in his Department in each year since 2007. [306426]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development (DFID) Senior Civil Service (SCS) members are eligible to be considered for a year end non-consolidated performance award. Awards are intended to reward delivery of personal business objectives during the reporting year or other short-term personal contributions to wider organisational objectives. In considering SCS members for an award, line managers are asked to take into account:

performance against agreed priority business objectives or targets total delivery record over the year relative stretch (i.e. the challenge of the job compared to that of others) response to unforeseen events that affected the performance agreement.

Awards are funded within existing pay bill controls, have to be re-earned each year against the pre-determined criteria above and, as such, do not add to future pay bill costs.

The annual size of the non-consolidated performance pay pot for SCS members is based on recommendations by the independent Senior Salaries Review Body (SSRB).

The following table show the amount allocated in each of the last three years for year end non-consolidated performance related awards.

| | Year end non-consolidated performance related awards (£) |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 584,000 |
| 2008-09 | 641,510 |

| | Year end non-consolidated performance related awards (£) |
|---|---|
| 2009-10 | 634,150 |

Note:
Payments made are for the financial year indicated but relate to performance achieved in the previous reporting year.

Staff in grades below the SCS are eligible to be considered for a year end non-consolidated performance award. Awards are intended to reward both the delivery of personal business objectives during the reporting year and demonstration of DFID's values.

The following table show the amount allocated in each of the last three years for year end non-consolidated performance related awards.

| | Year end non-consolidated performance related awards (£) |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 558,233 |
| 2008-09 | 0 |
| 2009-10 | 742,515 |

Notes:
1 Payments made are for the financial year indicated but relate to performance achieved in the previous reporting year
2 DFID's reward arrangements did not allow for the payment of any performance related awards in the 2008-09 financial year to staff below the Senior Civil Service

DFID does not operate an in-year performance related award scheme for any staff.

Departmental Training

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much his Department spent on away days in the last 12 months; and what the (a) subject and (b) location of each away day was. [306405]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: This information can not be provided without incurring disproportionate cost.

Palestinians: Overseas Aid

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much aid his Department has provided to Gaza in each of the last five years. [306474]

Mr. Michael Foster: Many of the projects funded by the Department for International Development (DFID) cover both the west bank and Gaza and so it is not possible to give figures for Gaza alone. Detailed figures of DFID expenditure are included in the Annual Report and Statistics on International Development which are available in the Library and on the DFID website. In recent years direct DFID funding to the Occupied Palestinian Territories has increased from £17.6 million in 2004-05 to £60 million in 2008-09 (including our support to the UN Relief and Works Agency).

Since the start of the Gaza conflict the UK Government have pledged nearly £47 million to help the people of Gaza, of which £20 million has been provided so far this year for humanitarian aid and early recovery. In 2007-08 DFID also provided £3 million to the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) to meet immediate humanitarian needs in Gaza.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development on how many occasions he has raised Gaza access issues with his Israeli counterpart in the last 12 months; and on what such occasions the Israeli government has acceded to requests for access. [306801]

Mr. Michael Foster: Achieving improved access to Gaza is a priority for the UK Government and the wider international community. We raise the issue of access with the Government of Israel at all available opportunities. On 1 December the Secretary of State spoke with Ehud Barak, the Israeli Minister of Defense on improving access. Last month I met with Israeli Vice Prime Minister Shalom, and with Deputy Foreign Minister Ayalon. Earlier in the year both my right hon Friend and I met with the former Minister of Welfare and Social Services, Isaac Herzog, and the Secretary of State also wrote to Ehud Barak.

The collective lobbying of the international community has had some impact. Access for food products has improved since the end of the conflict in January, and in October small quantities of cement, plastic pipes and desalination equipment were allowed in for water and sanitation projects for the first time. Despite this, we remain very concerned about the situation in Gaza and will continue to press the Israeli Government for improved access for humanitarian aid and reconstruction materials.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what reports he has received of the aid supplies destined for Gaza in respect of which access to Gaza has been (a) blocked and (b) delayed since the start of the blockade; and what items were involved in each case. [306803]

Mr. Michael Foster: There is no single report confirming which aid supplies have been blocked and delayed since the start of the blockade. What is allowed in remains unclear and subject to unpredictable change by the Government of Israel.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what aid supplies for Gaza funded by (a) the UK and (b) the EU have been denied passage to Gaza in 2009; what estimate he has made of the cost to Gaza of such denials; and what assessment he has made of the effect of such denials on the intended recipients of such supplies. [306804]

Mr. Michael Foster: United Kingdom and European Union aid projects in Gaza have been subject to the same access restrictions as other humanitarian projects operating there. Items that have been rejected or delayed since January include foodstuffs, construction materials, agricultural materials and hygiene kits. Although there has been no specific assessment of the cost to Gaza of access restrictions, they continue to impact on the humanitarian response.

Dr. Starkey: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what channels of delivery he has considered for the provision to Gaza of aid supplies being held in Israel. [306805]

Mr. Michael Foster: Without full, safe and unhindered access for aid, aid workers and reconstruction materials a comprehensive response to the humanitarian crisis in Gaza remains impossible.

The UK Government and others in the international community have considered alternative delivery channels for humanitarian supplies, including delivery by sea. However, we have concluded that such alternatives are neither practical nor sustainable.

The UK considers the immediate and unconditional lifting of all restrictions on Gaza's land and maritime borders as the only viable solution and will continue to lobby the Government of Israel on this issue.

BUSINESS, INNOVATION AND SKILLS

Postal Services Commission: Training

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Postal Services Commission's buildings attended by civil servants in the Postal Services Commission there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307451]

Mr. McFadden: This is an operational matter for which Postcomm has direct responsibility. I have therefore asked Postcomm's chief executive, Tim Brown, to reply direct to the hon. Member.

A copy of the response will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Adult Education: Finance

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills with reference to the Pre-Budget Report, Cm 7747, from which areas of the adult skills budget he expects to make the £300 million savings identified. [307554]

Kevin Brennan: The Government have a strong record of investment in FE and skills. We will focus public spending on those individuals and employers in greatest need and on those sectors that are most vital to Britain's future.

Apprentices

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many apprentices have lost a placement in the last 12 months for which figures are available. [306565]

Kevin Brennan: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer I gave to him on 5 November 2009, Official Report, column 1232W, when I explained that data about the number of apprentices made redundant are not currently available. We have put in place for this academic year, from 1 August, arrangements to record the number of apprentices who are made redundant. We expect these data to be available from early in 2010.

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what recent assessment he has made of the availability of work placements for Level 3 apprenticeships. [306566]

Kevin Brennan: "Our Skills for Growth—the National Skills Strategy" (November 2009) signalled our intention to significantly expand the number of advanced apprenticeships. Not only is this critical to the needs of the economy, it also reflects employer demand. Numbers are now steadily increasing: There were 78,700 starts (provisional) at advanced level in 2008/09 (34 per cent. of all apprenticeship starts), up from 73,000 (32 per cent.) in 2007/08.

The National Apprenticeship Service (NAS) will have an important role in helping us drive forward our ambitions for more skilled technician apprenticeship opportunities and stimulate employer demand. NAS is already working with employers and training providers, supported by marketing and communications activity, to ensure awareness of the values and benefits of training at technician level.

Broadband

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what plans his Department has to commission a study into the effect on demand for broadband of the proposed 50 pence per month levy on fixed telephone lines. [306977]

Mr. Timms: The Department has no such plans. We will carefully monitor the impact of the Landline Duty, but we do not expect it to impact negatively on demand for broadband when set against falling telecoms prices over the last three years.

Business: EU Grants and Loans

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how much money has been allocated to British-based companies from the 50,521 million euro programme administered by the Research Executive Agency of the European Commission under the Seventh Framework programme; and which such companies have received such funding. [301219]

Mr. Lammy: The UK has remained a strong player in the EU Seventh Framework programme, receiving €1,348 million, equivalent to 13.7 per cent. of all FP7 funding to date. Of this, UK private commercial organisations have received €269 million. This funding has been distributed to 607 UK organisations; details of these are given in the attached annex.

The parts of FP7 that the Research Executive Agency (REA) of the European Commission will manage are:

the Marie-Curie Actions of the People programme;

the SME specific activities of the Capacities programme;

a large part of the space and the security themes from the Cooperation programmes;

However, it is too soon to identify with any confidence the UK private commercial organisations in the annex that will have received monies as a result of activities under REA management.

Business: Government Assistance

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the policies of his Department and its predecessors in (a) providing support to business and (b) improving levels of skills in (i) England, (ii) the North East, (iii) Tees Valley and (iv) Middlesbrough South and East Cleveland constituency since 1997. [302081]

Kevin Brennan: BIS evaluates the effectiveness of business support in England through a variety of research and analysis. This includes:

Economic Impact of Business Link Local Services (BERR 2007) which assessed the effectiveness and value for money of Business Link. This includes a regional chapter (chapter 7).

http://www.berr.gov.uk/files/file40289.doc

Business Links Value for Money Evaluation (DTI 1998)

http://berr.gov.uk/files/file39415.doc

Recently completed research undertaken on behalf of BIS includes an Early Assessment of Business Link Health Checks by the Institute for Employment Studies and a mystery shopping based study of the early stages of the Business Link service conducted by Middlesex University. The reports from these studies were both published on the BIS website on 27 November.

Skills

Raising UK skill levels to world class status is a priority for Government and the progress achieved is an important indicator of the success of our policies. The following table shows how skill attainment of the working age population has increased since 1997 in England and in the north-east. Comparable and accurate figures for the sub-regions requested are not available.

Government provide support to employers to increase the skills of their employees through Train to Gain and Apprenticeships. Both programmes continue to go from strength to strength. Since 2006 Train to Gain has supported people to start over 1.4 million qualifications, and over 780,000 qualifications have already been achieved. This has arisen from engagement with 143,000 employers through the brokerage service alone and many more engaging directly with providers. We have rescued and expanded apprenticeships, trebling the number of starts from 65,000 in 1996/97 to 234,000 in 2008/09. Tables showing growth of this programme in the areas requested follow. Figures for sub-regions are not available for qualifications attainments and figures for Tees Valley are not available for programme data.

Regional development agencies (RDAs)

The RDAs contribute to both the business support and skills agendas. Their performance from 2002-03 to 2006-07 was evaluated by PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC) on behalf of BERR in March 2009. Using gross figures for the period 2002/03 to 2006/07, provided by the RDAs to Parliament, this indicates that the RDA have helped to create 56,000 businesses and have provided 1.25 million learning opportunities. Applying the average additionality ratios found by PwC to these figures gives net figures of 27,000 businesses and 0.7 million learning opportunities.

For the north-east, the 65 per cent. of spending which the evaluation covered assisted 9,500 businesses (1,700 net), helped to create 1,900 businesses (1,100 net) and provided skills assistance to 158,600 people (98,300 net). Figures at sub-regional level are not available.

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many businesses in the City of York Council have received Government guarantees on bank loans under the Enterprise Finance Guarantee; which businesses received such guarantees; and what the monetary value of the loan or loans guaranteed was in each case. [307386]

Ian Lucas: Set out in the table is the information for the Enterprise Finance Guarantee for the City of York council since it was launched on 14 January:

| | City of York |
|---|---|
| Number of loans offered | 9 |
| Number of loans drawn | 7 |
| Value of loans offered (£ million) | 0.92 |
| Value of loans drawn (£ million) | 0.56 |

Information about individual businesses that have received an Enterprise Finance Guarantee loan is confidential and they cannot be named without their consent.

Capital Investment

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how much of the £600 million efficiency savings referred to on page 110 of the 2009 pre-Budget report, Cm 7747, will be found by (a) the Higher Education Funding Council for England and (b) each Research Council; and whether efficiency savings from the Research Councils will be re-allocated to the Research Councils. [307607]

Mr. Lammy: The £600 million announcement was made in the pre-Budget report. This was not a spending review. The Government would not expect to decide the distribution of the figure at this stage. The Government will wish to make an informed decision on future funding against the background of Lord Browne's independent review of higher education funding and student finance which will report next year. It will be looking at the wider funding and sustainability of the whole HE system. We will reflect on the review's findings before setting budgets beyond 2010-11.

Christmas

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many Christmas trees were purchased by his Department and its agencies in each of the last five years; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of. [305640]

Mr. McFadden: The following information lists the number of trees for which this Department and its predecessors have purchased for reception areas in buildings on its Estate. The costs include installation, decoration and removal by our foliage contractors. Information as follows:

| | Number of trees purchased | Cost (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2005 | [1]2 | 661 |
| 2006 | [1]2 | 661 |
| 2007 | [1]3 | 1,099 |
| 2008 | [1]3 | 1,144 |
| 2009 | [1]3 | 1,144 |

[1] One artificial

All trees, other than artificial trees, are sourced from UK growers who are members of the British Association of Christmas Tree Growers. All BCTG members are required to adhere to strict standards of sustainability. All real trees are recycled and turned into mulch. Artificial trees are broken down and then rebuilt the following year.

I have approached the Chief Executives of the Insolvency Service, Companies House, the National Measurement Office and the Intellectual Property Office and they will respond directly to the hon. Member.

Letter from Peter Mason, dated 9 December 2009:

I am responding in respect of the National Measurement Office (formerly National Weights and Measures Laboratory) to your Parliamentary Question tabled on 07/12/2009 reference 2009/449 ] to the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills, asking how many Christmas trees were purchased in each of the last five years; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of.

In each year one Christmas tree was purchased and the costs were:-

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 30.99 |
| 2006 | 39.99 |
| 2007 | 49.99 |
| 2008 | 57.53 |
| 2009 | 59.95 |

The trees were purchased from local garden centres that used suppliers who managed their plantations sustainably. The trees were disposed of using the London Borough of Richmond-upon-Thames Christmas tree disposal system so that they are disposed of sustainably.

The National Measurement Office has reviewed the sustainability of real against artificial trees and the carbon footprint of real trees is currently considered to be less than artificial trees.

Letter from Sean Dennehey, dated 9 December 2009:

I am responding in respect of the Intellectual Property Office to your Parliamentary Question tabled 18 November 2009, to the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills.

The Intellectual Property Office has not purchased any Christmas trees in the last five years.

The Office has hired an artificial Christmas tree (£385 per annum 2005-2008, £500 2009) each year but this remains the responsibility of the owner.

Letter from Gareth Jones, dated 15 December 2009:

I am replying on behalf of Companies House to your Parliamentary Question tabled 7 December 2009, UIN 305640, to the Minister of State for Business, Innovation and Skills.

Companies House has not purchased any real Christmas trees in the last five years.

Letter from Stephen Speed, dated 15 December 2009:

The Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills has asked me to reply to your question, how many Christmas trees were purchased by his Department and its agencies in each of the last five years; what the cost was of those trees in each year; from where the trees were sourced; what account was taken of the sustainability of the sources of the trees; and by what process the trees were disposed of.

The Insolvency Service has not purchased any Christmas trees in each of the last five years.

Competition Commission

Andrew George: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills on how many occasions since (a) the creation of the Competition Commission and (b) the enactment of the Enterprise Act 2002 his Department and its predecessors have declined to (i) support or (ii) accept the Commission's recommendations or referrals for Government action arising from the Commission's work. [301028]

Kevin Brennan: There has been one occasion where the Department and its predecessors have declined to support or accept the Competition Commission's recommendations or referrals to Government arising from their work since their creation, and, the enactment of the Enterprise Act 2002.

In the Commission's report on Supermarkets published in October 2000, it recommended that there should be a new approval system for supermarket developments. However, it did not make an adverse finding on this issue. The recommendation was not rejected but in responding, the Secretary of State asked the Office of Fair Trading to monitor the situation.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Baron: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how much his Department spent on works and refurbishment to offices allocated to Ministers in his Department's buildings in the last 12 months. [305693]

Mr. McFadden: BIS has spent just under £154,000 on works on office space for Ministers and their private offices in the last 12 months. Most of this activity resulted from closing down ministerial and support offices in DIUS's Kingsgate House office and moving them to 1 Victoria Street upon creation of BIS, with the consequent need to reorganise accommodation in 1 Victoria Street. The merger will save money in the longer term.

Departmental Domestic Visits

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills on how many occasions each Minister in his Department has visited a (a) higher and (b) further education institution in the last 12 months. [306661]

Mr. Lammy: On (a) my noble Friend the Secretary of State has made seven visits, my right hon. Friend the Minister of State for Business, Innovation and Skills has made one visit, my noble Friend the Minister of State for Trade and Investment has made ten visits, some visited more than once, to institutions in the UK and also to two abroad, my noble Friend the Minister of State for Science and Innovation has made 14, my noble Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Postal Affairs and Employment Relations has made 10, my hon. Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Business and Regulatory Reform has made two and I have made 11 visits.

On (b) my noble Friend the Secretary of State has made two visits. My noble Friend the Minister of State for Science and Innovation has made one, my noble Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Postal Affairs and Employment Relations has made nine, my hon. Friend the then the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for (Mr. Simon) made 10 visits and my hon. Friend the Minister of State for Further Education, Skills, Apprenticeships and Consumer Affairs has made eight.

Departmental Energy

Grant Shapps: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what the (a) energy rating and (b) energy band of each building occupied by his Department and its agencies was in each year for which figures are available. [305970]

Mr. McFadden: The Office of Government Commerce (OGC) publishes central Government Departments' display energy certificate (DEC) operational ratings on a "building by building level" twice a year. The most recent data, published on 31 July, contains DEC data up to and including 28 February. Data relating to the month ending 30 September will be published on 18 December. This information can be found at:

http://www.ocg.gov.uk/government_delivery_display_energy_certificate_data.asp

The table OGC publishes will also include DEC reference numbers for each building, which can be used to view each building's advisory report on the following website:

https://www.ndepcregister.com/home.html.

I have approached the chief executives of the Insolvency Service, Companies House, the National Measurement Office and the Intellectual Property Office and they will respond to you directly.

Letter from Gareth Jones, dated 15 December 2009:

I am replying on behalf of Companies House to your Parliamentary Question tabled 7 December 2009, UIN 305970, to the Minister of State for Business, Innovation and Skills.

Companies House's head office in Cardiff is required to produce a Display Energy Certificate. Results are available from 2008, as follows:-

| | Band | Energy rating |
|---|---|---|
| 2008 | E | 109 |
| 2009 | E | 109 |

Letter from Stephen Speed, dated 15 December 2009:

The Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills has asked me to reply to your question, what the (a) energy rating and (b) energy band of each building occupied by his Department and its agencies was in each year for which figures are available.

The attached table lists the buildings occupied by The Insolvency Service and shows the (a) energy rating and (b) energy band for them in 2009, where these are known. Where data is not given, we have requested it from the landlords for our premises and are waiting to hear from them. Before 2009 we either had no data, or it was the same as given in the table.

Letter from Sean Dennehey, dated 9 December 2009:

House of Commons Parliamentary Question: 2009/460 I am responding in respect of the Intellectual Property Office to your Parliamentary Question tabled 07 December 2009, to the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills.

The Building Energy Performance operational ratings for Concept House building occupied by Intellectual Property Office are available for 2008/09 and 2009/10 and are as follows: In 2008/2009 energy rating was 167, the energy band was G; in 2009/2010 energy rating is 148, and the energy band is F.

Letter from Peter Mason, dated 16 December 2009:

I am responding in respect of the National Measurement Office to your Parliamentary Question tabled on 7 December 2009, to the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills.

The Agency occupies only one building, at Stanton Avenue, Teddington. The only year for which an Energy Rating has been issued is the current one, the certificate expiring on 19 December 2009. That certificate gives an Energy Rating of 123, Energy Band E. This rating will be reviewed as part of the process for issuing a new certificate.

Departmental Freedom of Information

Sarah Teather: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many requests under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 his Department received in 2008; and how many of these received a substantive response within 20 days. [305499]

Mr. McFadden: The Department for Business, Innovation and Skills (BIS) was created in June 2009 from the merger of the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR) and the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills.

As BIS did not exist in 2008, we have supplied the statistics for the former BERR.

Statistics published by the Ministry of Justice on freedom of information in central Government for 2008 show that of a total of 737 non-routine requests received by the former BERR Department (based on aggregated quarterly data) 70 per cent. (516) received a substantive response within 20 days. 87 per cent. (638) of requests were dealt with 'in time', that is within 20 days by meeting the deadline or other permitted extension deadline.

The statistics can be found on the Ministry of Justice website at:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/freedomofinformationquarterly.htm

and copies are available in the Libraries of the House.

Departmental Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what redesigns of websites of (a) his Department, (b) its predecessors and (c) its agencies were carried out since 27 June 2007; what the cost to the public purse was of each redesign; and when each redesign was conducted. [305952]

Mr. McFadden: The Department for Business, Innovation and Skills (BIS) was created on 5 June by merging the former BERR and DIUS. A website at www.bis.gov.uk was set up. The design of this website was upgraded in September at zero cost, with all work done in-house by the Department's digital media team.

BERR and DIUS were created in June 2007 from the former DTI and the former Department for Education and Skills (DfES).

The DTI website was redesigned and rebuilt to reflect the priorities and remit of BERR. The site was relaunched in September 2008 at a cost of £528,912.

An interim DIUS website was launched in October 2007. A redesigned version was launched in March at a cost of £105,167.

I have approached the chief executives of the Insolvency Service, Companies House, the National Measurement Office and the Intellectual Property Office and they will respond to the hon. Member directly.

Letter from Gareth Jones:

I am replying on behalf of Companies House to your Parliamentary Question tabled 7 December 2009, UIN 305952, to the Minister of State for Business, Innovation and Skills.

Since 27 June 2007 there has been no re-design of Companies House website, and therefore no cost to the public purse.

Letter from Peter Mason, dated 9 December 2009:

I am responding in respect of the National Measurement Office to your Parliamentary Question tabled 7 December 2009, to the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills.

The National Measurement Office website underwent a complete re-development between September and December 2008. The cost directly attributable to this work by an external web development supplier was £20,649.68 plus VAT. In addition it is estimated that across the Agency some £45,000 of staff time was devoted to this project.

Letter from Sean Dennehey, dated 9 December 2009:

I am responding in respect of the Intellectual Property Office to your Parliamentary Question tabled 07 December 2009, to the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills.

Cost to the public purse:

The Intellectual Property Office website redesign cost £355,000.

When the redesign was conducted:

The Intellectual Property Office website was redesigned and launched on 1 December 2008.

Background Note:

The original website launched in May 1997. Recent enhancements to the website were introduced as a result of extensive user consultation. The new website better provides guidance and tools to professional users, individuals and businesses in the UK to help them better understand, manage and benefit from Intellectual Property.

Letter from Stephen Speed:

The Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills has asked me to reply to your question if he will list any re-designs of websites held by (a) his Department, (b) its predecessors and (c) its agencies since 27 June 2007: what the cost to the public purse was of each redesign; and when each redesign was conducted.

The Insolvency Service has not re-designed its website since 27 June 2007.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Blunt: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many staff of his Department were in its redeployment pool on 1 (a) January, (b) April, (c) July and (d) October 2009. [306719]

Mr. McFadden: The Department for Business, Innovation and Skills (BIS) was created in June from the former Department for Innovation for Universities and Skills (DIUS) and former Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR). The information requested is as follows:

| | Number of staff |
|---|---|
| Former DIUS | |
| January 2009 | 19 |
| April 2009 | 15 |
| Former BERR | |
| January 2009 | 7 |
| April 2009 | 5 |
| BIS | |
| July 2009 | 14 |
| October 2009 | 14 |

Departmental Training

Mr. Baron: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many overseas training courses were attended by his Department's civil servants in the latest period for which figures are available; how many civil servants attended each course; and what the total cost to the public purse was of each course. [305885]

Mr. McFadden: No training courses overseas are funded from the budgets that are held centrally within the Department. The information requested is not held centrally for training budgets that are devolved to individual units in the Department and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside his Department's building attended by civil servants in his Department there have been since its inception; and what the cost was of each. [307526]

Mr. McFadden: The Department does not centrally record details of (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside of the Department's building attended by civil servants. To obtain this information would require searching through four departmental and IT systems and entail disproportionate costs.

Away days are important for bringing people together, team building, reviewing work priorities and development of staff.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Harper: To ask the Minister of State, Depar[illegible] for Business, Innovation and Skills how many and what percentage of Parliamentary Questions tabled for written answer by his Department on a named day in session 2008-09 received a substantive answer on that day. [307536]

Mr. McFadden: I refer the hon. Member to my answer to the hon. Member for Glasgow, East (John Mason) on 9 December 2009, Official Report, column 507W.

Digital Broadcasting

John Battle: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how his Department (a) defines and (b) measures digital inequality; and if he will make a statement. [306996]

Mr. Timms: This Department does not define digital inequality. Instead, we define digital inclusion as > "the best use of digital technology, either directly or indirectly to improve the lives and life chances of all citizens, particularly the most disadvantaged, and the places in which they live".

On measurement, Government stated in the Digital Britain White Paper its intention to evaluate the work of the Consortium for the Promotion of Digital Participation using the following metrics:

1. Reach: access; number of households online, and numbers using the internet outside the home;
2. Breadth of engagement: modes of usage and consumption (communication, retail, content consumed, public services used);
3. Depth of engagement: user contributions, comments, joining networks, user generated content, self publishing, content creation, photos uploaded and shared, etc.; and
4. Social and economic impact: particularly the impact on economic recovery and benefits for disadvantaged groups and communities.

Fire Services: Working Hours

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what recent assessment has been made of the effect of implementation of the European Working Time Directive on (a) full-time and (b) retained firefighters. [307088]

Mr. McFadden: In accordance with usual procedure, impact assessments were prepared on the Working Time Regulations 1998 and their extension in 2003 to previously excluded sectors. The Government are well aware of the value of working time flexibility for the labour market in general and firefighting services in particular. The individual right to opt-out from the maximum 48 hour week is important not only for firefighters working the retained duty system (RDS), many of whom work full time for their primary employer, but also for whole-time firefighters who work the flexible duty system or provide RDS cover. This was one of the reasons the Government fought for and secured the maintenance of the opt-out throughout recent negotiations on the revision of the Working Time Directive.

Graduates

Michael Gove: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many and what proportion of students graduated from university with a degree in (a) chemistry, (b) mathematics, (c) physics and (d) engineering in (i) 1990, (ii) 1997, (iii) 2003 and (iv) the last year for which figures are available. [307329]

Mr. Lammy: The latest available figures from the Higher Education Statistics Agency (HESA) are shown in the table. Figures for the 2008/09 academic year will be available in January.

Figures for 1990/91 academic year are not available; the earliest figures available are for the 1994/95 academic year which have been provided as an alternative.

Due to a change in the classification of subject and the way students are allocated in the 2002/03 academic year, earlier years are not directly comparable. This is demonstrated in the table by a break in the time series.

Student Loans Company.

Data from the two sources (HESA and SLC) are not directly comparable because certain students and courses (for example post graduate courses) included in Table 1 do not attract student support. Additionally, Table 2 provides those who have taken out loans, but does not include those who may have received student support in the form of a grant such as students from lower income families or those who study part-time courses.

Immobilisation of Vehicles

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how much his Department and its predecessors have paid in vehicle clamping charges incurred on (a) privately-owned and (b) publicly-owned land in each of the last 10 years; and if he will make a statement. [302751]

Mr. McFadden: Any costs which may exceptionally have been paid in association with vehicle clamping charges would not be recorded separately. To provide this information would therefore entail a disproportionate cost.

Departmental policy is that the driver of the vehicle is responsible for following all advice, guidance and legislation in relation to road safety and is therefore also responsible for meeting the cost of any fines incurred (including parking fines), as a result of any driving offence. The Department will not meet those costs.

Internet

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what recent discussions he has had with Ofcom on access to next generation networks for internet service providers. [302854]

Mr. Timms: I and my officials are in regular contact with Ofcom on a range of issues, including next generation access.

Jobseeker's Allowance: Graduates

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what his Department's most recent estimate is of the number of university students who graduated in 2009 and who are in receipt of jobseeker's allowance in (a) England, (b) Leeds and (c) Leeds North West. [307764]

Mr. Lammy: BIS does not have information on the number of graduates who are claiming jobseeker's allowance.

However, as a proxy, for those who left university in 2009, we can use the labour force survey to look at their initial outcomes in July to September 2009. The following table gives the latest BIS estimates of the number of 2009 UK domiciled first degree leavers in different labour market activities. Note that typically new graduates take time to move into employment in the months after graduating, with more graduates out of work in the first few months after graduation.

BIS does not hold this information for England, Leeds or Leeds North West.

BIS estimates of the number of first degree graduates in each activity

| | 2008/09 graduates |
|---|---|
| Employment | 153,000 |
| ILO unemployment | 88,000 |
| Economic inactivity | 49,000 |

Lord Sugar

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills pursuant to the answer of 9 December 2009, Official Report, column 513W, on Lord Sugar, on what dates those meetings took place. [307655]

Mr. McFadden [holding answer 15 December 2009]: Between the dates previously indicated, Lord Sugar met Baroness Vadera on 11 June 2009, 7 July 2009 (twice) and 3 August 2009. He met Lord Davies of Abersoch on 13 July 2009, 24 September 2009, 1 October 2009 and 30 November 2009.

Money Laundering Regulations 2007

Grant Shapps: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills pursuant to the answer of 10 December 2009, Official Report, column 607W, on estate agents: registration, how many estate agents who have registered with the Office of Fair Trading under the provisions of the Money Laundering Regulations 2007 have registered (a) one, (b) two, (c) three, (d) four, (e) five, (f) six, (g) seven, (h) eight, (i) nine and (j) 10 premises. [308008]

Kevin Brennan: To date, 1,775 estate agents have registered with the OFT for money laundering purposes. The registered estate agents break down is as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| (a) one premise | 1,343 |
| (b) two premises | 235 |
| (c) three premises | 66 |
| (d) four premises | 45 |
| (e) five premises | 21 |
| (f) six premises | 15 |
| (g) seven premises | 8 |
| (h) eight premises | 4 |
| (i) nine premises | 5 |
| (j) 10 premises | 0 |

The remaining 33 estate agents have 11 or more premises.

National Investment Corporation

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what progress has been made on the creation of a national investment corporation; what the remit of the corporation will be;

when it will make its first investment; what the criteria for investments will be; and what funding has been allocated for a corporation in (a) 2009-10 and (b) 2010-11. [304200]

Ian Lucas [holding answer 9 December 2009]: The Rowlands Growth Capital Review, published in November 2009, recommended the creation of a growth fund to provide a new channel to attract private sector investment into UK SMEs seeking between £2 and £10 million. The pre-Budget report set out how we are taking this forward. The Government are working with a number of banks to establish a Growth Capital Fund that will work for the benefit of the economy and we will be announcing initial investors and fund structure in 2010.

We will take a view on the remit of National Investment Corporation in the New Year in the light of these discussions.

Overseas Students: English Language

Chris Huhne: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many places were available on English for Speakers of Other Languages courses for immigrants in (a) 2007-08, (b) 2008-09 and (c) 2009-10. [306000]

Kevin Brennan [holding answer 10 December 2009]: Information is not available on the number of places for English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) courses. Providers ensure adequate places are made available to support local demand.

We do, however, publish the number of Learning and Skills Council funded learners participating on a Skills for Life ESOL course in each academic year. Information for 2007/08 and 2008/09 (provisional) was published in a Statistical First Release (SFR) on 22 October 2009 at:

http://www.thedataservice.org.uk/statistics/sfroct09

Updated information for 2008/09 will be published on 17 December 2009.

Information on the number of immigrants enrolling on courses is not available.

In the 2007/08 academic year, there were 2,170 entrants to HE level courses in English as a Second Language. It is not possible to identify how many of these students were immigrants. The level of detail of individual subjects is not consistently recorded by institutions. Subject of study is only required at the subject line level (i.e. Q3 English studies), though some institutions choose to record subjects at a lower level (i.e. Q330 English as a second language). As such, the above figures may undercount the numbers studying "English as a Second Language", as some institutions may have chosen to code as "English studies".

Prisoners: Loans

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many prisoners received (a) a student loan and (b) a maintenance grant in each of the last 12 years; and how many of them (i) are in arrears on repayments and (ii) have made no repayment in the last 12 months. [303757]

Mr. Lammy: In his written statement on 7 February 2008, Official Report, columns 85-86WS, on the Education (Student Support) Regulations, the Secretary of State announced that he was amending the student support regulations to disallow prisoners who were also full-time students from receiving financial support for maintenance, thereby removing the long-standing provision which had allowed prisoners to claim such support. Maintenance support for any student who has spent part of a year in prison is reduced pro-rata. Some prisoners, typically those allowed daily release on temporary licence to attend a higher education course, are eligible to receive a loan for tuition fees only.

Repayments of income contingent loans, introduced in 1998, are usually collected through the tax system. Borrowers cannot get into arrears (unless they move overseas and do not repay according to the calculated repayment schedule)

Borrowers become liable to repay their student loans in the April after they leave their course (the statutory repayment due date, SRDD). After that date those with earnings of over £15,000 per year will repay, usually by deductions from salary. Those past SRDD and earning less than £15,000 are not required to repay. In the tax year 2007/08 there were 65 borrowers past SRDD who had received loans when in prison. 10 of these made a repayment during the tax year.

Pupils: Travel

Stephen Williams: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills if he will estimate the number of students in each local authority area who travel at least 20 miles to their further education college. [304839]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested is not available. To provide it would entail disproportionate costs.

The Learning and Skills Council (LSC) has undertaken analysis of Travel to Learn Patterns for 16 to 18-year-olds at Further Education Providers as part of the work on responsibility for 16 to 19-year-olds transferring to local authorities following the machinery of government changes. This analysis looked at the local authority of the learner and the local authority of their provider. Much of this work has been published on the LSC's website. An example of this analysis, for the East of England, can be found at:

http://www.lsc.gov.uk/regions/EastofEngland/whatwedo/14-19TransitionProjects.htm

However, this analysis does not look at the number of miles that a learner travelled to their FE provider.

Royal Mail: Industrial Disputes

Dr. Fox: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many (a) letters and (b) parcels sent to members of the armed forces stationed in (i) the UK, (ii) Europe, (iii) Afghanistan and (iv) elsewhere have been delayed as a result of industrial action by Royal Mail postal workers in each month in 2009. [307355]

Mr. McFadden: The issue raised is an operational matter for Royal Mail. I have therefore asked the chief executive of Royal Mail, Adam Crozier, to provide a direct reply to the hon. Member.

I understand however that the Ministry of Defence British Forces Post Office (BFPO) established arrangements with Royal Mail that allowed for mail items to be sent to BFPO oversees addresses throughout the period of industrial unrest.

A copy of Royal Mail's response will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Student Loans Company

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what estimate he has made of the cost to the public purse of theft and fraud at the Student Loans Company by (a) staff and (b) students in each of the last five years. [304956]

Mr. Lammy: The cost of theft or fraud by staff at the Student Loans Company in each of the last five years is set out in the following table.

| Financial year | Cost (£) |
|---|---|
| 2009/10 (to date) | 3,178 |
| 2008/09 | 0 |
| 2007/08 | 1,258 |
| 2006/07 | 0 |
| 2005/06 | 0 |
| 2004/05 | 0 |
| Total | 4,436 |

We do not have an estimate of the cost of student-related fraud for the last five years.

In 2005/06 academic year, the Student Loans Company made almost 800,000 payments of grants and loans. A review of identity fraud was conducted by the NHS counter-fraud and security management service, which found an estimated fraud rate of 0.6 per cent. of applications, representing approximately £8.2 million. As a result, a number of improvements have been made to help detect and prevent identity related fraud.

Subsequently, the company assessed the level of income related fraud from a sample of 2008/09 applications and found that the fraud and error rate was between 1 and 4 per cent. The study implies that it should be possible to detect and prevent fraudulent claims worth around £5million, and the company has introduced additional checks on applications made in the 2009/10 academic year.

The company aims to have simple and straightforward processes for students to apply for student support whilst at the same time remaining vigilant in detecting and preventing fraud.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills whether any employees of the Student Loans Company have been subject to disciplinary hearings in respect of allegations of theft or fraud in each of the last five years. [304959]

Mr. Lammy: The number of Student Loans Company Ltd. employees who have been subject to disciplinary hearings in respect of allegations of theft or fraud is set out in the following table. I am advised that the hearing in 2005-06 resulted in one employee being dismissed while, prior to the other hearings taking place, the employees concerned resigned.

| Financial year | Number of employees |
|---|---|
| 2009-10[1] | 1 |
| 2008-09 | 0 |
| 2007-08 | 2 |

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how much was spent on the salaries of senior management staff at the Student Loans Company in each of the last three years. [307413]

Mr. Lammy: The amount spent on the salaries of senior management staff at the Student Loans Company in each of the last three years is publicly available in the Student Loans Company's Annual Report and Accounts. The Annual Report and Accounts for each year are available in the House of Commons Library and to download from the Student Loans Company website at:

http://www.slc.co.uk/about%20us/remit/annual_report.html

Student Loans Company: Dismissals

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many employees of the Student Loans Company have been dismissed following allegations of theft or fraud in each of the last five years. [303184]

Mr. Lammy: I am advised that one Student Loans Company employee was dismissed in 2005 following allegations of theft or fraud.

Student Loans Company: Public Relations

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how much the Student Loans Company (SLC) has spent on public relations (PR) in the last 12 months; and whether the SLC employs an external PR agency. [302505]

Mr. Lammy: The Student Loans Company (SLC) spent £83,892 on two staff engaged on public relations (PR) and press office work and consultancy from a PR firm, in the 12 months to 31 October.

Student Loans Company: Response Handling

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many and what proportion of telephone calls to the Student Loans Company were outsourced to Response Handling in each of the last five years. [303182]

Mr. Lammy: The number and proportion of telephone calls to the Student Loans Company outsourced to Response Handling in the last five years are set out in the following table:

| Financial year | 2005-07 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 | 2008-09 | 2009-10 |

Notes:
2009-10 figures are year to date.
2. These figures relate to calls from customers in England, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

Professor Sir Deian Hopkin's review of the delivery of financial support to students in England by the Student Loans Company for the academic year 2009-10 recommended that the company should reconsider its resourcing model for the contact centres. The SLC has accepted this recommendation and is taking urgent steps to implement improvements.

Student Loans Company: Telephone Services

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many staff were employed by the Student Loans Company in customer contact roles in each of the last five years; and how many are forecast to be so employed in 2010. [302889]

Mr. Lammy: I am advised that the number of SLC staff employed in customer contact roles for the financial years 2004-05 to 2008-09 are as set out in the following table. The resource forecast for financial year 2010-11 has not yet been finalised.

| | Full-time equivalent |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 546 |
| 2007-08 | 431 |
| 2006-07 | 329 |
| 2005-06 | 309 |
| 2004-05 | 306 |

Notes:
1. Figures show the number of SLC permanent and temporary staff employed on customer contact functions in October in each year from 2005 to 2009, including outsourced call handling staff but excluding SLC staff re-assigned temporarily from other duties to help with customer contact in peak periods.
2. Staff deal with contact from potential students and sponsors relating to higher education services in England, Wales, Northern Ireland and Scotland. The figures exclude contact relating to mortgage style loan collection activities and further education services.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what payments have been made by the Student Loans Company to Response Handling in each of the last five years. [303181]

Mr. Lammy: The following payments have been made by the Student Loans Company to Response Handling in each of the last five years for outsourced contact services:

| Financial Year | Amount |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 1,183,212 |
| 2005-06 | 1,179,027 |
| 2006-07 | 1,365,867 |
| 2007-08 | 1,905,268 |
| 2008-09 | 1,710,264 |
| 2009-20 | [1]2,291,924 |

[1] 2009-10 figures are year to 31 October 2009.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what the average time taken to answer a telephone call to (a) Student Loans Company helplines and (b) calls outsourced to Response Handling was in each of the last 12 months. [303183]

Mr. Lammy: The average speed to answer telephone calls relating to Student Finance England (SFE) at the Student Loans Company (SLC) contact centre in each of the last 12 months is indicated in the following table:

Table 1: SFE calls at SLC Contact Centre

| | Average speed of answer (Minutes:seconds) |

Calls are only routed to Response Handling when there is an advisor available to take calls under the terms of the outsourcing arrangement but that means that there are no queues at the outsourced provider and any queuing and wait time is always associated with the SLC in-house contact centre. The average speed to answer an SFE call at Response Handling in each of the last 12 months is indicated in the following table:

Table 2: SFE calls directed to Response Handling

Notes:

[6] Average Speed of Answer is calculated from when the customer enters the contact centre queue, having completed any prior identification, verification or other menu options on the IVR (interactive voice response system,) and ends when an agent answers.

[7] Response Handling outsourcing was utilised to answer SFE related application calls only.

[8] Although the figures provided are for SFE related calls only, SLC in-house Contact Centre resource is utilised across a range of services covering customers with applications in England, Wales and Northern Ireland and borrowers across the UK.

Professor Sir Deian Hopkin's review of the delivery of financial support to students in England by the Student Loans Company for the academic year 2009-10 recommended that the company should reconsider its resourcing model for the contact centres. The SLC has accepted this recommendation and is taking urgent steps to implement improvements.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how much has been raised through helpline charges by the Student Loans Company in each year between 2004-05 and 2009-10; and what proportion of such funds was raised from calls which were (a) answered by a person and (b) unanswered in each such year. [304453]

Mr. Lammy: The information provided by the Student Loans Company (SLC) is set out in the following table:

SLC revenue from telephone charges by financial year

| Financial year | Telephone charge revenue amount (£000) |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 96 |
| 2005-06 | 283 |
| 2006-07 | 283 |
| 2007-08 | 332 |
| 2008-09 | 447 |
| 2009-10 (to end October 2009) | 265 |

The split for revenue by calls answered/abandoned is not held.

These figures are in the context of the SLC's net telephone expenditure as follows:

| Financial year | Net telephone expenditure (£000) |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 970 |
| 2005-06 | 990 |
| 2006-07 | 838 |
| 2007-08 | 519 |
| 2008-09 | 459 |
| 2009-10 (to end October 2009) | 307 |

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what discussions representatives of his Department have had with the Student Loans Company (SLC) during 2009 on a geographical telephone number for enquiries to the SLC. [304454]

Mr. Lammy: Ministers and officials are in regular contact with the Student Loans Company (SLC) on a wide range of issues, including telephones. During 2009 there have been no discussions specifically about a geographical phone number for inquiries to the SLC.

Students

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what proportion of students studying for a foundation degree in (a) university and (b) college are from a widening participation background; and if he will make a statement. [303717]

Mr. Lammy: The latest figures from the Higher Education Funding Council for England are provided in the table.

Figures are provided for UK-domiciled full-time and part-time foundation degree entrants from low participation neighbourhoods to English higher education institutions and further education colleges.

The proportion of entrants from low participation neighbourhoods (LPNs) is one measure which the Department uses to monitor widening participation in higher education, along with socio-economic classification and the proportion of entrants from state school. LPNs are defined as wards which are ranked in the bottom 20 per cent. with regard to participation rates of young people (under 21) in higher education. LPNs have been used as a preferred measure of widening participation in this answer due to the high level of unknown data for socio-economic classification (approximately 50 per cent.) and proportion of entrants from state schools (approximately 40 per cent.) for foundation degree entrants.

Foundation degrees are part of a range of measures, including more part-time study, more work-based study and more fast-track degrees that we are utilising in order to attract a greater diversity of students. Widening participation in higher education is about identifying and nurturing talent, wherever it is found, with schools, colleges and higher education institutions working together to ensure that all those with the ability and potential to benefit from higher education are able and prepared to do so.

Notes:

1. Institution type refers to the institution the student is registered with.
2. 'Unknowns' includes those with unknown postcode or date of birth.
3. 'Young' refers to students under the age of 21 at the commencement of their course.
4. 'Mature' refers to students aged 21 and over at the commencement of their course.
5. HEI: Higher education institution, FEC: Further education college
6. The numbers in the table have been derived using area groupings which are different to the latest POLAR methodology used to calculate some of the Performance Indicators in Higher Education (published by HESA).

Students: Disabled

Mr. Harper: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many and what proportion of applications for disabled students allowance in the academic year 2009-10 which were refused have been appealed against; and what proportion of appeals were upheld. [307713]

Mr. Lammy [holding answer 15 December 2009]: Continuing students will apply for Disabled Students' Allowance (DSAs) through their local authority (LA) and will appeal to that LA where an application has been refused.

For academic year 2009/10, the Student Loans Company (SLC) is responsible for processing applications for DSAs only from new students. I am advised SLC has not received any appeals from those who have submitted unsuccessful applications for DSA.

Students: Finance

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills with reference to the answer of 5 November 2009, Official Report, column 1241W, on students: finance, which stakeholders his Department will consult. [308809]

Mr. Lammy: The review has launched its first call for evidence, asking for views on the current system of higher education funding and the key trends the review should be considering when thinking about future policy. All those with an interest in higher education are encouraged to submit evidence in this process.

The review has also had the first meeting of its advisory forum, which is made up of key stakeholders from business, academia and student groups. A list of organisations represented on the advisory forum can be found on the review's website.

Students: Loans

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills how many complaints regarding the time taken to process disabled students allowance applications have been received by (a) his Department and (b) the Student Loans Company in the last 12 months. [302888]

Mr. Lammy: In the last 12 months, the Department has received 34 complaints in this category. The Student Loans Company does not separately categorise complaints about applications for Disabled Students' Allowances.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what the cost was of designing and implementing the integrated applications system for student loans introduced in September 2008. [302890]

Mr. Lammy: Changes required to deliver the new Student Finance (England) service are due to be phased in over a number of years. The total cost of designing and implementing the system between financial years 2006-07 and 2011-12 is expected to be £48.7 million, of which £33.3 million had been spent at the end of financial year 2008-09.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what representations (a) his Department and (b) the Students Loans Company has received from universities seeking reimbursement of emergency loans issued to students. [303180]

Mr. Lammy: The Department has not received any representations from universities seeking reimbursement of emergency loans to students. Neither has the Student Loans Company.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what the monetary value was of (a) outstanding student loans held and (b) student loan repayments made by students from (i) the UK, (ii) other EU member states and (iii) non-EU countries in each of the last five years. [303590]

Mr. Lammy: The information requested is as follows:

Loan balance outstanding and repayments

The table shows those who at the time of their application for student support were either English domiciled students studying in the UK, or who were EU students studying in England.

Students from non-EU countries are not generally eligible for support. However, EEA migrant workers and certain family members, children of Swiss nationals and children of Turkish workers may be eligible. Such students are entitled to apply for the full student support package, and are included in the English domicile part of the table.

EU students who have taken out tuition fee loans only, (introduced in academic year 2006-07), are shown in the EU domicile part of the table. Most EU loan borrowers are still at university and therefore not yet required to begin repaying their loans. A borrower who started a typical three year course in 2006-07 will become liable to begin repaying in April 2010.

Most income contingent loan repayments are collected through the tax system. The SLC are notified of repayments after the end of the tax year. This means that, for example, repayments shown in financial year 2008-09 mostly relate to repayments made in tax year 2007-08. Repayments made via the tax system in tax year 2008-09 are not reflected in the table. The figures include repayments made directly to the SLC from borrowers living overseas and from borrowers who have chosen to repay more than the regulatory amount.

The SLC has robust measures in place to collect loan repayments from EU Students. Those staying in the UK are expected to obtain a National Insurance Number (NINO) and make repayments through the UK tax system. But those borrowers who move and default on their loans will be traced and, where appropriate, legal action will be taken.

Mr. Willis: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills whether he expects all outstanding student loan applications to be processed by 31 December 2009. [305795]

Mr. Lammy [holding answer 10 December 2009]: I have been advised that Student Finance England cleared the backlog of correspondence by 11 December 2009 and I have sought clarification of this from the chief executive of the Student Loans Company. The Student Loans Company is still receiving around 1,500 new applications each week.

There are students in the system who still need to provide all the necessary evidence for their application to be completed. This includes people claiming disabled students' allowance who are still awaiting their assessments. I have instructed the SLC to work swiftly to contact students and assessment centres in universities to process all outstanding cases as quickly as possible.

Mr. Willis: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what proportion of second instalment student loans he expects to be paid by 28 January 2010; and if he will make a statement. [305796]

Mr. Lammy [holding answer 10 December 2009]: It is not clear whether the question relates to maintenance or tuition fee loans.

Of the applications processed so far, there are currently 741,376 second maintenance loan instalments relating to Student Finance England scheduled for payment between 24 December and 31 January.

These figures exclude payment of grants.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what mechanisms are in place to ensure that students in higher education receive their tuition fee and maintenance loans before their course commences. [307409]

Mr. Lammy: Students cannot receive maintenance loans or grants before their course commences. Once the university has confirmed the student's attendance, payment is made through the Bankers' Automated Clearing System (BACS). Tuition fees are paid directly to Higher Education Institutions on behalf of students in two equal instalments during the academic year.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what the budget of the Student Loans Company has been in each of the last three years. [307410]

Mr. Lammy: The Student Loans Company's UK budget is set out in an Annual Performance and Resource Agreement letter, the most recent of which is available to download from the Student Loans Company website at:

http://www.slc.co.uk/about%20us/remit/index.html

The UK budget for the last three years has been as follows:

| Financial year | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 75.7 |
| 2008-09 | 86.7 |
| 2009-10 | 98.1 |

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what powers the Government has to alter the management (a) structure and (b) personnel of the Student Loans Company. [307411]

Mr. Lammy: Governance arrangements agreed between the Administrations of England, Wales, Northern Ireland and Scotland and the Student Loans Company (SLC) are set out in the SLC's Framework Document which is available in the House of Commons Library and also on the Student Loans Company's website at:

http://www.slc.co.uk/about%20us/remit/index.html

Ministers appoint the Chair and Non-Executive Directors of the SLC Board and approve the appointment by the Board of the Chief Executive Officer. Other Executive Director appointments are a matter for the SLC Board.

Students: Radicalism

Mr. Holloway: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Lancaster and Wyre of 15 July 2009, Official Report, column 507W, on students: radicalism, which institutions will receive further targeted support in the new academic year. [307744]

Mr. Lammy: The list of which institutions will receive further targeted support will be finalised in February 2010. I will write to the hon. Member with the list once it has been finalised.

UK Trade and Investment: Internet

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what redesigns of websites operated by UK Trade and Investment have been carried out since 27 June 2007; and what the (a) cost to the public purse and (b) date of completion of each such redesign was. [306204]

Ian Lucas: £42,000 was spent redeveloping the former MOD Defence Export Services Organisation (DESO) website when the organisation became UKTI Defence and Security Organisation (UKTI DSO) in April 2008. The work on the website:

www.dso.uktradeinvest.gov.uk was completed in May 2008.

Vocational Training: West Midlands

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills what steps his Department is taking to maintain a high skills level in the West Midlands. [307313]

Kevin Brennan: The Government are taking a range of measures to maintain a high skills level in the West Midlands and across the country as a whole.

On 3 November Government published "Higher Ambitions: the future of universities in the Knowledge economy". It sets out the priorities for the Government's approach to higher education (HE) over the next 10 years. Public funding for HE has increased by over 25 per cent. from 1997-98 to 2008-09 in real terms. We now have a third of the population with Level 4 plus qualification compared to less than a quarter in 1997.

We also published the "Skills for Growth" White Paper on 11 November. This is our National Skills Strategy which sets out a number of new commitments, including:

> Renewal of commitment to the basic targets set out by the 2006 Leitch report for improving the skills level of the nation.
> A new ambition for three quarters of young people to participate in higher education or complete a technician or equivalent course by the age of 30.
> A new approach to anticipate and respond to future skills needs for economic prosperity and social mobility whilst continuing to respond to the "here and now" of employers and learners.
> Expanding apprenticeships to create a modern class of technicians, with 35,000 more advanced apprenticeships and progression routes for apprentices into HE.
> Improve quality of provision, empowering learners with greater choice; giving more autonomy to colleges and training institutions that deliver excellence; and cutting lower priority courses.

In our Skills Investment Strategy, published on the 16 November, we set out how we will fund skills training in the academic year 2010-11. It outlines that:

> We will increase funding for adult apprenticeships to £400 million which includes increased support for advanced apprenticeships for 19-30 year-olds in line with the commitments in Skills for Growth for an additional 35,000 places over the next two years.
> We will continue our investment to provide vital training and employability skills to support those out of work into sustainable employment, particularly through the six month offer and young person's guarantee.
> We will also continue to support the delivery of statutory entitlements that give adults the opportunity to gain the basic skills for employability including literacy and numeracy skills.

TREASURY

Banks: Finance

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether (a) UK Financial Investments and (b) HM Treasury is undertaking currency cover in respect of the £170 billion of foreign currency loans covered by its underwriting for Royal Bank of Scotland. [307151]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: United Kingdom Financial Investments does not have the remit to undertake currency cover in respect of foreign currency loans.

The Treasury does not normally buy insurance against risk.

Civil Service: Location

Mr. Pelling: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what discussions he has had with Ministerial colleagues on compensatory steps to reduce the economic effects of transferring further Civil Service posts away from Croydon. [304986]

Mr. Byrne [holding answer 9 December 2009]: The Government's existing property strategy requires all new acquisitions, lease renewals and break clauses to seek my approval to stay in London and the south-east. This ensures that in reaching a decision, I can assess the implications of the case for remaining in London and the south-east or for relocating to another part of the country.

Where necessary Treasury Ministers will discuss relocation issues with ministerial colleagues.

Climate Change Levy: Agriculture

Mr. Paice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of the expenditure on energy efficiency measures by the (a) horticulture, (b) pig and (c) poultry industry which was funded by receipts under the Climate Change Levy to the Carbon Trust. [307501]

Joan Ruddock: I have been asked to reply.

My right hon. Friend has made no such estimate. However, the Carbon Trust (CT) offers energy efficiency advice and surveys in respect of all agricultural sectors including horticulture, and the pig and poultry industries, and publishes a wide range of advice on their website with self help guidance and fact sheets including specific sections for:

Poultry meat

Pigs

Protected horticulture

In 2007-08 CT also funded the Grow Save programme—run by the Horticultural Development Board—which helps growers reduce the energy consumption of greenhouses.

These activities were funded by Carbon Trust's core government grant as well as other sources of income

Companies: Crown Dependencies and British Overseas Territories

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many companies and trusts are registered in each of the UK Crown Dependencies and Overseas Territories. [307354]

Chris Bryant: I have been asked to reply.

The registration of companies and trusts in the Overseas Territories is the responsibility of their financial authorities. Their contact details are as follows:

| | Contact detail |
|---|---|
| Anguilla: | info@fsc.org.ai |

Council Tax: Valuation

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 22 June 2009, Official Report, column 662W, on council tax: valuation, whether the council tax banding support tool will be linked with the Valuation Office Agency's Geographical Information System; and whether the tool utilises (a) dwellingcode and value significant code data and (b) analysis derived from the Automated Valuation Model. [305750]

Ian Pearson: There will be no direct link between the Valuation Office Agency's (VOA's) council tax banding support tool and its Geographic Information System when the latter is implemented.

An automated selection process within the banding support tool identifies properties which are closely comparable to a given subject property. This process makes use of (a) dwelling house code data (i.e. property details), which includes value significant code data; but not (b) analysis derived from the VOA's Automated Valuation Models.

Mrs. Spelman: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer with reference to the answer of 3 November 2009, Official Report, column 840W, on council tax: valuation, how many times the Valuation Office Agency has reduced the council tax banding of a dwelling due to the presence of a nearby Traveller encampment in the last 12 months. [307066]

Ian Pearson: The information requested could only be provided at disproportionate cost.

Crown Estate Commissioners: Conferences

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many (a) away days and (b) conferences that took place outside the Crown Estate's buildings attended by civil servants in the Crown Estate there have been since 2005; and what the cost was of each. [307462]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: Employees of The Crown Estate are not civil servants.

Crown Estate Commissioners: Hotels

Anne Main: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much the Crown Estate has spent on hotel accommodation for its officials in each of the last five years. [306033]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: Expenditure on hotel accommodation for Crown Estate officials in the last five years is as follows:

| | £000 |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 25 |
| 2005-06 | 23 |
| 2006-07 | 40 |
| 2007-08 | 43 |
| 2008-09 | 87 |

Departmental Energy

Paul Holmes: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the energy efficiency rating is of each of his Department's buildings in London. [307420]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Welwyn Hatfield (Grant Shapps) on 11 November 2009, Official Report, column 585W.

Dubai Ports World

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of the likely level of financial exposure of the Royal Bank of Scotland and Lloyds Banking Group to Dubai World debt. [307157]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The Treasury is unable to disclose such information as it is commercially sensitive.

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether UK Financial Investments is seeking representation on the Dubai World creditors' committee. [307159]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: In line with its Investment Mandate, agreed with Treasury, and the Institutional Shareholders' Committee Statement of Principles, UKFI acts as an engaged and informed institutional shareholder for the banks in which Government have shareholdings.

Day to day management of the banks' business is a matter for the banks' boards.

Economic Situation

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the effect of the introduction of a new independent body to undertake fiscal forecasts on interest rates. [305559]

Ian Pearson: As announced in the pre-Budget report, the Government have introduced a Fiscal Responsibility Bill to enhance the fiscal framework put in place in 1997, by increasing Parliament's role in debating and approving the Government's medium-term fiscal plans.

Equitable Life Ex-gratia Payment Scheme Review

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what representations his Department has made to Sir John Chadwick in respect of the (a) methods by which the Equitable Life compensation scheme is to be administered and (b) criteria by which compensation is to be awarded. [307247]

Mr. Byrne [holding answer 14 December 2009]: The Government's response to Sir John Chadwick's interim report of June 2009, in which he invited comments on the specific issues he should address in carrying out his work, was published by Sir John along with other representations made to him in August 2009. The document can be viewed on his website at:

http://www.chadwick-office.org/documents.asp

The Government's representations with regard to his interim report of August 2009, in which he invited comment on his proposals on approaching the assessment of relative loss he should adopt, will be published shortly and will be available at:

http://www.chadwick-office.org/documents.asp

Excise Duties: Motor Vehicles

Norman Baker: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many cars registered in the UK were eligible for Band A vehicle excise duty in the latest period for which figures are available. [307034]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: As of June 2009, 9,100 cars were licensed in Band A of $CO_2$-based vehicle excise duty.

Housing: Energy

John Battle: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what plans he has for further consultation on economic measures to encourage residential sector energy efficiency. [306987]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The Government will shortly consult on an extension to the end of 2012 of its flagship home energy efficiency programme, the Carbon Emissions Reduction Target (CERT), from its current end date of April 2011. During its current 2008-11 phase, CERT will drive an estimated £3.2 billion investment in home insulation and other energy saving measures to meet a target of 185 MtCO2 lifetime savings. The new 21-month target will be at least as ambitious as the current scheme on a pro rata basis.

The Government also offer other incentives for energy efficiency including:

reduced rates of VAT (5 per cent.) for the professional installation of certain energy saving products within residential properties, including insulation, a stamp duty relief for new zero-carbon homes, and the Landlords Energy Savings Allowance, which offers an incentive of up to £1,500 per dwelling for landlords investing in installing specified energy saving items.

Income Tax: Pensioners

John Battle: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what his estimate is of the number of pensioners living in Leeds West constituency who pay income tax. [306984]

Mr. Timms: The information requested is not available, however the information on the number of taxpayers paying income tax on their pension income by constituency can be found in table 3.15 "Income and tax by Parliamentary Constituency" available at:

http://hmrc.gov.uk/stats/income_distribution/menu-by-year.htm#315

Information on the number of pensioner taxpayers by gender, region and country can be found in table 3.12 "Income and tax for individuals of pension age by gender and country" available at:

http://www.hmnrc.gov.uk/stats/income_distribution/menu-by-year.htm#312

Estimates are based on the Survey of Personal Incomes, of which 2006-07 is currently the latest available.

Any inference from the information in table 3.15 should take into account the confidence intervals in table 3.15a "Income and tax by Parliamentary Constituency. Confidence Intervals", available at the above web address.

John Battle: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what his estimate is of the income tax receipts to the Exchequer from pension income in the latest year for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [306986]

Mr. Timms: The estimate of income tax from all pension income in 2009-10 is £12.1 billion. This figure is based on the 2006-07 Survey of Personal Incomes projected forward to 2009-10 in line with the 2009 pre-Budget report.

Non-Domestic Rates: Garages and Petrol Stations

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer by what mechanism the Valuation Office Agency assesses the value of petrol filling stations. [307258]

Ian Pearson: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him on 10 December 2009, Official Report, column 583W.

Public Service Agreements

Chloe Smith: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what discussions he has had with the Chancellor of the Exchequer on co-ordination of progress in the achievement of Public Service Agreement targets by Government departments. [304985]

Mr. Byrne [holding answer 9 December 2009]: The Chief Secretary to the Treasury has ministerial responsibility for public service reform, delivery and performance, including public service agreements (PSAs).

Within the Treasury, the Prime Minister's Delivery Unit (PMDU) co-ordinates, monitors and reports on progress in relation to the achievement of PSAs. The PMDU reports jointly to the Prime Minister and to the Chancellor and works closely with Downing Street, HM Treasury, the Cabinet Office and a range of other Departments.

As part of their ministerial responsibilities, the Chief Secretary to the Treasury and the Chancellor have ongoing discussions on the co-ordination of progress in the achievement of PSAs by Government Departments.

Progress on PSAs is reported to Parliament in the Departmental Annual Reports and the Autumn Performance Report.

Tax Allowances: Freight

Norman Baker: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the merits of introducing an essential user rebate system for UK road hauliers; and what estimate he has made of the cost of such a rebate if by this means diesel costs to UK road hauliers were reduced in effect to the EU average. [306962]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: EU law does not allow for a reduced fuel duty rate just for hauliers. A reduced rate for commercial vehicles would be allowable. However, this would have significant Exchequer costs and in this time of fiscal consolidation such expenditure and fiscal risk would not be appropriate. The difficulties of such a proposal (given that fuel duty is charged on supplies) would lead to significant complexity and administrative costs for Government and industry, and risk fraud and evasion.

Tax Enquiry Centres

Mr. Tom Clarke: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what steps he plans to take to ensure that changes in the opening times at tax enquiry centres do not adversely affect (a) pensioners, (b) people with disabilities and (c) other vulnerable groups less likely to use the internet or the telephone. [306467]

Mr. Timms: I refer the right hon. Gentleman to the answer I gave the hon. Member for Yeovil (Mr. Laws) on 14 December 2009, Official Report, column 855W. An Equality Impact Assessment of changes to Enquiry Centre opening hours will be published prior to any changes being made.

Taxation: Domicile

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many people gave up non-domiciled tax status in the last tax year; and what mechanism exists for removing such status. [304672]

Mr. Timms [holding answer 7 December 2009]: Information on the number of individuals who declared a non-UK domicile status to HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) in 2007/08, but declared themselves to be UK domiciled in 2008-09 is obtainable only at disproportionate cost, as manual checks of free text boxes on self-assessment tax returns for those years would be needed to establish this.

Individuals generally acquire their father's domicile at birth. This can be changed after the age of 16 by showing that they have chosen to live permanently in another country to the one they are domiciled in. It is a matter of fact and degree whether this choice is sufficient to alter domicile status.

The individual will need to show that they live in the other country and intend to remain there permanently or indefinitely. It is for the person asserting the change of domicile to prove this. Each case depends upon its facts, and is a matter of general law rather than tax law.

Taxation: Holiday Accommodation

Mr. Weir: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what representations his Department and HM Revenue and Customs have received from operators of long-term residential lets (a) on the equity of the system of furnished holiday lettings relief extended to operators of self-catering holiday properties and (b) seeking the abolition of such relief. [307292]

Mr. Timms: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer I gave on 20 October 2009, Official Report, column 1413W, to the hon. Member for Montgomeryshire (Lembit Öpik).

Mr. Weir: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what steps HM Revenue and Customs took to determine the range of services characteristically offered by providers of self-contained accommodation prior to reaching the conclusion that the services and facilities provided by self-catering operators in receipt of furnished holiday lettings relief are not appropriate to secure classification as a trade. [307294]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs' guidance explains the difference between trade and property business, based on the legislation and the courts1 interpretation of it. In the past the courts have decided that income from furnished holiday letting is not normally a trade.

VAT: Gaming Machines

Mr. Ian Taylor: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will waive the back payments of value added tax and gaming machine duty on category B3A gaming machines owed by not-for-profit sports and social clubs. [306355]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: There is no legal basis for HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) to waive tax that is properly due.

Some not-for-profit sports and social clubs are disputing HMRC's tax treatment of electronic lottery (category B3A) gaming machines, and tribunal cases are pending about that. It would not be appropriate to comment further until the outcome of those cases is known.

Welfare Tax Credits: Leeds

John Battle: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what his most recent estimate is of the number of families in each ward of Leeds West constituency who are in receipt of (a) working tax credit and (b) child tax credit. [307083]

Mr. Timms: The following table shows, for each ward within the Metropolitan Borough of Leeds, as at 1 April 2009, estimates for the number of households benefiting from tax credits.

Due to small sample sizes, separate information on the number of households receiving working tax credits and child tax credits in each ward is not available. However, estimates of the number of families benefiting, by award type; for each local authority and parliamentary constituency are provided in the HM Revenue and Customs snapshot publication "Child and Working Tax Credits. Geographical Analysis, April 2009". This is available at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/personal-tax-credits/cwtc-geog-stats.htm

Welfare Tax Credits: York

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many people in City of York have had their tax credits increased in the last 12 months as a result of their earned income falling; and by what average weekly amount such tax credits rose. [307403]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs estimate that, as of 1 November 2009, 1.000 families in the City of York have benefited from an increased Tax Credits award, worth an average of £37 per week, as a consequence of their total income having fallen since the beginning of the 2009-10 tax year.

HOME DEPARTMENT

[306297]

Meg Hillier: During 2008, in Wales, 61 per cent. of the project licences granted under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986 were in the mild severity banding, 39 per cent. in moderate, there were none in substantial or unclassified.

[306294]

Meg Hillier: In 2008 there were no such procedures in Wales nor in Great Britain as a whole (Table three, Statistics of Scientific Procedures on Living Animals Great Britain 2008, available from the Library of the House—HC800).

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) mice, (b) rats, (c) guinea pigs, (d) hamsters, (e) rabbits, (f) horses and other equids, (g) sheep, (h) pigs, (i) birds, (j) amphibians, (k) reptiles, (l) fish, (m) cats, (n) dogs, (o) New World primates and (p) Old World primates were used in procedures conducted in Wales and regulated under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986 in 2008. Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what proportion of procedures regulated under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986 carried out in Wales in 2008 were conducted without anaesthesia. [306298]

Meg Hillier: During 2008, in Wales, 52 per cent. of the scientific procedures on living animals started under the 1986 Act used no form of anaesthesia.

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many project licences in respect of work to be carried out in Wales were granted under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986 in 2008; and how many such project licences were in force at the end of 2008. [306300]

Meg Hillier: During 2008 23 project licences were granted under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986 in Wales. On 31 December 2008 there were 77 project licences in force in Wales.

Assaults On Police

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what records are kept of the number of cautions issued for assault on a police officer. [306362]

Maria Eagle: I have been asked to reply.

The Ministry of Justice Cautions Database holds records of each caution, reprimand and warning issued, and reported by police forces, in England and Wales. In each case the offender's gender and age are recorded along with some limited information on ethnicity. The database holds a record of the police force area in which the caution was issued and the offence for which the caution was given. Information is reported centrally on this basis (including records on the number of cautions issued for assault on a constable) irrespective of the nature of the offence.

The number of cautions issued in England and Wales in 2007 (latest available) for "assault on a constable" under section 89(1) of the Police Act 1996 is 2,183.

Court proceedings data for 2008 are planned for publication on 28 January 2010.

Asylum

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many Southern Sudanese people with refugee status or awaiting a decision on their status there are in the UK. [307093]

Mr. Woolas: The requested information relating to Southern Sudanese nationals is not collated separately. Further, information on asylum applicants awaiting an initial decision, by nationality or sub-region, is unavailable and could only be obtained by examination of individual case records at disproportionate cost.

Information on asylum is published annually and quarterly. Annual statistics for 2008 and statistics for Q3 2009 are available from the Library of the House and from the Home Office Research, Development and Statistics Directorate website at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/immigration-asylum-stats.html

Asylum: Yorkshire and the Humber

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many asylum seekers living in (a) the City of York and (b) Yorkshire and the Humber received support from public funds in each year since 2002. [304506]

Mr. Woolas: The following table shows the number of asylum seekers in receipt of support in City of York and Yorkshire and the Humber at the end of each year between 2002 and 2008.

Information on immigration and asylum, including asylum seekers in receipt of support, are published annually and quarterly. ### Databases: EC Law

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when the data breach notification requirements in the EU E-privacy Directive will be transposed into UK law; what sanctions are available under current law against organisations or individuals who breach data privacy; and if he will make a statement. [306537]

Mr. Timms: I have been asked to reply.

The Department was pleased at the successful conclusion to the two year review of the European Electronic Communications Framework last month. This included adoption of the so-called citizen's rights amending directive which improves existing regulations on privacy and electronic communications (Directive 2002/58/EC). Officials in BIS are embarking on a major consultation and transposition exercise that will see these revisions, including the new requirements for data breach notification, implemented into UK law over the next 18 months.

These revisions introduce a new, specific definition of "personal data breach", which includes accidental loss; and the article on data security has been significantly expanded to address issues of access to, storage of, transmission and processing of such personnel data. The competent national authority (Information Commissioner's Office) will now be able to audit the security policies of operators and any breach of personal data requirements will have to be notified to the authority and individuals concerned.

At the current time, organisations and individuals can be subject to enforcement orders and sanctions under the provisions of the Data Protection Act (DP A) 1998, following prosecution in a magistrates or crown court (£5,000 in the former, unlimited in the latter). In 2010, provisions of the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 take effect whereby the Information Commissioner could also issue a monetary penalty for a breach of data privacy provisions in that Act.

The revised e-Privacy Directive contains a new article which specifically addresses investigation and enforcement of the improved regime and provides for penalties, including criminal sanctions, that are both proportionate and dissuasive. The Department will be consulting consumers, operators and other stakeholders on developing this regime over the next 18 months.

Departmental Art Works

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much his Department spent on art works in the last 12 months. [306441]

Mr. Woolas: There has been no expenditure on art by the Department at its HQ at 2 Marsham street over the last 12 months. Information on any possible expenditure on art elsewhere is not held centrally.

Departmental Legal Costs

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what expenditure his Department and its agencies have incurred on external legal advice and representation in each year since 1997; and for what purposes such professional services have been commissioned. [300576]

Mr. Woolas: The requested detail for years 1996-97 to 2001-02 is not available. However, the Department's expenditure on external legal services for 2002-03 to 2008-09 is set out in the following table.

Home Office numbers for the years 2002-03 to 2006-07 include the National Offenders Management Service and the Office of Criminal Justice Reform which transferred from the Home Office to Ministry of Justice on nine

May 2007. These costs could not be identified separately without incurring disproportionate cost.

This figure does not include the cost to the Home Office of litigation or other legal services provided by the Treasury Solicitor or elsewhere within Government.

The purposes for which such services have been commissioned relate principally to legal advice, such as advice on commercial projects.

Legal costs are incurred in accordance with guidance, issued by Attorney-General, on what constitutes core Government business and the use of the private sector for government legal work.

Departmental Procurement

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether there has been any nugatory cost to (a) his Department and (b) its agencies arising from tendered procurement in circumstances where the tender process has been cancelled prior to the award of the contract in the last five years. [303713]

Mr. Woolas: From best available records in the last five years the Home Department and its executive agencies have not incurred any nugatory bid costs from suppliers where tender processes have been cancelled prior to the award of contract. Nugatory costs for staff time and other associated costs are not recorded centrally and a search of individual records for any available information could be undertaken only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Rail Travel

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department on what date he last travelled by train in the course of his official duties. [301207]

Alan Johnson: I last travelled by train on Tuesday, 1 December 2009.

Departmental Training

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much (a) his Department and [illegible] its agencies spent on away days in the last 12 months; and what the (i) subject and (ii) location of each away day was. [306759]

Mr. Woolas: The Home Office accounting system does not separately identify expenditure on staff away days. To provide the requested detail would incur disproportionate cost.

Detention Centres

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many transfers of detainees between immigration detention centres have been made in each month in 2009. [301237]

Mr. Woolas: The following table shows the number of transfers from one immigration removal centre to another of individuals detained under Immigration Act powers.

| Month of transfer | Number of transfers |
|---|---|
| January 2009 | 1,180 |
| February 2009 | 1,317 |
| March 2009 | 1,632 |

| May 2009 | 1,326 |
| June 2009 | 1,522 |
| July 2009 | 1,567 |
| August 2009 | 1,951 |
| September 2009 | 1,622 |
| October 2009 | 1,668 |
| Total | 15,129 |

The data are management information only and have not been subject to the detailed checks that apply for National Statistics publications. These figures are provisional and are subject to change.

National Statistics on persons held in detention solely under Immigration Act powers on a snapshot basis are published quarterly in the Control of Immigration: Quarterly Statistical Summary, United Kingdom bulletins. These are available from the Library of the House and from the Home Office's Research, Development and Statistics website at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/immigration-asylum-stats.html.

Tables 8a and 8b of the Second Quarter 2009 Summary includes, from January 2009, the number of people entering detention.

The UK Border Agency seeks to minimise movements within the detention estate in the interests of providing a settled regime and the efficient use of escorting resources. Movement of detainees around the estate is required for operational reasons, most often to:

Position detainees close to airports prior to removal

Position detainees for court appearances

Position detainees for hospital appointments

Position detainees for embassy/documentation interviews

To facilitate the movement of detainees to more secure locations for security/behavioural reasons.

Ensure that bed space capacity in all 11 immigration removal centres are fully utilised.

Foreign Workers

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment he has made of the effects of numerical limits on temporary migration. [300489]

Mr. Woolas: The Government's view is that a numerical limit, or 'cap', on temporary migration is not the most effective way of managing migration. Rather, our view is that the points based system is the best and most robust way of controlling the numbers of people coming to the UK from outside Europe without preventing the admission of migrants with specific skills that the UK economy needs.

We have already demonstrated the system's flexibility through putting a stop to low skilled labour entering the UK from outside Europe by suspending Tier three, as well as well as tightening up labour market testing requirements for Tier 2.

Hacking

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what co-operation is taking place with other governments to facilitate best practice in countering hacking of computer systems; and if he will make a statement. [306538]

Alan Johnson: The Government take attacks on computer systems very seriously, and recognise that the problem is an international one. We work bilaterally and through multi-lateral institutions to ensure that there is an agreed international approach to tackling this crime.

We are working with the Council of Europe to ratify the Cybercrime Convention, as well as with the European Union and the G8. Law enforcement agencies such as the Serious Organised Crime Agency work closely with their international counterparts to tackle cross-border cyber crime.

Internet: Children

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps his Department is taking to enable children to use the internet in a safe manner. [306323]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 15 December 2009]: The Government launched the UK Council for Child Internet Safety (UKCCIS) in September 2008, to bring together Government, industry, charities, law enforcement and others to collectively work to help children stay safe online.

We have now launched the UKCCIS strategy, "Click Clever Click Safe", which sets out what is being done to keep children safe online. This is the first strategy of this kind produced anywhere in the world, and was launched alongside our online version of the Green Cross Code: "Zip it, Block it, Flag it". We want to see the digital code become as familiar as "Stop, Look, Listen." We believe that this work, across a number of sectors, will help children to stay safe online.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps his Department is taking to educate children on best practices on internet usage. [306324]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 15 December 2009]: The Home Office and the Department for Children, Schools, and Families jointly chair the UK Council for Child Internet Safety (UKCCIS). One of the recommendations of the Byron Review was that a "one stop shop" for internet safety information for children should be created. UKCCIS has agreed that the Child Exploitation and Online Protection Centre (CEOP) should act as this one stop shop, building on the success of its "Think U Know" website.

The "Think U Know" website provides practical safety information for children in relevant and easy-to-understand ways, with different sections for different age groups. This information will help children to understand the internet, the risks that they might face, and how to protect themselves. The site also provides a direct link to CEOP for children who feel threatened online to report the threat through CEOP's "Report Abuse" button.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps his Department is taking to educate parents on best practices on the internet in order to protect their children. [306325]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 15 December 2009]: The Government created the Child Exploitation and Online Protection Centre (CEOP) in 2006 to help protect children online. As part of their remit, CEOP provide safety information to parents, carers and teachers.

This is set out in the "Think U Know" website, which provides practical safety information for adults to allow them to keep children safe online. This information will help adults to keep themselves safe, and to help children to understand the internet, the risks that they might face, and how to protect themselves. The site also provides a direct link to CEOP for children who feel threatened online to report the threat through CEOP's "Report Abuse" button.

When we created CEOP, we recognised the need to develop a law enforcement capability to fight the sexual abuse of children in the online environment, and to provide a national body to act as the national centre for this crime.

Since its inception, CEOP has been a remarkable success. It has rescued over 300 children, and has led to the arrest of a significant number of people seeking to harm children. It has also developed the leading UK child internet safety website, "Think U Know", which provides practical safety information for adults to allow them to keep children safe online. This information will help adults to keep themselves safe, and to help children to understand the internet, the risks that they might face, and how to protect themselves.

With this record of success, I believe that the time is right to give CEOP a legal identity of its own. I am therefore announcing today that we will strengthen CEOP's role in protecting children by granting it NDPB status. This will allow CEOP to respond quickly and effectively to emerging online threats and to take on additional work relating to the protection of children at a national level.

Police

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what policy is in force in the Metropolitan Police in respect of facial piercing for police officers; and if he will make a statement. [307255]

Mr. Hanson: This is a matter for the Commissioner of Police of the Metropolis.

Home Office Circular 54/2003 outlines guidance for recruitment process checks for police officers which includes guidance on piercings. A copy of the circular is available at the following address:

www.homeoffice.gov.uk/about-us/publications/home-office-circulars/circulars-2003/054-2003/62091?view=Binary

Police recruitment guidance for England and Wales police forces stipulates that candidates with facial piercings may be eligible for appointment. The nature, location, prominence and appearance of any facial piercing needs to be considered against the overall requirements of the role and with due consideration to the health and safety of the officer and members of the public.

It is for force managers to consider whether the acquisition of a facial piercing by a serving officer may constitute a breach of the Code of Professional Standards for police officers or constitute a risk to the health and safety of the officer. Each case is considered on its merits by the police force concerned.

Police: Pay

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many officials were eligible for performance bonuses and special bonuses in the Independent Police Complaints Commission by civil service band in each of the last three years; how many people received each type of bonus; what the average payment was for each type of bonus; and what the maximum payment was for each type of bonus. [306100]

Mr. Hanson: The Home Office does not hold this information. These are matters for the IPCC and they will write directly to the hon. Member.

Repatriation

Dr. Pugh: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department to what countries foreign nationals subject to the Facilitated Returns Scheme have been repatriated. [303325]

Mr. Woolas: The UK Border Agency does not publish a breakdown by nationality of foreign nationals removed under the Facilitated Returns Scheme.

The Home Office publishes information on the individuals removed or departed voluntarily from the UK on a quarterly and annual basis, which are available from the Library of the House and from the Home Office's Research, Development and Statistics website at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/immigration-asylum-stats.html

Work Permits

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which academic qualifications qualify work visa applicants for additional points under the points-based system. [305248]

Mr. Woolas: The points based system consolidates approximately 80 immigration routes into a five tier system.

Academic qualifications score points only in certain categories of tiers one and two. The points value of the relevant academic qualifications are available at:

www.ukba.homeoffice.gov.uk/sitecontent/applicationforms/pbs/tier1poststudyworkguidance1.pdf

Letter of correction from Maria Eagle:

Errors have been identified in the written answer given to the hon. Member for Bury St. Edmunds (Mr. Ruffley) on 3 November 2009.

The correct answer should have been:

These figures have been drawn from the police's administrative IT system, the police national computer (PNC), which, as with any large scale recording system, is subject to possible errors with data entry and processing. The figures are provisional and subject to change as more information is recorded by the police.

DEFENCE

Military Aircraft: Training

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many training hours flying time RAF fast jet pilots were able to undertake on average in each year since 2004. [258077]

[Official Report, 7 July 2009, Vol. 495, c. 661-62W.]

Letter of correction from Bill Rammell:

An error has been identified in the written answer given to the hon. Member for Woodspring (Dr. Fox) on 7 July 2009. The figures provided in the substantive reply relating to average front line pilot training hours were incorrect. The correct information relating to the average front line pilot training hours for fast jet aircraft should have been:

| | Average actual front line pilot training flying hours | |
|---|---|---|
| Fast jet aircraft type | FY 2005-06 | FY 2006-07 |
| Jaguar | 225 | 197 |
| Tornado F3 | 204 | 220 |
| Tornado GR4 | 194 | 195 |
| Harrier | 165 | 148 |
| Typhoon | 145 | 185 |
| Total hours | 933 | 945 |

From the information provided above the average of actual fast jet pilot training flying hours is 187 for FY 2005-06 and 189 for FY 2006-07.

Changes to the flying hours reporting system mentioned above, also means that monthly data for the period January to March 2008 could be provided only at disproportionate cost.
